The rookie mixed group had received an enormous amount of airtime broadcasting beyond the value of their name.

Of course they didn’t win it themselves.

‘The agency gritted its teeth and pushed the rookie.’

Of course since that agency rose rapidly thanks to Younglin’s group it was not an agency that was traditionally close to broadcasting stations.

As a result I think I noticed a few things here and there while I was doing it… As a result.

“…Did you give this the ending out of fear that we might protest?”

Bae Se-jin’s words are probably correct.

A situation in which Younglin gave up his benefits and gave it up to Testa for a rookie from the same agency.

“Hmm.”

There was a brief silence.

“Should I decline the purchase…?”

“That’s not true.”

It was strange that they even bothered to kick the semi-ending.

In fact it may have led to a bigger misunderstanding than if the ending had been left alone so it was right to go ahead with it.

‘Now we can’t say why Halo Haim’s content is the same as ours.’

I finished the calculation quickly and coolly.

“I think it would be good to just work hard with what I have already received. “How are you all?”

Everyone agreed and the unusual issues were sorted out in an instant.

However Keun Se-jin stayed in his seat looking at the cue sheet for a while even after the members dispersed.

“What are you doing?”

“…Ah Mundaemun University～”

The guy looked at the cue sheet with a strange expression and crossed his arms.

“It’s not that big of a deal… I guess so.”

“What are you thinking?”

“I was wondering if you were completely interested in becoming senior Youngrin’s producer.”

hmm?

“No given the situation… it seems like a decision you made as a producer of that new group rather than a singer right?”

That was… correct.

Moreover Younglin was the director of that agency.

After his group turned around with fancams he almost supported the company so he will not only be a director in name but also have a solid right to speak within the company.

So this is…

‘Does this mean that you willingly gave up the opportunity to a new group?’

I also find myself looking at the cue sheet with a strange feeling. So I wonder what the guy standing next to me must be like.

I glanced at Big Sejin.

Since he is someone who only looked at idols and worked hard to improve himself it wouldn’t look very good to see an already successful senior ‘giving up’ himself.

“You don’t like it?”

“Well… hey everyone lives differently!”

Keun Se-jin passed it off calmly as always.

‘You don’t deny it.’

Well there was no need to say more.

“I understand. “Ah I just had some feedback on the last movement on stage of <Hunting>.”

“Oh~ what is it?”

Let's focus on our stage and our concert.

That was the end of the brief speculation.

However I soon got the chance to unintentionally prove Keun Se-jin's 'guess'.

"…Hello Senior Youngrin."

Right behind this concert hall building.

Actually my destination wasn't here.

Since it was break time I was just passing by with the intention of using the vending machine on the outskirts of the first floor.

However I made eye contact with Youngrin who was standing in the backyard outside this building and ended up saying hello.

'It's even weirder that I don't say hello.'

However I didn't expect Younglin to be standing here.

Among the cast members who smoked there were many cases where they smoked electronic cigarettes indoors because they thought they would get caught with drone shots if they smoked outside.

There was no reason for anyone to stand in this unremarkable backyard.

'If I had to choose… '

Looking at Youngrin's expression it seems that 'I want to get some air' is the correct expression.

However Younglin quickly erased his somewhat distraught appearance.

“Ah Mr. Mundae. It’s been a while. Nice to meet you.”

“yes. thank you.”

The moment I shook my head a list of persuasive candidates came to mind as to why this person would be so disturbed…

“…”

Done.

I decided to stop thinking about meaningless things and just quickly say good-bye and tear up.

Let’s see there’s something I can praise recently…

“I really liked the song that my senior gave me from the juniors in my agency. “I’m waiting with even more anticipation for my senior’s new album.”

It’ll be fine.

Youngrin also immediately gave an acceptable answer.

“thank you.”

But the next words had some impact.

“Hmm… But I don’t plan on releasing a new album this year yet so I hope you’ll wait slowly.”

“…”

You’re not releasing an album?

It was even nuanced as if there was no plan at all.

‘Are you really all in as a producer?’

I guess this is a big guess but let's skip it quickly so it doesn't become awkward.

"It's a shame. There are so many people waiting for your performance… including me."

"Is that so?"

"…yes."

However the moment I answered it was inevitable that this person's performance came to mind.

That rainy day when I filmed the stage fancam of the unknown 'Saint U' Younglin.

And even the same gesture that Younglin showed through the viewfinder when he briefly returned to Ryu Geon-woo's body.

An idol who remembers himself in his early days.

A stage presented by someone who doesn't give up and doesn't change.

"…"

…Somehow my mouth feels a bit bitter.

But I deleted it soon. This is not the time for me to be like this.

"Then until then I will support the juniors who are produced by my senior."

This is enough to play the role of a friendly junior. I was planning on just saying 'goodbye' and getting up.

If it weren't for Youngrin's next answer.

"thank you. Oh come to think of it among the Halo Haim members there were some who were originally from the same agency as the testers.”

“…”

hmm.

“yes. “I remember it like that.”

I wanted to get some information so I responded and Youngrin muttered.

“I needed to make a stronger impression to complement my existing image so I debuted in a unique way… but I’m glad I can stand on stage more now. “Because they are very good at performing.”

I read two nuances in that statement.

First of all it seemed right that Younglin arbitrarily gave up the ending and gave the stage portion to his juniors.

but.

“That reality program wasn’t produced by you.”

“…”

Younglin smiled faintly.

“There is responsibility.”

It means condoning it. because.

“If there is no one watching the stage all practice is meaningless.”

Still I thought it was an effective promotion.

To make at least one more person interested in watching the ‘Halo

Haim' performance.

Youngrin added as a joke to me who kept my mouth shut.

"And there are already seniors who went through a similar process but ultimately succeeded on stage."

"yes?"

And I realized who those 'seniors' were based on Youngrin's expression.

"Is it us?"

It's Testa.

And I also knew what Youngrin was saying.

Idol Co. Ltd.

"yes. "At the time there were few programs as provocative as <Azusa>."

However there are aspiring idols who have made their name known through that program and have gained the motivation and opportunity to succeed.

Younglin who even participated as the main MC in the program calmly declared.

"Of course this is a more extreme and more provocative approach than that. "I also feel that promotions are increasingly moving in directions that have nothing to do with the stage."

"…"

"But still there are people who need that opportunity."

I calmly calculated again.

A survival group that ended due to a manipulation controversy.

Even if we had released them from their agency contracts most places probably would not have invested properly in those trainees who had already been labeled and let them debut.

They must have done something to suck up as much of the sweet food from the barely remaining fans as possible and eventually their activities disappeared quietly after a year or two.

However Younglin's agency made the right investment even if it was in a crazy way like an in-group dating reality show.

So you could say that there is now an escape route to a more successful future.

"…"

No matter how bad it is destroying the mentality and image of the kids who want to perform on stage with a dating program that isn't X…

"You seem to be in a bad mood."

"no."

It almost became X. I quickly checked my facial muscles.

It was fine. I guess I guessed because the answer didn't come out quickly.

But Youngrin remained calm.

"no. It's natural to feel bad. That's a good thing. "There should be more people like that."

I'm glad I know.

“Still if I want to be on stage in some way I’d like to apply. “I know what it feels like to be desperate for that opportunity.”

The idol who went through a long period of obscurity and held on to the slim opportunity of being a fancam said this.

“I think that’s why I started producing.”

“…”

“So this year I ended up taking charge of producing before my own album.”

I asked casually.

“Are you more satisfied than being a singer?”

“Not really. But we won’t know for sure until we try more.”

“I’m happy because I’m an idol singer. but…”

Youngrin finished speaking with a faint smile.

“There will come a moment for Mr. Moon Dae when he can give me a choice other than being an idol.”

“Mumundae?”

“uh.”

I got up.

It seems like the conversation I had with Younglin at the last joint concert has passed.

It wasn’t much of a conversation but it left an afterimage in my head.

‘Why was it so meaningful to hear that I was doing really well as a full-time producer not just an idol?’

It wasn’t a very good dream to have before an idol concert. I turned my shoulders and stood up.

“Did you sleepy Moon Dae?”

“for a moment.”

I checked my neck. There was no problem.

Looking at the clock I realized that I had dozed off for about 3 minutes.

‘good.’

Conditions were excellent. Of course it had to be that way.

“Let’s get our hair done and go right in.”

This is because today is the first day of the renewed concert.

‘The rehearsal was also neat.’

In particular this concert will deliver a proper performance as a lot of effort has been put into its promotion.

‘Unconditionally.’

I swallowed my head racing with adrenaline.

And when I tried to move my feet…

“Wait a minute.”

I picked up the smartphone that caught my eye thought about it for a moment and left a message.

-The concert starts soon.

It was for Big Moon.

After completely getting out of the system I contacted him occasionally but it wasn’t at the level of popping up and chatting when I was bored like before.

Still we exchanged texts and phone calls on important days like this. When the promotional video came out I even got a call saying that I enjoyed it.

but.

‘…There was no mention of coming to this concert.’

The guy who took care of all the testa schedules seemed a little dull.

It was a good thing.

I thought it would be better for this guy to spend some time on his own so I decided to send him the ticket later.

I put down my smartphone. I thought there would be no need to look into it until the performance was over.

It was that moment.

Jiying-

“…?”

I got a call from Keundal.

‘Is it cheering?’

I smiled as I remembered his behavior and picked up the phone.

But what was heard was a gasping voice.

…unacquainted.

-Teacher teacher! This is Incheon Ganghwa Fire Station.

“…”

-I’m sorry but does the person answering the phone know who owns this cell phone? Ryu Geon-woo!

“yes.”

-What is your relationship?

I thought there was a high probability that it was voice phishing.

However the number stamped on the phone was a regular cell phone number.

“…”

A strange premonition struck my brain.

“This is my brother. But why is that…?”

I deliberately blurted out words to make people think they were family. Then an urgent answer came back.

-Teacher please listen calmly. My younger brother is currently missing in the mountains here.

what?

I looked at the clock.

-no. We are currently reporting and searching for your absence from work. Have you ever said anything about Ryu Geon-woo’s purchase recently?

“…”

-Or another destination…… Sir? teacher?

It was an hour before the concert started.

Chapter 575

The big moon has disappeared.

I got a call saying that Ryu Geon-woo is missing…

-teacher! Stay calm. You need to stay calm so we can talk.

A voice rang in my head from beyond the smartphone. Tell him to calm down.

As always with bad news.

“yes.”

-You didn’t know about your absence.

“yes.”

-When was the last time you contacted your brother?

I reflected back.

Last contact with Geoldal.

After Testa’s Singapore joint concert aired I got a call from him saying he enjoyed it.

-The ending was really cool.

He said he enjoyed watching me appear in the ending and said he was doing well.

that…

“It was three days ago.”

There is a bit of urgency in the voice on the other end of the smartphone.

-At that time did your younger brother mention anything different from usual such as wanting to go to a specific place or somewhere wanting to see the sun… anything like that?

There wasn’t.

It’s just… I asked Testa Park Moon-dae what he was up to and he replied that he was doing well.

-Of course I’m doing well.

That was it.

The guy didn’t say anything about himself. Not a single one.

Like X.

“…no.”

The short silence was thick.

A voice that seemed to be soothing the other person and suppressing nervous irritation was heard again on the other end of the phone.

-… Teacher your younger brother has been absent without notice for five days already.

Five days.

-We tracked the location of the cell phone today and found the smartphone. And we are searching because we received an eyewitness report that he went to the mountain yesterday.

-I'm a little past the point where I wonder if there's anything wrong with a grown man.

-Teacher you said you contacted your younger brother three days ago right? That was the contact I made while absent without notice.

He said he was already absent from work at that time.

This winter… I went into the mountain alone.

Why?

-Teacher you are the only person who still has a contact record from that time.

"…"

-You need to think calmly now. As the night goes on the temperature drops and it becomes more difficult to search. Since the last sighting has been a day or so the best way to find it quickly is now.

I had to find out what the guy was going for and where he was headed.

'…now.'

I raised my head.

I saw a huge electronic wall clock with red LED lights on a black background.

[17:04]

5:04 p.m.

It is the time right before the sun sets during the cold wave of early February.

56 minutes before the start of the Testa concert.

Tick.

It gradually decreases.

-The only family member saved on this phone right now is my teacher.

-The mountain was not specified. The search will be faster if we narrow down the scope of where Ryu Geon-woo was trying to go at the time.

Tick.

So… there are 56 minutes left until the concert. No I have to say something in 55 minutes.

-Or is there anyone else who is like family to you? Who did you meet recently?

Tick.

“As far as I know there is none.”

Geoldal has no immediate biological family. As Park Moon-dae and Ryu Geon-woo

Moreover because I had been in the system for a long time I wasn’t really interested in building friendships with other people.

So I am the closest person.

Yes if you need someone to look for clues in what he said or guess at his way of thinking it’s just me.

I had to look for a hint.

-Then… Teacher first of all just say whatever comes to mind during the conversation that day.

but.

Tick.

“I feel calmer than before.”

– And?

does not exist.

This… was the end.

I never heard a word about the mountain from him.

“…”

‘Why don’t I know anything?’

why?

It’s not too late this time.

I didn’t check the missed calls that ended several hours later. I think I received the call on time but if nothing changes even if I answer it…

‘no.’

The smartphone hit my chin.

I realized my hands were shaking.

‘Fuck you.’

My brain just couldn’t work.

I'm trying to use my brain to find clues as to what Big Moon was thinking and where he might have headed but at the moment when he should be working best than ever he doesn't listen.

You're fucking good at this stuff.

'hey.'

I don't have time you idiot.

Still it didn't move.

The sound of my heart pounding reaches my head.

The brain's efficiency has hit rock bottom. It didn't move.

Tick.

But time doesn't wait.

So… what if I'm late again?

What if I start thinking only after the concert has already started?

Tick.

Can you make time to contact me during the performance? No there is no time for that. There is no way that a phone call could be made normally during the five minutes it takes to change clothes rehydrate and wear an oxygen mask. In such tight times there is no time to grab the phone.

Then… I

Tick.

I

-teacher? Calm down.

“Hueup.”

I took a short breath.

-Now take a breath. Listen. We can conduct searches even at night so don’t be too pessimistic…

-This is the 119 Mountain Rescue Team of the Incheon Ganghwa Fire Department. If you search for the address it will come up right away so you can continue the conversation as you come. Calmly and calmly.

The rescue worker explains the route as if it were obvious.

The assumption is that I was in a hurry right now and forgot to ask for the address.

It was a natural expectation that the moment they heard it they would immediately run out grab a taxi and go to the place where they said they were conducting a search operation.

but.

‘I am… ’

I have to do a concert.

Testa poured ideas and investment into this tour at the level of a regular album. This is a critical time that could possibly determine the team’s decline or rise.

And this was the first performance that would determine the impression of the entire tour.

If you go out of this waiting room right now there are people sitting in the audience. There are a lot of people out there who are looking forward to the performance and have prepared for this day.

In addition this concert adopted a story that emphasized each member's character and organically connected each stage.

But if I fall out.

What about my solo song performance? What about large size? How on earth are they going to handle my part? Who will fill that void? There was no discussion or preparation.

The perfection of the performance will be shattered.

The evaluation of the tour is ruined.

And the reputation of fans about Testa.

-Wow Gommer was having a concert even though he was out of shape…

-Your initial intention is shattered.

-I'm so disappointed. Really no matter what the concert… What's the team atmosphere like? Is this even possible?

So if I had at least one day not just three days…

I lowered my head and looked at my hands.

My tightly clenched knuckles were turning white.

There was no cold sweat.

I opened my mouth.

"I'm… working right now."

-yes?

The response was that it was absurd.

Two is convinced that he heard wrong.

I guess so. They say their family is missing but who is saying bullshit that it's hard to talk because they're at work?

Who… I couldn't answer that phone call so every year on that day I would feel like shit and it would come to me in my dreams every day.

I.

Just like I did…

"…"

Suddenly a sense of reality returned.

Am I now worrying about how much I can achieve my goal while receiving a phone call telling me that a family member may have died?

What is this now?

"Mundae…!"

I… But if you think about it rationally.

"Park Moon-dae!"

"…!"

I raised my head as hands grabbed both of my shoulders.

It was Sun Ah-hyun.

Strangely enough I reflexively felt that the area he was holding was hot but then I realized that wasn't the case I was turning blue as if I had lost blood.

If I was in this state it would be easy for me to lose my head.

“…”

Sun Ah-hyun seemed to be examining my complexion thoroughly but then she let go of her hand.

But a firm voice was heard.

“I think my freckles hurt.”

“what?”

The surroundings were noisy.

Only then did I barely shift all my attention from my smartphone to my surroundings.

Now it was time to go out and wait. But when I was stuck here on the phone the people watching seemed to come rushing in.

And my eyes focus on the smartphone in my hand.

“Who’s calling?”

I had no answer to Sun Ah-hyun’s question.

This is because a shaky voice was already coming out of the smartphone.

-… yes. Well we will assume that your family is busy and we will continue the search.

“…search?”

The atmosphere changed once more at the unusual word.

“Excuse me but who are you searching for now?”

-yes?

I grabbed my smartphone and looked at the guys who started talking among themselves.

Members of this group.

When I saw those faces before the concert my breathing and my head finally started to calm down.

As I broke through the panic a clear answer came to mind.

It was obvious.

For some reason my brain wasn’t working properly. There was no way that my helping with the search in this state would help in finding Ryu Geon-woo.

But if you don’t do the concert it will definitely be X.

So the answer has already been found.

“…yes. thank you.”

The members who had finished talking on their own took their faces off their smartphones. Judging from his stern face he seemed to have heard the entire explanation.

I raised my head.

38 minutes before the concert… no it's now 37 minutes ago.

Now is the time to hang up the phone and prepare otherwise the opening will be disrupted.

'Hang up the phone and get ready.'

That's what I had to say.

But damn it my mouth wouldn't drop.

'Do it.'

If I don't do it shouldn't these guys be the ones to say that? I can't pass that on to the kids.

I chewed my tongue and barely opened my mouth again.

"…therefore."

That was before I even finished saying those words.

Liu Chengwu opened his mouth first.

"Go to Mundae."

"…!"

"If you take a call taxi you will be there in 2 hours. "As you go talk quietly and without interruption."

The idea of spending half of the concert time on the move came out of my mouth casually.

"that is"

I tried to refute it asking if it made sense.

“No I won’t listen to your judgment so just do as I say.”

“Okay? “Go and do everything you can.”

I asked back like a stupid asshole.

“The concert is.”

“We will do it.”

“no…”

Liu Chengyu looked at me and helped me up.

And he held out his smartphone which was still connected to the call.

“Don’t ask. “Because I have no intention of persuading you.”

“Don’t waste time go now.”

I held the smartphone he held out in my hand.

There was no rebuttal.

‘no.’

I turned my attention to the faces of the other members.

This is because I thought that someone like Keun Se-jin or Cha Yu-jin would definitely refute it rationally.

I thought that even if I couldn’t do it it would show on my face. Then I thought it would help me open my mouth.

But no one stopped it.

I moved in quiet cooperation.

“Please be quick.”

In an instant I boarded the call taxi.

“Don’t worry about anything else.”

The door closed after Seon Ah-hyun’s last words.

widely.

So I sat in the back seat of an unfamiliar car and started moving.

“…”

The singer left the venue 30 minutes before the concert.

It was so crazy that it didn’t even feel real.

So it was right to be more anxious. Because I’m sure I prepared the first day of the concert with my own hands… the future of the group depended on it.

Because it’s clear that the audience… will be disappointed.

My hands were shaking.

But do you know what’s funny? The thing is I don’t panic like shit anymore.

As if it were a lie blood began to circulate in my brain.

‘Fuck you.’

Because it’s already too late to go back to the concert.

There was no room left to worry anymore. I was able to focus all my attention on the safety of Geoldal.

I might not be late this time.

When I thought about it like that it was funny that even in this extreme nervousness my head began to spin.

“under.”

It was ridiculous that my brain was so happy to have a little peace returned even though the situation was like this. I closed my eyes laughing at my brain.

I then called the rescue worker who had called me earlier and asked for a detailed explanation of the situation.

Let’s think again.

A place worth going to big moons.

About his whereabouts over the past few days.

He was absent from work without permission for five days.

It seems that a report was finally made at work this morning. The disappearance of an adult male is not taken well but since he is a public servant it must have been easy.

And the result of tracking his smartphone. It was discovered at a supermarket in Ganghwa Island.

Ryu Geon-woo is said to have left no trace at a supermarket in Ganghwa Island yesterday saying “I’m on my way to the mountain.”

‘The search is slow because we don’t know which mountain it is… ’

There were many mountains worth climbing in Ganghwa Island.

If I was in the mountains for two days in winter I had to find it quickly. If you’re not careful verbs could also come out.

…However I know that the rescue workers were also concerned about other nuances.

If you suddenly went up the winter mountain in this weather without notice and left your smartphone behind…

It’s like you might not have thought about going down the mountain in the first place.

‘no.’

I grabbed my smartphone with both hands.

…It wouldn’t have happened.

There was no reason for him to do that. This guy even went on a trip to Sokcho to find out what he wanted to do…

But at that moment his recent contacts suddenly appeared in my mind.

-thank you.

-Of course you’ll do well.

Could it be that his calmness came from depression?

I couldn’t figure it out. Because we haven’t been able to have such deep conversations recently.

but.

‘If you start being swayed by this logic it’s over.’

This is an idea that is of no help in reasoning about wanting the guy to survive.

I gritted my teeth and cut that thought out.

And then we went back to keywords.

The guy’s purpose.

‘Why is it a mountain in Ganghwa Island?’

If it was a mountain like that there were many similar places in Seoul. Why go all the way to Incheon?

This body.

Park Moon-dae is from Incheon.

Feeling like I had discovered a connection somewhere I used my brain even more closely.

Are there any other connections? Ganghwado Ganghwado…

And suddenly a thought occurred to me.

-Oh well. It’s Ganghwa Island but…

I went to Ganghwa Island with him.

I clearly remembered the reason. that.

-Stay in the sea. You said you wanted to do that before…

I immediately opened the map app and checked the geography of Ganghwa Island.

And then I called the rescue worker.

"I found a place worth searching first."

-yes?

"Manisan."

I pointed at a mountain.

"On the south side of the mountain… there is a good view of the sea and it is close by."

If you look at the sea from above this mountain you will see the same sea off Ganghwado Island where he scattered his parents' ashes.

Chapter 576

The search proceeded quickly.

– Confirmed! Let's move down 2 pitches from our current position.

-Possibility of falling along the line of movement of victims on the southeast slab…

However no matter how narrow the search area was it was still a mountain at night. There is a limit to the search speed.

…especially if you can't predict the current state of the castaway.

-Team 1 Move to the traverse section.

Sounds going back and forth on the radio. The sound of running breathless voices and notifications passed through the phone and dulled my ears.

It was after two hours in a hellish taxi.

Now I am getting out of the taxi and boarding the rescue vehicle at the front of the mountain.

It was natural to go directly into the mountains but it was not allowed. Is it possible to double the number of people in distress this night?

What is possible is to wait while answering questions that come in from time to time.

All I can do is wait endlessly.

continue.

…I wouldn't be able to refute it if I said I was glad I could wait for him to come back.

"Isn't your family cold?"

"it's okay."

I felt a glance at me.

Of course it's not because it looks cold.

'You must have recognized it.'

I did not underestimate the popularity of Testa Park Moon University.

Moreover the same applies even if you do not recognize Park Moon-dae.

Because I was running wearing only a stage costume and some padding.

If you look at me now you will wonder what on earth this person has been doing.

Gossip and chat.

Sometimes signs of interest from those around me prick my skin.

I thought.

'It's worth it.'

For these people seeing the family of a shipwrecked person is a daily routine and isn't it an event for a celebrity to appear there?

'Just not pretending to know is professionalism.'

therefore

“By the way… are you Ryu Geon-woo’s older brother?”

“…”

…It was natural to hear questions like this.

“We called each other ‘brother’ as a joke… and that was it. “He is like family to me.”

“iced coffee…”

At first people nod their heads despite this poor explanation. You probably think that a famous idol didn’t intentionally impersonate a family member.

“…”

I never imagined that I would benefit like this from having a well-known face.

‘Anyway you’re not real family are you? I didn’t feel relieved that the words ‘Why are you here?’ were not asked.

But… if I don’t think about this from time to time my brain won’t survive.

because

‘Because there’s no news yet!’

Two hours. It had already been two hours without even the slightest trace of the large moon!

I clenched my hands.

My head was spinning dizzyingly.

‘Did we narrow the search scope for no reason?’

What if Big Moon was injured and stuck somewhere else and I missed the chance to rescue him by talking nonsense without any basis?

Where is the guarantee that I won’t be wrong and that it will be helpful?…

‘shut up.’

I tend to panic every now and then. It’s useless.

I took a deep breath. Cold sweat broke out but I didn’t bother to wipe it off with my hands.

Then he calmly asked the rescue worker waiting to be contacted in the vehicle.

“By any chance how far did the search proceed within the scope I mentioned earlier?”

“Right now you can think of it as about half.”

It wasn’t an exact number.

But looking at his attitude it’s not a lie.

‘And of course we’ll start by looking in places where there’s a high possibility of finding the missing person… ’

The story is that there was no large moon in the movement route predicted by rescue experts: ‘This is how the missing Ryu Geon-woo would have moved.’

That it didn’t move universally.

It also meant that Ryu Geon-woo’s movements were different from the predictions of these people who believed there was a strong possibility that he was a suicidal person.

That… is actually not a bad sign.

'good.'

I pressed my knuckles.

In two hours half or less of the area was searched.

Even if we set the minimum number of areas to be searched after two more hours had passed it was well past 9 p.m.

The temperature has long since fallen below -5 degrees Celsius and if you have been in the mountains since yesterday you will be facing a double crisis.

So if there is one within my narrowed search range it's fortunate but if not… it's the worst.

Well even now since I made a mistake I should have either begged them to search other places as well or banged my head.

I chewed the inside of my mouth.

If only he had a smartphone.

'Please I want to ask what you are thinking.'

No this situation would never have come to this in the first place. If there was still a system in place and you could only have conversations through pop-ups…

'no.'

Even if you say that you miss situations like X nothing will get better.

You can still do it now.

There will be clues in what he has said and done so far.

Let's think.

Out of things I've talked to him about so far or things I know about him.

The thing that is most vivid and gives you the best sense of his true feelings…

"…"

'there is.'

I raised my head.

I have personally experienced the thoughts of the big moon.

When Keundal was originally Parkmun University.

The guy who was watching the video on my fancam account showed me how he came to think of wanting to die and the situation and emotions leading up to entering that old motel.

'Compensation for the first condition.'

I still remember it vividly.

-I'm tired of living.

His thoughts.

"…"

I slowly opened my mouth.

“Can I ask you one question?”

“yes?”

“You are currently looking at places with a good view of the beach from Mt. Manisan.”

The rescue worker slightly nods his head as if saying so.

“Is there a place among them that you looked at first?”

The crew seemed a little conflicted but soon opened his mouth.

“…below the top of the rock. “Usually there are areas where a lot of people in distress are found.”

and.

“Access is originally prohibited but there are people who just go up there to go to a place with a good view of the beach. “There are places where it is difficult to get out because if you stumble and fall you will get injured.”

“…yes.”

“I’ve just looked through it mainly.”

I lost my footing and became isolated

A place you cannot escape from on your own.

It was a reasonable deduction and search.

But still.

“Can you please take a look at a location where I can come down on my own?”

I knew he was depressed.

-Isn't it enough to stop living?

-But I didn't really want to die.

It's not that I want to die but it's the kind of depression where I don't really want to move.

If he really wanted to die he would have chosen another way.

because.

-The day was so cold that I couldn't fall into the water or climb the mountain. Because I felt like I was going to give up halfway through.

Climbing the mountain was something I had personally excluded.

That's why he chose the motel.

'So you probably didn't want to die.'

You don't die on purpose.

But I'm tired and lethargic so I don't move.

If that's the case.

"It's a location where you can move around alone with a good view of the beach… Please just this once."

"…"

Even though he could have gone somewhere else he just stayed still.

'Because it's a position where I can see my parents alone without being disturbed.'

If this didn't work I would have to admit that I don't know anything about big moons and retract all my remarks.

And I had to quickly ask them to take a look at the other mountains.

But before that… I needed these people to listen to me.

'please.'

If you ask why it was a proposal that was difficult to put together into reasonable words. I was gritting my teeth and coming up with excuses expecting to be rejected.

at that time.

The rescue worker seemed worried but eventually picked up the radio.

"wait a minute."

"…!"

Okay… that's it.

I almost wanted to rip off his grip but I held back.

…I was lucky because I was a celebrity. really.

And painful time passes again.

'Fuck… please.'

My arms and legs were shaking with nervousness anxiety anticipation and fear.

I sat quietly in my seat trying to stop my thoughts from freely pursuing negative logic.

How long was such a long long wait?

Suddenly.

I noticed that the walkie-talkies here were ringing particularly quickly.

-here…

-backup! I would like to support you.

-Check location…

Amidst the sound footsteps and various voices mixing together I found one word that was different from before.

The words I was waiting for.

– Found it!

After a while.

I saw a helicopter coming down from the bottom of the mountain.

“be careful!”

The long ride hanging underneath the helicopter gently touches the floor and the strap is detached stably.

And there was a man who stumbled and was helped up.

Ryu Geon-woo.

It was a big month.

The guy was moving.

-Preparation for transfer to hospital…

“…”

In the middle of the radio the guy turned pale and looked at the floor with a blank face then looked up.

And then our eyes met.

"…brother."

Without saying a word I ran over and hugged him tightly.

That's how I realized it.

I am not late.

"Eat."

Park Moon-dae or rather Keundal looked at the food in front of him.

Haejangguk is a soup that gives off hot steam.

Like someday.

A 20-year-old who tried to take sleeping pills in a motel to die failed and woke up again sitting in front of the building in a daze.

The person who bought me food without saying anything.

At that time the person sat across from the table at the soup restaurant I had entered with a tired expression and silently ate a spoonful of rice.

Just like now.

Even though this was a hospital and their appearances were reversed… it felt like they hadn't changed.

Everything including warm indifference and hot food without asking anything.

“The basic examination has been completed… They say there are no problems other than mild frostbite. There were almost no signs of dehydration. “Did you bring water?”

“…yes.”

“Well done.”

Other than that nothing else was said.

Geoldal who was quietly putting a spoon into the hangover soup lowered his head.

Even in my dry heart tears rose up to my throat but I swallowed them.

‘no.’

Because I knew that I had caused too much trouble to my brother.

He opened his mouth dryly and dryly in an attempt to explain the situation to the person who must have been embarrassed and bewildered.

“I didn’t mean to cause trouble on purpose.”

“…I was planning to go see my parents but I found a place where I could quietly see them alone… but as time went on too much time passed.”

“okay.”

Park Moon-dae did not point out that Ryu Geon-woo had been absent without notice for five days before that and how he could ‘just’ sit on that mountain for a day in that cold winter.

He didn't scold me and ask me what he was thinking when he did such a crazy thing.

I just nodded.

Perhaps that's why Keundal started saying things he had never even thought of.

"When I went to Sokcho… I was actually sitting on the beach the whole time."

"huh."

"Then since we were at the same beach I wanted to see my parents… but for some reason I felt weak."

I thought this?

Stories that made me ask myself questions poured out.

The emptiness that I didn't say because I didn't want to cause concern or bother came out in a blur.

"…So I tried to make a hobby but I couldn't think of anything… so I just stayed. "Then I thought about going to the mountains."

His brother listened quietly and made sure that the big moon was eating.

And I answered by pouring him some warm water.

"You had a hard time."

Big Moon suddenly clenched his spoon tightly as something made him cry.

"He told me to live as Ryu Geon-woo."

"…"

My brother nodded slightly.

So I finally said it.

“But can’t I just live as a big moon…?”

“I don’t really know what to do and I don’t really know what I want to do. “I just support Testa and there is no status window… but there are other things that help with my brother’s activities.”

“okay.”

“…!”

Big Moon raised his eyes.

My brother answered calmly swallowing a mouthful of rice.

“But this time let’s do it the other way.”

“yes?”

“This time let’s focus on you instead of me.”

“If you’re not sure what to do or what you want to do we can find out together. “You also found a way to debut with me.”

“but?”

“My brother is busy…”

“We agreed to improve Testa’s work-life balance and take one or two days off a week.”

“Is that so?”

“uh. “Oh you stopped your hand.”

“ah!”

Big Moon hurriedly moved the spoon again.

The conversation went smoothly and casually and somehow strength returned to my body.

The soup was still hot and spicy.

“Of course it’s okay to talk about Testa. Ask anytime. “I also have a few questions to ask you regarding Testa.”

“yes!”

I have something to do.

Those words somehow made me feel more energized. Big Moon moved his hands in a more combative manner.

And as my stomach got full I couldn’t help but talk about more common sense.

“Brother you were really embarrassed this time. I’m really sorry. “For worrying and bothering me…”

“I said it’s okay. Oh I paid special tribute to the crew members so don’t worry about that either.”

Big Moon almost opened his mouth.

I hadn't even thought about it up to that point.

"I'm sorry. "I caused a lot of trouble!"

"You weren't that upset. "First of all the rescue was successful."

"ah…"

I could tell from the tone of voice that the other person was very worried about his own safety.

They kept waiting for hours until they were rescued.

Big Moon looked at the other person's complexion feeling guilt and regret piercing his heart and gratitude welling up in his eyes.

Because I was disheveled I looked a little haggard and tired but perhaps because of the makeup it wasn't that obvious. It was truly idol-like.

Then I realized.

'…uh?'

Fully set head and face.

And… a uniform with flashy accessories visible beneath the padding.

It was a stage costume.

"…"

Testa's stage.

Geoldal opened his mouth as he felt a chill running down his spine.

“Hyung… what day is it today?”

There was no answer. But he has already finished counting.

He went missing for five days starting with him sitting on the front porch blankly on his way to work on Tuesday.

Then after adding up the days today is… Saturday.

And this Saturday.

“It’s a Te Testa concert…”

He hurriedly raised his head.

The current time came into my vision as clearly as if I had been hit by cold water.

10 o’clock at night.

It’s time for the concert to end.

“brother?”

The older brother across from me said nothing.

Chapter 577

Around 11 p.m.

"…He was rescued safely and will be hospitalized for about a day."

-Ah… I'm glad.

In the quiet dark hallway in front of the single-person hospital room I lowered my voice and spoke on the phone.

-Are you okay?

The other side of the call is a big hit.

Normally this type of report would go to leader Ryu Cheng-wu but I also found out why the missed call came from this guy.

'…I guess it's being remedied.'

Liu Chengwu is still in talks with the company.

It was almost certain that the company had still not contacted me.

It was worth it… Because a member suddenly left the concert.

The hand holding the smartphone was tense.

-Hyung's concert…

Keundal who had been asking me about the concert received no answer and is receiving a doctor's examination with a devastated look on his face.

Originally I would have cited reasonably plausible reasons and told people not to pay much attention. But I couldn't do that now.

It's not that I didn't answer on purpose.

There was nothing to answer.

…Because I couldn't check it either.

The smartphone was in my hand but it could not connect to the Internet page.

Until now.

"…okay."

okay. I avoided it on purpose. So that I can think and reason properly without being shocked.

However the time has come to open ourselves up to unbearable consequences.

I asked Big Sejin.

"…the concert."

-Of course it ended well. First of all don't worry and rest until tomorrow morning.

The answer comes out casually. However Keun Se-jin was a guy who could give a calm answer no matter what happened.

…But since there is also a concert tomorrow I expected a more realistic answer.

'To crush it without telling the specifics of the situation… '

It was difficult. I swallowed.

It was just about time to ask what happened.

-Is this a call from Mumundae?

"…!"

A small voice comes from beyond the smartphone.

-Park Moon-dae?

-hey!

And then I started hearing exclamations and running footsteps here and there.

-Oh you were rescued successfully!

– I'm so glad!

-You worked hard Park Moon-dae really…

Relief and joy overflow from the other side of the phone after hearing the news.

Because the concert ended in such a situation because of me he could have seemed more tired but he only seemed happy.

I guess they're doing it more on purpose.

They were strange guys.

"…"

I swallowed my words and continued again.

"…Thank you. And I'm sorry."

-uh??

“I made a choice that harmed the team.”

A flurry of confused onomatopoeia came out and then he angrily refuted my words.

-What are you sorry about? You did your job!

-The call taxi was called by the ME members together…!

-Hey listen! That’s not your choice. We talked together. Cheongwoo said that. Do you remember?

Am I the only one benefiting?

Society has decided to call it ‘consideration’ rather than ‘together’.

But it was well mentioned.

“okay. So… where is Chungwoo now?”

-ah.

At that moment there was a mysterious atmosphere and the answer was cut off for a moment.

-Ah why are you talking to the company? Do you have something to convey?

Big Sejin quickly answered brightly but he had already realized it. That my prediction was correct.

As expected the company turned over.

To put it bluntly it is natural because it feels like a complaint. I said pressing my eyebrows.

“Please tell Chungwoo that I will talk to the company directly so he can just return the phone.”

-what?

“I understand that the company is angry but there is no need for him to receive that. “Because I did it.”

-Hey wait a minute…

-I! I have something to tell you!

Kim Rae-bin came in after interrupting Keun Se-jin.

I gave him the floor. Immediately a line that seemed to have been prepared came out.

-Brother do you remember what you told me a few years ago when I was thinking about having to miss my schedule due to my grandmother’s health issues?

I remember.

-There is no problem if you leave in the middle of work.

It’s okay. I said something like that.

-I also want to say the same thing to my brother.

Raebin Kim spoke with a confident voice.

-There is nothing wrong with going to rescue a family member in danger!

-And since this can happen to any member I think it is natural and natural for us to rely on each other.

“…”

I covered my face with my hands.

Thank you but…

‘no.’

That’s different.

Raebin Kim is in a situation that people can generally sympathize with as her grandmother is her legal guardian. Those guys who swear are psychopaths.

But still.

‘I… am not family.’

Park Moon-dae has no family.

That has been a recognized fact since I debuted. Anyone who has searched for me knows this.

So… for the record I just took a taxi and left right before the concert due to a problem with an acquaintance.

There is no room for extenuation in this.

People who took time off while waiting for this performance people who canceled their plans people who even booked accommodations and came up near the concert venue people who received tickets as a special gift from their parents…

In a situation where the time and money they invested was reduced to nothing they said ‘My friend is in trouble. Do you think people will listen to excuses like ‘I was so scared and sad that I skipped the concert?’

‘Even my country can’t do it.’

My fingertips were cool.

However to refute Kim Rae-bin by saying such things here and there would be the height of disgrace.

I couldn't do that to this guy after already skipping the first day of the fucking tour. I chewed my tongue with my teeth.

"…okay. thanks."

-no!

Raebin Kim's voice became brighter. As if relieved the atmosphere on the other end of the phone relaxed slightly.

That's it.

-Mundae we… the concert went really well. I'm not lying to make you feel safe. I don't think it was clumsy.

"…know."

That made me feel even more upset.

I had to be satisfied with trying my best not to ruin the concert which I had aimed to do extremely well because of my escape.

Of course this is not something to say.

"Trust me."

-… Ugh.

At that moment a voice suddenly came out from the other end of the phone.

-that's right. And Moon Dae you are completely mistaken.

"what."

Cha Yu-jin answered in a serious voice.

-More people come to see me than my brother.

"…"

-There aren't many audiences who only watch Mundae. Are you worried that people will be disappointed? It's useless. Everyone liked me…

-Cha Yujin!!

-Kim Rae-bin used violence! Scold Raebin Kim!

It was a really familiar mess.

In an instant all the density was drained from the conversation.

"under…"

-Did you laugh? Are you feeling better?

"okay."

I heard a lot about why they did well even without me.

It was even more strange that these guys didn't burst into laughter when they went to such lengths to make the runaway kid feel better.

"I'll come to my senses and come back tomorrow."

-Ugh!

After that the conversation took place in a more relaxed atmosphere.

This suggestion was also made.

-If it's okay with you how about we go to the hospital together…

“No it’s okay. “There’s a concert tomorrow too.”

-Hmm yes but.

There is also a concert tomorrow so it was right to take a break. And now when the members come to visit Big Moon will turn yellow with guilt.

I cut off stories that went too far considering the physical strength and mental health of both sides. Still the atmosphere was good.

After several specifications and adjustments the call was hung up.

“Then I’ll see you tomorrow morning.”

-okay!

-Sleep well Mundae…!

Pop.

Good words lingered in my ears.

However until the end there was no specific story about the collapse of public opinion due to my escape.

How did you explain it to the audience and what kind of reaction did you get?

It was natural that those guys couldn’t get it out first. So I should have continued to actively bring up the story.

No before that… I should have checked and started a conversation.

I couldn’t do it.

“…”

I pressed my hands to my face.

If all goes well I will have to stop my activities after this tour ends.

In the sense of self-reflection.

First of all it seemed like the group's image would be restored if the person involved in the controversy got out of Testa's activities.

'…You can't put a bad label on a regular album.'

If we just practice and do nothing useless during that period public opinion will probably calm down a bit by the time of the next album.

…No isn't it? If you suspend your activities will public opinion worsen?

I don't know.

"under."

I laughed. Until yesterday or even this morning I had no idea that I would have such absurd concerns.

'If it was original… '

After finishing my first concert I should have been excited to the core.

Whether it's regret or satisfaction it's a state where everything is pushed to the limit.

Although my body was soggy my adrenaline was surging and as we exchanged congratulations and feedback I had to quickly prepare my body and mind again for the next concert.

Okay tomorrow.

'…There's a concert tomorrow too.'

Now I…

"…"

Of course Liu Chengwu's judgment was correct.

Thank you.

I know. If the moon had actually frozen over while I was at a concert it would have been hell.

therefore.

'I have no regrets about this choice.'

With that conclusion I sat down in the hallway.

The smartphone screen turned off.

All the noise and warmth is gone and what remains is the hospital room hallway on a dark winter night.

"…"

For some reason it was extremely cold.

"…brother."

When we returned to the hospital room Geoldal who had finished the examination and was sitting quietly alone on the bed suddenly raised his head.

"Hey I've been thinking about it. What if I write? On the Internet… If I explain well that it's not my fault that he couldn't perform at the concert because of me…"

“no.”

Then who do you think the arrow goes to?

– While absent from work without permission he went into the mountains late and got lost in a restricted area. Aren’t you crazy? It was a waste of taxes

-Gommer is your X wood network a political network?

-How much did you receive from Orbit? LOL

Big Moon will literally be bitten like a dog.

No matter how well this guy polishes it and posts it angry people will curse and steal his identity.

Even co-workers and people who have only heard rumors would come out and say all kinds of things. Why did you do that?

As an ordinary person this guy’s public opinion will only increase and there is no guarantee that my public opinion will improve.

“Don’t do it.”

“but…”

“I’m thinking of another way so you don’t have to. “Don’t even think about posting it yourself.”

“…yes.”

Big Moon nodded cautiously.

And as if he was watching he spoke.

“…That brother. Now go back and rest. “The doctor just said that my condition is fine.”

I knew that if he returned to this atmosphere he would fall into some kind of depressed state again.

“I’m too tired to go back to the dorm. Are you going to kick me out?”

“Oh no!? “You can just relax and leave!?”

Easy.

“Then let’s use the bathroom.”

“yep!”

After finally washing my face I lay down on the caregiver’s cot next to the single room.

I had to wake up at 6 am in order not to be late for tomorrow’s schedule.

No matter what happened even if there was a boycott sign posted at the concert hall we had to perform unconditionally.

‘You must manage your condition properly.’

I closed my eyes like that.

And I woke up at exactly 6 am.

Beep.

The vibration was quickly turned off before it woke up Geoldal.

But he didn’t wake up immediately.

Instead I took out my smartphone. And I took a deep breath without making a sound.

“…”

It was time for confirmation.

I couldn't put it off any longer.

Actually I thought about checking it before going to bed but I put it off for fear that I might lose sleep.

Because I can't ruin today's concert.

'…6:00 to 6:30 in the morning.'

A time when there are so few Internet users that there is no need to be caught up in endlessly updated public opinion.

'I'm going to check now.'

I clicked on SNS for monitoring.

"…"

As soon as I clicked popular posts appeared at the top.

-What should I do with Mundae?

Everyone's eyes stopped at the sarcastic introduction.

'Read.'

I gritted my teeth and kept moving my eyes.

The writing is complete.

-What should I do with Mundae? Is there a concert today? I'm so worried about whether I'll be able to come out.

Is this being sarcastic…?

I scrolled down unconsciously.

New popular articles continued to appear before my eyes.

The posts I wrote early in the morning and the posts that appeared around the time the concert was about to start were all mixed together… and on and on.

-Is the announcement of Park Moon Dae's absence true?

-Oh crazy ㅠㅠㅠ

-For a month now I've been unable to control my excitement whenever a concert is mentioned on the Dub app but I really can't even guess how Park Moon-dae is feeling right now.

-It's just… I'm a lost soul. Is the first con like this? Both me and Park Moon-dae are dying of pity.

-Why doesn't it come out?;;; I'm embarrassed and angry but I'm worried about my first birthday and I stayed up all night.

No matter how many times I read it again it didn't change.

There aren't many posts that curse me to death.

"…"

I hurriedly scrolled up with trembling hands.

And I looked again at the popular article I had read earlier.

-What should I do with Mundae? Will there be a concert today? I'm so worried about whether I'll be able to come out… Oh I'm going crazy.

And now I read it properly to the end and checked the context.

This wasn't sarcasm.

It was really a post about concerns about whether I was in a state where I could come to the concert.

“…ah.”

I moved my hand.

New posts keep appearing.

Chapter 578

The emotions people felt while watching a concert without me.

It pours.

-I feel so vain… I was so worried that I cried throughout the solo song VCR.

-I endured January just by watching concerts but why did Park Moon-dae become X instead of me?

-I gave up going to Hawaii to see Crybaby Mundaeng at the first concert but I couldn't attend the concert… I can't believe this is reality.

-The management of the agency is not properly notifying the notice but it just makes me sigh.

Anger futility regret.

The audience's disappointment at the sudden absence of a member from the long-awaited concert was as expected.

But one thing was different.

-Oh what should I do with Park Moon-dae?

me.

The feeling of betrayal that Park Moon-dae had deceptively ruined this important moment was not there.

And the reason is presupposed in every article as if it were obvious.

-I know what the concert means to her… This can't be happening. Isn't Mundae really in trouble? Oh please

This is because Testa Park Mun-dae did not live that way.

Every time you scroll down all kinds of cases are shared and cited at random.

Moon-dae Park cries the most at the concert. Moon-dae Park is able to finish his solo song effortlessly even though his ribs are injured. At the end of the concert Moon-dae Park is excited and talks about how this set list came out and does a live after-party broadcast…

-A person who will go on stage even if his leg is broken.

Everything you have experienced becomes the basis.

I thought my escape would be criticized more because it contrasted with Park Moon-dae's past actions but it was the opposite.

The track record became my guarantee.

Take it for granted that it's not that I didn't do the concert it's that I couldn't do it.

Park Moon-dae was on the side of those people.

I read the words filled with worry confusion anger and anxiety in a trance.

Stories that I subconsciously take for granted that I couldn't come out because there was a fatal reason why.

after.

Heat rose from under my breath and made my limbs tremble.

I looked at them blankly not sure if it was thrilling or creepy.

But I soon realized the reality.

‘no.’

Public opinion like this exists because we do not know the exact circumstances.

I don’t know what Liu Qingyu said but if he said ‘There was an emergency at Wen Dae so I couldn’t be here today.’ If I had said the same appropriate thing…

‘…You don’t know why I fell in.’

Then the moment you find out the truth the feeling of betrayal will be even greater.

more.

“…”

I held my smartphone so tightly that it broke.

My head was spinning.

excuse. excuse.

‘Is it best to be sick?’

Saying that you collapsed is the easiest way with the least side effects. Because I just couldn’t come up. So if that were the case… I didn’t know if people would continue to understand me like they do now.

But I soon realized that it was practically impossible.

‘There are definitely eyewitness accounts coming out.’

It was over from the moment I boarded the rescue vehicle wearing stage costumes and without a mask.

It will come out unconditionally and unconditionally.

This is a fact I already knew.

Moreover in order to use the word sick I had to skip today's concert or at least pretend to be sick.

That was truly a deception.

"…"

The rising heat cooled down.

I closed my eyes as I looked at those incredibly provocative articles.

It was a waste.

'You bastard without conscience.'

It was funny that they were saying this because they didn't want to be criticized when they couldn't figure out how to compensate for the time wasted by paying for the ticket.

'Come to your senses.'

I opened my eyes again and searched.

First I had to check what the official reason was for my leaving the concert.

If you look at the posts posted around the beginning of the concert this is clearly revealed.

-Mundae said he couldn't come on stage today he's crazy…

-Story of Park Moon-dae's absence from the concert (video)

-The kids can't speak… ah

In the video Liu Chengwu explained the situation in a calm tone with a gentle expression.

As I predicted instead of lying the guy said 'Mundae is not in a position to go on stage right now. I'm sorry.' That ended the story.

It's like trying not to say too much negative stuff in the middle of a concert that should be fun.

It was a wise decision.

I also confirmed that they did not tell me in detail about my situation.

"…"

I blankly watched the video of the concert without me but soon came to my senses and moved the screen again.

'Let's also check the refund policy.'

So I was just about to go to the company's official SNS account.

A new related article appeared on the page that was inadvertently updated.

'hmm?'

That was a popular post that I hadn't seen before because it didn't have the keyword 'concert' in it.

The time is before and after I fall asleep.

The content that was posted around midnight yesterday and received a lot of sharing was…

-An acquaintance of Park Moon-dae was shipwrecked and Park Moon-dae was the last contact. If it wasn't for the crazy Moon-dae he would have been killed;;;

"…!"

It rattled.

The cot made a loud noise as I moved.

And it seems that the owner of this hospital also heard that.

The big moon was tossing and turning.

"Brother… you're awake…"

The guy must have woken up when he heard me raise my body so he stuck his head out and then looked at the smartphone screen in my hand and closed his mouth.

"…"

Of course when I looked at it I couldn't hold on for long and the words came out.

"I didn't post anything!"

then?

"But… I agreed to posting at my brother's company."

"…!"

"I got a call."

"To whom?"

A bright answer came back.

“It’s Lee Se-jin!”

“Yes thank you very much. Then I will go as I said… Oh no. “Take care of yourself~”

Lee Se-jin carefully finished the phone call with Geoldal and then hung up.

‘You’re not oblivious.’

I was fortunate that they were very cooperative even though they were not in a good state as they had just been rescued.

He stretched and pictured one last thing to do before going to bed.

Now… then.

“We’re done talking about you right?”

“okay.”

Liu Chengwu who was still on the phone with the company nodded slightly.

Park Moon-dae’s concerns were only half correct.

It was true that right after the concert ended Ryu Cheong-woo explained the situation to the flagship company and coordinated the conflict.

However things changed after Lee Se-jin received a reply from Park Moon-dae who rescued Keundal.

-If you wait a little longer I think there will be other news. yes. please.

Ryu Cheong-woo has been preventing the company from responding to this situation by posting an official statement.

because.

“Then I’ll send you an email like this.”

This is because Lee Se-jin prepared something separately.

The time before his debut when he was not that familiar with the physiology of the Internet was already a long time ago.

It was a field that I was bound to become familiar with as I debuted and continued to monitor feedback.

He now understands the ecosystem enough to be able to specifically understand how skillfully Park Moon-dae responded to the controversy over his school violence at the time of <Azusa>.

Moreover learning was faster in areas where one had talent from the beginning.

Public opinion war.

‘The atmosphere and cause are equally important here.’

Even as the scene changed from the classroom to the practice room and from the practice room to the filming set Lee Se-jin’s talent never faded.

From the moment he received a long text message from Park Moon-dae about the situation his head was rolling.

Part of this is to keep mushing the rescuers’ eyewitness accounts and stopping the company from assuming that Park Moon-dae went to the hospital after collapsing.

Of course Lee Se-jin also understood why that opinion came out.

‘I think the audience should sympathize and sympathize with the reason why Park Moon-dae could not come to the concert… ’

But isn't empathy a very ambiguous emotion?

Even in a space where only a few dozen teenagers stay together one thing that easily divides opinions is whether to sympathize or not.

But you're trying to explain it so that a lot of people are willing to emotionally defend it? In Lee Se-jin's opinion it was a somewhat reckless attempt.

'It's not sustainable in the long run.'

So Sejin Lee did not agree with what the company said.

There is a sure way but there is no need for it.

What is needed is not empathy…

'It's ranking.'

Up and down.

We had to make it so that people could not complain after hearing the reason for Park Moon-dae's absence.

My troubles aren't that big of a deal. Park Moon-dae's absence was really necessary. We had to make them evaluate the value so that they would be willing to admit it.

And he already knew one reason that would win everything.

'Human life is the most important.'

Saving people could win in almost any value judgment.

And Park Moon-dae was in exactly that situation.

-Rescue… successful.

I didn't run away simply because I was worried about my relative's death.

'The door pad was helpful.'

It had to be emphasized that he was actually needed to save people.

So as soon as Lee Se-jin succeeded in connecting with Park Moon-dae by phone he asked several times about the current situation to get a clear picture.

-So you narrowed down the scope of the search and what you said at the end was exactly right so Mr. Ryu Geon-woo has now been rescued right? Phew I'm glad.

-… uh.

Then all you have to do is reconstruct the incident centered on the facts you want to inform.

[Testar Park Moon-dae did not attend the concert due to the rescue of a missing person…"Cooperating sincerely as the last witness"]

If we add the details that reporters confirmed by calling the rescue workers…

-omg

-Ah it's a door ㅠㅠㅠㅠ

-You must have been so surprised but thank goodness you were rescued safely.

-If it weren't for the door I couldn't have narrowed down the search scope so I was dizzy when I heard there was a possibility of a verb.

-You did a great job staying calm Moon Dae-ya… It must have been difficult not being able to stand at the concert but you worked really hard…

The choice that Park Moon-dae is forced to make is ‘concert VS saving people’.

In this case choosing a concert is considered a waste of time and Park Moon-dae made the natural choice.

There is an atmosphere in which it is very difficult to criticize Park Moon-dae.

‘Hmm~ That’s good.’

Sejin Lee grinned.

Well it was actually the simple truth.

‘He himself said that he lived thanks to Park Moon-dae.’

Moreover if it is officially reported with this layer of coverage it also has the effect of drawing a line.

There is no need to appeal to your emotions and make it public that you are a close acquaintance or a sworn brother.

This is an issue that requires unconditional help even if it is just a co-worker. How close they are is beside the point.

The focus is on Park Moon-dae’s circumstances of not being able to perform at the concert and Ryu Geon-woo’s personal information is slightly diverted from the focus of attention.

– I hope you are resting well in Mundae. I want to see you healthy and bright at tomorrow’s concert.

‘That’s right~ I’m like that too!’

That’s how the situation ended.

Lee Se-jin smiled bitterly and only then was she able to go to bed for tomorrow’s concert.

…With a strange nostalgic feeling like repaying a very old help.

-Honest is the best isn't it?

"…"

I pressed my eyebrows.

Around 6:40 in the morning. Lee Se-jin who called first answered my question 'What's going on?' like this.

'This snot-like bastard.'

Look at what's laid out. Anyone who looks at it can clearly see that everything was taken into consideration.

As soon as the concert ended you must have been worried.

When I thought about that it was… like that.

I closed my eyes as I looked at the articles that clearly excluded everything I was concerned about.

-… thanks.

-no way. It was announced as the truth so why do you keep thanking me?

The guy joked a few more times. And he asked me comfortably if he noticed that my voice had become lighter.

-Are you going to join the practice room now?

Without anything to worry about. It seemed like there was an afterword.

“…”

After finishing reminiscing I picked up my smartphone again.

That doesn’t mean there aren’t people who swear despite the consideration given by the members.

Because it is an undeniable fact that I missed the concert in real time.

– Gommer escapes hahahaha

-Give me the money you fucking idiot.

-The first con real-time breakout… It’s the best ever. It’s so fucking funny.

– It’s like buying plane tickets and reserving accommodations months in advance just to see if they’ll come and then giving water and comforting people who came through difficult times.

-That missing person should have died so Gommer would have regretted just going to the concert. It’s annoying.

But these are just opinions that pop up no matter what controversy erupts.

I suddenly realized.

‘okay.’

It was like that.

At some point I started looking into things too much and eventually I started to think that this was people’s true feelings.

If you remove courtesy and morality you will feel this way. Did you make such a thoughtless judgment?

However just because an expression is provocative and shocking does not mean it is true.

I tapped the smartphone screen.

Sometimes you can use it as a reference to plan the game but it would be funny to even be influenced by it.

Because this is just a flow and a reaction.

‘It doesn’t matter if you just know that it exists.’

I abandoned that page without any hesitation and went back to the social media I was originally using.

New stories are coming in from people who use my photo as their profile.

-Mundae I think I’ll work harder today… I’m glad I managed to catch both days.

-I know about Testa. They will grab a back pack and give priority tickets to the audience who came on the first day. I came to see it.

Predictions without anxiety that seem obvious.

“…”

Do you know what?

I thought accumulating annual leave was a burden.

The amount of work that could be done was reduced and people were not easily surprised as they could vaguely predict the scope of this group’s actions.

It becomes increasingly difficult to receive fresh attention.

So I thought the disadvantages were overwhelmingly greater than the advantages…

In fact there was an advantage that I just didn't feel and couldn't change.

'Was this it?'

It was trust.

If you have done well so far it is within the range of people's predictions. That anticipation suppresses anxiety and sustains faith.

'okay.'

So… I guess I'll have to return that too.

I turned the page again.

What popped up this time was my wiki.

A separate page was added to the profile with the label 'Cannot be edited by users who have not registered within 15 days'.

-Incidents and controversies

But it was okay.

'It might stick.'

You become the fourth member of this team to have a separate page.

And just like the guys during that period it was time for me to make up for it.

Let the controversy get pushed off the table.

"Big moon."

“yes?”

“About today’s concert. “I also stream.”

“…”

“If you don’t have anything to do at the hospital… take a look.”

“…! yes!”

I got up from my seat.

For today’s concert.

“Whoa.”

Ryu Geon-woo Geun-dal held down his pounding heart and opened his laptop in the hospital room.

This was possible thanks to his older brother stopping by an officetel on the way and sending the delivery through quick service.

I felt sorry and thankful considering that he would be hospitalized even though he was busy going to a concert.

…even though it only caused a nuisance.

-Brother I am truly sorry for causing so much harm to you yesterday…

-You didn’t ask me to skip the concert so what are you talking about? Today’s concert will be better than that so just look at that.

If it had ended here Keundall’s guilt might have deepened but Park Moon-dae’s words were lighthearted afterward.

-Still it would be nice if you could look at the content and give some feedback.

-…! yes

It gave me something to do.

So now Keudal was dutifully logging into his account using his laptop.

…To be honest he hasn’t consciously looked at Testa’s content lately.

After his older brother told him to find his own life the life of Ryu Geon-woo he stopped telling him about Testa's problems.

-There are no pop-ups anymore so I guess you should be careful.

But even though I knew that wasn't the intention it was as if we had been told not to have anything to do with each other anymore…

He followed the advice and tried to do something on his own spending money and time.

But it still wasn't fun. Life just became more insensitive…

"…"

No. If I think like this any more I will cause trouble to my brother again.

'Let's cheer up!'

He consciously took a deep breath finished logging in and then accessed the concert streaming site.

Now I should naturally go to the streaming payment page… but suddenly I see a pop-up blocking the screen.

Newly added features were flashing loudly.

-Supports 4K VR streaming.

: Experience a more realistic concert than the first row of the concert hall!

"uh?"

VR.

It literally means virtual reality but it is now also used to mean watching a video that allows you to see 360 degrees in all directions.

And anyone could tell it was the latter.

‘But I don’t have a machine like that… ’

It was a moment when I thought that without thinking and was about to close the pop-up.

‘iced coffee!’

I remembered!

The device his older brother sent him as a birthday present not long ago was a VR headset!

I felt sorry that I couldn’t even use it properly due to my strange lethargy at the time.

‘I want to try it right now.’

Still it was useless if it wasn’t here… Surprisingly the box my brother sent me even contained the item!

“and!”

He opened the item carefully. The new product shaped like white goggles was shiny and shiny.

perhaps…

‘Does your brother recommend watching it in VR?’

My mind lit up.

‘The laptop’s performance… Ah! ‘Do you think it’s possible?’

After checking the specifications of his laptop and VR streaming conditions he connected relieved that the ultra-high definition standards were barely met.

After seeing the completion message appear with satisfaction he finished wearing it on a trial basis.

“and.”

For some reason my heart was pounding in a different way.

It was the excitement of enjoying something I liked in a new way.

I suddenly felt energized.

With his hands busy he quickly paid for the streaming and began looking through Testa’s content that had been delayed until the concert start time.

‘Oh I think there’s something I need to look at first… Heoup what is this?! ‘Are there any options?’

Several hours passed in an instant as I thoroughly enjoyed watching the tour promotion videos where even big moons suffer from the cycle of endless happy endings.

And finally it was time.

[PM 05:45]

He was so nervous that he twitched his hand while wearing the VR device and finally pressed the activated start button.

Then the Internet navigation window disappeared and a loading screen appeared…

hook.

My vision has changed.

Go to the venue 15 minutes before the performance.

“and…!”

In the dark concert hall at sunset light sources of all colors flooded like waves.

It was the light of a light stick.

The fact that they did not filter out the buzzing sounds and noise of the scene actually enhanced the sense of presence. Big Moon was willing to feel dizzy and turned his head vigorously to the surroundings.

‘amazing… ’

It was only hearing and sight. However the two overwhelming senses even tricked the rest of my senses into making me feel like I was actually there.

“ah…”

For a moment he felt a full pounding within him.

A sense of homogeneity buried among people waiting for the same thing.

It was excitement and excitement.

Something I had forgotten because of my helplessness suddenly raised its head and grew in my heart as if it had never happened before.

From the scenery of this concert hall.

Tiring!

[Hello Lover! Did you connect the light stick properly?… Not yet? Then try it step by step with us!]

On the huge electronic display board in front information on how to connect the light stick to Bluetooth and PPL introduction to the concert were shown alternately.

Every time the members' faces appeared cheers filled with anticipation filled the air.

…And Keundal had already realized that there was a Testa light stick in the box his brother brought him so he had connected it!

Status is streaming.

Then a funny thing happened.

"Oh!"

I don't know how it was connected but even in the VR field of view the light stick you are waving flashes like in augmented reality.

Something like this… is possible!

'They didn't release a renewed version of the light stick for nothing!'

He waved his light stick excitedly. I was told that I could see other streamers shaking in the options but I turned it off because it was too dizzying.

And I endured for 10 minutes with my heart pounding as I listened to the medley of various Testa songs playing in the concert hall.

and.

Finally the light went out without warning.

'…!'

A huge black-and-white movie-style letter emerged from the electronic display board that was split on both sides.

It was a countdown.

2.

With the voices of the audience echoing from all directions.

The numbers are over.

[Piiiiiiooooooo-!]

The train's horn blared loudly with cheers and then a smooth announcement began.

It was Cha Yu-jin's voice.

[This stop is Red Wonder Red Wonder…]

It ends low and clear.

[…Hotel.]

Tuk.

Without warning a light flashed on the stage.

'ah.'

That was the hotel lobby.

It looked familiar. It was the exact same location as Testa's tour promotion selection video that Keudal had seen just before.

And the moment the gaze is made a little bigger the audience realizes.

It’s not just a lobby.

It was a huge set that used all the structures of the hotel including the stairs elevator cafe and suite even using the stage ceiling.

So that I can clearly remember all the places shown in the promotional video.

“ah…”

All elements of the hotel in the video were fully realized and were located on stage in reality.

Ahhhhh!!

And just as the cheers begin to die down figures appear exquisitely here and there on the set.

Behind the check-in counter next to the pillars in the lobby chairs in the cafe bathtub in the suite elevator…

They do things like reading the newspaper or looking at the ledger on the counter.

It was Testa.

With an intro that exquisitely combined the sound of a train and a circus accordion they ran out of the set with skillful movements and came to the front of the stage.

And the moment we get into formation.

All kinds of colors exploded.

＜Hunting＞ arranged as a tour promotion version opened the concert in a grand manner.

[The tables have turned

Today you are the sheep]

Geoldal almost got excited and tried to find his smartphone but then realized that he was watching VR.

My body was shaking.

[(Run Run!)

Spin around in a circle under the stage

[Come on again]

Amid the force and heat close-ups of the members are captured on the electronic display board.

Even one member who couldn't make it to the concert yesterday.

'brother!'

Well set up body.

Park Moon-dae looked the same as I saw him yesterday.

But the eye light is different.

His condition was so good that he couldn't control it and his eyes were shining amidst the burst of energy.

[Call up it's hunting season]

thud.

The ear-ringing sound of the speakers and the cheers of the audience mix together to create an exciting atmosphere. There was complete excitement in the venue with no worries.

Instead of forming a formation at the ending the members dispersed.

Then each person returned to their original place on the stage set and disappeared just as they had appeared.

But the cheers don't end there.

Because only one person naturally stayed where he was.

Tiring.

Raebin Kim indifferently rings the bell at the counter and nods her head without any expression.

[Welcome again.]

The stage rotated.

"…!!"

The counter protrudes forward and Kim Rae-bin who was standing behind it climbs over the counter and comes out into the field of view.

And his solo song which received a huge response flows along with the live band music.

[Jump into the cave

To a strange country

manhole]

In a performance that continued like one song with the opening Kim Rae-bin continued the performance by running around the entire stage set dragging dancers wearing rabbit masks.

As befits the subtitle “overture” he introduced all the impressive elements of the set.

The raps and performances poured out like crazy and rushed towards the ending without any time to breathe.

Tap tap tap.

The center of the stage where all the dancers in rabbit masks have disappeared.

The spotlight turned off above Raebin Kim as he walked backwards making the sound of his shoes.

Ahhh!!!

The screams that seemed to explode throughout the concert hall rang in his ears.

“Hehehe…”

Big Moon blinked his eyes.

Ten minutes passed without me even noticing my breathing.

‘What’s next??’

He has forgotten all his complicated feelings and the concert rushes into his eyes again.

While the cheers were still ringing the electronic signboard was lit up instead of the lights off the stage.

It was a VCR.

And here Keudal has a different experience from the field.

‘Uh oh…?!’

The view in all directions changed.

He was no longer sitting in the concert hall.

An elegantly colored hallway covered in classic and ornate wooden patterns and wallpaper.

He was… in the VCR!

‘Uh oh!?’

As I quickly turn my head a hotel hallway completely split into two sides comes into view.

Left and right.

The hallway which appeared to be lined with rooms had a completely different atmosphere on both sides.

Beyond the softly glowing lights on the right I could see the human figures of friendly-looking hoteliers.

And… left. There are black silhouettes below while blinking red lights that look somewhat ominous.

‘omg.’

It was when I turned my head and checked both sides.

Liu Chengwu’s low and soft voice narrated.

[Rabbit hole. Where should we go?]

And text appeared on both sides like augmented reality.

[RED/WODER]

[Let me know with the light.]

Uh huh?

The letters ‘RED’ glow red and ‘WODER’ glow yellow.

[Try operating the light stick!]

“Huh oh oh.”

He lifted the light stick with trembling hands… and soon realized something.

‘I can’t do that.’

Streamers… had no voting rights.

There are no human rights…

“…”

I should have bought a ticket.

He swallowed back tears and looked to both sides again his heart pounding.

Red and yellow.

Which one did you choose?

The results were soon revealed.

[Loviewer’s choice]

And the current audience seat is projected before your eyes.

‘and… ’

At first glance the ratio of audience seats filled with red and yellow colors was overwhelming.

It has been decided.

[RED]

[HUNT]

The video collapsed with a scratch-like sign.

And a shout rang out from the stage.

[That's ma sa—vior!!]

A protruding stage dyed red.

A strong metal rock version was sung into the venue around Park Moon-dae who was holding a head microphone.

"Aaaah!!"

Park Moon-dae's first home horse shouted until he was hoarse from the stands.

The concert was non-stop.

This concert which was structured as if exploring a hotel was full of all kinds of attractions as if it were a real circus.

From huge sets to all kinds of stage equipment.

Of course the best option is to choose a light stick.

'It's really fun!'

No matter which one you choose the song itself does not change. However just a slightly different costume and arrangement completely changed the atmosphere.

It was so fun to see that!

‘under…!!’

I would have thought that by removing the VCR as a participatory feature and freeing up some extra time between stages they would take full advantage of it and fill it to the brim.

Homma who came to today’s concert with half anticipation and half worry felt deep joy spreading from her heart.

There was no need to worry.

‘I heard it was flying around the doorway! What!’

I was happier because I watched the concert yesterday while almost out of my mind.

‘It definitely feels different than yesterday.’

Of course the other members performed well on stage yesterday as well. However the overwhelming awareness of the void seems to have prevented people from fully immersing themselves.

‘This is a concert designed to make you completely immerse yourself.’

Choices are there for immersion.

So that you can be completely immersed in the concert without feeling like you are coming back to reality in between.

I felt like it was made for that purpose in the first place.

‘I heard that all concert streaming tickets were distributed to the audience on the first day.’

Please don’t just get a refund and wait for additional con schedules. I hope you watch today as well. Homma muttered this to herself and looked at the stage again.

[Wish you call me like this-]

On stage Sejin Lee's solo stage was reaching its climax.

They use a large golden trolley with one hand and use turns and movements to perform a spectacular performance.

It was the stage of the selection 'WODER'.

'I think this is better than the 'RED' I saw yesterday!?'

It seemed like each member chose their own solo song without any restrictions.

Cha Yu-jin even remade old pop music arranging it hiply as she wanted and including it as sampling.

'I thought you were crazy.'

As she chose a different option from yesterday the dance break changed and she looked at the stage with her fists clenched.

It wasn't far.

Now… it was his turn.

Waaaaaaaaa!!

The previous stage ended with all the cheers of hoarse people. She cheered along but swallowed her saliva as the tension tightened her heart.

The lights on the stage go out and the VCR starts playing again…

Inside an empty elevator.

[RED/WONDER]

The choices of RED who runs out of the elevator and WONDER who stays in the elevator are divided in conflicting colors.

And Homma already knew what the stage would be with this choice.

‘Mundae…!’

This is Park Moon-dae’s solo performance.

Yesterday I was given this VCR but it was probably a meaningless option.

Because it was just a demonstration video of the rehearsal stage being played.

“…”

She felt the strange calm around her and realized that other people were feeling a similar tension.

In fact Park Moon-dae’s absence did not face huge criticism due to the story involved but it also became a subtly unpleasant topic of interest due to the story.

-Wow ㅠㅠ How is Park Moon-dae performing today… I don’t think he’s crazy.

-I’m curious about your feelings.

Curiosity about the state of Park Moon-dae.

I was curious about how he was affected by this absence and how he felt.

‘Then why not buy streaming!’

Even though Homma shouted that she actually thought that there must be someone sitting here with similar curiosity…

People who focus on Park Moon-dae's feelings and condition not Park Moon-dae's stage.

Because I even care to some extent.

"…"

However Homma was worried and at the same time trusted Park Mun-dae.

His actions so far.

'let's do it.'

Meanwhile on the VCR where the selection has been completed one word dominates the screen.

[WONDER]

[BE HUNTED]

And then it completely rips apart and goes out.

My heart was pounding.

widely.

Inside a quiet concert hall.

A ray of light fell on the black stage.

The spotlight was on a rectangular stage set hanging in the air almost to the ceiling.

elevator.

It seemed to slowly descend… and eventually stopped in the middle of the lobby.

Ding.

The door opens and a drowsy voice comes out.

[With me]

Park Moon-dae’s solo song began.

Chapter 580

A concert is a comprehensive art.

Testa knew this very well and he devoted a lot of time to stage composition and direction and did not stop discussing with various people involved.

Just one thing.

For each solo song only keywords were distributed and then the performer decided on the stage on his own.

Because there has to be that kind of unexpected fun.

-Then Chungwoo decided to use a lift device on the stairs… What about door doors?

-hmm.

Park Moon-dae thought for quite a long time about how to implement his solo stage.

Will it show something unexpected?

Will you show what you do best?

'Both have their pros and cons.'

So he adopted both.

'I guess I can just assign it to each option one by one.'

What if the two options are completely different? It was enough for the burden to be borne only by oneself.

But at the same time I was giving more electrons inside.

‘It would be more fun to see something unexpected.’

Since many things about myself must be familiar to fans the obsession with showing a new side of me unconsciously influenced me.

‘…Even if you keep doing what you did well there is a limit to the impact.’

I already know that Park Moon-dae is good at that. Because you’ll be used to it.

Even as he divided his practice time like a sword that impression subconsciously remained on him.

So in his mind he thought that for his first concert he should carefully consider the options so that people could choose an ‘unexpected appearance’ as much as possible…

And now time has passed.

The audience’s choice has been made.

[Remains in the elevator.]

[WONDER]

“…”

On a dark stage.

Big Moon held his breath and raised his gaze.

The clear and faint sound of string instruments rang out around the elevator floating in the air alone under the spotlight.

A tickling accompaniment with lots of soft flats.

A melody I know.

Before I could specifically recognize what it was a voice poured out from the elevator that slowly opened.

[Spin the wheel

[To fly far away]

“…!!”

[The melody resonates and is beautiful

It touches my heart let it pop]

Lyrics I know.

Big Moon realized like a thunderbolt.

This was not a song from the latest album Park Moon-dae’s personal OST an officially released solo song or a cover song by another singer that was shown on an entertainment program.

One day ago Testa’s title song.

[Spin the wheel

[To go to your dreams]

Park Moon-dae’s voice floated in a more lyrical and quiet arrangement.

‘ah… ’

It was a euphemism I hadn’t heard in a while.

This is because this song did not remain as a regular setlist for Testa Concert.

Because it lost its place to the new song which is a combination of this song and the double title.

That makes me even more happy.

Even more so if the person calling is Park Moon-dae.

If you sing this well…

[Stay like this again today

It's not over let me in]

A clear breathy high-pitched sound clearly filled the speaker.

Rather than being solid the sound is somewhat transparent and loose making you listen to the resonant sound.

'ah.'

With just one empty refrain people just stared at the stage without any distractions.

at that time.

Talk. Talk. Talk.

Inside the elevator the door opens completely with a knocking sound.

"…!!"

The moment it opened wide a blue scent poured out from inside.

And the inside of the elevator is fully revealed.

[Wooo- wo wooo-]

The inside filled with warm electric light was full of flowers and plants.

Spring and summer were full of blooming flowers.

“ah…!”

In the middle of it all Park Mun-dae was standing in front of a clunky standing microphone.

He brought neither flashy overwhelming choreography nor unconventional arrangements.

You are just standing inside a stage set floating in the air.

Singing a song.

[Before going to sleep

I always think about you

I want to meet you

Still completely forever]

In the elevator barefoot Park Mun-dae wearing a large white knit gently raised the head of a standing microphone with rusty vines with both hands.

[The little winds

It floats drop by drop

On top of that spinning Ferris wheel

Shines dazzlingly]

The only accompaniment is a thin string instrument.

A speaking voice echoes to the end of the quiet concert hall.

[Imagine leaning against the window

me

[Like in my childhood]

An elevator is a space of movement.

But for those who chose to stay he wanted to provide the most fantastic stay.

A beautiful reminiscence.

In a dream that continues from the past.

[Your eternal childhood

That's me

I forget my insomnia and fall asleep-]

The low-pitched sound rose again.

Let a thrilling good feeling suddenly pass by.

[Ohh- oh-]

I drag myself up with one breath without even a single breath.

With the last voice all the instruments that had been held back rush in covering the entire audience like a wave.

From the bass at the bottom to the riff melody at the top.

From low to high notes.

And a voice that shines brightly from the very center.

[Spin the wheel]

Soap bubbles pour down around the elevator.

[To fly far away]

Faintly sparkling reflected lights flickered on the stage and even illuminated the audience seats.

[The melody resonates and is beautiful

It reaches you too let it pop]

The colors of the light sticks waved like an aurora.

[Spin the wheel

[To fly far away]

The chorus undulated together.

[The melody does not disappear

Stay with you let it be]

Park Moon-dae raised his voice earnestly.

[Breathe as hard as you can

So that this heat seeps into you too-]

For the people who chose this option he didn't expect.

In fact the choice he was trying to induce at his first concert was… not this.

It was ‘RED’.

-Of course I would choose to get out of here.

Elevators are places for movement.

And people like things that are stimulating.

From these two facts Park Moon-dae easily drew a conclusion.

If a choice is presented on the VCR of course you will choose the option of leaving in the elevator.

Anyone who is immersed in the story will find the option of going outside and running into the darkness with the lights blinking exciting.

Something more stimulating and new.

So without hesitation he added ‘unexpected appearance’ to that option.

However the concert did not go as planned and Park Moon-dae was unable to attend the first concert due to an unexpected accident.

In this situation people who were worried about Park Moon-dae unconsciously chose a more moderate and friendly option.

What remains in the elevator.

– WONDER.

And ‘WONDER’ was a choice that showed them what Park Moon Dae does best.

A complete song.

…Park Moon-dae's singing.

[Spin the wheel

[To stay in your dreams]

The singing voice became deeper.

Inside the shaking elevator Park Mun-dae saw the lights filling his field of vision… and suddenly realized something.

'I guess so.'

I was less confident in this choice but I think that's why I wanted to show it more clearly.

No I want to show you.

I wanted to meet all expectations.

To those who chose Parkmoon University because of what they know instead of what is new.

To those who choose to stay together.

To do that…

'You just have to do better than expected.'

Park Mun-dae grabbed the microphone head.

[Our story never ends

So that it sinks into your ears]

More earnestly.

[Umm-]

The voice stretched out embracing the splendidly blooming ensemble of string instruments.

It is not flaunted or buried.

The singing voice with its clear presence entwines all the accompaniment melodies like a core becoming a harmonious and powerful focal point.

Now there is no access to the hotel lobby or wire. I don't care about lighting equipment or directing.

Only Park Moon-dae and his voice in the elevator caught the attention.

[Wooo—!]

I want to satisfy you.

I said the live performance was really good and I didn't want to give myself time to evaluate it.

Park Mun-dae did his best to tune each syllable.

Intensely.

[The end will not come

Inside the shining lens

[I will remain like a film]

A voice that spreads alone without accompaniment.

Inside the elevator he slightly closed his eyes and lowered his hand.

It is filled with only breath and voice without any other melody.

[Because it's here]

In this way one image is imprinted on the surface of the water again as if covering and overflowing all the events.

Something everyone was already familiar with.

What a great singer he was.

[Draw me constantly

inside you]

Park Moon-dae smiled and took his mouth off the microphone.

[Still completely and forever]

Breathless silence.

A single string instrument began a gentle accompaniment.

Meanwhile the elevator containing Park Moon-dae slowly began to go up as it was opened.

Park Moon-dae leaned loosely on the standing microphone and looked at the audience in the upper floors.

And the moment it touched the ceiling the light went out.

Pop.

The song is over.

Homma was clapping barely able to breathe when she realized she almost broke her light stick.

There was no thought in my head.

Backstage.

“Mumundae you were really really amazing… you just performed on stage…!!”

“…”

“Mundae…?”

“thanks.”

Park Moon-dae blinked.

I felt dizzy.

‘What did you do?’

It was my first time being so immersed.

I thought I would never fall out because I usually have good concentration and even have S-level characteristics that help me concentrate on stage.

but…

‘It was different.’

This is the first time I’ve ever performed while only thinking about singing.

He had the brains to calculate various effects that would be derived from the stage.

Since I started my stage experience in survival programs from the beginning it was something that could not be helped.

Grades schedules public opinion all kinds of external factors… The stage was to put all of that in your head and organize it so as not to touch any landmines before going on stage.

‘But this one… no.’

There was no need for anything else.

A strange sense of mission and a primal desire to somehow satisfy the person I was looking at right here filled my head.

And that satisfaction and catharsis.

Oh my… there was a stage like this too.

“…”

Park Moon-dae leaned his head against the wall and licked the salt from the corner of his mouth before suddenly coming to his senses.

‘This is not the time.’

The concert isn’t over yet. I had to move right away. He stood up and placed his hand on Sun Ah-hyun’s shoulder as she waited for the VCR to finish.

“I’m waiting for my solo performance.”

“Ugh. “I don’t change my clothes.”

Sun Ah-hyun who was the last member to sing a solo song smiled brightly.

If you choose the ‘RED’ route you’ll end up with paint splattered all over your face and clothes giving off an incredibly innocent look.

But that’s why it will be an incredibly powerful stage.

‘I also have to do the next one properly.’

Park Moon-dae gathered his emotions like that. Because there were still stages left.

“…I know he will do well so I just support him.”

“Ugh!”

Sun Ah-hyun wanted to say more about Park Moon-dae’s performance just before but decided to talk about it after the concert ended and moved on like a professional.

My heart was pounding.

‘It was great.’

I felt it even though I only heard it indirectly backstage.

As with the aesthetics of the original moment it was impossible to describe it accurately.

But here was someone who knew how to describe it.

“…brother.”

Big Moon was so absorbed that he could barely come to his senses until the next stage began and he finally came back to his thoughts.

The hand holding the light stick became slippery from the heat.

The audience was melted into complete enthusiasm and immersion as if they had never been full of worries and interests.

It was worth it.

‘that… ’

Even though I was wearing a VR device I almost thought I was there. I was completely immersed in the song.

But at the same time I felt so sad and crazy because I wasn't there. I think it would have been even more amazing if the song had been performed on stage.

My heart is pounding at the thought of that.

I had such conflicting feelings.

'It was amazing. Really… really.'

He wiped away the cold sweat and took a breath.

Neither he nor Testa Park Moon-dae have a status window anymore.

However it was visible to the eyes of the person using the status window.

In what way and with what results the singer on that stage will be expressed.

Clearly.

[Singing: EX]

Chapter 581

A few minutes later.

“Ahyun looked great today too~!”

“Thank you…!”

Backstage Sun Ah-hyun who had just finished her solo performance quickly changed her outfit and joined. A staff member quickly cleaned up the red paint stains on my neck with a wet tissue.

I saw Keun Se-jin sticking out his thumb and nodded inwardly.

‘Seon Ah-hyun’s performance was impressive.’

The final part before the climax of the strange hotel story.

The choice between going down to the dark basement or going out of the hotel.

‘And the audience chose the former during the first performance… ’

This time I chose the former. This is because the stage at the time of the first performance was shockingly impressive.

Sun Ah-hyun’s ‘RED’ option covered in paint.

-It’s all just talking to yourself.

you don’t listen

thud.

Between the stage settings that embody the complex plumbing of the basement like a spider's web. An intense performance unfolded as they cleverly moved up and down.

It is a slow tempo song about a love that is inevitable and predestined. Kim Rae-bin used a theremin on the song and arranged it more experimentally heightening the sense of heterogeneity.

Accordingly Sun Ah-hyun's performance became more destructive and aggressive as the song progressed.

And the elegant choreography closer to ballet than modern dance further creates a thrilling sense of discomfort.

Aaaah!

I chuckled thinking about the cheers from the audience just before.

'It'll be fun.'

It wasn't for nothing that they unanimously left out Sun Ah-hyun as the last solo song.

Ryu Cheong-wu who was watching the guys' conversation with a happy face opened his mouth.

"It will be easier now that the sequence of stages changing depending on the choices is over. "Let's go while being fully immersed."

"yes!"

That's right. Now you're done choosing your options. In the first place there were no options for all stages before.

'If that's the case quality control won't be possible.'

Because the set list is doubled.

Only about half of the stages were given choices and solo songs accounted for a large portion of them minimizing the burden.

So did I.

…My solo performance.

"…"

I thought again of my performance just before.

That moment when I poured all my energy and strength into the song and thought of nothing else.

'…after.'

I feel overwhelmed just thinking about it.

It was strange that that was just a few minutes ago.

really.

"…"

"…Park Moon-dae."

"yes?"

When I looked up Bae Se-jin was making a mysterious expression.

Maybe I looked crazy.

"You… are really good at singing. "Solo stage."

Fortunately it wasn't.

"…thank you?"

“Hmm. “Well this may be new to you but…”

Bae Se-jin seemed to be trying to say something more but was stopped by another guy who was whispering so that everyone around him could hear.

“You don’t need to tell me bro. The camera already did it!”

“Bae Se-jin closes his eyes like this while listening to Moon Dae-hyung’s song. The camera took the picture. That’s someone who was impressed. “Right?”

“…!”

Following the movements of the behind-the-scenes camera director Cha Yoo-jin exquisitely depicted Bae Se-jin’s serious expression as if she was appreciating it with emotion and then narrowed her eyes.

“Everyone will find out soon.”

Bae Se-jin’s face turned as red as a yaksha.

“Hahaha!”

The members led by Keun Se-jin laughed and the backstage became noisy for a moment.

Bae Se-jin also seemed to know that Cha Yu-jin had no malicious intent and that it was just a joke so he immediately relaxed his expression and sighed.

A few years ago I would have kept an eye on these guys to see if they would fight but that’s not the case anymore.

The atmosphere was good.

‘I guess we’ve gotten used to each other.’

And even though they were panting from exhaustion everyone had the energy to laugh and chat probably because they were satisfied with this concert.

I was sure that the backstage at yesterday's concert didn't have this kind of atmosphere.

These guys don't even mention it.

…Thank you.

I looked around at the guys and opened my mouth.

"…VCR says there are 2 minutes left."

"Oh!"

I nodded to the staff member giving the signal and then straightened my posture with the other guys.

A VCR's narration sound was blaring above my head.

It's Liu Chengwu's voice.

[Look back.]

Right now in the VCR Ryu Cheong-woo will appear from the darkness where you can't even see an inch in front of you and will be holding out a ticket.

In Sun Ah-hyun's stage choice earlier it was the same whether she went to the basement or out of the hotel.

[hurry.]

And the video ends with the camera slowly looking back.

Goooooo-

So now it appears from the darkness.

Stages where you focus completely on one thing without any choice.

To the climax of this concert.

Chii Iik.

The stage setup opens in front of you. Dry ice leaks out from the cracks and light waves from the light stick spread before your eyes.

It wasn't the first time but my heart pounded.

'You have to show your best.'

I really wanted to do that.

I ran out to the front of the stage to the clicking sound I heard in my in-ears.

When the hotel lobby which was used as a stage set opens the space revealed is… a circus tent.

[Welcome to the HUNTHHOUSE!]

And like a circus the spectacular stage is packed without a break.

Cha Yu-jin grinned and raised her hand from the center of the formation.

"You have my dice!"

Wow!!

From <Training>.

It was a composition of recent hits and three or four previous title songs in succession.

The most exciting section!

Both the performers and the audience rush in without a moment to breathe heating up the scene.

“Woooo-”

I played the climax part with a hand mic. I pushed it as far as I wanted and at exactly the right starting point a super high-pitched sound burst out without stopping.

My neck was in surprisingly good condition. When our eyes met during the choreography Kim Rae-bin’s expression could be seen changing slightly.

‘what?’

No there is no need to question it. Let’s spend as much as we want.

I used as much voice as I wanted until the last <Train>.

There was no restriction on the neck.

Ahhh!!

The moment the last song ended there was even louder applause and cheers.

All the way to the audience.

Both my ears and eyes were filled with reactions to the stage.

“Whoop.”

Even though I’m out of breath I don’t feel any pain.

I lined up with the other guys and ran back from the protruding stage.

Even to the same location as the electronic signboard.

[THANK YOU]

The moment we held hands and bowed our heads the electronic display board flashed.

The stage equipment came down like a tent in front of our eyes and we disappeared behind the stage.

silence.

“…”

“…Whoop.”

After a moment of silence.

“Thank you for your hard work!”

“The costume is ready!”

The backstage became noisy again.

But I stopped and remembered the scene in the audience I had just seen.

That heat and reaction.

‘Satisfied.’

I could guarantee that one thing.

I showed my best at today’s concert.

“…”

Even as I put down the hand microphone I continued to stare at it.

It was exhilarating but it shouldn't be overwhelming.

Because it's not over yet.

Wow!

Big Moon clenched his hands tightly.

'That was great!'

The incredible stage density for 15 minutes similar to the previous medley was at a level that took people's souls out.

Moreover no room was given.

The moment the song ended Testa completely disappeared from the stage.

The device closed again like a circus tent being pulled down and the stage became completely dark. As if it's all over now.

And on the contrary the lights came on in the audience. As if to tell them to get up because the performance is over.

But no one got up and no one was sorry.

The same was true for those watching in VR.

because.

'Encore!'

It was a tacit agreement. Big Moon moved his hands excitedly. The light stick lights swayed.

For your information while waiting for this encore they usually sang fan songs or songs that implicitly had great meaning between the singer and the fans.

Or we even had an event.

but.

‘Yesterday… I probably didn’t do it right.’

The event was canceled due to Park Moon-dae’s sudden absence.

‘I heard that we originally decided to sing only the first verse of the latest fan song unaccompanied.’

And today as the situation was suddenly brought under control they seemed to be cautious and didn’t seem to have planned any special events.

There were only sporadic encores and applause chants calling out the members’ names.

‘…sorry.’

It seemed like it was because of him.

“…”

Big Moon calmed down a bit and waited quietly listening to the sound echoing in the audience.

And as the minutes and hours passed.

ridge.

The VCR reminded me of an old hotel lobby.

Aaaaa!!

In the audience the light sticks are remotely controlled again and filled with vivid colors.

yellow pink blue.

These were Testa's group symbol colors.

and.

[Are you here again?]

Sejin Lee's playful voice rings out from the VCR.

[What should I do? Our circus has nothing more prepared…]

Woooooo!

Playful boos and laughter covered the audience.

Then a bright laughing voice came out from the VCR at the right time.

[Ah so the circus is over… shall we watch something fun like that?]

yes

[great!]

[We will prepare now… Yay!]

The VCR screen turned quickly.

As if looking at the history of the hotel time passed until only the old hotel remained.

And then we arrived in broad daylight.

[It took a little time but it's ready!]

It was the moment when the building that used to be a hotel was revealed in its bare appearance under the blue sky.

[I'll go now!]

The lights returned to the stage.

"…!"

The stage has been revealed again.

The gorgeous background set that embodied the hotel had disappeared. All that was left was a skeleton like a steel frame for a stage.

"Uh oh!"

And soon the members jump out from the center not from the set.

Aaaah!

With the accompaniment ringing loudly the members ran out onto the protruding stage without hesitation took their seats and began the choreography.

A melody that will be familiar to everyone.

It was an easy listening song that topped the music charts and at the same time it was a song that caused Testa great distress.

This is their last promotional song and fan song.

[The heavy yesterday was

It felt like it would never end perfect today

It never came.]

Liu Chengwu smiled and sang.

The members move in formation.

[okay

Even though there is no perfection now

End of yesterday beginning of today]

A loud live sound resonates through the speakers.

The members laughed and ran around the protruding stage making it seem like it was a lie that they had been performing until they were exhausted.

Thanks to the live performance the original song which did not have any changes to the arrangement resonated better in people's ears than the original song.

And Homma who was sitting right in front of the protruding stage realized something.

"ah…!!"

The choreography has changed.

No the movement hasn't changed.

But the formation has changed.

[I turn the page

Go to the next chapter

The guidance shines

Pain becomes a guide]

Bae Se-jin's part Originally Lee Se-jin and Cha Yu-jin stood in the part where dancers had to assist from both sides.

And when Sun Ah-hyun took a turn in the next part Ryu Cheong-woo took the turn instead of the dancer and formed a formation.

'There are no dancers… '

That's right.

In keeping with the original assortment all formations in all sections that used dancers were changed to testas.

The stage was filled entirely with testers.

As if I had originally wanted to do this.

Instead of saying that previous activities were hastily added fan service and were not officially planned they chose to show it directly.

What does formal activity look like?

That stage.

[Let me tempt fate

Beyond the milestones and crossroads

Struggling

[Go just one step further]

The choreography goes together without any gaps and the chorus is refreshing.

“…”

Keudal realized that people were singing along from all directions.

People around us felt moved and reassured as if we were now singing the fan song we couldn’t sing together more happily.

He clenched his fists.

And that leads to joy.

[Until the end of today

Beyond the limits!]

The moment Cha Yu-jin’s last refrain ends Park Moon-dae’s high notes echo through the ceiling.

Like pouring it all out.

[Run breathlessly

The city center at your feet

Reach out further towards the sky]

The choreography clicks into place and the formation appears as if it is about to explode then takes the angle with great force.

[Even if the stars do not reach

[I want to live today]

Panting for breath Park Mun-dae laughed instead of crying.

[Don’t sleep]

Just- dream!]

Amid exploding fireworks and cheers.

Testa’s concert ended successfully.

No one knew what kind of reaction this concert would have.

Chapter 582

Testa's dream-like concert has ended.

All that remains are memories joy lingering feelings and…

data!

"Hmm."

Ryu Seo-jin who was a senior in the club of Lee Se-jin and Park Moon-dae's twin homemaker Ryu Geon-woo organized the photos he took with an eagle eye.

'It came out well.'

Even after the encore was over Testa continued the encore by chatting with the audience several times and accepting song requests.

The photos I got there were really good.

This is because after the set list was over the members ran out in all directions waving their hands and talking focusing on fan service.

-Aaaah!

-this! this! Ah Hyeon-ah!

It was a crazy melting pot with smartphones and doll slogan light sticks flying wild in the air.

He was even very lucky to have a seat on both days.

'The kids kept coming.'

She nodded looking at the clear shot of Liu Chengwu's abs.

The quality seemed to be very good to exchange with Lee Se-jin or Park Moon-dae shots from different angles.

So in conclusion both concerts had good results.

…Except that there are no photos of Park Moon-dae because he did not attend on the first day.

'That can't be helped.'

Didn't someone's life be at stake? Even if I had attended the concert I would have been criticized as a psychopath but it was the best outcome because I helped save his life by skipping it.

'It was a bit of a mess but where can I get it fixed?'

Twin Homma clicked his tongue.

It was disappointing to know but at the same time it was quite admirable that the members barely showed it on the first day and carried on with the performance like professionals.

In fact it was unusual to see fans who were worried and then felt moved or moved by the process of seeing the members and feeling relieved.

'Well I knew Lee Se-jin would do that.'

Additionally the post-processing method was good.

It didn't just end with a choice between a refund and a VR concert ticket as compensation.

Testa extended the Seoul encore concert period for two days after the two- to three-month tour ended giving affected audiences priority tickets for one date.

Of course Twin Homma also chose VR and priority advance tickets instead of a refund.

‘Do you know how to do business with your agency in a bad way?’

In return for compensation they did not offend the fandom by showing that they were taking advantage but they also did not suffer any long-term losses.

She nodded saying it was a smart decision.

Future-oriented supplementary measures.

With that the controversy over the member’s absence from the first concert of this tour was quickly put to rest.

However… that wasn’t the end.

Sweet.

She clicked on the fancam she posted and looked down the comments.

That’s right… a video of himself filming Park Moon-dae’s solo stage as much as possible.

-Legend

-I think I’m crazy. It gives me goosebumps.

-Are you always this good? Isn’t it like synthesis?

-It seems like the mountain spirit changed his vocal cords for doing a good deed.

-Amazing… Wow just… amazing…

Comments full of surprise and excitement were plastered all over the place.

There was even a dog-like fight going on with people fighting over whether or not this was edited or pointing out that there was no copyright awareness when they said that the sound source had been extracted.

Aggro is exciting. It was proof of a successful video.

That's right.

As soon as Park Moon-dae's solo performance was performed at the concert it became a real-time trend and was mentioned everywhere.

But there was no related video at the time.

This is because the official VOD video made through streaming had not yet been released.

Moreover all recorded and uploaded streaming videos were subject to copyright reports!

-Please video before it evaporates in my head.

-Fuck Orbit tell me to work.

-When will the VOD be uploaded? ㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ

Then as soon as the fancam video full of realism was uploaded even though it lacked professionalism it received a huge number of views.

-Thank you… Thank you…

-There are people who haven't seen it but I don't think there's anyone who has seen it just once.

Even though streaming videos are subject to copyright personal fancams which are a gray area that the agency ignores were not taken down.

As fans clicked and commented like crazy it even entered the popularity rankings.

Even the video that she cut without permission from her fancam and posted it as shorts such as ‘Jiri is the main vocalist’ on other SNS has already exceeded 2 million views.

‘In-heart traders… ’

She admitted even though she was annoyed. Those bastards played a part in making people who weren’t fans watch it.

Of course that’s because Park Moon-dae sang… really well.

“…”

She likes idols because they are general entertainers not because someone is a singer with crazy singing skills.

Nevertheless Park Moon-dae’s solo performance this time was truly overwhelming in skill and quality making people ignore their tastes.

‘What on earth did they do?’

The moment the song ends. It was to the point where I could feel the blood I had been holding back exhilarating throughout my body.

That was a surprise.

Twin Homma had a hunch.

It must have been more shocking because I didn’t expect it.

Therefore it was natural that some fans who went to the scene or watched the streaming were so angry that they became more violent.

-The surprising thing is that this is less than 10% of the emotion seen in person in the audience… Of course you have to hear the song in person.

-No but it was even better when I saw it on site. Please watch the streaming everyoneㅠㅠㅠ It's not too late so please buy the VOD.

This is the correct answer

This is the real problem with so-called losers. You should be grateful when people compliment you so don't go one extra mile and buy something… It's shameless and unseemly to hang on to just one man.

Oh haha sudden yelling

I am not even Park Moon-dae so why should I be thankful? Are you going to marry me to Park Moon-dae?

Eng Moon-dae is not an adult man but a 17-year-old Gatgi.

Twin Homma nodded his head indifferently even after seeing this mess.

'There is a lot of influx of young children.'

In her preconceptions it was usually feisty teenagers who made such extreme comments.

Even though Testa was seven years old and the fandom was especially talkative and active it seemed like the overwhelming majority of teenagers had strangely flowed through this concert.

She immediately found the inflow channel.

'This is it.'

The 'video with alternative options' that Testa used as a concert promotion was very suitable for the tastes of the younger age group.

To be honest if you are in your early 20s this composition may be considered cringe-worthy but the quality and fan sentiment offset it… but it seems to have been a hit to the tastes of elementary and middle school students full of dreams and fantasies.

-Which one should I choose so Eugene can see it? ㅠㅠ Please let me know

In the next video turn it off twice at the front and once at the back. Then Eugene oppa appears.

Thank you!ㅠㅠ

And in a similar extension to the concert they were given a choice between ‘RED’ and ‘WONDER’ and the kids were completely immersed in it and showed affection for it.

It has settled into the fandom.

In the past twin homemakers would have been judged coldly saying that the influx of noisy kids did not help much with the grades earned through money.

However this was an important time for this group to have a steady influx so she nodded calmly.

‘This is how the company can’t think of anything else whether it’s a route change or something else.’

Moreover teenagers had a great influence on the Internet.

Thanks to these people talking so much here and there the story of Testa’s concert coupled with the episode of Park Moon-dae’s absence seemed to be popping up here and there as a story to kill time.

[Idol who got drunk after leaving the concert]

-Here is an idol who was unable to attend his concert due to unfortunate circumstances. This is Testa’s Park Moon-dae.

– Testa who has continued his successful career by ranking first on the music charts with his latest song will hold a concert at Jamsil Main Stadium in Seoul this year. The number of spectators mobilized was tens of thousands.

-However member Park Moon-dae did not show up at the concert without notice. What on earth is going on?

-Surprisingly he became the last witness to the disappearance…

Aggro videos on WeTube filled with clumsy AI voices and concocted images.

‘I knew it would be like this.’

But what is surprising is that there are many foreign comments.

‘What kind of Thai subtitles are you supporting for the factory wrecker theme?’

Although it was an automatic translation I was really impressed by the number of views as it supported subtitles in as many as 20 countries. Homema an office worker also stuck out his tongue.

And as Park Moon-dae served as the entrance to the topic other stages of the concert were naturally attracting attention as well.

Other members’ solo performances continued to be featured in popular videos and their unique concert structure also attracted interest.

VR and options.

-They even released a game and organized a concert.

-How much did you spend?

-It won’t be a waste of money for the ticket haha. It’s a big hit so it won’t be at a loss if it’s at the level of Jamsil Main Stadium.

It was a good thing.

However this was not the only reaction domestically.

Twin Homma quickly checked the distribution of views.

“I added the subtitles earlier because it was getting more views from overseas.”

Apparently Testa’s concert became famous among KPOP fandom.

She went to an account that translated overseas fandom reactions read a few posts and became even more confident.

-Reviews also appeared in other magazines… Wow (translated photo)

In fact Park Moon-dae’s incident only served as a trigger to attract attention.

It is said that the structure of the Testa concert itself suited their tastes and was worthy of arousing interest.

A circus in a ghost story disguised as a hotel.

Ghost stories about haunted houses were more popular overseas than at home and because they were familiar the barrier to entry was lower.

In addition the optional concert configuration and stage set quality are difficult to attempt due to cost and practice time. That made it very attractive.

And even rave reviews from people who saw it.

Ultimately this tour itself gained recognition as content.

-I booked the MD online I can’t wait. Please why do they always come to Jakarta late ;(

-The resale price is burdensome but I think it’s worth buying.

-Be sure to watch streaming

Testa's tour itself became a hot topic as the concert MD which was inspired by a popular manual ghost story became famous.

There was even a review from a music review magazine famous in the English-speaking world.

The post on the translation account confirmed by Twin Homma was also about that review.

[Testa Review: Endless surprises and dynamism; [Inviting an independent audience]

[★★★★☆]

The review written in English had symbolism.

"…"

Twin Homma clenched his chin.

In Korea there is a strong impression that a tour is a rest period during a period of inactivity.

However since it is a time when you can actually see Testa overseas and direct cams of performances are pouring in there are quite a few fans who like the tour season.

As a result a unique phenomenon was occurring in which sales of past hunting albums were skyrocketing.

And to put it all together:

'Your grade has risen.'

The image was attached to Testa.

From abroad.

That was global recognition.

She nodded saying that it would be worthwhile to invest a huge amount of capital from stage setup to composition.

…Park Moon-dae went through all that trouble.

"…"

She recalled the last concert.

Park Moon-dae looked like he was about to shed tears only once at the end of his solo performance.

Even though he was originally a member who boasted a great crybaby batting average at every concert.

When running around providing fan service after the encore when the members take turns talking one by one when fans hold events…

'I think one of the three almost cried.'

That's why it got strange nicknames like Moist Steamed Bread and Apple Rice Cake.

However this time he only smiled the whole time even though he occasionally looked overwhelmed.

-ㅜㅜㅜㅜWhy am I crying when I'm not crying at all?

-Be happy Moondae…

It seems to be a point that strangely drove fans crazy but Twin Homma deduced Park Moon-dae's psychology.

'Even if I cry during this situation it seems a bit weak because it feels like I'm trying to get sympathy.'

However it was difficult to even apologize. I called 119 to save someone but I should have refused? No matter how you say it isn't the logic strange?

‘sorry. Whatever the reason it’s my fault… It just sounds pretentious.’

So it wasn’t strange that Park Moon-dae took that into consideration.

But that day Park Moon-dae…

‘…I might not have even thought about that.’

He just stood there at the concert and looked happy. It seemed like they were very grateful to their fans.

“…”

Twin Homer Ryu Seo-jin was sentimental for a moment but then came to his senses embarrassed that he had become sentimental.

Anyway… Well if Park Moon-dae was in the right frame of mind it was a good thing!

‘Let’s continue with corrections.’

She was busy typing on the keyboard.

Because it was an important time.

For reference what was Testa doing while on tour during this important period?…

“This is… a new record! You broke your record! “It’s the highest note!”

“Oooooh!”

“That’s amazing Mundae!”

…It was during the world’s greatest Cleopatra competition with the honorary title on the line!

Chapter 583

What is Cleopatra Game?

It is a competition in which participants shout out context-free sentences such as 'Hello Cleopatra the world's thinnest potato chip' at increasingly higher volumes.

That's right. Not a high note but a high sound.

The point is that there is no musical scale.

"But strictly speaking I think it has musicality because it can match the accompaniment by finding a nearby scale and has a sense of rhythm…"

"Okay you're right. "Ravin."

…They say so.

If one of the people playing the game has absolute pitch I think this game can be musical as well.

Even more so if the people participating are all in the music industry.

"Uh-huh brother. "I don't think the sound was even a semitone higher right now?"

"What are you talking about! "The pig-snapping sound you made earlier after Liu Chengwu also passed!"

"But I was a pig that made high notes right? My brother is Cleopatra who can't sing high notes right? "Oh it's ruined?"

"…okay? Bring the piano! "I'll do it again!"

“Ohhhhh!”

So I guess we’re in this situation now…

Suddenly I saw people with the same name attacking each other and Kim Rae-bin and Sun Ah-hyun moving Cha Yu-jin’s electric piano into the living room clapping and cheering.

It’s similar to the movie’s adaptation of gambling.

haha. This is shit.

“Piano is here…!”

“Oooh!”

And from here under the leadership of Kim Rae-bin an over-immersive feast takes place where people shout out Cleopatra to the keyboard notes.

‘I need to take a picture of something like this and upload it.’

At this point it’s a lot of fun content.

Look at those passionate and passionate faces and Kim Rae-bin’s solemn face.

“yes. If you ask my verdict… it’s a success!”

“Oooooooo!”

“Look!”

I thought Bae Se-jin was almost strangling Eun Se-jin.

So some people fail others succeed and joys and sorrows abound.

“Cha Yu-jin failed!”

“Noooooooo!”

For reference this is a hotel suite.

During the tour we always decided to gather in one room once a week for a training camp and today was that day.

‘I’m glad I asked for a secluded place with good soundproofing… ’

Testa almost went viral on the Internet due to the controversy over inter-floor noise. No if the soundproofing wasn’t there in the first place I wouldn’t have been able to do this and would have been sullen and less immersed.

‘In that sense well… I’m enjoying it.’

Of course either way the outcome of this game will be the same.

“Next is Mundae! If they succeed here Moon Dae-Moon University will be the final winner… Will <Azusa> the first place winner also win the Cleopatra game? The result is…”

I opened my mouth.

And without any inspiration I just recited that ridiculous phrase.

To the note corresponding to the third octave Mi (E5).

“…!”

The moment you end the phrase with the last word ‘chip’.

“…success!”

“Oooooh!”

“Congratulations Moon Dae!”

There was an outpouring of enthusiastic support.

That's right. The ending is this.

No matter how many times I go in the end I'm the only one left.

'after.'

I shrugged.

If you didn't know something like this would happen while playing a game with the main vocalist…

"huh? Who didn't know that Moon University would win here?"

"…"

"But is anyone curious about how far the door can make sound?"

Flash!

Fists and hands come up here and there.

The eyes are bright. It's really burdensome.

"Mundae-hyung's voice is still there I know!"

"that's right. Can you make higher notes? "I swear on my word!"

It's me who bets so why are you betting?

"Ugh…! me too!"

Why on earth are you accepting it?

Of course that doesn't mean you can't pay it… but that's not true.

'Eh I don't know.'

I whipped my head around and sat cross-legged on the carpet.

“challenge.”

“Oooh!”

Ryu Cheong-woo comes out with his smartphone and takes pictures of Kim Rae-bin in front of the keyboard.

I went almost to the end of his portable keyboard making serious high notes that sounded like a dolphin would make.

“Yaaah!”

“All lovers should see this!! “There is no such thing as a passionate battle!”

It’s okay to be happy.

I shook my head and chuckled.

“The winning prize is.”

“huh? “Where is that?”

“…”

Give me at least part-time wages as a clown.

I gave up on everything and watched Liu Chengwu briefly edit the video.

“I also included Kim Raebin’s failure!”

“Then please include the scene where Cha Yu-jin fails!”

Now those two are fighting.

Anyway while we were chewing the steak we ordered from room service we uploaded the video to the Gearco Group SNS account.

-What on earth is this?

-Are they still playing like this lol?

-Testa you really have fun living life…

-Guys you guys only booked one room at the hotel? Haha. No if anyone sees them they will think that we are real brothers…

-Look at me not taking care of my neck even though I'm on tour haha.

I think I'm better at managing people than you who write comments criticizing celebrities during work time. Oh I'm sorry if I'm unemployed.

He just became 2000 won more expensive.

Well it's always a dynamic KPOP rock. but…

I watched the reactions of people who liked it happily then narrowed my eyes as I watched the number of shares and likes increase.

'As expected it has increased.'

Recently the number of followers on the Testa account has increased noticeably. The fluctuation range was steeper than during the active period.

The same goes for shares and likes.

'I heard that the Testa Tour has become somewhat famous.'

It was not just a simple rumor going around among fans but there was some real substance to it.

This was not a one-off aggro that resulted in a sudden increase in popularity. It has truly established itself and is being recognized in a meaningful way.

I rubbed my chin.

'…Should we schedule an additional tour in the English and American regions after the encore concert?'

By increasing the size of the audience.

Even if it's a bit of a stretch… it's stadium level.

After that if it appears for certification purposes in a famous program in Europe or the United States it will serve as a signal to those with heavy buttocks.

Testa is worthy of receiving a cultural medal.

'I don't really like it because it's close to toadyism.'

Still it was well worth using.

"hmm."

I smiled and rubbed the back of my neck.

I didn't know.

I never thought the tour would not only resolve this sudden crisis but also come back with results that exceed expectations.

Maybe… I've been a slow learner for years.

The fact that unpredictable events occur is not necessarily a bad thing.

'But let's not let our guard down.'

I woke up refreshed.

Once the upload was over the other guys were hanging out separately doing what they wanted to do.

Of course they also care about each other.

As if Ryu Cheong-woo was talking to Kim Rae-bin who was still playing the keyboard.

“What are you doing Ravin?”

“Ah I was estimating the vocal range based on the notes that Mr. Moon Dae succeeded in.”

hmm.

Originally I could make sounds up to 3 octaves but now seeing Raebin Kim pressing down…

“here.”

3 octaves D.

One whole tone increased.

“Wow has it increased this much?”

“Yes!”

For reference even in the low tone the sound went down one whole tone and one semitone.

I saw Raebin Kim’s eyes shining as she looked at me with all kinds of anticipation and excitement.

“I see. “The gatehouse is really amazing.”

“Yes!”

“…”

It’s burdensome.

“Your vocal range has changed! No it has become wider! The sound is richer and more descriptive faithfully ranging from low to high notes without any difference between chest and head voice…”

“I get it. thank you.”

“Yes! Listen! “If I were to write the notes that my brother just used on the staff…”

“…”

I heard ‘yes’ three times.

I decided to just leave Raebin Kim to have fun.

‘It would be nice if it helped with composing… ’

I was satisfied that the tour was going smoothly.

To be honest I expected it from the time I sang it at the Seoul concert.

It means that the quality of the song has changed somewhere.

Basically the growth of skills is a step process.

It was rare to experience this directly by improving your skills by ‘taking’ the stats with the help of the status window.

I quietly guessed.

‘The starting point is… ’

Solo stage.

The moment I sang it was clear that the strange sense and immersion of focusing solely on singing had a direct impact on my growth.

This is also a fact that has been confirmed by people around me.

-Brother Sol the stage was really crazy really.

-ㄹㅗ -> is a typoㅠㅠㅠ

It was a text message I checked as soon as the concert ended.

It came from the big moon Ryu Geon-woo.

‘I was glad you felt refreshed.’

He was very sorry for causing harm and apologized sincerely several times.

But he no longer seemed frustrated or scared.

And I became a little more honest.

This is the reply I received when I asked to go hiking together on my next vacation.

-Thank you bro…

It was a good sign.

Since then I have been in constant contact with Geondal. They talk about all kinds of trivial things and sometimes they even talk about problems that occurred during the tour.

And about the guy’s life.

– Well… I’m thinking about retiring once my training is over.

He said he was considering quitting his job after properly sorting out the problems he caused at work during his unauthorized absence.

I didn't stop him.

Because I know that it is not the job I wanted to do but a job I got by studying hard because the system forcibly gave me status ailments.

'I have a lot of money but do I need to suffer from complaints and old people?'

If you cash out everything you invested in stocks you will be able to spend your whole life playing around without having to get a job.

Even if that is not the case there is no burden as you will be able to spend as much time as you want without worrying about making a living until you find what you want to do.

Still 'It won't be a problem if you retire but emotionally think about whether taking the exam is too much of a waste.' I responded very carefully.

I checked the text message I had sent again smiled and closed my smartphone.

I thought it was a nice day with nothing to worry about.

Just that evening.

Keun Se-jin sneakily approached the guys who were lying down in the living room as if camping and whispered.

"Do you know about Mundaemundae?"

what.

"There are two people who filmed our entertainment. "That carrot coin the PD who filmed the distress situation and the writer of <Azusa>."

How could you not know?

“I know but why?”

And then a completely unexpected remark was made.

“They say you two are working together.”

“…!?”

It is said that the PD’s entertainment corps and ＜Azusa＞ writer Ryu Seo-rin have been eating together recently and are looking into ways to create a program together.

‘I heard you’re in constant contact with this guy’s producer.’

Big Se-jin sends gifts every holiday to the people he gets his number from checks their articles and regularly contacts them when there is something to celebrate.

As a result it seems like I naturally received this news via text message from the producer while in contact.

“Does this feel like it will always contact us? “Ugh I’m already worried about how long you two will spend with our members. I’m worried~”

Of course Keun Se-jin has connections with both the PD and the writer and since he is a tester who has played a big part in their careers he seems confident that he will be contacted to work together again this time.

Actually that’s probably why the PD secretly revealed this news to this guy in the first place.

The problem is.

“You don’t know that.”

“What is Mundaemun University?”

“Sejin is filming a drama.”

“…!?”

Keun Se-jin who had a blank expression for a moment immediately covered his face with one hand.

“Ah ahhh…”

The filming of the next season of Bae Se-jin’s <The Doll Hunter> was just around the corner.

The schedule which was difficult to manage between tours lasted only two months.

-I will make sure there is no disruption to the tour.

-No one suspects bro.

Just combining it with a concert right now would be a pretty hectic schedule but combining it with an infernal entertainment show produced by the PD and Writers’ Guild so quickly?

‘I guess I’ll take care of everything while I’m on the plane.’

You’ll be lucky if you don’t fall down.

However if you turn down that entertainment show you will have to wait for the next show for about half a year and then the synergy with the global momentum that is gaining momentum will end.

“…”

“…what should I do?”

It seems like Big Moon has one more story to talk about.

But after a few days.

-Ah it's not difficult at all is it?

The PD whom we met through a video conference on a laptop shouted cheerfully as if he had nothing to worry about.

That's right. The producer and writer who couldn't bear to fly to the United States were on a video call with Testa.

And the PD said the solution he thought of without hesitation.

-Bae Se-jin we can also film around the drama filming set~ That will definitely save time right?

"…"

I turned my head.

"Hyung is this a filming location?"

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth with a shocked expression.

"…It's a snowy mountain in Gangwon-do."

"…!!"

Snow mountain.

This winter… Snowy Mountain.

'No.'

I hastily opened my mouth.

"The members have already been to the mountains in Gangwon-do several times…"

-oh! Which one?

…I was going to say that because it was a familiar place our reactions would lack freshness.

Anyway it was explained appropriately.

‘There’s nothing to talk about Kim Raebin’s slump.’

They said that they all stayed together to write and compose lyrics and focused on it without any complicated schedules.

“The Byeolbyeolgok account also came out at that time.”

-Wow your passion is amazing.

Hearing the entertainment PD’s exclamation Kim Rae-bin also nodded with a flushed face.

And Ryu Seo-rin raised the corners of her mouth.

-You can do that.

“…”

“yes?”

-Let’s stay in a camp until Testa produces an album.

“yes?”

Something like that… entertainment?

‘I think it’s going to be a lot of fun.’

Isn’t there anything that can be stimulating?

I looked at this person with a hidden look in his eyes wondering if he had lost all sense but Liu Chengwu was already making a calm voice as if he was embarrassed.

“Ah… we’ve already made all the songs for our next album.”

It means don’t talk bullshit.

No what kind of entertainment is making the next album in the first place? Either it’s a joke or the quality of the album is ruined because it’s just fun.

-That’s not it… Ha I misheard the example.

On the screen Ryu Seo-rin taps the corner of her mouth with a pen.

-CM Song.

“…?”

-Testa creates CM songs for the company’s products by auctioning off the program PPL and offering the most money.

“…”

On the next screen the PD gives a standing ovation.

-Oooh! Sounds fun right? Sounds tempting?

You crazy people.

But it wasn’t the end.

-But you can’t leave there until it’s completed.

“yes?”

-You cannot descend until the advertiser is satisfied.

“…”

-It’ll be fun right?

Hell has arrived.

Chapter 584

Bae Se-jin quietly looked down at the script in his hand.

Script for Season 2 of ＜The Doll Hunter＞.

The script which has already been read and recited dozens or hundreds of times so that you can clearly picture it in your voice is unfolded with all kinds of corrections and notes.

I didn't do it alone.

'…I got a lot of help.'

Until this was completed there were members who would secretly come and interfere as long as they had the script.

He recalled Liu Chengwu's words that started it all.

-I see. So do you think it would be easier to plan if there was a counterpart role?

Receive lines from the script's counterpart.

In the early days of my childhood my mother did it for me occasionally and after that it was enough for me to do it on my own without anyone else…

However instead of coldly hanging up saying 'You are actually stealing my time' Bae Se-jin just let the members recite their lines.

It was a little embarrassing but it was fun.

'This… actually has nothing to do with group activities.'

This wasn't a stage performance or song production or at least it wasn't idol Bae Se-jin's solo activity.

Although it was strictly actor Bae Se-jin's personal work the members' interference was purely a matter of friendliness or favor.

– Well if you say yes… thank you.

So he happily accepted the favor (even though he didn't show it).

I thought that if I didn't have enough time I could just take a break later.

But it was unexpectedly helpful.

'It wasn't a waste of time.'

Hearing the thoughts of someone with a different way of thinking than my own allowed me to look at the script from a more diverse perspective.

Bae Se-jin looks into and tells the story from a blind spot beyond the reach of his thoughts which he would not have known if he had read it alone.

So Bae Se-jin slightly modified his interpretation of his role…

"Mr. Sejin."

"…!"

Bae Se-jin suddenly woke up from his thoughts.

This is the filming location.

"It's Sejin's turn."

"yes."

He put down the script and got up at the manager's call.

My eyes shined.

'Let's do it right.'

This is Seolsan Mountain Gangwon-do.

＜The Doll Hunter＞ Season 2. It was his first filming.

Bae Se-jin plays the role of Jeong Yi-sol.

He is a medical student with antisocial personality disorder and a psychopath who lacks empathy.

Among the people trapped in a strange high-rise building and trying to escape they commit inhumane murders without hesitation using food as their absolute value.

Even the main character was killed without any hesitation.

However what Jeong Yi-sol failed to calculate is that the moment the main character dies he returns to the beginning of the play.

So the moment season 2 starts.

-Heo Eok

The protagonist who returns to the past kills Jeong Yi-sol as soon as he meets her.

Bae Se-jin has already filmed that scene. This is thanks to the fact that during the filming of Season 1 we had already filmed up to that point in order to connect the actors' emotions.

So it is easy to think that he who played Jeong Yi-sol who has already died in season 2 will not appear much in the drama but…

In fact Bae Se-jin's role does not end there.

widely.

A signal to start filming.

The moment the short sound of the slate stops I forget my filming equipment.

Jeong Yi-sol opened her mouth.

“hi.”

“…!”

He is peacefully crossing his legs on the simple chair he is sitting on.

What he was holding in his hand was a medical questionnaire held by a clip and what he was wearing was a white robe.

What we face is the main character of this play.

And this place where they are…

Whiuuuuu…

It is a desolate snowy mountain with endless white snow and cold winds.

The protagonist asks with a trembling voice.

“what’s this.”

Jeong Yi-sol answers casually.

“Your image.”

“…”

That's right.

This Jeong Yi-sol is not a real character in the play.

When the main character faints falls asleep or is pushed into an extreme situation. In other words it was the protagonist's delusion that appeared in his head when he was unconscious.

"Why are you here!"

"Maybe I am your trauma. Other than that I can't use any proper terminology. "Because I am a product of your imagination."

So the two people sit facing each other on simple chairs in the bleak snowy mountain landscape of midwinter.

It's like receiving psychological counseling.

And it evaluates the protagonist's actions one by one and reveals his hidden thoughts.

-It was a hasty decision to bring in Myunghee Lee as a colleague. He died at a convenience store last time but will he survive longer this time?

-Burns in the lower abdomen penetrating right shoulder and fractured left ankle. You need a real doctor now not a psychologist.

-You left Myunghee Lee at the security room. There is no difference between your choice and the choice I made.

The imagined landscape is not always a snowy mountain. The main character sees hallucinations even in reality. In that case he will sit right next to you and have a conversation.

Sometimes it's painful sometimes it's calming and sometimes… surprisingly it's comforting.

-… Even if I had chosen the other side the situation wouldn't have been any better.

However the meaning of all words changes depending on the tone.

In fact Bae Se-jin planned to embody this imaginary character in a more aggressive and evil sense than the original Jeong Yi-sol.

‘It’s even more so because it’s my imagination.’

This is because I thought it would be natural for Jeong Yi-sol to be depicted as a more fearful and scary person as it was in the head of the main character who was directly murdered.

However during the script practice for this part the opinions expressed by the members who were in charge of the lines for the main character who was playing the opposite role were slightly different.

Bae Se-jin who was interested in that asked each person’s opinion more seriously.

To one person in particular.

-Well well… then. It’s just my opinion

Seon Ah-hyun.

Starting from the album he was playing a somewhat mysterious and eerie figure in the group’s worldview.

Somewhere like Jeong Yi-sol.

Maybe that’s why I thought more deeply about the psychological state of the main character and Jeong Yi-sol.

-If this character is the protagonist’s imagination… wouldn’t it be more humane? I think the wish that ‘Jung Yi-sol was a good person’ was reflected… More than anything…

One final word.

-The main character… killed Jeong Yi-sol.

-…!

-I don't think there was any guilt. Because the main character is a good person…

Bae Se-jin thought quite deeply.

And in response to his agony Park Mun-dae gave simple advice.

-Either way if your brother plays it there will be enough probability. Because my brother is an expert.

-But if I had to ask…

Opinions from different angles.

-I think people will like it better.

-ah…!

It's fun to see Jeong Yi-sol being a little more friendly!

This is what the viewer sees from outside the play.

-… good. thank you.

That's why Jeong Yi-sol appears like this in the protagonist's mental world.

Tell a cold and cruel story but make it seem slightly shaken by the protagonist's pain.

As time goes on the viewer becomes slightly more excited or confused as to whether he is being kind.

'For me this episode is more fun to act in… '

In fact a character like Jeong Yi-sol who only focuses on survival efficiency without any empathy was not Bae Se-jin's taste at all.

So it seems like he is regaining some sympathy for the main character… A subtle change in Jeong Yi-sol in this imaginary world.

'Even though it is a fake that the protagonist imagines.'

I was kind of looking forward to acting in this.

Jeong Yi-sol was created through the heart of Bae Se-jin.

He now raised his head and looked at the protagonist who was still in a state of panic.

"My imagination? Dream… is this a dream?"

"Think whatever you want. now…"

Jeong Yi-sol pressed the ballpoint pen.

"It's time to wake up."

"ah…"

The main character fell down on the snow.

Jeong Yi-sol did not pay attention.

Cut!!

In that way Bae Se-jin's first scene of this season received a clear OK.

"Oh I love it! In particular it's best not to pay attention here. Strangely I really like it aesthetically."

The director muttered with satisfaction and the people around him happily organized the filming equipment.

Even during the filming that took place afterward Bae Se-jin never once received an NG sign.

However everyone involved on set realized this.

Bae Se-jin did not pour in ad-libs that were not in the script.

However from the tone of voice movement and gaze… room was being given to Jeong Yi-sol's acting.

Client.

towards the protagonist.

"…Our Lee Sol's character is changing little by little?"

"yes… I think that's more attractive."

"Uh oh. that's right. Just do it. "Do what Mr. Sejin thought."

The director immediately confirmed.

Despite his meticulous character composition and excellence in capturing delicate moments on set he is impressed and tongue-tied but not shocked.

Surprise occurs when something unexpected happens. That's for people with a bad reputation.

However when a person who was originally crazy good performs again like crazy instead of surprise one more layer of trust is piled up.

'A true genius is a genius.'

like this.

"It was really… really good."

"…thank you."

After filming. Bae Se-jin knew what was filmed while drinking a warm decaffeinated Americano before even watching it.

'…You must have done well.'

A soft and tight feeling of satisfaction bloomed in my heart.

After such faithful filming.

"Sejin senior!"

"…Oh yes."

"Today we went to a good restaurant in Gangwon-do and had a company dinner… I'm really sorry that you couldn't come. "I heard you have a schedule."

The actor playing the main character asked in a sociable and humorous manner.

Bae Se-jin answered somewhat awkwardly but quite forcefully.

"Yes… there is a group photo shoot nearby. "I can't help it because I will join right away."

"Ah… Wow so I guess the testers are nearby right now?"

"yes."

If it were Bae Se-jin before 'What are you planning?' You might have looked confused as to why you were talking to me with the same face but that doesn't happen anymore.

On the contrary he was a little excited at the thought that he had successfully timed it well and enjoyed a light small talk with the other actors until the manager came!

“Can I get Ryu Cheong-woo’s autograph? “I’ve been a fan of him since he was a member of the national team…”

“…I’ll go and ask right away today.”

“Oh thank you!”

Bae Se-jin was satisfied with her improved sociability.

And when I glanced I saw the manager coming from over there.

‘Finally moving… ’

But the manager was not alone.

He and a production company employee were having a conversation.

And when he makes eye contact with Bae Se-jin he speaks with joy.

“Mr. Sejin wait a moment.”

“…?”

“We had this conversation…”

So after hearing some unexpected news Bae Se-jin quickly headed to the mountain cabin which was 20 minutes away!

My heart was pounding.

‘I’m sure everyone is taking pictures in advance!’

What happened in the half a day he was gone?

Maybe they had already chosen three or four candidates for a CM song.

Bae Se-jin actually realized that he did not contribute much to the team's composition…

'…But if only there was a little bit of lyric writing!'

From now on everyone will be happy if you participate diligently and tell them that your advice was a great help to the filming…

With that in mind he started walking excitedly as soon as he got out of the car.

however.

"…What's so bad about you…?"

In the yard I meet Park Mun-dae his face covered in soot and scruffy!

"A lot has happened."

"…"

Park Moon-dae guided Bae Se-jin into the mountain cabin. At the same time they seem to be wary of the production crew moving around and looking around.

There is so much tension and resignation in one's body that one would think it has been about a week since the outbreak of the zombie outbreak.

'What is it?'

"What's going on?"

"Something… happened."

It was simple.

Here Testa received all food clothing and shelter and was not only comfortable and happy about making CM songs.

“Now that I know I have to live my life on my own…”

“…”

Let’s do our own work!

“But they said that every time a CM song is passed they will give us pocket money and let us go out into the city… Until then they say we will be caught like a thief.”

“…”

Well they say it was okay up to that point. Whether it was cooking cleaning or any hard work everyone did it pretty well.

It wasn’t difficult to compose while living a simple natural life.

but…

“It wasn’t up to us to do that job.”

Through the game led by the production team lots were drawn and roles were distributed according to each person’s rank.

And the result is…

“Seon Ah-hyun cooks…?”

“…”

“Park Moon-dae… chopping firewood?”

So it happened.

Bae Se-jin broke into a cold sweat.

In the meantime Park Moon-dae showed off what he had been carefully hiding behind his work gloves.

Foil oozing soot.

“I’m sneaking out to get some roasted sweet potatoes. “The production crew hasn’t found out yet.”

“…You’re talking to a camera right now?!”

“I bought everything.”

The camera directors gave their thumbs up. It was the power of wood-fired roasted sweet potatoes.

“…”

Bae Se-jin was speechless for a moment!

But I couldn’t lose it for long.

“All the other members.”

“…?”

“Cha Yu-jin Lee Se-jin and Ryu Cheong-woo. These three are a hunting team. “For now you just need to know that.”

Park Mun-dae took another step.

Bae Se-jin is in confusion!

Buy hunting?

No not in the first place.

“What about composition?”

“We haven’t even started yet.”

For a moment Bae Se-jin was astonished by those words but when he heard the word composition one of the members immediately came to mind.

One person who still hasn’t come out of Park Moon-dae’s mouth!

The man who produced each of Testa’s albums!

“So what about Raebin Kim? Ravin composed the music…”

“…??”

Moon-Dae Park explained.

“I said kkakdugi because I’m the youngest.”

“…”

Raebin Kim sealed!

“Then who composes the music?”

“Brother.”

“…”

Me?

“yes. My brother. “The remaining swallows were the main producers.”

Bae Se-jin froze in his sudden position.

Park Mun-dae who was tired from chopping firewood in the furnace attached to the snowy mountain said solemnly as he held out a roasted sweet potato.

“If you understand let’s get started. I’m currently behind on 3 songs… but he said if he starts everyone can participate. “Oh except Ravin.”

“…”

“I think I need to finish sketching one song today in order to meet my labor quota… or rather my deadline.”

Bae Se-jin hesitated unable to accept the roasted sweet potatoes and eventually opened his mouth feeling like he wanted to close his eyes.

“Hey… it’s not 3 songs.”

“Four songs.”

Bae Se-jin avoided his eyes.

Recalling what the production company employee said earlier.

“Oh our drama production company thought it would be fun so they asked the production team for an additional auction and added a PPL.”

“…”

Testa labor list updated.

＜Doll Hunter＞ CM song… No OST added.

Chapter 585

A combination of a fraud PD guy and a spicy writer.

Of course I knew it would be hell.

But I had no idea it would be this kind of hell.

What did you expect?

A first-tier idol who works hard to produce a CM song that suits the advertisers' tastes as much as possible under a tight schedule but is trapped in the cycle of endless rejection.

It is a grand closing party where you can drink caffeine like water and fully savor the spicy taste of capitalism.

But the reality is…

"…I'm out of sweet potatoes."

"…"

"…"

"…Shall I run away?"

I haven't even started composing music but I'm worried about food first.

'Is this true?'

The Industrial Revolution was needed before capitalism.

Bae Se-jin who was carefully putting down the last roasted sweet potato closed his eyes tightly.

“When on earth are the hunting team coming? “No what are you doing before that?!”

I guess I should tell you the truth at this point.

“I don’t know either.”

“…??”

“Anyway the production crew said it was a hunting team and took us with them.”

Perhaps Testa’s last title song was <Hunting> so it may have been loosely copied from there…

“…Isn’t this kidnapping?”

“Sure.”

“…”

It’s my business. You end up talking as if it’s someone else’s business. Because my nose has grown three years old.

‘I won’t starve.’

Isn’t it better than me surviving on smuggled roasted sweet potatoes?

Bae Se-jin sat down on the lower floor and fell into a deep sleep.

“First of all… Then Sun Ah-hyun and Kim Rae-bin are at home. Why can’t I see it? “Where is it?”

“Ahyun is in the kitchen.”

“…Are you cooking?”

“yes.”

I looked at my watch and declared.

“…”

“They say we can’t meet until it’s completed.”

“…Shall I report it to the police?”

Unfortunately I don’t have a smartphone.

Bae Se-jin and I remained silent with many meanings in mind.

“Okay… Anyway what about Ravin?”

“I am in the room of dreams and happiness.”

“…?”

This… it’s better to show it in person rather than say a thousand words.

“Let’s go see him.”

I got up opened the door and walked down the hallway of the mountain cabin. Bae Se-jin followed me with a slightly nervous look.

And the last room.

There is a space with a nameplate that says ‘Room of Dreams and Happiness’.

I looked inside and spoke.

“Ravin.”

“…brother!”

The guy who was sitting on the floor as if he had lost all his money in stocks got up and turned his head.

And when I saw the person behind me my face brightened slightly.

“Brother Sejin! “You’ve returned home!”

“Uh oh…”

However Bae Se-jin looks confused.

It was worth it.

This is because the room where Raebin Kim was sitting was truly the pinnacle of a staycation.

This room is equipped with everything including a large TV a soft bean bag a sofa a game machine a book a diffuser and a sleeping mask. There is even a portable bubble bathtub in the bathroom.

It is truly a space of relaxation that modern people dream of!

But that’s it.

“Why… is there a bar on the door?”

“…”

Raebin Kim stood in front of the bars and spoke solemnly.

“Because it is forbidden to provide meaningful help to other members…”

“…”

Thanks to this Raebin Kim was suffering from mental torture instead of enjoying a honey-like staycation.

Bae Se-jin who was watching this hurriedly turned his head to me.

“Since when did kkakdugi have that kind of meaning…? As far as I know… isn’t it like playing together and being exempted from elimination or something like that??”

“you’re right.”

Kkakdugi. This role was mainly created to enable young children or people who are not familiar with the game to participate but avoid the bitter taste of being eliminated.

Anyway the production team defined kkakdugi here as ‘a person who doesn’t do hard work and just participates in filming and enjoys it.’

“…”

Bae Se-jin looked like she would grab him by the collar if a PD appeared in front of him.

Meanwhile Raebin Kim lowered his voice and hesitated before asking.

“Ho how is composing going?”

“We haven’t even started yet.”

“yes?”

At that moment Bae Se-jin opened his eyes wide as if he realized something and lowered his voice.

“…yes! Can you give me some advice? “I’d like to ask you about what you should usually make first when making that CM song or things you should pay attention to.”

“If I can help of course!”

Bae Se-jin was pleased. It seemed like he was planning on asking this question and getting advice.

And Kim Rae-bin’s similarly dynamic eyes returned with a twinkle in his eyes and he clasped his hands together.

But I still looked at the two guys with wide eyes.

because…

[Warning~~!]

Beep-!

“…!!”

A beeping sound began to sound loudly in Kim Rae-bin’s room. Anyone who sees it will think there was an earthquake.

I opened my mouth with an expressionless expression.

“This is what happens when Raebin Kim says the word ‘help’.”

“…”

“Let’s go. “The first PPL is for carbonated drinks.”

So Bae Se-jin began composing in silence…

“…Because it’s a carbonated drink expressions like ‘bubble bubble tok tok’ come to mind.”

“It looks like detergent.”

“I think so too.”

But progress did not go out.

Bae Se-jin is holding her head and looking at the children's composition program with the staff on it with rolling eyes.

In fact it's not like Bae Se-jin doesn't have the ability to compose. In fact Bae Se-jin participated in some of the top notes of the songs in the next regular album. but…

'You don't have confidence.'

On the contrary it would be better if Kim Rae-bin was there. This is because I believe that even if I do something outrageous they will stop me from doing so.

However as the responsibility became entirely his own he seemed to have less creative thinking due to the pressure as he was originally prone to avoidance due to the enormous sense of responsibility.

Hmm I'll try to encourage a light approach first.

I tapped the guy.

"First let's try picking a melody from a non-copyrighted children's song or folk song."

"Ah… that's okay too…"

It was then.

Ding-dong!

"…!"

It was the sound of the doorbell ringing. And then a bright voice was heard from the other side of the door.

"Guys we're back~!!"

Bae Se-jin jumped up from his seat.

“That!”

“yes.”

It was the return of the hunting team.

We sat down in the hallway in front of the barred door thinking of Kim Rae-bin who was trapped in the room.

As the number of people increased and the place became more crowded Kim Rae-bin’s complexion also improved a little. After shrugging my shoulders I looked at Big Sejin and opened my mouth.

“How was it?”

‘Now if you tell me a little about what the hunting team did the mood will ease… ’

“It was a shame…”

“…”

Something remarkable came out of the mouth of a guy who usually doesn’t say things like this.

What on earth did you do?

“Didn’t you guys go hunting?”

There was a moment of miserable silence.

I realized that this was a similar type of silence as when I explained the situation to Bae Se-jin earlier.

'I've had so many things happen'.

Of course like extroverts they started talking before even asking.

"'Today you are the sheep'…you know that lyric. Lyrics of our <Hunting> song."

uh.

"You did exactly that?"

"…?"

Big Sejin covered his face with both hands.

"Wearing the fleece fleece we received through PPL we competed to see who could get hit by the most bubble arrows…"

"…"

therefore.

'Are these guys not hunting but being hunted?… '

I saw three people who couldn't bear to raise their faces.

The guys who wore several layers of fleece on a snowy mountain in the middle of winter and launched themselves at flying bubble arrows proved firsthand that 'fleece is warm and thick.'

"No… to a former national team member…"

"ha ha ha."

Liu Chengwu's laughter has never sounded so empty.

“I can catch that wild boar. “I’d rather do that.”

Cha Yu-jin was shocked and developed advanced conversation skills.

After a while in shock and solemnity Keun Se-jin took his hand away from his face and spoke in a bright voice.

“But we’ve received a lot of this and that? “I won a special prize and got pocket money to go to town!”

“Pull it out?”

“…We gave you a ticket to draw food ingredients according to the number of arrows hit by bubble wrap.”

ah.

“There were a lot of crashes…”

It was just when I was about to become solemn again.

“Guys…!!”

A rushing sound was heard outside the back door and the door burst open revealing a flushed face.

It was Sun Ah-hyun her hair stuck to her sweat.

“Over there…! “I made food!”

“Oooh!”

Everyone jumped up.

Sun Ah-hyun looked even happier after confirming that other members had also joined.

This guy who clearly had gone through a lot of trial and error for four and a half hours was holding in his hand the food he had managed to prepare. That's right…

"Here."

Roasted Corn.

five things.

"…"

"…"

"…You also decided on the menu?"

"Ugh…"

Sun Ah-hyun blushed and lowered her head.

"There were menus and recipes in the kitchen…"

Three meals and snacks a day.

You could only cook within that menu.

-Today's meal

Breakfast: Potato salad morning bread banana yogurt fresh fruit and tomato juice.

Lunch: Bulgogi stew seasoned spinach fried egg and stir-fried potato ham.

Snack: Grilled corn butter and strawberry milk.

"There are almost no ingredients for that menu…"

“…”

The only basic ingredients provided are green beans and canned ham!

‘The sweet potatoes… I stole them.’

After failing miserably at my attempt at stir-fried potato slices and ham I barely managed to roast corn.

“I’m sorry. “It’s a recipe that requires the use of fire… so it keeps burning.”

“…I chose Ahyeon because I knew she wasn’t good at using fire.”

These vicious bastards are real.

“Ahyeon’s sashimi is popular. Better send it to a place near the beach!”

“that’s right!”

“If you go down here you’re right at the sea!”

Since it was close to the filming location of the drama even the person who played a part in selecting this location chimed in with his face turning red with anger.

It seems that the cruel truth that Sun Ah-hyun should not have been in charge of cooking in the first place could not be brought out.

What on earth can you say to a guy who stayed in the kitchen and the room next to it sweating profusely for four hours?

“But the corn was roasted well.”

“…!! Ugh…! thank you!”

I praised him as I held up the half-burnt corn butter sticking to one side and the other side crumbling.

Isn't it worth the money to get encouragement?

Of course the team that became the sheep and gathered the ingredients was already thinking about the future of the ingredients.

"If you give me beef… it will come out turned into charcoal."

"…"

"Noooooooo."

Cha Yu-jin rolled around on the floor saying that she should have won the lamb (Seon Ah-hyeon was the only breeder who was good at grilling).

"I'm sorry…"

"What are you talking about Ahyeon!"

"This is not something you should apologize for."

"Yes~ Ah-hyun-ah-hyun!" "It's the fault of the production crew who ordered it!"

But after saying that Big Sejin secretly whispered to me.

"How can I secretly sneak into the kitchen at Mundaemundae…"

"This is my limit."

I showed him the one remaining roasted sweet potato.

Big Sejin sank holding the radish he had picked up.

And after satisfying our hunger with bare rice (luckily Ryu Cheong-woo brought instant rice) and corn we finally started working on the CM song together.

“Kim Rae-bin can’t do it…”

I will correct it. We started working on a CM song by ourselves with Kim Rae-bin a copyright rich with maestro characteristics as our totem.

This is how it goes.

“no! This is a scam! Advertisers must have signed the contract thinking Raebin Kim would compose the song!”

“I guess so.”

Is there any way that the production team could have honestly informed us of the expected situation?

“That’s why the other members said they wouldn’t work harder to meet those expectations.”

“…”

“and.”

“I’m suing our production team.”

Some American-like remarks were made but anyway we worked hard to encourage Bae Se-jin and created a CM song.

“Hyung… I’m glad you brought up the melody! “If we all work together now won’t something come out?”

“yes.”

Bae Se-jin muttered as if she had let go of everything.

“But they say I have to lead no matter what comes out…”

“…”

Big Sejin slowly turned his head. Cha Yu-jin argued for tearing down the bars on Kim Rae-bin’s door and the argument almost passed.

Anyway since everyone had producing experience even though it was carried out in such a tedious manner a fairly decent CM song was produced in just a few hours.

Kim Rae-bin who couldn’t even participate almost cried.

-Oh oh oh oh- Oh orange soda!

“I like it because it has a classic feel…!”

“Yeah! “I like it too!”

“Yeah… I think so too.”

Bae Se-jin sighed and submitted the version to the production team with a slightly brighter complexion.

“The first song is finished!”

but.

-I think the melody is overly complicated.

-Say you wish it was a little more flashy. But is the wow point clear?

-It would have been better if the instrument had been simpler.

-Ah~ You said the previous version was better!

An endless feedback hell awaited.

“…”

The members held up pretty well. Even though I was feeling discouraged I would put my head together and somehow analyze the meaning of the feedback and make corrections…

The final blow came at 2 a.m.

-Somehow it feels less exciting than the previous version?

"…Which part?"

-Uh… overall? Anyway it feels that way.

Pop.

"…Tell me honestly. I don't think this is feedback from advertisers right? "It seems like the production team is just spinning a wheel or something and giving random feedback!"

"calm down!"

"That's right!"

"Brother Sejin is crazy! But that's right!"

After many twists and turns I stayed up all night and it wasn't until 3 a.m. the next day that the soda commercial song was finally passed.

-I wish you had given it to me like this a long time ago~ Ah everyone says it's so good!

Bae Se-jin covered his face.

"It was almost the same as the first draft…"

"…"

It can't go on like this.

I gathered the hunting team guys together and had a long chat.

“If we continue like this we’ll get sick.”

“huh.”

The guys who were afraid that the production team would ask them to do something like wrestle with the elephant doll they received as a PPL (condition: they must lose) participated in the conversation seriously.

Seon Ah-hyeon who was worried that people would starve because she ruined the cooking was also successful in persuading her.

Needless to say Kim Rae-bin who was enjoying a forced vacation alone in a cage with tears in her eyes was caught.

So in the late afternoon I woke up after everyone had fainted that morning.

“We’re going out of town this evening.”

“…however?”

I looked at Bae Se-jin and declared.

“Let’s go on strike.”

“…I’m sure by this time people are thinking about a strike and a labor union.”

“Ohh.”

Writer Ryu Seo-rin adjusted her glasses and smiled at the producer who was also adjusting his glasses.

The PD was smiling brightly as if he was excited just thinking about it.

“Well then… the timing is when you went out to town?”

“Of course.”

The harmonious laughter of those who were crazy about the number of views spread widely.

The dog fight between two self-respecting genius production crew members and idols begins now!

Chapter 586

That evening.

“The weather is nice~”

Testa who successfully completed one CM song was given free time to go to a nearby seaside village at the foot of the mountain.

Honestly I had a good time. The village was cute and pretty and the amenities were well-equipped.

It was clear that the production team deliberately prepared it to contrast with the hellish CM song camp.

‘I guess they chose this place after visiting several villages.’

After eating cockle bibimbap for dinner we walked along the beach and drank coffee.

For reference this coffee was bought by Kim Rae-bin after running to a cafe a little away.

He was so happy that he was able to work after leaving the room of forced staycation in the Room of Dreams and Happiness.

“thanks. “Are you feeling okay?”

“yes! “I feel so peaceful and happy!”

devil.

I let Raebin Kim enjoy helping the members with errands.

I sat leisurely on the beach bench and drank coffee and after a while I quietly got up and walked. Sun Ah-hyun quickly followed suit.

Then the staff member asked with his mouth.

-Where are you going?

“I have some pocket money so I’m going to go buy some things for a moment.”

Naturally there was no one to stop him.

There’s something the PD said himself.

-As long as you don’t commit a crime you can spend your pocket money however you want.

So we walked leisurely and bought some sketchbooks and markers at a stationery store.

“how is it.”

“I think this color will look good…!”

Although there were some writing instruments for composing the variety was not this wide so the staff seemed to understand that they were purchasing them for auxiliary purposes.

‘Good.’

I was in no hurry and after paying the bill I went back to the beach and joined the other guys.

“Did you buy it well~?”

“okay.”

“Ugh!”

“I heard you guys shopped over there? let’s go!”

Naturally we joined Ryu Cheong-woo and Bae Se-jin who were standing far away on the beach and walked again.

It was around that time that the youngest members who had taken the initiative to throw away cups etc. returned.

“Hey!!”

“Eujin is here too.”

When the outing time was over Testa returned to the cabin without any problem.

However Ryu Cheong-woo raised his hand to the staff who tried to send Kim Rae-bin back into the hotel cage.

“wait a minute.”

“…?”

Ryu Cheong-woo unwrapped one of the sketchbooks I bought and handed it to Kim Rae-bin.

Testa then naturally assigned the remaining sketchbooks to each other and then picked up a writing instrument.

Scrunch.

The phrases completed without hesitation are… this.

[Please bring back Raebin Kim!]

[A kitchen for Park Moon-dae!]

[Give me some lamb]

[I am not a sheep today]

“…!!”

As soon as the slogan was completed the staff’s expressions changed.

“What are you doing?”

“haha.”

“…Testers?”

“ha ha ha.”

“…”

We sat on our haunches in the hallway and held our sketchbooks.

“I’ll stay here while I take a break.”

Not long after we successfully make a video call with the headquarters of evil… or rather the program’s executive producer.

“Hello PD.”

Get a taste of union.

-Wait a minute! Testa are you really on strike right now? No in entertainment?

Of course we cannot simply answer that it is a strike here.

Liu Chengwu smiled and answered.

“I’m taking a break to recover my energy.”

-…

But now no one knows how long that break will last.

-no.

Over the phone the producer’s empty silence and the sounds of the writers suppressing laughter echoed pleasantly.

-I see.

“yes.”

-But if the CM song doesn’t come out on time because you’re taking a long break… don’t you think there will be a problem with Testa’s reliability?

Liu Chengyu answered softly.

“Producer is that our credibility?”

-…??

“Isn’t the credibility of a program that locks the member who is the best at composing music in a hotel vacation room…?”

-…

“Ohhh that’s right! PD think well of me!”

Testa’s shouts holding a sketchbook echoed through the hallway.

Of course you can’t ruin an entertainment program that’s been great.

But doesn't that guy think the same thing?

'The one who is more scared loses.'

Let's go play chicken!

Testa calmly sat down and waved a placard at the smartphone camera. I also picked up mine.

[It's so spicy I want to run away]

When pushed into a corner Testa also had a tendency to bite the production crew.

-Oh no.

The embarrassed PD made a dying sound. The sound of the writers laughing again could be heard softly in the background.

Hahaha!

– Are you laughing at this serious situation? You traitors!

It will come out.

'I'm doing this to make you smile.'

Even though it was an entertainment show they would have looked solemn and demanded improvement in treatment.

The moment we become aware of it it can become a lot of fun as the production crew is watching us and adjusting the level.

So through this method we are trying to send a message to the production team that says 'It seems like you guys have crossed a line.'

So that you can take care of it yourself.

‘Then I will release Kim Rae-bin… or at least let us all cook together.’

Drawing on natural expectations I waited for the compromise plan to come out of the phone like a declaration of surrender.

And finally the PD speaks…

-I might like this. Lovers will be disappointed right?

“…??”

Words you never imagined begin to come out.

-Actually we decided to gather Loveviewers remotely and pre-release our testa’s CM song for evaluation.

yes?

-Phew… already! All applications have been accepted online and the lottery has been completed.

“Wait a minute.”

These guys… really?

-But if the song doesn’t come out by then there’s nothing we can do. We should all announce cancellation now. To the lovers.

“…”

-Testa is resting! They say they don’t have any songs to share with the lovers!

Are you bringing a light bulb?

As I looked around I saw all the members’ pupils shaking.

The production crew… succeeded in making Testa freak out.

-Ha… We Love Viewers must have been very excited because they won right?

“…”

-You must have loved it saying it would be so fun to be able to see for the first time what kind of song Testa made.

“…”

-I will be so disappointed if I don’t see it…

“Stop it.”

-yes?

“I’m going to compose so stop.”

The strike was suppressed within an hour.

Hahahaha!

This time the writers’ laughter didn’t sound so cool…

Boouk.

We tore the page with the strike phrases from our sketchbook and placed it in front of Kim Rae-bin’s window as a consolation before moving on.

In the meantime the video call continued without interruption.

-Everyone… you can’t win.

It’s noisy.

‘How much did you see?’

This means that they anticipated and prepared for a strike but it is a strategy that can only be achieved by knowing us quite well…

‘No of course I understand.’

There are more than one or two entertainment shows that you have done with Testa so far.

Even more so since that PD and that writer crossed paths the experience would have been doubled.

“Whoa…”

Sighs were heard here and there.

Of course resignation is quick.

“Ah I can’t believe they were suppressed so quickly!”

“It’s so sad really…”

“…I can’t help it. Lover came out…”

The production crew filming this situation from the side were not surprised by this change in attitude.

This is because they know very well that testers with a strong sense of responsibility will not throw away the work they received through PPL or miss the filming of entertainment shows.

“Then shall we work hard at composing music?”

“Let’s do that.”

After Testa entered the room he started composing a commercial song for Wool Fleece after drinking soda.

This is the product that the hunting team received a barrage of bubble wrap arrows from.

“…Well it was really warm.”

“Ahhhh.”

As sad memories came to mind we almost delayed for a moment but soon everyone on the hunting team calmly continued their work.

“Hmm since it’s outerwear… how about something a little sentimental?”

“Winter feeling~ I like it. Ah Chungwoo it looks like you have something to say?”

“Oh I was thinking about going cute.”

“Hmm that would be nice too.”

This time for some reason there were no guys rolling on the floor to give up Kim Rae-bin.

“I went to the bathroom!”

“Okay okay.”

The testas just patted each other amicably and clicked on the program to make notes.

It was a scene in stark contrast to the previous day.

“…?”

Even the staff was a little taken aback by how smooth it was.

and.

“Ta-da!”

The time it took to complete… only 100 minutes!

-…!!

It was really fast.

We immediately submitted the CM song and soon after we received a video call from the PD.

The PD clasped his hands together was silent for a moment and then asked.

-everyone.

“yes.”

-… What did you do?

“Ah when you mentioned the story of Lover I suddenly got inspired and finished it right away.”

-…

It was clear that you guys wanted to shout out where did you get scammed?

After listening to the song from beginning to end the PD was speechless at the perfection of the song and the sound of Ryu Seo-rin running behind him was heard.

You’re going to turn the camera.

Meanwhile the PD is targeting the person in charge of producing.

-Mr. Sejin?

Bae Se-jin turned his head.

-Sejin's abilities are truly outstanding.

"…thank you."

-As expected Testa's main producer! Aren't your producing capabilities just surpassing Mr. Ravine's? From being a genius actor to producing?

"yes. you're right."

-…!!

When Bae Se-jin answered shamelessly the PD was rather embarrassed.

"I am the producer of my time."

-…

"Is Sejin following Kim Raebin's footsteps?"

"I guess so."

"As expected you're a good actor."

-No these people are real.

So why are you looking for an actor?

The PD was embarrassed by Bae Se-jin's sharp answer and kept asking questions but when no one opened his mouth he pulled out his hair.

It was really nice to see.

-No is it really going to stay like this?

huh.

I asked nicely.

“I guess you’re very curious about what happened.”

-… Right?!

“Shall I let you know?”

-… Then that would be good right?

I nodded. The PD leaned in and concentrated.

I too leaned in and opened my mouth as if to whisper…

“I don’t like it.”

“Uuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuu!”

The members bowed their bodies barely holding back the onomatopoeia ‘Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk’.

The camera director who was following the scene also tried not to shake his hands because he was laughing.

It’s really cost-effective for everyone to enjoy the sacrifice of one PD.

Unfortunately it didn’t last long.

Ryu Seo-rin who had gone to watch the recorded film has returned.

-Check Cha Yu-jin’s belongings!

“…!!”

At that cry the staff took a close-up of Cha Yu-jin.

“Oh I got caught.”

While the staff was tense Cha Yu-jin smiled cheerfully and took out something the size of a baby’s palm from her back pocket.

That’s right… colorful toys.

It was a walkie-talkie.

-…?!

Huh?

The sound of surprise was heard even among the on-site staff.

Because it cannot exist!

-Where on earth did you get it…?

Cha Yu-jin answered confidently.

“I bought it in the village earlier!”

-…!!

That’s right.

From planning to preparation.

This strike… was pure aggro!

The town I went out to.

This was implemented from the moment I woke up to buy a sketchbook for the strike.

-Let us all split up.

'If the number of people is torn apart the staff members are also torn apart and reduced.'

The number of eyes that carefully check what you are doing is decreasing.

So it becomes relatively easy to do something secretly.

In fact the staff's attention is suddenly focused on Nana and Ryu Cheong-woo who went shopping and Kim Rae-bin who went to return the coffee cup and take out the trash has more freedom of movement.

Then this becomes possible freely.

-Oh let's take a look at this!

You quickly find a nearby franchise store in your car using the smartphone you returned while going out and then snoop around to find the item as if you found it by chance.

Cha Yu-jin who followed Kim Rae-bin pretended to be child-shopping and successfully eluded the camera for a moment and made the purchase.

as soon as…

"It's a toy walkie-talkie."

The rest is simple.

When returning to the mountain cabin and locking Raebin Kim in the hotel room.

-wait a minute.

In a situation where Ryu Cheong-woo was talking to the staff to get their attention and Sketchbook was aggro Kim Rae-bin secretly hid a walkie-talkie under the bean bag sofa.

-Raebin Kim tell me!

And when the members take turns pretending to go to the bathroom and contact Raebin Kim everything is connected.

-Finally help…

Kim Rae-bin who was suffering from a staycation alone had fun reciting the melody she had planned in her head alone for several hours and giving feedback to the members' ideas.

And when the returning member inputs that melody…

-completion!

"…That's how it happened."

-… and.

The PD seemed at a loss for words for a moment.

'yes.'

If you have this level of tenacity isn't your execution ability at a level that honestly makes you worry about what you should do?

However as a PD who has experienced everything from counterfeiting carrot coins to prenatal care he soon came up with a solution.

-First of all that radio is confiscated!

We nodded obediently.

"OK."

"Sure."

…

-Everyone why are you so calm?

“well.”

Liu Chengwu smiled.

“I think it’s because we’ve already discussed with Ravin how to make the next song.”

“…!!”

I spent a good hour.

-now! that! You are prohibited from using the song you received after consulting with Mr. Ravin!

“yes!”

Sejin Lee grinned.

“Oh but you wouldn’t know even if we used it as is.”

-…

That’s right.

I haven’t even heard of it in advance so how can I tell that?

-If you look at the composition style…

“There is no evidence.”

-…

PD eventually pulled out his last card.

-At least you have to re-do what you submitted…

“uh? wait a minute.”

you are good

“I heard that once you submit it it will be sent to the advertiser right away. “I want to get feedback.”

-…!!

“Wouldn’t it be a bit… polite to replace something I’ve already sent with a completely different song?”

PD is silent.

“By any chance… you didn’t send it and then you gave us feedback arbitrarily.”

-…!!

That’s right.

-It can’t be.

“Is that so?”

-sure.

“also!”

“I believe it. PD!”

We know that no one trusts each other but we have a heartwarming conversation.

“Then since you already sent me this time are we going to keep going like this?”

-… That's right!

The sound of the PD sinking was heard beyond.

"Yessss!"

After we hung up the phone we silently pumped our fists cheered and then gave a high five.

Won!

…But it seems that there were some people for whom this wasn't enough.

That night.

"Actually our treatment has not improved. I don't know how many hours Ahyeon will struggle with cooking again tomorrow. "Because our meal is on the line."

"…"

"The same goes for producing feedback. "I don't think giving strange feedback to a singer as a joke is something to laugh about."

Before lying down to sleep Bae Se-jin turned off the microphone and gathered the members together to talk seriously.

"It may have made the program more interesting but… I don't think that's everything."

The guy explained as if repeating himself.

And finally I came to this conclusion.

"I think… the current program seems needlessly sadistic."

"…!"

“I want to meet in person and talk about it.”

A person with a straight face came out.

Chapter 587

Off the record.

It was clear what Bae Se-jin wanted to say after turning off the microphone while filming an entertainment show.

“What you’re saying is… the production crew is harassing the cast more than necessary.”

“okay.”

He spoke nervously but without hesitation as is typical for people who speak out about something they have thought about for a long time.

“…For example the last time I was shipwrecked on a deserted island entertainment show it was an accident. But this time it’s all intentional harassment.”

“…”

“It’s okay to show your struggles or mistakes. But deliberately pushing someone to do poorly and then laughing at them for not being able to do it… is something you shouldn’t do if it’s fun.”

Bae Se-jin tightly held the microphone that had been turned off.

“…That’s why I want to talk about this directly with the production team.”

There was a short silence.

‘hmm.’

I looked at the faces of each member who was shocked lost in thought or embarrassed.

I guess I'll be the first to open my mouth.

"I know what you mean."

"…"

Bae Se-jin swallowed his saliva. As if he knew someone else would refute it.

but.

"And I feel like it makes sense."

"…! really?"

"yes."

No why are you surprised because I agreed to it when you said it yourself?

'Definitely… this filming was a bit excessive.'

I rubbed my chin.

Controversy over entertainment sadism.

This is also one of the controversial feelings with history and tradition.

Did you say that it is a comedy when viewed from a distance and a tragedy when viewed up close?

The unexpected hardships of the cast often turn into funny content through the magic of screen and editing.

Well even if you don't have to go through that filter if it's not serious the person who suffers it can experience it happily.

‘But controlling the water level is life.’

The moment this thing crosses the line it makes viewers uncomfortable by saying ‘No matter what this is a bit much.’

Of course what Bae Se-jin is saying now is not about commercial achievements. This guy is being evaluated from a moral and ethical perspective.

However even considering how the fandom would evaluate the program after it aired a similar conclusion was reached.

‘If the editing is just one inch wrong… ’

hmm.

-Why do you give feedback the way you want? It’s not funny at all to play around with other people’s passions and careers.

-ㅋㅋ You guys from the production team kept getting rejected for editing and stayed up all night fixing it but even if it’s like ‘It was all a joke~ I liked the first time haha’ break it up you bastards.

-Where did you learn to make people work and not be able to cook properly?

I nodded inwardly.

‘I think I’ve crossed a line a bit.’

Now the cast members are under constant pressure in terms of both work food clothing and shelter.

Moreover the pressure seemed unreasonable even from the outside.

Because Testa doesn’t seem to have brought anything on himself.

‘It is said that something funny can be extracted from the absurdity.’

It was a tightrope walk.

This time Testa somehow managed to maintain a balance by ending up with a refreshing blow to the production team.

You'll have to watch it until the end to find out but surprisingly the combination of that entertainment PD corps and writer Ryu Seo-rin may have created synergy in a bad way.

'It would be a good idea to check to see if this program is running properly and what the intention was for doing this.'

But still.

"But if we tell this directly to the production team won't they be misunderstood?"

"…misunderstanding?"

"I want to make filming comfortable so why make it difficult for me?"

"…!"

That's right.

first of all…

'If this is brought up incorrectly the atmosphere will be X.'

The problem is the relationship with the production team.

There was half of the footage left to film.

However if the cast were to confront the production crew and argue with them there was a high possibility that future filming or editing would become rigid even if their opinions were agreed upon.

And in entertainment it really is a handshake.

What is the reason you took the time to come here in the first place? This is the creation of high-quality content.

However if the quality dropped it would be a real loss that would ruin all this hard work.

“Even though he didn’t mean to do that the production team might get emotional and ask why he made a bad person when they too worked hard.”

Human relationships were a blind spot in work everywhere.

“That… could be so.”

Bae Se-jin’s face darkened.

But this is where surprising support fire comes in.

“There’s no need for us to tell you right?”

Big Sejin opened his mouth. Bae Se-jin opened his mouth when he saw the guy.

“Huh?”

“It’s up to the company to say that not us.”

“…!”

“Hey I joined the company to take care of things like this. tuning!”

Big Sejin shrugged his shoulders.

“Testa is currently on a concert tour and you also have a drama schedule right? But what do you do if you get hurt like this? Isn’t the same justification enough?”

“Well I guess I can do it well in terms of artist management.”

“Of course!”

Keun Se-jin nodded to Ryu Cheong-wu’s rebuttal.

-Let the company protest!

And Testa is in a slightly awkward position so all he has to do is maintain a close relationship with the production team without saying anything… This is what I mean.

“I’m a bit… hmmm can we go like this this time? There are a few things I want to do. “I thought it might be okay to give it a try.”

“Yeah… yeah.”

Bae Se-jin seemed a little moved as if he had expected opposition from Eun Se-jin.

‘I don’t think he noticed that Keun Se-jin’s purpose was completely different from his own… ’

Isn’t that a much better thing than arguing with each other about what makes sense in this situation?

But… I shook my head.

There’s something they’re forgetting.

“Don’t expect the company to do such a good job.”

“…oh.”

This is a disadvantage of indirect communication.

-Agents have limitations.

The company is not Testa and was unable to completely understand our position or represent our preferences.

No such sensitive details could have been distorted.

‘If we can’t protest at the appropriate level we want it’s worse than not protesting at all.’

What happens if you go in too hard?

From editing anything that has the slightest possibility of being uncomfortable is cut out.

Entertainment doesn’t have a fiery taste; it doesn’t taste like this or that.

Then another complaint arises.

Obviously the production crew of previous Testa entertainment shows was the same this time as well. No with two famous producers collaborating it had to be a refreshing hell.

However I can see the reactions of people who are shocked and wonder why it has become so mild and boring.

‘Everyone will assume that the company has issued guidelines.’

Then there will be as much criticism and condemnation as expected.

-I can’t do my job.

-That’s why it’s becoming obsolete with only boring entertainment that caters to kids. Ugh.

-Is it such a shame that an idol who earns billions of dollars a year has to suffer for a few days on entertainment shows? Get your company together

-The fans have noticed… So stop relying on idols to beat up the officials. You seem like a polarizing parent.

-Testa is the same but the company and fans are installed.

Well that's bullshit.

A series of reactions and aggro are already playing out in my head.

"I don't know if the company will be able to do it well."

The atmosphere became solemn for a moment.

"Uhm…"

"Then what should we do?"

Several opinions came and went but none received a complete vote.

"Just buy the production crew a late-night snack now. And we act cute even though we are having a hard time. "That's the answer."

"I don't have any money."

"Oh…"

The reality is that Cha Yu-jin's opinion is the most harsh.

'Should I contact the company and get some money?'

It was a time when I was seriously considering it.

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth as if he had made up his mind.

"Hey… how about I speak alone?"

"…?!"

"Even if something goes wrong I can say that I did it on my own. Then the relationship between Testa and the production crew won't become weird. As for the remaining filming… I just need to pay a little more attention."

“brother…

“I know that the way Cha Yu-jin talked about is better than just smiling and moving on. But I don’t just want to change this situation right away…”

Bae Se-jin had a hard time choosing his words.

Then another unexpected person spoke.

“Am I like this…?”

“uh?”

It was Sun Ah-hyun.

“Actually it’s okay for me to have a little hard time… but I’m worried that the other members aren’t eating well because of me.”

The guy spoke softly.

“If we film like this we also do test runs on similar programs so you guys have to bear with this as well… That kind of thing might come out… I’m a little worried.”

“…!”

“that’s right. That’s it…! “I think it will remain as a wrong example!”

Bae Se-jin raised his face a little excited.

Then as if he suddenly came to his senses he added hastily.

“…But for the sake of the industry environment we are not going to say that we are taking up arms! “It’s not a criticism just… I’m just trying to explain as gently as possible!”

“is it so.”

“Sejin don’t worry.”

Big Sejin didn’t get angry either he just smiled bitterly.

He probably doesn’t want to use the method of sending Bae Se-jin away.

‘You might think Bae Se-jin is too excessive and inflexible.’

However there was still something different.

It seemed like he had confidence that Bae Se-jin would not do anything that would harm the team.

‘It’s a lot better.’

I nodded inwardly looking at the guys who seemed to have almost arrived at the correct answer.

“So Sejin wants to talk alone?”

“…okay. “If it’s okay with you I’d like to see you.”

Of course that doesn’t mean you can put the entire burden on one person.

I smiled and opened my mouth.

“Then your brother will go and I will go with you.”

“Huh?”

“I just followed along.”

Anyway doesn’t Bae Se-jin seem too dogmatic alone?

‘But if the leader or entertainment member Keun Se-jin gets involved it would be too much.’

That would be about right for me.

Well if something goes wrong I have the confidence to step in and clear things up.

“I’ll take a good position based on the atmosphere so don’t worry about me.”

“…okay. thank you.”

Bae Se-jin’s face brightened slightly.

“Then… I’ll contact you now!”

“OK!”

And after some time.

“Oh it’s cold. Come in here quickly. Testa people.”

Bae Se-jin and I leave the lodging and enter the nearby mountain cabin where the production crew was staying.

I was finally able to meet the production team in real life who had been disparaging the testers by only talking through video calls throughout the filming.

Bae Se-jin took a quick look inside the cabin.

It was an older place than where Testa stayed.

Moreover even though it was late at night no one was sleeping in the accommodation where the production crew was staying.

Occasionally there were people taking a nap but most of them seemed busy watching videos or preparing something.

And they seemed a little confused as to why they were here.

'…Everyone works really hard.'

For a moment I was worried that what I was going to say would sound like a child's whining.

Bae Se-jin was momentarily shaken but held firm.

Still it was the right thing to do.

Just do it well.

"So… um Mr. Sejin he has something else to say."

"yes."

Bae Se-jin clenched his hands tightly. He could feel sweat seeping out from inside but he maintained a calm demeanor.

'I said I would talk so I have to do it right.'

He calmly opened his mouth conscious of Park Mun-dae standing next to him.

"I thought about it slowly and there are some things that bother me a little."

He calmly explained each step with examples.

Composition that is almost like a joke Feedback Problems with food clothing and shelter Guilt and fatigue. Concern about song quality.

"…so the member is having a hard time because of guilt but I think it would have been fun even if he didn't have to do that."

Bae Se-jin chose her words several times to be as inoffensive as possible.

"…It's good to show people struggling or making mistakes. "I don't think there is any need to treat other people's hearts this harshly."

"…"

There was a short silence.

'I said everything I had to say.'

Bae Se-jin took a deep breath without exaggerating.

Then I suppressed the urge to close my eyes and steadily turned my gaze forward.

Then…

slap!

The sound of a crash began to be heard.

"…??"

The writers started hitting the PD on the back!

"Oh me! "I knew it would be like this!"

"PD what did I say!"

"ah! ah!"

"Ugh… really."

In fact there was a mix of people from various fields not just writers but no one stopped them.

On the contrary Bae Se-jin looked around at the other person in confusion at the reaction that was closer to 'something is coming'.

The PD said waving his arms while the people around him smiled wryly.

“No first of all… there is some misunderstanding about this.”

“yes?”

“Other roles than Mr. Ravine. “It’s a pure result of the game.”

“It really wasn’t a trick on our part. really!”

That’s right.

Aside from separating Kim Rae-bin all the suffering that went into food clothing and shelter… was really just a matter of luck!

‘Is this true?’

Park Moon-dae thought that he didn’t know whether to call it luck or bad luck.

Bae Se-jin also swallowed his saliva and asked.

“Then… what about Ravin?”

“Well… I thought that if Mr. Ravine was there the composition would be completed in an instant. Then the volume won’t come out.”

The PD said somewhat seriously.

“Furthermore Mr. Ravin is very comfortable relaxing alone so he is not a character that will be hated by viewers.”

“ah…”

“It’s just as important to be liked as it is to be funny. “It’s idol content.”

Bae Se-jin realized the production team’s value judgment method.

Even if the production team gets some criticism it’s better to take care of Testa’s image.

Even if Testa suffered a bit in the process.

“A program with a story like this needs a villain but we can’t give Testa one.”

Ryu Seo-rin who had her arms crossed threw it away.

“So the production team is in charge. “Because we need that kind of stimulation.”

“…!”

That’s… that’s not what I wanted to say.

The problem was not that Testa was difficult but the method and type of why it was difficult.

Bae Se-jin was about to refute but the PD came in before him.

“So Sejin what you’re saying is that we weren’t fun as villains but rather it was a bit unpleasant Seorin.”

“…Of course.”

Ryu Seo-rin sighed as if embarrassed.

“Seeing what I did with the PD earlier Testa was very good at improvising. So I tried to produce a more natural reaction… I think I went too far without prior discussion.”

“…!”

“that’s right. If you do this there are times when you become buried like this… I’m sorry and thank you for coming to tell me this. Mr. Sejin.”

The PD scratched his head.

“We had a lot of fun with Testa… but since he accepted us well and won we kept doing more. We shouldn’t leave too much to the cast like this. “I’m really sorry.”

“…no.”

So Bae Se-jin relaxed a little and slowly began to listen to the production crew’s explanation.

“How did this happen…”

His words were being taken seriously.

Chapter 588

Afterwards the production team diligently explained the current situation and future filming plans.

“The duties assigned to you will take turns. Starting tomorrow local specialties and food from local restaurants will also be airlifted…”

They didn’t come off as defensive and were sincere.

In addition the final blow came when the production team even released the first episode video that had been tentatively edited.

Bae Se-jin couldn’t help but focus on the words ‘I will show you in what context this extreme composition environment came about.’

The monitors of the editing equipment that had been transported to the mountains of Gangwon-do began to spit out videos with rough subtitles…

Something you couldn’t even imagine comes out.

[I asked Testa.]

[Great creations come from .]

“…??”

[Raebin Kim: Yes! I think it’s <inspiration>!]

That was… a brief passing interview with people I contacted as part of the behind-the-scenes production team while leaving the awards ceremony a few weeks ago!

“Now wait a minute. Those people…”

“yes. In fact they were all members of our production team.”

“…”

Testa’s opinions on ‘creation’ came out quickly.

[Great creations come from <numerous attempts>.]

[Lee Se-jin: Because being skilled in anything is important in the end~ That’s my opinion!]

Numerous attempts.

At the time I just passed this off without even thinking about it thinking it was very Lee Sejin-like but hearing it like this…

‘…no way?’

Bae Se-jin swallowed his saliva.

On the screen various opinions are expressed from his own answer ‘fierce concern’ to Sun Ah-hyun’s ‘time’.

last.

Cha Yu-jin filled in the phrase with a bright face.

[Great creations come from <hard work>.]

[Cha Yujin: Is that me?]

He… mistook it for a Korean proverb!

And he leisurely followed his brothers and excitedly left the red carpet at the awards ceremony.

[Writer Lee: Oh no.]

[Writer Park: Ahhh Mr. Eugene!!]

[PD: Haha]

[PD: Hahahahahahahahaha]

And the huge movie subtitles that come to mind.

[Testa's Fate]

[Testa decided!]

"…"

"…"

"Did it come from here?"

"yes."

Bae Se-jin closed his eyes tightly!

"Based on this we created games and roles…"

Now this is… an environment created by matching the keywords suggested by Testa's answer.

"Actually it wasn't all bad but the environment was going to change quickly depending on the outcome of the game."

"…"

"But then again my luck in the game turned out to be really bad… and the results were extreme."

An extreme situation by chance? It can't help but be funny.

In fact there were some differences of opinion among the production crew about the uneven supply of food but most of them thought it would be okay since it was only one day.

In many entertainment shows you play a game with a meal at stake and if you fail it is often not given at all.

Moreover Testa seemed to overcome it very cheerfully.

However it did not properly consider how anxious the cast would be by not telling them how long this situation would last.

“It’s hard to deliberately choose a picture like this but it came out naturally… I guess we were too greedy. I’m really sorry. under…”

“No… That’s right.”

In the end Bae Se-jin also nodded.

Since the production crew readily acknowledged their mistake it was difficult to say anything more.

In fact there were some answers that were inconsistent with the key blind spots he wanted to talk about…

‘I think it’ll be okay… at this level.’

After realizing that the other party also had various hardships and hardships Bae Se-jin also became hesitant to ask too much details about their principles of behavior.

If he had been alone he might have done it but he was currently filming team content.

‘…okay!’

I’ll end here and return to the members with the news that ‘the conversation ended well.’

That was when he decided to do so.

“hey.”

Someone suddenly raised their hand.

“I have a question.”

“…?”

It was Park Moon-dae who had been quietly standing behind him like a bodyguard without saying a word.

“What happened to the CM song we made?”

“yes?”

“Ravin didn’t participate.”

Are you just going to hit me like this?

Even Bae Se-jin who visited the production team like a bulldozer was a little embarrassed.

Park Moon-dae took a slight curve here.

“I was expecting Ravine to compose a song but I spent the night awake last night wondering what if advertisers sued me because he wasn’t on the list…”

“Sigh!”

He lowered his head slightly with an expressionless expression but somehow… he looked resigned and empty.

“We’re not being sued are we?”

“sure!”

‘It’s serious but… it’s not serious.’

The atmosphere did not become heavier but it was now impossible to proceed without the production team responding.

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth and began to watch Park Moon-dae dig up the production team.

So far I have been watching the production team diligently explain the situation to Bae Se-jin.

As time passed the atmosphere got better.

'I knew it would be like this.'

Bae Se-jin's fighting power dropped from the moment he sympathized with the other guy's situation.

It seemed like the production crew had crossed a line a bit but since we responded so well and supported it they seemed to accept that they couldn't stop and just stepped on the accelerator.

The cast members are having a harder time than expected. It seems like they've gotten over the unconscious thought 'If we appear on a variety show wouldn't that mean we're going to have a hard time?'

'I was excited.'

I understand how things are going.

However since the production team was so cooperative I also knew what their intention was in releasing a provisionally edited first episode.

I rubbed my chin inwardly.

'This… they talked about it among themselves first.'

I wonder if we have gone too far.

Then when Bae Se-jin contacted me it was clear that I thought ‘Oh get hot!’ and prepared an expected answer.

Look at the slap on the PD’s back earlier.

‘They decided to sacrifice the PD as a sacrifice for atmosphere.’

Well the atmosphere was amicable and they received plenty of apologies… but they can only answer what they want to answer.

‘What about the CM song?’

Did you tell the advertiser that you played around with the feedback that this team made without the official producing members?

This was the most serious part of Bae Se-jin’s criticism as it was a team career issue but he just avoided answering this?

Of course neither PD nor Ryu Seo-rin are people who view capitalism as water. On the contrary he is the type that really enjoys the taste of capitalism.

There must have been good measures in place.

But this is something I don’t want to tell the cast just yet.

‘It’s like they let it resolve itself as filming progressed.’

That’s why I guess they avoided this topic as much as possible. I’m afraid that the picture taken may look unnatural.

But here ‘Oh that’s right. Let’s take this into account. The production team had a hard time.’ What happens if you look at it like this?

On the contrary it is not something we saw.

The production staff must have thought that they prepared well in advance and successfully and skillfully handled the cast member’s protest.

‘That won’t work.’

So I stabbed him openly.

“Ah… that.”

And in the end the truth revealed by the production team that could not be avoided was…

“Actually speaking of the CM song… the advertisers didn’t know that Testa composed it.”

“…”

“…”

“yes?”

“We originally intended to use it as BGM during the PPL in our program.”

So it was its own CM song that came in addition to the PPL… This is what I mean.

It is not the pinnacle of advertising and marketing where the fate of the company depends!

“Then what about the CM song auction?”

“In fact an auction was held based on the proportion of PPL. KPOP target idol testers are coming out. How much are you going to show your sincerity and sincerity?”

They didn’t know that advertisers would follow along with the CM song that Testa composed himself.

When I turn my head I see Bae Se-jin unable to keep his mouth shut.

‘Should I call these… scammers… ’

wait for a sec.

I raised my head with a sudden thought.

“So what about the songs we’ve made so far…?”

“You probably thought that our outsourcing staff made it right?”

then.

The crazy crazy feedback we received on the first song no way.

“yes. That’s really what the person in charge of the advertising company said…”

“…”

“You probably thought I was an outsourcing official who didn’t know who I was right?”

oh my god.

The feedback is full of bullshit… This is the reality of a new unknown composer.

‘Fuck… ’

There is no separate social accusation documentary.

I pressed both eyes roughly.

“…Wouldn’t the company that put in the PPL be criticized for damaging its image?”

However Ryu Seolin remained calm.

“Well… it’s not a criticism of a PPL product or a company but we can’t take responsibility for the public opinion that naturally arises because of the person in charge.”

“…Oh yes.”

It can be summarized as ‘So who would hire such a crappy person in charge?’

“Anyway that’s how it ended up like this.”

Liu Seolin hesitated a little and then added.

“Anyway since it was made in one day and in a poor environment I thought I would be freer from evaluating the result than if I made it in the best environment.”

“…”

“Even if you want to criticize the song and say it’s not good you can also rebut things like ‘Can you hear that sound even after looking at that environment?’”

If a song is good it’s because of the testers and if it’s not good it’s because of the production team.

‘I did my best to reduce the burden.’

“And if the reviews are good… ‘Wow people don’t know about Testa but the songs we made are getting rave reviews even without the main producing member!’ “You will feel proud of yourself.”

Then step by step the viewers become familiar with the composition process and then the potential is revealed with authentic composition content.

as soon as…

“＜The Doll Hunter＞ OST.”

“…!”

That was actually the main advertiser and main content of this program.

Bae Se-jin's pupils trembled.

"Ha but. Just before I joined the drama production company said 'It looks interesting' and decided on a PPL on the spot…"

"I was acting to catch Sejin."

"…"

Bae Se-jin slumped down in a chair.

It seemed like he no longer felt betrayed.

'…It must have been funny.'

I briefly acknowledged the moment when all these twists were revealed.

* * *

"You will be able to compose the main content in a truly proper environment!"

"that's right! "Don't worry."

"…yep."

So the interview with the production crew ended well and we were able to leave the production crew's residence and return to the mountain cabin.

'It was okay.'

I clearly knew these people's intentions and I definitely received an apology.

The PD even confessed this somewhat openly as he was sending off saying “I was just going out to smoke.”

“Since the Testa people were so successful… we thought there was no need to worry about us. “I thought ‘If I really don’t like it or am in trouble I’ll talk about it.’”

“…”

This means that he created a formula for Testa in his brain by selecting the characteristics of a skilled entertainer and a first-tier idol according to his taste.

I’m glad you reflected.

I looked at the PD blankly.

“Do you think it was a bad decision?”

“…right?”

“Then I can cook from tomorrow onwards.”

“…But you still have to play the game.”

I looked at the PD again without saying anything and soon he complained.

“Oh I’ll keep trying again until you pick someone in charge of the kitchen!”

“You are an excellent choice.”

Clap clap clap.

That’s how the conversation ended.

Although the PD behaved a bit poorly until the end.

“…I was planning to reveal all the secrets of the CM song after the Love Viewer online listening session… but just in case keep it a secret from the other members until then.”

“I can’t.”

“…”

“I am a very honest person with my members.”

“I know very well…”

There is no way.

“Don’t worry I’ll pretend to be surprised even if I find out.”

“…!”

I smiled faintly and looked back at the production crew.

“Please trust Testa.”

“…sure. “The entire production team has a lot of faith in our entertainment genius Testa!”

Keep your mouth alive.

Anyway the production crew who secretly opened the door and watched laughed a little and we also smiled and walked over to greet the PD.

“Please come in safely!”

The aftertaste wasn’t bad.

However there was a commotion at Testa’s accommodation upon arrival.

“Oh guys. “Did the story go well?”

“You… don’t be surprised when you hear this.”

“…??”

The members shudder as they hear the twist after twist and Kim Rae-bin strengthens his resolve by saying that he will escape from hotel hell tomorrow.

By the time I went to bed after the mess it was already dawn.

“…”

And Bae Se-jin lay still and after confirming that I was not sleeping she quietly opened her mouth.

“Park Mun-dae.”

“yes.”

“You… were amazing.”

hmm?

“So get the answers you want to hear but don’t ruin the mood of the conversation.”

did something

Babies who talk like this usually have a tiring personality. They all have pros and cons.

Besides that.

“This wouldn’t have happened if my brother hadn’t decided to tell me in the first place. What are you talking about?"

"…!"

If this guy hadn't said anything most of the members of this team would have just endured it and finished filming successfully.

'But I'm getting a bit fed up with it.'

So what happened?

If I kept going like that… I might actually end up at odds with this production team next time.

In that sense this guy's inflexible ethical temperament contributed in a unique way to the team.

enough.

"I was fortunate that my brother calmly said what he wanted to say."

"…thank you."

Bae Se-jin was silent for a moment.

And he added in a slightly brighter voice.

"I think it was a good idea to talk about it today."

"I think so too."

"Me too."

"…"

"…Cha Yujin why aren't you sleeping?"

"This is a room for three people. "It's my heart."

“haha!”

It is said that Bae Se-jin slept very sweetly and comfortably that day even though it was only three or four hours.

And after some time.

As Testa’s story about being confined in a mountain cabin spreads they finally begin to compose in earnest.

＜The Doll Hunter＞ Season 2 OST.

An imaginary world covered in snow.

Jeong Yi-sol’s theme song.

Chapter 589

“I think there is a clear difference between whether a song exists as a complete work in itself or as part of a larger narrative or comprehensive content. And the OST is the latter.”

Nod.

“So last night I rewatched all of Season 1 of ‘The Doll Hunter’ in the ‘Room of Dreams and Hopes’ and prepared to produce the OST! “I want to tell you that I never wasted my time off!”

While others were pouring down a bowl of rice with pork belly kimchi stew and egg rolls I stared at the guy who had barely taken a bite as he said that.

“Ravin.”

“yes?”

“I’m happy now.”

“yes!”

That’s it then.

Released from prison!

Kim Rae-bin who won the game last night and dramatically escaped the hotel hell room became the embodiment of passion and workaholicism.

It seems that my body and head have been recharged by being isolated from composing and forced to rest but it seems to be overcharged as if I was doped.

Look at those eyes flashing.

“What I can say without hesitation is that I am fully prepared to engage in work right now…”

“You know. But I eat.”

“yes!”

okay. What remains is what you eat.

Also how is this rice that has been torn apart?

-again.

-Ahh Park Moon-dae’s eleventh challenge!

-Ohhhhh!!! Brother you win!

As soon as I opened my eyes this morning I was assigned to cook duty which I won by drawing lots five times even doing things like memorizing nursery rhymes and dancing to the rhythm.

Then I have to get my money’s worth.

“The person who feeds is the guardian. “My brother deserves my filial piety.”

“Are you coming?”

After the night two days ago when Bae Se-jin and I pursued a radical meeting.

Fortunately the production team didn’t say anything. This means that they started improving the Testa environment immediately from the next day.

It was quite interesting to see that Testa was treated well naturally without any awkwardness in terms of composition.

I was planning to set up a next meeting to tell you to behave well if you got noticed.

‘I guess I don’t have to schedule a second interview.’

If I had gone that far it would have been a loss.

Anyway Raebin Kim who was excited to help with the dishes took out his beloved laptop stamped his feet and sat down in the work room.

“So… shall we begin?”

“okay.”

The last task given to us in this eventful entertainment show.

And it is the main task.

-This is the OST composition for Season 2 of <The Doll Hunter>!

After naturally reacting like ‘I couldn’t guess in the world’ and ‘a tester who was shocked once again by the twist in this entertainment show’ we finally sat down as a whole including Kim Rae-bin and started discussing the song.

‘Here we’re finally showing in a systematic way how we compose music thereby appealing to our professionalism and unique fun.’

Well to put it in writing the steps are simple.

-Step 1. Data research.

“First shall we look at the BGM and OSTs used in last season?”

“yes!”

The track list for Season 1 of <The Doll Hunter> is revealed.

There was a lot of BGM that had strong and heavy beats or that created tension.

Even in emotionally charged scenes the solemn or plaintive melody fell into a monotonous tone.

'I'm going to hit you hard no matter what.'

"I see. "I think there is a lot of BGM for impact rather than creating a calm atmosphere."

"Hmm~ <The Doll Hunter> originally focused on keywords like disaster survival… So it was fun!"

okay. You can tell that they put everything into making viewers go crazy and click the next episode.

And the drama producers' OST requests were also consistent.

"You're crazy it's Jeong Yi-sol!! "It would be nice if it felt like that."

"oh."

In a word it can be summarized as 'I ask that the teachers have a similar feeling to what they already had.'

It means not being picky.

'I don't have high expectations.'

Rather than saying 'Please create an immortal masterpiece that will be the last piece of the puzzle of our work' it seems like they want to do some marketing using Testa's entertainment.

And they must have believed in Kim Rae-bin's popular composing skills.

"Then… can we go in the direction of enhancing the impact of the character Jeong Yi-sol…?"

“Oh that’s exactly it!”

This happened to be the next step in composing.

-Step 2. Identify your needs.

By combining the researched data well I figure out the direction of what kind of song I want to make.

And it just so happens that we have a professional reader who can determine this.

The person who played Jeong Yi-sol!

The person who knows Jeong Yi-sol’s activities best!

“We have Sejin.”

“Ugh…! Hey bro. In season 2… may I ask how you first appear…?”

In the eyes full of anticipation…

Bae Se-jin avoided gaze.

“asleep.”

“…”

“Oh right.”

I was mistaken because it appeared in the snowy mountains.

When Bae Se-jin was rehearsing the script the guys who snooped around and played the role of his counterpart nodded solemnly.

This season Jeong Yi-sol…? Ah that was a delusion in the protagonist’s brain.

“He’s a dead person… hmm.”

“Then shall we make it a little scary? “To begin with the character of Jeong Yi-sol itself is a bit violent.”

“yes. “I think it would be good to sample the BGM melody that Jeong Yi-sol used when she betrayed herself in Season 1.”

“This is truly an excellent idea!”

And here an interesting composition arises.

‘I’m not being pushed back.’

The attitudes of the Testa members have changed a bit perhaps because they have gotten into the habit of composing CM songs for several days without Kim Rae-bin.

I was a little more cautious before.

Since Kim Rae-bin is so good it seems that she tends to refine and choose her words out of fear that she might have a negative impact.

It’s like putting a filter on the words that come to mind.

‘The more experience I gained the more solidified that became.’

However over the past few days I have been racking my brain and aggressively accepting feedback to try to compose a song in one day without Kim Rae-bin and it seems like this has become a habit.

“This is good! “What song is this here?”

“Oooh!”

“I found it. “Let’s put it in!”

What’s funny is that Kim Rae-bin also seems to take it more excitedly.

‘That’s fun.’

Opinions were exchanged non-stop and revisions and revisions continued and the song took shape.

-Step 3. Create a demo.

Do you know how long it took to come up with a one-minute demo like that?

It’s only three hours.

“Wooow.”

“Wow… the speed is different because there’s a real Ravin!”

“thank you!”

Drinks and public affairs were exchanged with the files in front of us.

Feeling the joy of a workaholic Raebin Kim moved the mouse again with the skill of a teaching assistant.

“Then let’s play it!”

“Ugh!”

Sweet.

The button is pressed.

and.

-… ♪♬♬♬♬-♪-♪♬

The string instruments tremble.

“…!”

-♪♪♪♩-

Slice the thick base cold.

The main melody which chose a heavy presence instead of harmony is unstoppable.

A sharp and smooth cello melody that surges like a thrill in an empty snowy mountain with nothing in it.

Season 1. It was the classic melody that Jeong Yi-sol wrote when she killed her colleague.

That brings out the connection between the characters and maximizes their presence.

"…"

It's not even a real cello performance it's just a note taken with a program.

An incredible composition that makes you feel as if you can see the performer's hands racing through his mind.

Resolution.

"…"

It was an OST that reorganized a classic into powerful modern pop.

The moment the 1 minute and 12 second playback ended everyone fell silent.

"How are you?!"

"It's so… cool."

That is the correct answer.

‘This… is just a taste of everything the production company wanted.’

Isn’t there something so full of MSG that it makes people’s mouths water?

If you add meaningful lyrics in a foreign language on top of this it feels like the essence of <The Doll Hunter> that the client wanted.

‘I was selected in one shot.’

The drama production company’s bet was successful.

‘You know what? One of our OSTs is a song written by Testa so I think it could be used well for marketing purposes.

“Wow… I love it so much? Based on this I think we can increase the volume a bit. What do you think?”

“approval!”

It was a time when everyone was excited to watch the music program again.

“excuse me.”

“yes?”

Bae Se-jin raised his hand.

Then he looked around and opened his mouth as if he had made up his mind.

“It’s cool but… Yes Liu Chengwu. What scene do you think this song will be used for?”

“…?”

“Hmm… how about the scene where Jeong Yi-sol dies at the beginning?”

Bae Se-jin shook his head.

“It’s going to be intentionally nihilistic. “It can’t go well with such an intense song.”

“hmm…”

“And I thought about it”

Bae Se-jin took a deep breath.

“Among the scenarios I acted out this season… there isn’t a scene that really suits this song.”

“…!”

The atmosphere became quiet as if it had been hit with cold water.

‘I see.’

Bae Se-jin knows all the scenes in which Jeong Yi-sol appears.

However in his eyes there is no place where this song can fit… Even if you search through all the scenes there is no place.

No matter how great the song is.

“Don’t misunderstand! Because the song is really good. Still… I think it would be better to talk about it.”

Bae Se-jin explained his demonstration’s death sentence more firmly.

“Kim Rae-bin said earlier that the OST is part of comprehensive content. So… I considered this song once more as a component of the drama.”

“…”

“So no matter where I put it it was a bit awkward.”

Raebin Kim opened his mouth.

“okay. “I believe it even more because my brother who played the character himself said so!”

The guy nodded seriously and deleted the melody of the music file without hesitation…

“Ugh!”

“Don’t erase it! “It’s a waste!”

“yes? Oh it’s not completely erased! “I backed it up separately.”

“phew.”

Each and every member pretended to wipe away their cold sweat. It was worth it.

‘The song itself is good.’

I was sure.

If you just submit it like this the drama production company will take it in stride.

First of all the song is good and it goes well with the character. Marketing through Testa entertainment will also be given a passing grade.

I guess I’ll somehow rack my brain and find a scene from Jeong Yi-sol this season that suits me even a little bit.

But that would really be a ‘just matching the assortment’ method.

“…I thought about it while composing a CM song a few days ago but I probably won’t be able to contribute to composing it like Kim Rae-bin right now.”

Bae Se-jin spoke firmly.

“but! It’s a drama OST. This is a field I know well. So I hope you trust me and try to edit the song.”

“…!”

It was my first time.

That’s why Bae Se-jin says with such confidence ‘I will take responsibility.’

And I understand why.

‘I realized that I could take responsibility.’

This is an experience where I protested resolutely without being rude to the production crew and got good results.

That must have been a new challenge for that guy.

And since the courageous attempt comes back with positive results the action is strengthened.

Like this.

“what do you think about it?”

I looked around and saw Bae Se-jin who had a confident expression on his face.

It seems like we all have similar thoughts.

of course…

“I agree.”

“…!”

“that’s right. “We’re not a group that goes half-heartedly and says ‘This is enough.’ Right?”

“uh.”

That’s right.

If there is a compromise here Testa will take charge of this OST and only the drama production company will receive greater profits.

‘Let’s get a taste of marketing with you too.’

Even people who watched the drama without knowing anything are made to look up the song the moment this OST comes out and say ‘Wow what the fuck is this?’

That’s why we call it the flagship based on Testa’s name.

That is the greatest benefit Testa can extract from this deal.

“We need to pick something that will give people goosebumps and shock them the moment the OST plays in a drama.”

“…! good.”

Good answer.

I laughed inwardly.

“Then is there an ‘Impressive scene from Jeong Yi-sol’ that you recommend as a reference for revising the OST?”

In the past Bae Se-jin’s face would have turned pale and after hesitating for a while he would have said ‘It’s just my opinion.’

however.

“I have one scene in mind.”

Now Bae Se-jin immediately opened his mouth.

“Which one is it?”

And he gave a confident answer.

“Jung Yi-sol’s real climax this season.”

A few days later.

“The OST has arrived.”

“Oh okay.”

The director of <The Doll Hunter> received a sound source from the staff.

‘You’re here.’

Jeong Yi-sol’s theme song.

Originally it was an OST that required complex feedback to be exchanged with people in charge taking charge of everything from the demo.

However this has become a kind of marketing method and ‘Let Testa take care of it.’

This is because high-ranking people predicted that that side would receive more attention.

“hmm.”

The director had a bitter taste.

Bae Se-jin is a great actor.

However as far as the activities of the group he belongs to… are KPOP idols.

KPOP idol.

It was the essence of the modern broadcasting entertainment industry which risks its life for commerciality and business viability.

Naturally the OST would have been created following corporate logic rather than art.

Of course the song will be good.

But I guess it was a good choice.

They would have chosen popular songs rather than so-called movie music that fit the story scenes.

That was painful.

‘What an important role Jeong Yi-sol plays.’

Of course at a time when more investment capital has come from the value of the platform name than the value of one’s own name there is nothing that can be made ‘as the director wants’ or ‘as the writer wants’.

They say it’s all a series of compromises but the director still has his mouth shut.

‘I have to figure it out somehow.’

He made a decision in resignation and pressed the play button.

Sweet.

And… the sound of a thin string instrument begins to sound.

“…?”

What is this?

A strange dissonance as if it was trying to be strong but then suddenly failed.

It creaks as it tries to go up and then crashes down.

And silence.

“…”

Is this Jeong Yi-sol’s theme song?

The moment when the director was beyond embarrassed and was starting to feel a little envious.

♪♬♩-♪-♪♬…

String instruments play again.

But this time it is the harmonious and stable sound of a soft orchestra.

And the melody that flows gracefully over it is…

-Um Ummum um…

It was a human voice.

The classical melody used in Jeong Yi-sol’s murder sequence in Season 1 is composed of a cappella voice and jumps over string instruments.

It’s mysterious how the slightly eerie dripping minor key mixes with the soft string instruments.

‘hmm?’

And in between you can hear the noise of wind instruments like the sound of wind and the sound of percussion instruments like the sound of pens hitting each other.

‘aha.’

The director nodded.

Apparently the image of the fictional Jeong Yi-sol imagined by the main character in the snowy mountain was embodied in the OST.

‘It’s not bad… um it’s okay.’

Isn’t it like Jeong Yi-sol’s theme song?

He listened with slight satisfaction.

Then suddenly I had a question.

‘for a moment.’

If it was a representation of Jeong I-sol in the snowy mountains what was that strange dissonance at the front?

‘I think there’s an intention… ’

And he makes a pretty convincing guess.

‘Oh.’

Couldn’t that be a depiction of the scene where the main character murders Jeong Yi-sol?

This is the image of Jeong Yi-sol dying in vain.

He nodded and focused on his ears again.

His interest was reviving as he wondered when the song would start but at the same time he still felt a sense of annoyance.

But that annoyance soon breaks.

"…!"

No matter how long I waited the lyrics didn't come in.

But instead a cappella humming came in with a new melody along with brass instruments.

Aaaaaa—! Hummmmm-

But… that melody was very familiar.

It is the main character's theme song.

A famous classical march.

"…!!"

Why on earth is the main character's theme song included in Jeong Yi-sol's theme song?

'Did you misunderstand the request for composition?'

Embarrassment.

However as he listened to the OST which was complexly mixed and rushed to its climax with the sharp sound of string instruments breaking he realized.

That devastating sound.

'ah.'

This… wasn't just a song listing Jeong Yi-sol's appearances in chronological order!

It was expressing one scene.

This is Jeong Yi-sol's highlight scene.

"…"

But that's not where Jeong Yi-sol really appears.

hero.

In the final episode of Season 2 he is chased by people who were his colleagues in his past life due to the butterfly effect caused by his selfish choice in the moment.

So he hurriedly goes back down the street and eventually runs away to the convenience store on the floor where his house was originally located…

I saw it there.

The body of Jeong Yi-sol whom he killed.

And Jeong Yi-sol in his delusion sitting next to the corpse.

-…

-What are your impressions?

A flashback sequence that the protagonist remembers while looking at Jeong Yi-sol's corpse under extreme stress.

Those short intense cuts.

From murder to confrontation in the snowy mountains conversation confusion hatred…

Everything pours out quickly.

Like a lantern.

‘oh my god.’

That was this song!

Meanwhile the song drives deeper.

A cappella sputters out and a modern edgy sound flashes like electricity around the strings.

The main character’s guilt collapsing mental and physical fatigue anger and feelings of identification are overwhelming…

Run.

-Ahh!

Until the protagonist runs out of the convenience store and voluntarily jumps into the attack of his former colleagues who are targeting him.

Until Jeong Yi-sol disappears in the snowy mountains.

♪! ♪! ♪♬!

“…”

Strong high notes and the end of tearing cello drums.

The flashback is over.

Gooooo…

Only white noise remained flowing slowly.

“…”

The director raised his head.

And the moment he checked the length of the song he was thrilled.

8 minutes 14 seconds.

Without any lyrics.

‘therefore… ’

He organized.

Testa boldly abandoned the vocal track.

Instead they released Original Score a truly traditional OST song without lyrics.

By boldly excluding the lyric writing part and focusing only on the auditory elements of the drama!

To enhance the impact of the scene.

“this…”

I can’t believe I took on such a dangerous challenge!

But I know.

There are no lyrics but there is a development and story made up of melody. Very smooth and intense.

So if you break it down into parts you can even substitute it for all Jeong Yi-sol scenes from this season.

‘That doesn’t make sense.’

Popularity? I don’t know.

But what is certain is that this song will have a tremendous impact when it meets Jeong Yi-sol played by Bae Se-jin.

Isn't that the popularity of OSTs?

"oh my god."

When this OST was released there was no way to know what kind of reaction there would be but the director was sure of one thing.

At least that's not the kind of reaction the drama marketing team expected.

'Really… it's beyond my imagination.'

He seemed to have a way of thinking that went beyond expectations when he surpassed a certain level in any field.

Even if it is an idol who is the king of industry.

"That's amazing."

After listening to the sound from the beginning again the director was convinced.

Testa is definitely waiting for the reaction with great determination and tension!

But at the same time.

Testa who was finally leaving the mountain cabin finally got to see the reactions to episodes 1 and 2 of this entertainment show which were released before the OST…

"Tongue brother! Something big has happened!"

"why."

"There is a lot of abusive language on the Internet slandering the entertainment production staff and the person in charge of the CM song that commissioned us…”

“oh.”

“…?”

“Oh it’s okay.”

“…??”

“Just leave it alone.”

Park Moon-dae was enjoying the true taste of justice without backlash!

Chapter 590

The day Testa's entertainment training camp ends.

We delivered the Doll Hunter OST as quickly as possible on time and burned it down as entertainment on the last day.

"And 'if the current Testa wins filming will end immediately'… Waaagh! If we win I can get off work right away!"

"Oooooh!"

I left work on time and spent my time playing various games.

It's 'Beat Testa!'

If we surpassed the highest score in the game we played on entertainment shows in the past we were off work.

We also played PPL games for food clothing and shelter in between games but these also turned into healthy joint games such as jumping into a hot spring and finding balls with food ingredients written on them.

Well… it's less wholesome in a way.

"This… the fans will like it."

"huh."

Well there will be demand in a different way.

'Anyway the overall composition is good.'

In the first half it shows the suffering Testa lowering the hurdle with popularity through traditional variety entertainment and in the second half it starts to compose seriously and appeals by showing professionalism.

And in the end it ended so that you could watch it with a smile without thinking again.

“It was fun!”

“I had no regrets~”

Testa’s initial haggardness of ‘I won’t leave the production crew alone’ disappeared and he happily made it home from work before the sun set.

-no!

The feeling of leaving work with the producer screaming that it ended too early was great.

It ended refreshingly.

‘The level of completion must be fine.’

I drew a picture in my head and estimated the profit I would make from this entertainment show that is currently being aired to rave reviews.

But after returning home.

Kim Rae-bin who accessed the Internet saying ‘I want to look for reviews on the existing OSTs of Doll Hunter’ came across the reaction to this entertainment show by chance.

Popular articles about the Testa variety show are coming up one after another.

However the guy who clicked on those posts said he was shocked.

“…!!”

I can’t believe our entertainment staff is being criticized after all the praise!

“…So I think the production crew and the person in charge of the CM song will be in trouble.”

“That’s right!”

Raebin Kim nodded vigorously.

I also nodded.

“okay.”

“…”

I knew it.

“Ah… aren’t you surprised?”

“Amazing.”

It’s a lie.

‘Why would you be surprised by something so obvious?’

In the first place writer Ryu Seo-rin’s specialty was creating people who would curse and making viewers overly immersed in them.

They probably structured it in a very subtle way and tried to get some criticism and make it all topical.

This means that it was something that was intentionally brought upon oneself.

“You could completely remove it from editing but if you look at the fact that you didn't do it it must have been thought of."

"but…"

Still Kim Rae-bin's expression did not brighten much. I guess it bothers me.

If that's the case.

"Let me check it out."

"…! yes!"

I took his smartphone.

Still if you pretend to check this guy will be at ease too.

'While watching I also checked the topicality of this entertainment show.'

I leisurely rolled the screen.

In any case public opinion will be resolved as the entertainment program continues to air. The production team must follow the line and do it in moderation since they are being criticized…

-capital punishment

-The production staff's salary is also paid through the game. If you don't win it's your fault so you can work for free.

-Since when was it a form of entertainment to torture cast members?

-I broke my smartphone while watching. It was a disaster while watching so the production crew who made me angry should compensate me 10 million won. Anyway I will do it anyway.

"…"

for a moment.

‘What is this?’

It’s all messed up.

It was only then that I realized that Kim Rae-bin was not soft-hearted and surprised to see people she knew being criticized unexpectedly.

It was just… hell.

-Wow but you’re even blaming Testa? Haha. So when Yujin said that creativity comes from hard work does that mean she wants to suffer the threat of imprisonment while filming a variety show… I guess that’s it?!

-I think entertainment comes from the hard work of the production team so please edit while eating only raw sweet potatoes.

“…”

It’s cold!

The production crew and PPL staff were almost burned alive and were being harassed by the fandom.

‘To this extent?’

I was a little embarrassed and watched episodes 1 and 2 of the currently airing variety show.

however…

‘The water level control is okay.’

Since ancient times entertainment has been guilty of being boring.

It’s not fun and it’s painful to watch if the cast is suffering but it’s fun but if the cast is suffering wouldn’t it just be boring content?

The parts that might raise eyebrows such as Testa not eating well were cut out and matched with Testa's interview and a country dog so it just looked funny and pitiful.

'We were the parties involved and we were upset because we couldn't come to an agreement… '

Honestly it was fun to watch. I think this is enough to get a shield from the viewer base.

The production team must have thought about that when making it.

'What is it?'

I returned to viewer reactions and looked at related articles more broadly.

And I finally found out why.

[Idol composed while receiving strange feedback until 3 a.m.]

This cut is just the feedback part of Testa's first CM song.

Beyond community captures this is edited into a short video and spread widely by all kinds of businesses including WeTube InHeart.

The response was very… good.

-It's the same as the one I gave you the first time so why did I give it to you like this a long time ago? Hahaha you're just saying it's an open mouth haha.

-Wow I can't breathe.

-What program is this? Is it recent? Didn't it win the Testa grand prize last year and take first place in the music industry? His form has been crazy recently. How can he do that? ㄷㄷㄷ

□I didn't know that composing a song was a test haha.

Wow… I hate it even more

"…"

That's right.

Netizens are excitedly responding to fans' anger.

There was no reaction from the general public like 'Ah idol fans are leaving haha' which is common.

Usually 'Are you uncomfortable? They took the opposite angle saying 'It's because of you that entertainment becomes boring.'

The reason is…

-Why does an idol show show me when I'm working…

-Oh fuck they say this and that but the original was better. All those bastards who change their words should cut off their hands with a sharp knife.

-You didn't know until the end that it was a test? If I didn't know I would have kept giving feedback like that haha I bet.

Experienced homeroom teacher?

Yes…

Me too

Please give each other a pat.

"…"

'This is something we've all experienced… '

It was office worker PTSD.

Suddenly anger-inducing content that everyone who has lived a social life can sympathize with has emerged.

These people were even more immersed in the testers' position than the fans and were even crazily criticizing the culture of the company that produced the product for the CM song.

-There was a saying on the office worker app that you had to be good at politics rather than performance to get promoted but those guys weren't paranoid.

-Ah haha if you want my money you have to accept my stress haha.

Actually it's not my money it's the company's money but anyways.

-A person like that is in charge so they did the Orensoda In Heart Viral so thoughtlessly? LOL Now I understand.

-If they put PPL in entertainment and that shit is so bad anyone who works under that person would want to die.

This means there is no need for fans to restrain themselves.

Everyone who heard the news was furious as if they were going to throw the PPL person in charge as a living sacrifice in the middle of the campfire at any moment.

There was even no fear of backlash such as 'Isn't Testa at fault?'

This is because the person in charge of the CM song is not being criticized because of Testa but just because he did something stupid…

'In the first place that person didn't even know that what he composed was a test.'

It's just… He must be deeply reflecting on his life up until now.

In addition other groups that entered PPL were actually benefiting from this aggro as the program viewership and attention increased.

Thanks to this there were no problems with the PPL contract…

“Mundaemundae can we just stay still?”

“huh.”

We decided to eat popcorn.

Where will this plate go?

And the next week.

Surprisingly a trick appears.

‘oh.’

After much deliberation the production team made their choice.

I decided to toss all the aggro to the person in charge of the Orensoda CM song who was already controversial about what happened like this.

Of course I didn’t explicitly say things like ‘This bastard is the one who did the most wrong so please curse this bastard.’ Anyway aren’t they related to the advertiser?

So what did you do?

-Wow this song is really good! There is nothing I would like to request to be modified but I would appreciate it if you could mainly use the chorus when broadcasting. Thank you for your hard work until late at night. (Gifticon attached)

That’s right… it showed personalized feedback from another CM song manager.

‘oh.’

It was thrown for comparison.

In addition this person had the fun of revealing the famous identity of the anonymous composer who created the CM song and getting his reaction.

-You know what? Actually… the people who composed the song are Testa.

-… yes?

-Idol test.

-…?! Mom oh my god (#%!)

Isn't it heartwarming and fun?

This was once again reminded that this was possible because the person in charge gave common sense and personal feedback.

-This picture is normal…

-Wow it's so heartwarming and I'm proud of myself haha.

– I really need to learn from the person in charge who gave that strange feedback.

Through the contrast effect all the aggro was focused on the person in charge of the Orensoda CM song and the production team seemed to have barely escaped the clutches of the angry office workers.

In addition an episode of Testa giving a blow to the production crew via walkie-talkie was also aired to balance the show.

-This is it.

-Ha… I was going to tell the human cider tester to advertise carbonated water but Orensoda is carbonated water.

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

Just looking at it it dragged out all the content that should have been passed on to the next episode and presented a cool ending.

In addition a trailer was also inserted to reassure fans.

Testa was included to show as accurately as possible what it means to work with proper equipment in a comfortable environment.

-It's all a coincidence that happened because of the game! ㅜㅜ There was a good environment too!

As if shouting like that.

And fortunately for the production team all these careful attempts worked.

-Watch Mundaengdaeng's baby tiger stretching and flashing movements. Your 60 seconds will disappear (video)

-Guys Liu Chengwu is good at choosing chickens… What can this man not do?

After the episode was aired fans began to enjoy entertainment again with the attitude of 'we'll wait and see.'

He barely succeeded in changing the mood.

And in fact the production team seems to have thought deeply about how this was possible.

"Park Moon-dae. "Hey… I got a text message."

"yes?"

A few days later Bae Se-jin showed the PD a text message.

-I'm sending you this text message because I wanted to say thank you one more time.

The long text that followed was a thank you to Testa for taking entertainment seriously and not taking it too seriously.

Instead of the sly attempt to avoid the situation seen in the previous interview it was immediately apparent that he was trying to speak somewhat honestly as the representative of the production team.

So Bae Se-jin seems even more embarrassed.

"…I don't know why you sent this to me. "What do you… think?"

What do you think?

I shrugged and handed the smartphone back.

"He realized that thanks to his brother's interview he now had an opportunity to settle public opinion."

"…!"

Without that opportunity the production team would not have cared so much about Testa's environment and tried to improve it.

'I think it's just a matter of getting a little better while paying attention.'

This would have been revealed in the video and of course it would have been more difficult to control public opinion saying 'The real treatment was not good but they were criticized so they resorted to editing.'

So now I have realized it with my own skin.

That interview was not simply a request for the cast to improve their environment but rather an opinion expressed from a more macroscopic perspective.

"Now it seems like the production team is admitting that they really got help from their older brother."

“…okay.”

Bae Se-jin nodded and accepted the smartphone.

What flashed in his eyes was clearly pride.

The guy didn’t delete the text and seemed to respond well in his own way later.

‘Then it’s okay.’

Because the purpose of entertainment was well achieved.

The friendliness of ‘they suffer like that too’ and the professional charm of ‘but they are really good at producing’.

Everything was saved.

I returned to my room stretched and lay down on the bed.

‘What remains depends on how well Season 2 of <The Doll Hunter> is selected… ’

That was something that would only be known when it aired.

To coincide with the broadcast the composition of the OST for our entertainment show was postponed to Part 2 so we still have to wait a few more weeks to find out.

“I acted without regrets.”

“Oh… then that’s enough.”

Now Testa just has to focus on the tour and wait for the later episodes of our entertainment show and Season 2 of <The Doll Hunter>.

Just like that winter ended and early spring came.

And there is something we heard before these two news…

It's surprising but it's vacation news.

"Since we didn't get a single day off during the holidays they said we should get some rest now."

"Oooh."

It was Testa's belated Lunar New Year vacation.

Chapter 591

Golden return.

It is an idiom meaning to return to one's hometown after achieving success. In modern Korea it is mainly used when people succeed in entrance exams or get a job and celebrate holidays.

And in the case of idols you can experience it every time you return home. Because I live in a dormitory and away from home.

Of course there are conditions.

'I need to get good grades.'

Awareness.

You've probably done activities that elicited reactions like 'Wow that song?' or 'I think I've heard it before!'

If you do this you will get a taste of Geumui Hwanhyang every time you go home.

And Testa has never disappointed his family in that regard.

As proof we do this every holiday season.

"Everyone let's do well together at this annual event~"

"Yes yes."

Steadily.

The album is passed from hand to hand thanks to the skill of a skilled demonstration assistant.

The autograph factory rotates with the latest albums and MDs. This is the amount requested by the members' parents and relatives.

"Thank you for your hard work!"

After completing my quota in such a good mood I'm ready to go home.

"This is a week right? "Everyone rest well."

"yes…!"

Another interesting thing happens here.

At the beginning of our debut we each made our own plans and split up without looking back but one day it seemed like we were coordinating our schedules even while on vacation.

'Even family members have become acquainted.'

For example Raebin Kim is said to be going on a trip to the United States with her grandmother and grandfather and staying at Cha Yujin's house for a few days.

Since Cha Yu-jin often stayed at Kim Rae-bin's house since she was a trainee she seems to have invited her there.

"I think I've accumulated enough mileage to be able to comfortably get a better seat!"

"Good."

That's a very simple thing to say for a guy who earned enough money to get a first class seat with cash.

Moreover while he was preparing for this trip he contacted Liu Chengwu's family and it seemed like they also joined in the middle.

"Even after my vacation is over I hope my family can enjoy traveling in the United States a little longer. “I’m the only one trying to enter the country on time.”

“Your filial piety is also wonderful.”

“haha.”

It’s such a cheerful sight. I think fans will react well if I post it on social media.

However as you probably know by now I am an exception to all of this.

Well… I haven’t had anyone to move with so far.

‘They seemed to be looking at me from the moment I signed.’

This is because when I do things like this I rarely carry much.

I’m just taking a few out of courtesy because I don’t have any relatives who can hand out autograph items like these guys do.

Park Moon-dae and Ryu Geon-woo.

As a result secret suggestions begin to come in as if they are secretly concerned about this.

“Hyung Moon Dae is coming to my house this time too! “We’re surfing.”

My heart is grateful.

But I have some things planned in Korea for the next few days.

‘I need to rest for a bit and then do my work.’

Appropriately declined.

“Oh Mundae so you’re going to be in Korea this entire vacation?”

yes.

“Then stop by my house for a bit and hang out~ It’s nearby. “My wife really wants to see it.”

“…??”

why me

I looked at him with an expression of bewilderment but the big guy actually gave me a straight face.

“Oh my goodness my wife brought me braised ribs for Moon Dae’s birthday… but you don’t want to see me even though you have time… Have you forgotten the taste of braised ribs?”

“…”

“Mundaemundae was such a cold person. “I wonder how disappointed your wife will be…”

stop.

“I’m going.”

“huh? what?”

You still have a knack for making people angry.

“…I’m going.”

The guy grinned.

“Well thought out~!”

“…”

I want to squeeze in just one. Just one.

It was a time when I was debating whether to make a fist or not.

Knock knock.

“Over there.”

When I turn my head I see Sun Ah-hyeon with an expression full of anticipation.

“My family also wants to see Mundae… Umm I wonder how you are doing.”

“…”

“Oh if you’re in trouble…! ”

“…I’m going.”

“Khahahaha!”

Just like that my plan of ‘let’s spend the first part of the vacation at the hotel’ was canceled and changed.

“Oh so Ahyeon is stopping by my house too?”

“Ugh!”

“Good good… Good good. “I’m sure we’ll have fun on the first day of our vacation~”

Big Sejin packed his bags with joy.

However there was no sight of people talking on their smartphones and saying things like ‘Here are two more people.’

“Why don’t you contact your parents?”

“huh?”

“I think we should tell you we’re going.”

Big Sejin grinned meaningfully.

“Actually my wife… she doesn’t even know I’m leaving today?”

“…!”

“Because construction is so busy… we are holding an event today as well!”

What event?

Lee Se-jin’s mother. Who is she?

She holds a position in a local community volunteer group and is a household name in the neighborhood even if she is not her son.

And as expected from the MBTI extreme E family her house was crowded with acquaintances today as well.

This was a kind of volunteer activity after-party event.

Her eldest son succeeded as an idol early on and her second daughter was attending college and living in a dormitory so it was easy for her to call people as she pleased!

“All the kids are growing up well.”

“Oh what are you talking about? “The house is very empty these days!”

And here several middle school and elementary school students who followed their parents saying ‘This too is an experience’ were sitting next to us with wide eyes playing on their smartphones.

‘What a joke… ’

I was told that it was impolite to wear earphones so I watched Tic Tac Tok in silence and wondered what was going on.

-Is that family’s son some kind of famous celebrity? They say he’s an idol. Who are you? My mom doesn’t know much about kids these days… but it’s a name I’ve heard of before!

I was a little taken aback by the story but of course there was no trace of the idol in this house!

However it is also okay to ask someone directly.

Even I knew that if I asked anything there would be a high chance of being disappointed and I knew that I wasn’t full of dreams and hopes like the kids were!

‘There aren’t many famous male idols these days so why did I do that?!’

She lowered her head to her smartphone again feeling ashamed of herself for being harsh on such words as a middle school student.

This meeting was about to end anyway so all I had to do was let the battery hold out a little longer.

It was then.

Ding-dong.

“Jeong-ah look who’s here!”

“huh?”

The intercom rang.

It looks like someone came very late.

The homeowner reacted somewhat strangely but the middle school student obviously didn't care. I just glanced at the door that opened reflexively.

So… I witnessed it.

"Oh my there are so many people!"

A tall well-built man.

A tall figure easily opens the heavy front door and comes in.

When he took off the black hat and mask he was wearing his cool and handsome features were clearly revealed.

"wait a minute. "I'm going in. You're inside my mother right?"

And the person who greets you by fanning his/her hand… that person.

This is Testa Sejin Lee!

No. 1 target idol music source. The person she had seen in the million-view video on the In Heart page she was watching has now appeared in the same space.

"frame…"

But the words ended in a single scream.

Because there wasn't just one person coming through the front door!

"Hello…!"

A person wearing a neat coat that looked expensive to anyone's eyes also came in with his head bowed and then raised his head.

The revealed face…

‘Uh huh.’

She was a tremendous beauty.

It was like that when I saw it in photos and videos… but when I saw it in real life I thought it was a person. The face is the size of a fist but the eyes nose and mouth have clear lines.

That’s right. This one looks familiar too!

‘Seo Seon-ah-hyeon!’

and.

The person who came in after him had a unique solemn expression.

He was a person with all kinds of cute nicknames including puppy and apple but when you look at him in person he actually looks white cool and indifferent.

It means handsome.

“I’m sorry for coming to you so suddenly.”

Moon-Dae Park.

‘Bar Park Mun-dae!!’

Testa three! In real life!

“son!”

“Mom there are a lot of guests at home!”

The middle school student had a sudden realization when he saw Lee Se-jin and Lee Se-jin the team leader of the volunteer activity group who was the owner of the house hugging each other warmly.

Testa was the son of this family!

“Oh it’s nothing special… but I happened to bring something with me on my way home! “The timing is right again.”

In the meantime Sejin Lee chatted as if she were alive(?) smiled and said hello and even shared the items she had brought with the members.

That’s how she received an album signed by Testa.

‘Crazy dog gain… ’

I even received a handshake from one member while delivering it.

“This is…”

“Yes yes yes yes… it’s mom. That handshake over there… just once. Just in case!”

“Oh yes. sure…!”

The middle school student almost cried after shaking hands with Sun Ah-hyeon his hands shaking.

‘Even your fingers are handsome crazy!’

Thank you mother!

-Hey crazy crazy I just saw T[Star Bom

On my way home after a while.

The middle school student logged onto KakaoTalk with trembling hands and decided to be very filial to his mother who dragged him to this place!

“oh my god! oh…”

Is this the taste of cider you get when you show your power in a super meta that hides your power?

After the album presentation ceremony ended I saw the backs of the guests’ heads as they reluctantly left.

When Testa Lee Se-jin appeared as the son of this family the shocked and enthusiastic reactions of people who were astonished as if their eyes popped out were quite… well impressive.

‘This is what it felt like to live as a celebrity.’

Since we’re usually alone we don’t feel much. Once again I felt Testa’s popularity in real life and it wasn’t a bad thing.

And after people leave.

Keun Se-jin’s mother who became the main character of this surprise…

“This guy is real! “Ugh!”

“Haha!”

You hit this guy on the back.

‘I deserved it.’

A son who barges into a house with guests without even saying a word.

Of course even though he was beaten Keun Se-jin coolly split it.

The person who hit him actually seemed proud so it can be seen as a wise decision.

“Ah should I say this is a surprise filial piety!”

The guy who skillfully avoided more attacks stretched out and sat down comfortably in the living room.

I nodded as I accepted the drink he handed me.

“Are you trying to save your mother’s face?”

“There’s that and in fact it seems like there are people who have an antipathy toward you because they tried to ask me for something through my mother but they blocked me~ Uhm why don’t I take this opportunity to try to stop you myself?”

Are you coming?

There are also those who understand the psychology and cooperate with each other.

-But I’ll go home for a little while first. The two of us are resting at the hotel~

I caught the guy who was trying to do this heard the situation and went with him.

It’s been a few years since Testa became popular like this.

At this point it was not uncommon for people to make a systematic approach whether for money or personal connections.

‘You have to cooperate with this kind of thing.’

Doesn’t the group suffer the same damage when one member becomes X?

I nodded and Big Sejin smiled surprisingly shyly.

“Uhm so it was okay for me to come in alone first… Thank you so much!”

“what…!”

Sun Ah-hyun laughed. And seeing Big Sejin sitting with a similar expression makes me feel very embarrassed…

‘Well that’s a good thing.’

I just laughed too.

The wife of Keun Se-jin who came back after seeing him off cast affectionate eyes at her son.

“I made my friends who came to play work right! Still he really likes Moon Dae and Ahyeon. “When they grow up they brag about their friends to their mom…”

“Oh no ma’am! “Is there any age to cherish friendship?”

“Oh my you’re talking about Cheongsanyusu again!”

“That’s because you look like our lady!”

What a harmonious family.

After that we had a good time without any problems.

“I get it every time… It may not be as delicious as my mother’s but I gave it a try.”

“Oh my!”

As I received the holiday vacation late I brought some holiday food with me and it was a very unique experience to eat it while lounging in someone else’s house.

It was like that at Bae Se-jin’s house during a previous holiday but I don’t think I’m used to it either.

Still… I didn’t hate it.

-Kwaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa?!

“Haha! “Oh I should have given it to you a long time ago!”

Eventually after seeing Keun Se-jin’s younger sister accept Ryu Cheong-woo’s autographed MD and send a screaming video of her appreciation via KakaoTalk.

“I’ll go to Ahyeon’s in a moment!”

We moved and headed to Ahyeon’s.

And… I received an enthusiastic welcome there too.

In a slightly different sense.

“Welcome~ Ahyun and Moon Dae and Sejin!”

phut.

Pollen exploded before my eyes.

This is what happened to me as soon as I entered the entrance of a house with a garden in Seoul.

Seon Ah-hyun’s parents are standing in front of me with excited faces.

“…thank you.”

This wasn’t a surprise visit but perhaps that’s why the feeling of ‘we prepared for this day!’ was clearly conveyed.

‘It’s like Sun Ah-hyun’s family.’

I’m really grateful but it’s such a burden.

But while I was thinking that way there was something that his parents carefully said to me while the others were away.

“Thank you so much for always getting along well with Ahyeon…

Every time I see you Moon Dae takes care of my Ahyeon… I always wanted to do something for her but I never had the chance."

"…no."

"No it's hard for a family to do that."

It seems that this family prepared for the visit not just because of their child's co-worker but also because someone they really appreciate and is close to is visiting.

'What a mess.'

I pressed the back of my neck.

"Are you going to sleep today?"

"Well if it doesn't bother you…"

"What are you talking about? "Of course it's good!"

So I was assigned a room and was treated well.

That's right. Instead of sleeping in Sun Ah-hyun's room… they assigned me a room.

'Why is there a house like this in Seoul?'

I guessed it from the time I got into a foreign car but it sure looks like he has a golden spoon.

After unpacking my bags in 'my room' and moving with an excited Sun Ah-hyeon…

"This is my room…!"

I got to see his room.

Chapter 592

Boom.

In an atmosphere that seemed to require such BGM the thick door opened and Sun Ah-hyun's room was revealed.

however…

"…"

"…room?"

It's not a room.

I unconsciously made eye contact with Keun Se-jin. The guy was also smiling and his pupils were shaking.

Inside was a small living room-like space with an elegant table and a picture piano.

Next to the small items and vases that look like they are made of knitting… a new visit is visible.

That's right. There seems to be another room inside.

'What is this?'

Sun Ah-hyun explained clearly.

"I heard it was created to be like a living room…!"

Was something like that possible in Seoul?

However before asking that question the room(?) owner added as if he was a little embarrassed.

“Actually I haven’t had many customers so far so I used it as a dance practice studio when I was young…”

ah.

Sun Ah-hyun quickly walked over and opened the cabinet. Inside I saw a huge folding mirror that was neatly folded.

“Oh you left it here…!”

And next to it I saw some ballet-related items still in storage.

Items of Sun Ah-hyun from her childhood.

I automatically ask myself this question as it looks like a housewarming event.

“Are we the first time someone has come here since our debut?”

“Ugh. “It’s my first time!”

I see

“It’s an honor Ahyeon~”

“Oh no…”

Even as he said that he continued his explanation with an excited expression and diligently introduced the space called the reception room.

“Before I lived alone in an officetel for a while I lived here…”

It is said that my mother was sent overseas just around the time of <Azusa>. It seems that at that time they said it would be difficult for him to stay alone in this large house so he got a separate officetel near the filming location.

“Oh~ So the contract for that officetel has ended?”

“Ugh.”

Sun Ah-hyun took a step forward and finally stood at the door in this room.

“This is where I’ve been since I was young.”

And when I opened the door I saw the bedroom.

“and!”

The inside was neatly modern with a wood-colored interior.

However that is not why the great admiration came about.

There was a custom-made glass cabinet installed on one side of the wall and the entire space was filled with Testa products.

“oh my god.”

It’s not just Sun Ah-hyeon’s items.

MD dolls with cheering slogans from each Testa member as well as paintings were carefully displayed and sparkled when exposed to high-quality sunlight.

You can feel the loving care.

“Whenever my dad has things he displays them here!”

“Ohh.”

In Sun Ah-hyun’s dorm room there are not only her own MDs but also a lot of other members’ MDs.

‘Is it a family tradition?’

I looked inside the display case.

Now I can see that there were many other items on the left side of the glass cabinet. There are wooden toys crayon box dog dolls and even ring cases.

It seems that Sun Ah-hyun was good at collecting and displaying objects that were meaningful or precious to her as she grew up.

And the closer you get to the right of the display case the more filled it is with stories from Testa members.

So this… wasn't just a shelf to put Testa items on.

It was a showcase filled with meaningful and precious things from Sun Ah-hyeon's life.

And the Testa members did that.

"…"

Big Sejin seemed a little choked up as if he was really a little impressed but he deliberately spoke in a playful way.

"Ahyun I am… I'm so happy to meet a member who values the group like this… isn't it?"

"…! Ugh me too…! "I'm really thankful and happy to have met such good friends!"

"Ugh Ahyeon we are friends for life!"

What the hell.

I looked at the two guys who looked like they were going to embrace each other right away and then I just chuckled.

Well that's a good thing.

“This place… has an open-air bath like this!”

Seon-ah-hyeon took the momentum and even gave us a tour of the house and we enjoyed the tour while her parents looked on with satisfaction.

After that he went to his living room… I don’t know what to call it but we hung out there anyway.

Eun Se-jin couldn’t sleep because he had to spend the vacation with his parents but he stayed up until the night and talked persistently.

It was fun that Sun Ah-hyun’s parents brought her an expensive salad for a late-night snack.

This is truly the choice of someone who has never tried it.

“Hey they even put beef on top.”

“Thank you.”

I spent some time munching on grass and looking through Sun Ah-hyun’s childhood album nodding to the thought that it was really good to take care of my body.

“Oh I caught the thread when Ahyeon was spinning~ I held the mic.”

“Ugh!”

“What about the gate?”

“It must have been a pencil.”

It was new.

To be honest it’s not uncommon for these three to chat in the dorm.

However it was almost the first time in 67 years of living together that we spent time talking about personal things and having nothing to do with work.

Just like real school friends.

And it seems that the landlord also found this situation meaningful.

"…Hey guys. If it's okay… can I upload today's work to my account?"

At Seon Ah-hyeon's request I and Big Se-jin immediately nodded…

"Of course it's okay~"

Finally a few minutes later this post was posted on Testa's SNS.

-I came home with my friends. I really enjoy it. I hope you too have a happy evening! (picture)

The attached photos were selfies taken in the reception room and living room and the salad I ate as a late-night snack.

It was an honest post without embellishment.

And not long after posting that post comments arrived from members who were scattered on vacation.

-Kim Rae-bin: I enjoyed looking at the photo that Ahyun posted. It's great to see the three of you having a happy vacation. (Elderly thumb emoticon)

-Kim Rae-bin: I arrived in LA safely and moved to Cha Yu-jin's house.

-Cha Yu-jin: My dogs follow grandmother Rae-bin Kim! (shaken photo)

-Brother Ryu Cheong-woo: It looks cute My dog is sleeping well (photo)

All of a sudden this or that pet is starting to take over.

However a call arrived that would put all of this to rest.

-Bae Se-jin: (Video)

A video that Bae Se-jin uploaded majestically without saying a word.

This is a small white fur ball watching Testa's video in Bae Se-jin's arms pretending to know and howling.

This is Munge the small dog who stayed with us in <That House's Grandson>.

"Oh my god Mundaemundae remembers us!"

The group chat room was also in chaos.

-Cha Yujin: omg

-Cha Yu-jin: Bring Munchi and come to America.

However Bae Se-jin did not reply coolly. It was the look of a winner.

'Funny guys.'

I laughed out loud.

Big Sejin tapped my side.

"How is it better than resting alone in the dorm?"

"…"

I won't deny it.

I had originally planned to spend a day or two at the accommodation but I had no intention of spending it in such a noisy way.

however.

‘This is okay too.’

I met a lot of people and ate lots of food.

A holiday where you don’t suddenly run into trouble or run out to work.

“…”

I lay down in ‘my room’ where I was shown and tossed and turned to sleep.

I remembered what I heard from Sun Ah-hyun’s parents earlier.

-If you want to rest you can come anytime!

-… yes. thank you

Even if that’s the answer I have no intention of doing something so tactless as going in and out of Sun Ah-hyun’s house as I please.

‘still… ’

I turned my head to the side. There were a few of my photos printed as Polaroids and attached to them.

Some of the photos looked familiar. These are photos taken by Sun Ah-hyun and it appears she shared them with her parents.

“…”

So this wasn’t just a guest room it was a room really prepared for me.

Even if it’s not a hotel there’s another place for me to stay.

It really wasn’t a bad feeling. As if it were a real family home.

"…really."

When I think about it that way it really feels like a holiday.

I chuckled.

It was fun. This is because I was planning to do something truly holiday-like this vacation.

'Of course I'll have to take care of things first before that.'

I fell asleep thinking about the places I would visit tomorrow.

The guy in military uniform clapped his hands together seriously.

"So… why did you come to visit a terminally ill sergeant who will soon be discharged?"

"…"

Maybe I shouldn't have come.

I felt a brief shock as I faced Judan who was looking at me with strange eyes.

-Ah… Are you going to Mundae already?

You dared to come out of Sun Ah-hyeon's home where you were so warmly welcomed to visit a soldier. Isn't it ruining the cost-effectiveness?

"Oh I'm not saying this for the lowly purpose of getting noticed. "It's just pure curiosity."

"…"

“A visit and a home-cooked meal? “I have never helped Mr. Moon Dae to this extent.”

“Oh yeah.”

What a consistent guy.

I muttered shakily.

“I just came because I wanted to see you for the first time in a while.”

“…!”

Let’s go home.

“If it’s uncomfortable you’ll wake up soon…”

“Oh I don’t mean it’s uncomfortable.”

Judan quickly stopped me.

And he answered with a slightly excited face.

“Actually I think it’s almost like something to be thankful for. “For people who don’t make many acquaintances meeting a person is a big event.”

“…”

I thought I could see a glimpse of the expression of young teenage trainee Jung Woo-dan on the face of the guy who said those words.

This is the guy I had no doubt in believing would be a close friend of the member who would debut with him in the future.

‘I am indeed.’

In the end I sat down on the road.

“Still there seems to be a reason why you suddenly decided to see me… Is there a special reason?”

“hmm.”

Well it doesn’t matter if it’s this guy.

“I had a somewhat unique experience.”

After confirming once again that there was no one in the cafeteria of the visiting room I started talking without stopping.

“Not long ago… I received help from a senior trainee before my debut.”

“…!”

This is a recent experience where I became Cheongryeo’s status window during the 100th restart and met Judan from that time period.

Zhou Dan listened with interest to the supernatural story and nodded.

“Well it’s some kind of Jungwoodan from a parallel universe.”

If I have to express it that way… right.

“Hmm this is just my guess but… Then you have built up some kind of intimacy while receiving help from me and is this visit a kind of repayment?”

“…”

But not to that extent.

I didn’t know it might be similar.

“okay.”

Zhou Dan shrugged his shoulders.

“Unfortunately strictly speaking I am not the member of the Jeongwoodan group that helped Mr. Moon Dae. A person’s identity is formed through experiences and memories. “I have no memory.”

“…Oh yes.”

I held back a sigh.

okay. I almost knew you would say something similar to this.

But I didn’t expect what he said next.

“Still I think I would have made the same choice if I were at that age in a similar situation.”

“…!”

“In that sense let me admit it… I don’t remember it but it’s definitely something I experienced sometime in the past right?”

Zhou Dan nodded seriously.

“So I will accept Mr. Moon Dae’s words as an indirect memory. “That’s me.”

“…”

I am indeed.

You.

It might have been a bit touching if it weren’t for the facial expression that said ‘This is such a fun situation for me too.’

But… I can't deny that those words are like that guy's.

I laughed like I was out of breath.

"yes. thank you."

"you're welcome."

The guy said he had no memory and began to eat his food with a slightly triumphant look.

"Please tell me more about the details when you are discharged. "I will try to make my memories more concrete."

"Oh yeah."

He was a funny guy.

But somehow there was a feeling of relief as if I had finished a homework that had bothered me.

And as visiting hours were coming to an end.

"okay. "It's a belated holiday vacation."

As I move on to talking about my current situation the guy looks into space as if he is reminiscing.

"It reminds me of my first holiday vacation."

"How was it?"

"Jaehyun hyung came to visit the homes of all members including me."

"…"

"They said they stopped by to say thank you to the members' parents but it was probably for surveillance purposes.”

How clumsy?

“So aren’t you going to visit Jaehyun?”

“Well… look at the time.”

huh. I’m not going.

He is serving 6 months. Also wasn’t there too much fuss during the last visit to bother going?

‘It must have been a bit difficult to sort things out.’

It’s better for both of us not to go.

“Then do you have any plans for the rest of your vacation?”

“hmm.”

I smiled slightly.

Tonight.

It was exactly the time I had planned.

“It’s because I got leave for the holidays… I’m thinking of going to my family.”

* * *

March.

“thank you.”

Geundal Ryu Geon-woo looked back briefly as he left the district office where he had worked for several years.

Originally I was going to retire altogether. However after a meeting with his superiors he was placed on leave.

Apparently there were strangely sympathetic rumors about him due to family issues and the incident of absenteeism without notice seemed to be understood to some extent.

Still he couldn't avoid a few glares but since Geudal did his best to resolve the accident he caused he was able to issue a leave of absence notice in a good way.

So now the big moon… was free!

What should I do?

First he reflexively checked Testa's current status.

'Your brother is at Ahyeon's house.'

Since there was also a sighting at Lee Se-jin's house it seemed like the two members were planning to spend this vacation at their house.

Well it was a good thing.

'Now that I think about it the new season of <The Doll Hunter> is coming out soon!'

Then you will soon be able to see Testa's OST production.

Like that Geoldal tried to keep his mind light and hurried his steps.

But there was already someone standing in front of his officetel door.

"hi."

"…?!"

What I'm holding in my hands are autographed Testa MDs and albums.

My brother who was standing in front of the door grinned.

“If time permits let’s take a break together.”

Park Moon-dae came to celebrate the belated holiday.

Chapter 593

Just this situation.

Do you know the feeling that if you just get out of this situation everything will be okay?

When Keudal was still a student at Park Mun-dae he would often have this thought when he was alone with nothing to do sitting blankly on an old mattress in a moldy one-room apartment.

Subjunctive laws.

If you have parents.

If you have a family living with you.

If you have someone to talk to.

The family became smaller and smaller until it eventually became ‘if only there was someone’.

I used to think about what I would do if that were the case.

Of course the motivation and energy to spend on those meaningless thoughts faded away and disappeared at some point.

Maybe that’s why I realized it only now.

-Even if the situation changes I remain the same.

It was strange.

I knew that there was no longer a status window for him to help someone or a pop-up where he could freely chat with his brother.

But isn't there a huge difference in the environment compared to when I was a 20-year-old orphan lying blankly in that old studio apartment?

He now has a decent job and a home. It was no longer Park Mun-dae who didn't know how to do anything.

However even though the situation had changed so dramatically he did not feel particularly energized or motivated to move.

It was strange. Isn't this an environment where you deserve to be okay?

Why can't I do that and sit alone in my officetel and feel the same way as before?

In the end until the disappearance occurred he was unable to convince himself and gradually became as helpless as in the past.

Alone.

But now there was someone in the house.

"Are you eating japchae?"

"Oh… yes? yes!!"

"Then that's it."

Geodal looked blankly at his brother boiling glass noodles.

Testa Park Moon-dae.

My brother holding out a bundle of autographed Testa MDs and albums – some of the members even wrote letters! – had even gone to the grocery store.

'It will be a precious vacation!'

However without any time to feel sorry my brother moved quickly.

Cooking holiday food urging myself to unbox MDs and laughing at my own reaction as I open Testa's products…

"Let's turn on the TV."

"Oh yes!"

After eating and watching the program we chatted and brought up everyday topics.

"Did you handle the leave issue properly?"

"Oh yes! I am now on leave for one year starting today. "It's called self-development leave…"

Geoldal found himself sitting comfortably on the sofa chatting about trivial and meaningless things.

'ah.'

It's a feeling I've experienced before.

When suffering from civil servant status abnormality.

It's a similar feeling to when his older brother Tae-tae Chang-in comes back one day a year to ask how he's doing and check up on him while he's preparing for the exam.

The difference is that my brother has a body and I don't have to wait a year just because I saw him today.

-I guess I'll stay here for a few more days and then go up.

-… yes?

-Let's take a break together.

My brother naturally sat down as if he was visiting his parents' house.

And now he is eating a holiday meal from his brother and even watching him clean up the table…

"Uh I'll do it!"

"it's okay."

He waved his hand saying he was on his way home after a good rest and after he finished cleaning up the remaining food he even went out with us to buy ice cream.

And then he sits in front of the TV with ice cream in his mouth and casually asks questions.

"Is there anything interesting these days?"

"ah…"

Big Moon who had come here as if he had been swept away was a little embarrassed.

Actually I didn't do anything really actively this time either.

This is because after the Testa concert he devoted all his time to correcting his absenteeism.

He racked his brain and finally came up with one thing.

"That… Ah! "It's on WeTube."

A video that will put your mind at ease!

I saw it sometimes before going to bed.

Geoldal quickly operated the remote control and accessed WeTube on the smart TV.

However the first thing that appeared on the screen as a recommended related video was… a well-decorated stage video.

But he is an outsider idol.

‘Huh?’

Big Moon blinked and soon realized.

I came across this idol by chance while flipping through it but I remember looking at it closely. It probably appeared in recommendations because it took a long time to watch.

“Oh that group debuted around the same time as ‘Halo Haim’… They’re not that popular but their songs are good and they work hard!”

I felt tired gaze.

“Not Testa?”

“oh.”

Ahhh…

My brother chuckled.

“Do whatever you like. “Don’t worry about what anyone thinks or care about.”

It was as if the words ‘even if that someone were me’ were omitted.

“…”

ah.

Big Moon suddenly stopped.

The attitude that no matter what you do I won't be sad or disappointed.

I just happened to have a relationship with him so I felt pity for him and accepted him… that kind of feeling suddenly hit me.

'Why are you like this?'

I was embarrassed.

But as if he had sensed that my brother continued to speak vaguely.

"Are you suddenly planning to ignore me if I quit Testa?"

"…! "It can't be!"

"Look."

"…"

"So don't worry about who you support just do it."

And Geoldal slowly realized the true meaning of those words.

Whether he's a Testa fan or not that's fine.

because.

"You didn't even know me as an idol in the first place so why do you care?"

"…"

Big Moon nodded vigorously.

Still he mumbled.

“…Still I think I will continue to support Testa…”

Oh you know.

Testa Park Mun-dae burst out laughing.

“Actually isn’t half of the group you created?”

“Why am I making the class bro!”

“You made me debut.”

Park Moon-dae pointed to himself seriously!

“As the main vocalist I am Testa’s vocalist.”

“evil! “Why are you acting like this all of a sudden?”

Even while screaming that it didn’t suit him Keudal manipulated WeTube here and there.

My heart was light.

Then the same light question comes back.

“So… what should we do tomorrow?”

Questions about the near future.

tomorrow.

He was surprised because he came up with so many answers in an instant.

“…”

It was such an easy thing to do.

Just having an elder who is comfortable friendly and dependable with whom you can talk to your heart's content…

'There was something I wanted to do… '

For some reason he was so upset that he hurriedly calmed down his voice.

"So… um how about skiing?"

"okay."

And my brother accepted the offer on the spot and immediately completed the reservation.

In the late early spring the two of them had fun skiing rolling a few times at a quiet ski resort.

"and! "You're riding well bro!?"

"It's a spoiler for this entertainment show but we also go skiing."

"omg! In Part 2?"

We talk about what we want to say and exchange whatever we want without hesitation.

"Hyung night skiing call?"

"Let's go to intermediate level."

Geoldal became more and more comfortable and happy.

Even when I came home from the ski resort and brought up the idea of doing this and that again there was no hesitation.

Even when Testa's story was brought up he no longer paid attention.

“Ah the new season of <Doll Hunter>… It’s releasing tomorrow at 12 o’clock!”

“uh.”

“I have to defend the actual room then!”

“Where is the main broadcast on Net Plus… What is it?”

So the next day.

The two sat in the living room and watched the drama with leftover mung bean pancakes and kimchi stew made with japchae in front of them.

‘…It’s warm.’

The satisfying calm and stability made the tip of my nose tingle.

Big Moon blinked a few times to keep from crying and then looked at the screen.

“Press.”

“yes!”

It was a daily routine spent with family on days off.

For reference a similar situation was happening in San Diego USA at the same time.

8pm.

“Todo estaba muy bueno!”

After a long dinner the table of the large family was crowded with guests including the younger brother.

‘It’s been a while since something like this happened?’

Cha Yu-jin’s older brother Eden whistled as he cleaned up the dishes with his younger siblings.

As soon as he graduated from high school his brothers and sisters had already left this large family home and became independent.

However upon hearing that the second son who had become independent from home first was coming everyone except the younger sister who was in school gathered at the house.

Cha Yu-jin’s declaration of independence must have been quite unconventional.

-I’m going to Korea.

-…?

-I will become a KPOP singer there.

-Did you get hit on the head while playing American football?

This family is full of energy and spirit.

Among them his younger brother who had a strangely good sense eventually realized what he said.

I never thought I would come back with such success.

‘I even joked that if I came back after failing I would hand over the surfboard shop to that guy.’

Let us welcome him warmly just as we welcome the second son who runs away from home in the Bible.

Cha Yu-jin’s older brother who was rubbing his chin and thinking about that time turned his attention to Rae-bin Kim who was trying his best to help put away the dishes across from him.

'The fact that Eugene made many good colleagues must have had an impact on his success.'

They met closer than when they came with a camera a few years ago and even though time has passed they are still thoughtful and full of personality.

'These are trustworthy guys.'

It was clear to see that his sensitive younger brother liked it so much.

He skillfully took the plate from Kim Rae-bin and smiled and greeted her in Korean which was even better than Cha Yu-jin.

"Thank you for taking care of our mischievous Eugene over the past few years."

Raebin Kim was a little embarrassed.

"Oh no. "I am receiving help from Cha… Cha Yu-jin!"

"Hee hee!"

"…"

Cha Yu-jin passing by with a smile is disgusting!

However I couldn't bear to grab Cha Yu-jin's collar in the presence of her siblings parents and grandmother.

This is even more true if the old lady is even offering snacks to you…

"Toma unos bocadillos mi dulce!"

"That… Gracias!"

Cha Yu-jin's older brother passed by next to her squinting his eyes.

'I… am overeating… '

Raebin Kim took the cinnamon churros and walked slowly feeling like he was breaking out in a cold sweat.

Still he was having a vacation in San Diego for several days moving as much as he ate!

-It's okay to surf during the day! Raebin Kim gets in too!

-Ugh!

…I also learned to surf.

'Cha Yujin's dogs can surf too!'

Although he was a little nervous among the three noisy families as if they had been a large family from the beginning he adapted easily as someone who grew up in a rural area with many neighbors.

For your information Liu Chengwu adapted right away from the first day he arrived and now his Spanish skills have improved to the point where he has improved.

'also!'

Kim Rae-bin was impressed once again saying that leaders are different but then suddenly felt regretful.

'It would have been nice if the other brothers had come too.'

It was good but… it felt a little empty.

In fact wouldn't the gratitude he received from his family go to his brothers at a certain level?

'Because we are a group.'

Raebin Kim nodded inwardly.

…After seeing Sun Ah-hyun's display of testa products filled with sincerity his group spirit was at its peak.

But at the same time I thought of Bae Se-jin who was embarrassed by the video call that Cha Yu-jin made without warning yesterday and was holding onto the Spanish translator app.

-So… yeah. up? Me Allegro de Verte…

-Ohhh!

Cha Yu-jin who was cheering was really obnoxious.

…It seemed like it would be a more satisfying vacation to enjoy this time without Cha Yu-jin!

He nodded took a bite of churros and continued writing in his diary.

This is because if you write it down from time to time it will help you think better when you revisit it someday.

Of course even if that wasn't the case it became a memory.

-… So my grandparents boarded a cruise and I tried snorkeling with my older brother Cheongwoo. My brother skillfully navigates the current without excessive contact with marine life…

"Ravin let's begin!"

"Oh yeah!"

He quickly closed the diary he had been writing and ran out.

On the TV was Net Plus where the new season of <The Doll Hunter> had been released.

[Have you ever watched other seasons?]

[Of course! Eugene was so excited about it that I watched it as soon as it was released.]

Kim Rae-bin sat down next to Ryu Cheong-woo. Next to him Cha Yu-jin is sitting on the rug under the sofa.

"…"

At that moment Raebin Kim felt a sense of déjà vu from this composition.

-I'll play.

-… yes.

'ah.'

Steer's last activity.

I think it was like this when I watched their last music video.

Of course it was Steer's last lodging in Korea which was much smaller than this.

Raebin Kim Cheongwoo Ryu Yujin Cha.

It happened because a person was hit.

"…"

Kim Rae-bin turned his head and realized that Ryu Cheong-woo had been glancing at him and Cha Yu-jin before him.

"…!"

"why?"

"…I was looking around the living room!"

Liu Chengwu smiled and turned his head again.

But Kim Rae-bin thought without thinking.

Chung-woo said that he may have remembered those memories much earlier than he did.

Almost reflexively.

"…"

Raebin Kim almost digested the memories from the time of the steer while presenting the facts. Now it only remains in his mind like a unique event he experienced in the past.

Perhaps Cha Yu-jin did the same through the Water Bomb stage.

but…

'Did Cheongwoo have a chance to do that too?'

Raebin Kim thought deeply. This is exactly what I want…

It didn't come to mind.

'…'

He felt heartbroken for a moment.

Sometimes when circumstances come together incorrectly a person cannot easily escape from the past.

And sometimes unintentionally it pops up and harasses me or holds me back from moving forward.

Kim Rae-bin who is insensitive to other people's emotions also knew this…

“…”

‘No just a moment.’

Brother Cheong-woo recovered safely but the person sitting next to him could barely make eye contact and think he was so rude!

Isn’t the important thing that now the whole family can watch the members’ activities together?

‘Come to your senses!’

Raebin Kim is out of his thoughts!

After hitting his cheek lightly he focused again on the first episode of the new season of <The Doll Hunter> that was playing.

-This is hell. Are you looking for another hell in this life?

And I was instantly drawn into the drama.

Battle pain thrill fear… This drama which combines everything that resonates with emotions was very captivating and captivated people this season as well.

He listened intently to the content…

Deep.

I was surprised once more when Bae Se-jin’s character a medical student appeared in the main character’s second life and was killed.

“…!”

Part of it was because of his amazing and impressive acting skills but that wasn’t the whole reason.

‘The BGM… is our song!’

That's right.

This induced dissonance was Jeong Yi-sol's theme song 'misapprehension' which they created.

Even that wasn't the end.

'It's coming out again!'

When it first appears in the snowy mountains.

When you comfort the main character for the first time.

The music director cut and divided Testa's OST into all of medical student Jeong Yi-sol's impressive scenes.

And last.

-Aaaah!

In the scene where the main character discovers Jeong Yi-sol's body everything connects and creates tremendous synergy.

"…!"

Raebin Kim almost felt a shiver.

The pleasure of seeing someone else use a song you wrote in a new way and it fits perfectly as intended.

And apart from that the joy you feel when you see a perfectly composed piece of work.

"Yes! "This is a song we made!"

"oh my god!"

And this was also a common reaction from people watching Doll

Hunter.

Just one thing.

-What classic song is it when the doll hunter Jeong Yi-sol appears?

Only a very few people still knew whether Testa composed this song.

Chapter 594

“Tongue brother! “The response is really great!”

“okay.”

“Oh no. There’s so much fuss about the music being crazy? look!”

I looked at the comment package that Geudal had put out which was a collection of reactions to the new season of Doll Hunter (focusing on the OST).

– Jeong Yi-sol is finally tired

-Director what on earth did you change?

-Crazy Jeong Yi-sol BGM The last highlight is that it’s connected all the way. How on earth did they do this?

-Season 1 was also fun but while it was more focused on peripheral stimulation this season feels really well-made… Wow did they receive a lot of investment because Season 1 did well?;;

– Jeong Yi-sol What on earth is that last song a classic? ㅠㅠ There is an original song and it feels like an arrangement but no matter how much I search it doesn’t come up. What is it?

All of them are receiving rave reviews.

‘The director divided it up smartly.’

Who would have thought that the OST would be divided into scenes so that it could be used frugally and then throw in a perfect song in the final highlight scene? Testa didn’t know either.

Thanks to this my smartphone went crazy too.

-Keun Se-jin: Ah hahaha again the testa is amazing I can't believe it.

-Seon Ah-hyeon: I'm glad that everyone's hard work resulted in a good result. While watching the drama I was very impressed that our OST suited Sejin's acting well!

-Brother Ryu Cheong-woo: That's right I think the OST came out even better because Sejin acted well.

-Kim Rae-bin: That is a wise statement! Would it be okay to ask Bae Se-jin who played the character in question what he felt about this combination?

Bae Se-jin responded only after a while.

– Bae Se-jin: I haven't seen it yet…

– Keun Se-jin: ??

-Cha Yujin: wwwwwhy?

-Bae Se-jin: It's a holiday vacation.

-Brother Bae Se-jin: It's hard to watch me die while playing a psychopathic killer with my mother…

ah.

-Keun Se-jin: Hahahahahahahahahahaha

– Keun Se-jin: (I heard it and it's true emoticon)

-Cha Yujin: I avoided unfilial piety lol

-Seon Ah-hyun: You will be satisfied even after watching it. It was really great!

Well I guess so.

I also sent a link to a response post.

-Bae Se-jin: ?

[When Jeong Yi-sol appeared in the snowy mountain I gasped because he was handsome. Is it okay to cast a spell on a magic snail whose snowflakes look like flower petals? Bae Se-jin take responsibility. Take responsibility for this and that.]

The response was explosive.

-Brother Ryu Cheong-woo: Those are good words haha.

-Cha Yujin: YEAHHHHHH

-Kim Rae-bin: (applause emoticon)

-Keun Sejin: Haha (content capture)

– Keun Se-jin: I'm telling you to take responsibility brother?

In the end Bae Se-jin ran away.

After that he did not appear in the group chat room for a while.

Anyway the testers are already exchanging well-wishes like this.

'Of course this is possible because we know that we composed it ourselves.'

The fans' reaction was roughly like this.

-Didn't you say you composed the kids' OST? I couldn't hear the kids' voices. Did they just compose the song and give it to another singer?

-So what kind of song did you produce? I thought it was the episode in which Jeong Yi-sol appeared so I looked it up but her voice didn't match.

I mean I was reasoning and struggling.

Then some people started to realize it.

-This looks like a cappella Moondae and Cheongwoo no way (Jeong Yi-sol flashback scene video)

Oh

That's crazy

Ah hearing this makes me feel like Ravin. Am I mistaken?

-Now that I think about it the way it unfolds and the narrative feels like a testa song made by Kim Rae-bin… Wow no way…

Jeong Yi-sol's powerful theme song that drew all sorts of exclamations as soon as the season was released.

It's an atmosphere where one suspects with reasonable doubt whether Testa composed it.

Of course this excited reaction was tempered to a certain extent.

-Let's not make it a fait accompli and let's all calm down.

-The kids' entertainment show is coming out soon. It's not too late to go and talk about it then!

I was restraining myself to this extent.

But sure enough the cubs who had been waiting for this moment had already captured it and were making fun of it.

'I don't miss the number of cases.'

-Isn't it too much to make fans happy by adding testers to a song that doesn't even have vocals… lol?

-Please don't show off.

-I'm sorry but Testa did not compose all the music in the play. You may only know Oppa but surprisingly there is a music director in dramas…

ㄴㅋㅋㅋ I'm so sick of it.

"Um… I'm talking about what you're seeing right now."

"Well it's no big deal."

Without any hesitation I turned off the smartphone screen and threw it away.

This is a story that won't last long so there's no need to get upset.

"Other people will care."

"…??"

Are there just one or two officials keeping an eye on this?

I got up leisurely.

And two days later at midnight.

The Testa entertainment production team unable to bear it any longer released this pre-release preview.

[Hot Drama Doll Hunter Season 2]

[And Testa a KPOP addict who composed the OST…]

[Are you curious about what kind of OST it is?]

Various OSTs and theme songs from Doll Hunter played one after another on the screen passing through cuts.

And just when the viewers were guessing and excited.

[Among these the OST composed by Testa is…]

[※doesn't exist!※]

-??

-What are you talking about?

And on the screen testers with serious faces sitting around and having a meeting pass by one by one.

[Bae Se-jin: I hope you trust me and try to edit the song.]

[Lee Se-jin: We're not a group that goes half-heartedly and says 'This is enough' right?]

[Park Moon-dae: We need to pick something that will give people goosebumps and be shocked the moment the OST plays in a drama.]

And in the close-up camera.

Bae Se-jin who had quietly closed her mouth amidst the white noise suddenly opens her mouth.

[Bae Se-jin: What do you think?]

The screen goes dark.

And then a single flowing string instrument rushes in running towards the dissonant sound and suddenly bursts out mixing with the acapella.

[Testa's Workshop PART.2]

That's right.

The production team openly played Jeong Yi-sol's theme song in the pre-release.

Take the lead!

-????

-Mi□;Chin

-It was a testa.

-Jjinim?

And the viewers also exploded.

Before the day had passed news of Testa's composition began to spread through communities and social media platforms where people wanted to talk about the entertainment industry.

Of course including sales comments from fans.

[This is crazy this is a test]

[Idol participated in a drama OST but there are no lyrics?]

[Character theme song composed by the actor]

I chuckled.

'It would have been fun if this stayed a little longer.'

How much could an anonymous OST composer have been promoted by criticizing Testa?

'Rekka must have asked more excitedly saying it was similar to the Byeolbyeolgok account incident.'

Then it would have been possible to attract attention by properly attracting domestic aggro but…

‘There are rebound side effects so this level is just about safe.’

Now was the perfect time.

The production team is happy to have received so much attention that it has helped to put an end to the controversy that arose in Part 1 and the ＜Doll Hunter＞ side is happy to have been able to promote the drama once more.

And Testa…

-Can anyone tell me more about the KPOP band called “Testa” that composed this masterpiece of ＜The Doll Hunter＞? Because I also saw their tour article. The attempt to combine it with VR was amazing!

Welcome! Testa is a great band. They create the most comprehensive artistic performances and songs.

I also saw an article about their concert tour and I’m thinking of purchasing a VR streaming service…

You will never regret it!

An image of a ‘unique and bold attempt’ to establish oneself overseas.

It has become more solid.

In any case if you go global you have to capture the right demand rather than popularity.

From this concert tour which tried all kinds of new and conceptual things including worldview and choices to the OST which composed a powerful classic with only a cappella without lyrics or vocals.

Now Testa is just strengthening its features.

“Bro here… look at this! “There was a post posted on an overseas forum!”

“oh.”

The overseas reaction that Keundal sometimes gave out in excitement was like that.

And the story came to me too.

‘I’m sorry you’re on vacation but I’ve received a request to release an OST album.’

‘The director snooped that he wanted to somehow try using the vocal song that Testa originally composed.’

I guess it can be summarized in these two things.

To summarize… everyone smells.

‘This explodes.’

It was a rowing movement when the water came in.

Testa can definitely create synergy.

I lay down on the sofa.

‘That’s it.’

Everything I was aiming for is over.

The foundation has been completed.

Now one proper comeback.

All it takes is one comeback from Ryu who is very decisive and can explode with momentum… The goal is just around the corner.

‘good.’

There will be a lot to do after vacation.

It was then.

Keundal who was carefully watching the clip from the first episode of Testa’s composition entertainment show asked as if he had suddenly remembered it.

“Brother but why is the title of the song… ‘misapprehension’?”

It was a question about the title of Jeong Yi-sol’s theme song that we composed.

hmm.

“The meaning of that word is ‘misunderstanding.’”

I responded by recalling the situation in which we were talking at the time.

-The character in the main character’s delusion becomes more and more distorted until it reaches its conclusion so I want to bring out that feeling of disharmony more.

“…so. “I decided to deliberately choose difficult words rather than titles that can be recognized immediately at a glance.”

-I thought it would be fun to look it up and think about the song title one more time.

“Because it would better suit the theme of the song.”

“Oh…”

Big Moon searched furiously and nodded his head.

“and! That… I think it’s really cool. “I will find it and find out for myself.”

The guy’s eyes lit up.

“…”

And suddenly I was convinced of a guess that had occurred to me before.

Big moon.

This guy likes to dig.

Of course this does not mean actually digging the land.

I enjoyed recognizing and discovering things that were not easily visible and could be overlooked without notice.

Just like I was looking for a fancam of a performer who was buried without recognition but was putting on a passionate performance with his soul.

‘gun1234’.

It becomes even clearer when I think about how he held on for a while without becoming helpless while watching the stages of unknown singers that I posted on that account.

And considering that this guy was a status window…

hmm.

“Park Mun-dae.”

“……yes!”

“Are you interested in scouting or something?”

“…yes?”

I saw the guy.

“Find out kids who want to work hard but aren’t doing well sponsor them etc.”

“Uh since you said so… Yes! “I think it would be great!”

Geodal seemed to be worried but quickly agreed.

“In fact it’s like my brother supported me too…”

What are you talking about?

“no. “You not me.”

“…??”

therefore…

“Are you interested in developing new celebrities?”

“…!?”

“Our company is really in need of such personnel.”

The big moon opened its mouth and looked at me.

“If you’re interested let me know.”

“…!! Ah no!!”

It took a moment to see the guy yelling at me asking how he could do something like that.

“I’ll think about something else.”

“okay.”

Finally the words came out.

The guy had a nervous face but he seemed strangely excited somewhere.

I never expected to hear something like this from myself but when I actually heard it and thought about it it seemed like many thoughts came to mind.

And that didn’t seem to be a bad thing.

‘hmm.’

Perhaps in the near future a competent person will be found.

I smiled inwardly and looked at the guy.

Then I suddenly remembered one more thing I had been thinking about before.

“By the way why don’t you talk a little bit too?”

“…?!”

To be honest I was now embarrassed to even be treated with respect by the youngest members of the team.

That’s because one guy is a foreigner and the other guy is… well I guess that’s because it’s Kim Rae-bin.

Still even Big Moon is freaked out.

“Time to think about that too…!”

Are you coming?

“Just think about it until your next vacation.”

“…! of course!”

I think I understand what you mean by coming here next vacation as well.

I chuckled when I saw the guy stumbling for some reason as he went to check the dryer.

Still it seems like it has become a lot more comfortable.

Of course a lot of time passed while sitting in this officetel.

‘The vacation is almost over.’

There is only one day left.

I picked up my smartphone to see if there was any special news for the other guys.

There was no big deal.

Kim Rae-bin seems to have become attached to Cha Yu-jin’s family and Ryu Cheong-woo seems to have competed in a volleyball match with Cha Yu-jin’s older or younger brother.

And Eun Se-jin went on a short domestic trip with his mother.

It seems like Sun Ah-hyun met Bae Se-jin briefly.

‘It’s okay.’

Overall the vacation ended peacefully.

‘Tomorrow I’m going to buy some new rice and make some royal tteokbokki.’

That was the moment when I was about to close my smartphone.

“…?”

There was a short text message.

To a guy who is not a member.

-They said it was a vacation.

-Enjoy it.

“…!”

And the attached image.

-D-40

Countdown.

“…”

40 days.

That was a notice of VTIC discharge.

Chapter 595

“VTIC… Discharge notification text?”

“yes.”

“Why am I sending you something like that?”

That’s right.

I nodded when I saw Bae Se-jin whom I had met for the first time in a few days. The other guys who came back from vacation are also sitting around the table with mysterious expressions.

‘I guess everyone’s doing well.’

Everyone’s faces became blemished and the trio who went to America even became a bit spotty.

‘Those three seem to be feeling a bit better.’

All I need to do is take good care of my skin.

Anyway as if my fighting ability had recovered after a good night’s rest the story of my discharge from VTIC brought me strength back to my eyes.

This has always been Testa’s biggest barrier since his debut.

A first-team idol who was constantly at the top while we crawled steadily from a senior who could not be compared to a competitor who could slice and dice the pie of the popular group.

VTIC will soon step into the game.

“Well as you all know… it was already decided when the VTIC seniors would be discharged from the military in the first place and we took that into consideration and made a good plan right?”

“Ugh!”

“Then I think it would be better for Mundae to just send something like ‘Good luck senior~’ and ignore it and just do our best… But!”

Big Sejin smiled bitterly.

“But since you bothered to tell us let’s at least check what we know!”

Are you coming?

I opened my mouth.

“What is the comeback date of VTIC seniors that we expected?”

“June 12th.”

The answer comes without hesitation.

Because.

“This is VTIC senior’s first No. 1 date!”

This was also the reason why our activities overlapped with VTIC when we debuted. Those bastards made a comeback by picking meaningful numbers.

“The gap was long and we all thought that if there was such a meaningful date around… there was a high probability that it would be this time.”

“yes.”

Measures such as adjusting the release date in consideration of Billboard scores can be adjusted by the teaser release date etc.

‘Anyway the first release of content will likely be on the 12th.’

This is for fandom unity and impact.

And until that day… there are only three months left.

“So we will definitely make a comeback around May.”

“That’s right~ VTIC seniors have an advantage over us so we have to choose the right time!”

“I have a question I would like to ask about that…”

Raebin Kim raised his hand. It seemed like he had been thinking about it carefully for some time.

“I’m curious as to why the VTIC seniors decided that it was more advantageous!”

It was simple.

“Ravin. “When was our last activity?”

“Uh… so it’s January! “I had the great joy of receiving a lot of love for my fan song and unexpectedly even getting to participate in broadcasting activities.”

Raebin Kim answered in rapid fire.

“And recently I’ve been looking out for fans and the public through entertainment shows!”

“okay. “I was active consistently.”

“yes!”

I looked at Raebin Kim and nodded.

If so.

“Now think of two pieces of music you like. “I happened to hear those two songs on the street one day.”

“yes!”

“But imagine that there was one song you could hear every day and another song you only heard after 18 months.”

“…!”

“Which of the two would you be more interested in at that moment?”

I nodded.

“If you apply the same thing you will find the answer.”

This was a question of rarity and a question of human psychology.

The boredom that the public feels about VTIC which has accumulated years of experience has disappeared and the guys have become happy and fresh.

‘In layman terms it’s said to have become cool.’

Of course if awareness does not reach a certain level it is all nonsense.

Gap? It just ends with being forgotten. Especially if there are substitutes it is even faster.

But VTIC’s recognition went beyond that.

‘I hate to admit it but the position is also unrivaled.’

There is still no substitute in the same series.

But do you expect that your form will drop after returning from military service and all expectations will cool down? What kind of happiness circuit are you running around with these guys who even produced their album right after being discharged from the military? I'll ride it all.

Moreover it is highly unlikely that his capital and planning skills will have deteriorated since he took control of his agency LeTi.

Besides that.

"Actually… we also played a part."

"What?"

"We have sorted out all the rookies who could be competitors so there is almost no fandom leakage from VTIC."

"…"

"We… lived really hard."

That's right.

'You did a really good job of keeping the rookies in check.'

It was a side effect of overlapping fields. Good job for you rival.

Keun Se-jin who had stepped on Ether while awakening his trait to EX naturally laughed heartily.

"Our seniors have benefited from us! "Thank you for watching it would be great if you could take a good rest this year and not make a comeback~"

"haha…"

Of course that can't happen. Even those bastards can't stand a gap period of more than two years. He will try to come out quickly.

‘But on the other hand if we can’t go into the second half of the year after their comeback Bae Se-jin will go to the military first before receiving the Cultural Merit.’

How funny would that be if Bae Se-jin were to receive service next year after enlisting? ‘A male idol with bad timing’ or something like that would become a hot topic.

On the other side Ryu Cheong-woo calmly refines the conversation as if he were organizing it.

“okay. “We have prepared by considering even the worst-case scenario so we will go without wavering.”

“yes…!”

“That’s right.”

I looked back at the faces of the guys as they strengthened their will once again.

Next comeback.

Everything from the title song choreography to the intro to the included song has been decided.

If all goes as planned…

‘At least I’m not pushed back.’

I was confident that no matter what they brought they wouldn’t chase after me.

Just attention.

How can we keep our presence from being overshadowed by the VTIC guys who will come out just one term later?

“So I thought why not add some strong marketing?”

There are small reactions here and there that agree with what I say.

Opinions too.

“How about entertainment…?”

However I have to refute this.

“I already used it once for the <Doll Hunter> OST.”

“ah…!”

I heard that the number of views is still going up.

It would be a shame to have another drink here as there is a problem with the timing.

Moreover there is one crucial problem.

“The PD said he was taking a break.”

“…??”

An article appeared.

[PD Jeonghamdo announces sudden break…”Time to think about tomorrow”]

The representative producer of the entertainment company we were working with made a statement saying “I will take a break for a while to think more about this matter and reflect on it” and took a dive.

‘Somehow I was emotional and sent a thank you text to Bae Se-jin.’

“I see…”

“Wow you’re hot.”

“So then we can’t produce content together in the future?”

“At least for a while.”

Besides actually doing it again with this person doesn’t fit with my current goal.

‘There are some people who believe it and see it… ’

It’s such a comfortable feeling. It is ambiguous to use it to keep in check those who are making a full comeback after 18 months.

What Testa needed now was impact not familiar pleasure.

‘The thought of… ’

I started doing it when Cheongryeo sent me a text message.

Even before that when I interviewed with the entertainment production team I had vaguely made a plan.

Pioneering a new marketing content route.

Something groundbreaking.

“So how about this?”

“…??”

I showed him an email I had exchanged with the company.

The moment a famous name appears in the address the members blink.

-Thank you for… We look forward to your positive reply.

“Is this…?”

“Content creators who would like to be nominated as an alternative.”

To be exact I found it after searching through a year’s worth of contact proposals that came to the company.

“Oh!”

In an instant members are glued to the email screen.

And it quickly became noisy with cheers of admiration and suspicion.

“Are you really doing this here?”

“How do you come up with these ideas every time?”

“I knew it would be like this. “Mundae hyung always think about the answer before you ask!”

“Is this an insult?”

“No! “It’s a compliment!”

Of course there are some people who give me strange looks.

“That door seems to be working every time it needs to rest.”

“…I did it after taking a good rest.”

I only worked for one night.

Anyway if we look at the overall reaction…

Very okay.

I looked at the guys burning with desire and challenge and nodded willingly.

“I’ll tell you to contact me.”

“OK~”

‘With this we will strike first.’

I saw the guys scattering away laughing after the meeting ended.

It’s great to see how motivated this guy and that guy are.

‘If this marketing is successful… ’

It was then.

“ah. It’s Mundae. “Would you like to come here for a moment?”

“Oh yeah.”

When Liu Chengwu called me I naturally went into his room.

‘He said he had something to give.’

As expected the guy was touching his bag as if he was rummaging through souvenirs.

But when I entered the room I zipped my bag.

“…!”

It was a fake.

To avoid attracting attention from other guys.

“Close the door first.”

That’s not unusual.

I closed the door quietly without protesting.

Liu Chengyu in front of me did not look embarrassed or angry.

However he quietly handed me his smartphone.

“I saw this when I entered the country today and I was curious about your decision.”

“…”

“I’m going to tell the company.”

I quietly picked up the smartphone and looked at the screen.

It was a capture of a WeTube video with roughly 450000 views.

[Another 1st group idol member who is a prince who can’t control his addiction! What photos did you post while on vacation?]

“…”

For reference the thumbnail is like this.

-ㅠㅠYou guys don’t have anything like this right?

-I went to Lee Se-jin’s house first but why am I uploading the authentication? Because I have a golden spoon^^

…was written in red calligraphy in a speech bubble next to Sun Ah-hyun’s face whose eyes were covered with black tape.

“…”

What is this bullshit?

I’m on the verge of losing my temper.

‘It’s a cyber wrecker.’

There were many factories like this these days.

Of course it was frustrating.

However it doesn't happen for a day or two that we get criticized for rumors and anyway things like this get beaten up by fans before they even surface.

Even Sun Ah-hyeon and Gwanjong? It has to be a suitable keyword for the public to respond. At this point there is no such thing as just AI random matching.

'Is this… a threat?'

I looked at Liu Chengwu with trembling eyes.

I wouldn't have been so busy that I wouldn't have known that it would be okay to just quietly file a complaint with the company and ignore it.

But Liu Chengwu remained calm.

"Do you want to keep watching?"

"…"

"Turn the page."

hmm.

I moved my hand at Liu Chengyu's glance.

The capture screen changes.

But… it doesn't end.

"…"

The day before.

The day before that.

And on and on and on.

[Sun Ah-hyun's greed for being a luxury ambassador makes even her team pay attention]

[Bullying during school days? The reality of Sun Ah-hyeon who was said to be An Ha-muin's chief]

[Is it you again… I'm tired of Sun Ah-hyun's image-making attempts and failures!]

It was coming up every day.

If not every day at least three times a week. Even if it's just once every two days I somehow squeeze in it and write about the same topic consistently.

The topic kept coming up for several months.

[Sun Ah-hyun's amazing skills of choosing Cha Yu-jin's ambassador brand outfit without knowing it]

[Sun Ah-hyun's creepy SNS posts that are sincere about creating a golden spoon image]

Be persistent.

Persistently.

It's as if he staked his life on this.

"…"

"Go to the front again."

I turned the page without saying anything.

Now I know what he wants to say.

[450000]

This number of views.

At first glance it seems like there is a bit of aggro involved.

It's not a controversy worth worrying about but it's just a figure that can appear once in a while due to the value of Testa Sun Ah-hyun's name.

However if you look back at the number of views of the initial video of this damn WeTube account that was uploaded a few months ago.

[30000]

The number of views increased more than ten times.

Gradually step by step over the course of half a year the persistence of these crazy bastards was being rewarded.

Gradually growing in size.

"…"

'Fuck you.'

Where did these bastards get from?

Also the timing… no fuck.

"You know. "The intro to our new album."

"…"

"Ahyun is single."

Just right for biting.

* * *

Same time.

The quiet JSA located in the demilitarized zone.

-Brother then we will use up all of our vacation time and come out two weeks early to prepare!

“okay.”

Cheongryeo responded calmly to Chaeyul’s cheerful voice.

They lived without any problems in the military and were quietly preparing to be discharged.

It is easy to manage motivation by instigating and encouraging more excitement during the first period of activity for a long time.

“The fans must have been waiting for a long time so we are moving forward quickly.”

-yes!

It’s so clear.

Cheongnyeo clenched her chin.

In physics there is something called complexity theory.

It looks complicated like a series of coincidences but in fact there is a hidden order within it and principles and order can be discovered.

But in fact it was similar in sociology not physics.

People are such predictable beings if we can understand their nature with enough care and detail.

The members are not subject to inertia. It also leads us to do our best to make a perfect comeback.

-D-40

If you put that much pressure on your competitors you may need to refine your own plans even further.

So in order to achieve better results he will look for flashpoints that will create buzz.

In the end it will all be returned to good nourishment for this group.

Of course even he couldn't have predicted this reply.

-Park Moon-dae: Yes good luck to you senior.

Cheongryeo grinned as he opened the soulless reply again.

"This probably isn't the time to cheer for me."

VTIC will not be making a comeback on June 12th.

Their comeback date is…

It was May.

Chapter 596

Looking back it seems like these types of kids have been especially good for Sun Ah-hyun since ＜Azusa＞.

It's not just about who they don't like it's about kids with a strange mental world who feel resentful that Sun Ah-hyun being recognized is an unfair thing that can't happen.

But this is also new.

[Testa leader's cider remark because he couldn't stand Sun Ah-hyun's shameless pretense]

'Sun Ah-hyun please risk your life and take action to become X.'

This is not the level of gathering together and swearing.

I don't even know where to start and what to say when I see people pouring their soul and passion into creating rumors and saying 'Please just get caught.'

'Fuck you.'

I pressed my painful eyebrows and watched the WeTube video capture.

I also understand why Ryu Cheong-woo showed it to me first before putting me in the company.

'It's a gesture asking the members to seriously consider this from the moment they pick up this story and submit it to the company.'

Then things inevitably get bigger.

This means that before that let's review whether the method is right.

I turned the page again suppressing the urge to hit someone on the head.

As soon as the vacation ends all sorts of things happen.

'first of all… '

Cyber Wrecka spreading rumors.

'Due to the nature of the WeTube platform reports like this don't work well.'

But that's it.

If there were bastards who were persistent like this every day I would have known about it a long time ago. Why didn't I know?

If she's this bad shouldn't she already be anti-Seon Ah-hyun?

"wait a minute."

I raised my palm to Liu Qingwu then took my smartphone and went into the account spreading the rumor and looked through it.

"…"

And then I realized.

Why didn't I specify this?

'It's not just the story of Sun Ah-hyun.'

[The creepy meaning of the photo that Mirinae Jeong Yul-gi couldn't bear to post]

[Comprehensive review of Halo Haim's villain Lee Soo-hee's diet!]

This didn't seem like an anti-account full of malice toward Sun Ah-hyun like it did when there were only captures.

It just looked like a bad quality account that spread entertainment industry gossip which is commonly seen on WeTube.

Moreover look at the crazy amount of uploads of at least three or four issue videos per day.

The frequency was visible because Ryu Cheong-woo only captured Sun Ah-hyun's story but in reality it was about one in five or six videos on this account.

In other words it looked like an ordinary cyber wrecka account.

"…"

Liu Chengwu waited until I had properly looked at the actual account and then calmly asked.

"how is it."

I was silent and then opened my mouth.

"It seems like you used your head and decided to do it."

"…!"

Isn't this just a vicious sniping attack from all directions?

'no.'

This was more dangerous.

Sun Ah-hyun and general entertainment industry rumors.

The two were of different types.

‘They mixed it up cleverly on purpose.’

“Other rumors have already become issues elsewhere even before this account posted them.”

“…”

“Only Ahyeon created a new one and put it in.”

What happens if the rumors about Sun Ah-hyun created by this idiot are naturally inserted among famous issues?

“Ahyun’s story seems like it was just a rumor.”

“yes.”

Sun Ah-hyun’s rumors are also naturally treated as a ‘hot issue these days’.

Moreover it is common for accounts to address such issues of poor quality in the entertainment industry.

‘There are a few accounts that have hundreds of thousands of views not hundreds of thousands.’

So at this scale it just appears to be ‘one of the somewhat popular entertainment industry Rekka accounts’.

So what happens to people who mindlessly come across this rumor video?

-Is there a rumor like this about him?

-There are so many… hmm

-I didn’t know but it’s a bit obnoxious and different on the outside and the inside? It’s a feeling

“…”

It seeps in like that.

And slowly factory-type cyber wreckers began to appear unconditionally copying the video contents of famous cyber wreckers and stitching them together.

Then a rumor created from scratch will turn into a real controversy and issue.

[What is the truth about the controversial Sun Ah-hyun ambassador controversy?]

If several people are talking smoke can come out even from an unopened chimney.

"…"

Fuck you.

I deleted the search term.

'Ryu Chengwu got it right.'

If this had been overlooked Sun Ah-hyun would have suffered for a long time.

"Originally there is talk that it is best to quietly ignore things like this and then deal with them when they cross the line… but I was wondering if I could get rid of them without growing them."

Liu Qingyu smiled bitterly then sat down on the bed and hugged him.

"If it were a problem that only had to catch one person that would be better."

It's a wise decision.

Just… that's it.

“That’s it.”

I silently scanned the screen.

“This is not the same person.”

“…!”

Think about it.

Shoot three or four videos every day?

Even if he didn’t make it up and brought up an existing controversy wouldn’t he be able to do that on his own?

Even though Sun Ah-hyun’s controversy is something she made up herself she cannot script it find appropriate videos insert them and edit them for impact like this.

“Factories that use AI have unnatural connections and grammar but that’s not the case.”

“…”

“So if you think about common sense in terms of the time and labor that a person can use…”

“It means several people.”

That’s right.

Even though there was only one account holder this was a group action.

These are people who are probably excited by the sense of belonging and the pressure of having to take responsibility if something goes wrong is dispersed because many people are together.

“But regardless of that I think it’s right to tell the company as you said.”

If I bury this it seems like it will explode even bigger later. It would be better for the company to quickly find a legal route to respond. of course…

“Okay then let’s do that.”

The ending of this report is also roughly predictable.

I watched Liu Chengwu talking on the phone with a somewhat mixed feeling.

And after some time.

“You already knew.”

-Yes… That’s right.

Ryu Cheong-woo receives a response from the company saying ‘This account was already being monitored.’

‘okay.’

I knew it would be like this.

Fans have already taken the PDF and reported it to the company several times.

‘It is much more likely that Sun Ah-hyun’s fans knew about it before us.’

And it seemed like it had already been a few weeks since the company confirmed it.

However it wasn’t as serious and reckless as when I was with T1 and I was neglecting it due to factional fighting.

There was a practical reason for that.

-We looked at how these accounts reacted to lawsuits before and as a result of the lawsuit… they actually made videos.

"…"

Oh I remember that too.

[Younglin's agency makes a sudden move! Issue: What is the truth about Youngrin's plastic surgery that they tried to suppress because they were afraid of YouTubers?]

– So I'm afraid that this will be promoted in this way because it's a sting…

"I understand what you mean."

It's simple.

Even in a country like the United States where suing is easy and common why aren't paparazzi invading privacy eliminated?

'It's more profitable to pay the fine and keep filming.'

Because there is more money.

Similarly when an account like this starts to get a few hundred thousand views it is much more profitable to just pay the fine and continue to operate it.

Is there no goal in my life that would bother me with a red line? There is no reason to be scared.

'They should have made the fact that they were sued into content to attract aggro.'

Moreover those who are targeting Sun Ah-hyun so persistently will be happy and try to use this as an excuse to further escalate the situation.

This is the perfect opportunity to put the created controversy on the water.

‘If I had been conscious of it the logic would be that the agency would sue my video.’

And although it may sound like X the reality is that there are people who are intrigued by those words.

Companies can also be fooled by that trick so they need to be careful.

-First of all we will make better preparations so that we can respond immediately.

“yes.”

Still since we have urged this once we will be able to respond quickly if a situation arises such as if this controversy grows out of control.

A slightly bitter look flashed across Liu Qingyu’s face as he hung up the phone but he soon regained his calm and strength.

“Well let’s find out more about other methods.”

“yes.”

Of course it will.

But before that wait a moment.

“brother.”

“huh?”

I asked Liu Chengwu in passing.

“You said you don’t normally see things like this. “Internet controversies.”

"…"

"I was wondering how you happened to see it."

He had been monitoring properly before.

However it was just an attempt to listen to the fans' stories not a way to predict figure out or avoid 'what controversy will arise'.

'There was no need for that.'

To begin with it wasn't a part that Ryu Cheong-woo was strong at and there was no need to encourage him to do it when I and Keun Se-jin were in it.

I met the gaze of Liu Chengwu who had closed his mouth.

The guy laughed slightly.

"Well I just remembered it on my way into the country and tried it and I found it by chance. "It was fortunate."

"Um yeah."

hmm.

It was an acceptable answer.

What does that mean…

'I just said it in moderation.'

I know.

During Steer this guy saw the group getting caught up in various rumors and controversies and he fiercely defended it and worked hard to lead the members.

‘And the memories from that time still remain.’

So the monitoring ability has improved dramatically? I understand.

But still.

‘Being able to do something and doing it obsessively are two different things.’

I’m the same type as Keun Sejin so it’s okay to just look at them.

Normally I do this without much trouble. It’s enough to change your mood and manage your mentality without looking too far into the water.

But isn’t it true that this guy doesn’t like me in the first place?

I’m not sure if it’s such a positive sign to be so concerned about this.

That too on a plane returning from a pleasant vacation.

But if I had to say it in detail like this people would think ‘What are you talking about that you wouldn’t have known if it weren’t for me?’ so I just slapped him on the back.

“Brother please take some time to rest. “Thank you but I’m sorry.”

“There’s no need to… Okay. “Thank you Mundae.”

Liu Chengwu chuckled and moved on without any awkwardness.

‘I guess I’ll have to observe this guy’s progress.’

“Then shall we find another way?”

ruler. Now it’s time to take action.

“You mean that.”

I nodded to Sun Ah-hyun who was looking at the diffuser she made during her vacation with a bright face and nodding.

For reference Cha Yu-jin heard that it was her gift and tried to refuse it in advance but was secretly beaten by Kim Rae-bin and Bae Se-jin.

“I guess we don’t know for sure yet.”

“I see.”

“First of all can I ask you to make sure Sun Ah-hyun doesn’t notice? “I don’t think it would be good for the person involved to find out.”

“of course.”

Liu Chengwu nodded coolly and I continued speaking seriously.

“Besides that I would like to ask you to do everything in real life.”

“…huh?”

I nodded solemnly.

“I want you to take charge of reality. “While I look at my smartphone.”

“…hmm. “It’s a door.”

“yes.”

“So… let’s try another method using the smartphone?”

“yes.”

Liu Chengwu was silent for a moment and then opened his mouth.

“Well I don’t think you will but… in a case like this you should not forget that it will be more difficult if people find out that a member of the same team posted anonymously on the Internet.”

“…”

You didn’t think that would happen right? His face is full of doubt and concern.

I immediately shook my head.

“no. “I have no intention of posting anything on the Internet.”

“…?”

What I’m going to use is a different method.

I cracked my neck.

It’s not one person it’s a group.

Rather good.

“Because I’m not alone in this there are ways that work.”

I’m going to clean everything up before the comeback.

One afternoon in March.

An anonymous group message room.

-Angry Wapichi: Today’s supply ends.

-Shameful Grape: Thank you for your hard work

-Leo is happy: ㅊㅊ

-Toasting Tubon: It’s really amazing. Let’s do our best and do our best until the end haha.

-Angry Wapichi: LOL.

Encouragement comes and goes as if you are working hard on a group assignment or team project.

However the moment you see the notice posted the average person will stop.

[At least one weekly resource for parental controversy is required! If the impact of the hit is insufficient it will be cut at the head of the room]

It's not like there's constant bickering or crazy nonsense plastered all over the room.

A strange sense of malice passes through ordinary conversation.

-Toasting Tubon: I hope it becomes the #1 most popular post on the bulletin board as soon as possible. Please give me some firepower!

-Leo wearing sunglasses: I will apply until the day my father retires…

-Leo is happy: Hahahahaha

They are in harmony with each other.

This is because everyone shares similar emotions.

Because it was filtered out to receive only those people.

Since its creation this message room has only occasionally received people from remote anonymous bulletin boards in the large community where they originated or through secret SNS account connections.

A person who can keep up with the trivial old controversies and stories of that community.

If such people follow the correct answer they can find out the address.

It was filtered and filtered using a complex method so that people could only access it if they passed through all those awkward gateways.

And total anonymity was maintained.

As a result responsibilities were blurred and dispersed and the fun of wielding power and chatting with people who shared the same feelings became more fun.

A sense of belonging in a group.

Efficacy in influencing many people.

The fun and superiority of taking down a common enemy you hate.

– Happy Leo: During Parent Fashion Week he pushed Cha Yujin down and rolled his eyes pretending not to be like that.

-Leo is happy: It's really cool but do you think the number of views will be good this time? (slow video)

A few newbies who came in quietly also joined in.

There is a series of reactions like overusing consonants laughing and being excited to somehow use more impressive and refreshing expressions.

And among them there is a newcomer from last night who naturally passes by.

-Happy Lion: LOL

"…"

Moon-Dae Park.

Completed infiltration into anonymous KakaoTalk room.

Chapter 597

A rumor video slandering Sun Ah-hyun and even the production of provocative and cruel issue videos of other famous celebrities that will become the basis for it.

-Pale Grape: Where did I get my parents' nose done? The shape is different from when I was in middle school. Also I wonder how much it costs. (Photo)

-Leo wearing sunglasses: Oh just looking at it it looks like it will collapse within 3 years.

-Tubone is happy: If Byeong Ah-hyeon is psychological she must have regretted spending money on plastic surgery because she couldn't play the Golden Spoon cosplay haha.

-Angry Wapichi: Hmmkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk.

'Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk' and laughing emoticons are rampant.

The people in the anonymous KakaoTalk room ended their day by just giggling without any tension or excitement. While chatting comfortably and happily.

And there is a real person quietly staring at it.

"…"

Moon-Dae Park.

"…So you're in that room now?"

"yes."

Liu Chengwu was speechless for a moment.

Of course Park Moon-dae had no history of being deeply active in the remote community where only the most twisted antis of Sun Ah-hyeon gathered.

‘How can you function if you go all the way to that point and monitor it?’

So how could you access their anonymous KakaoTalk room?

It’s simple.

Anyone could do it.

‘Just search and find it.’

It was something he was particularly familiar with.

When he was Ryu Geon-woo he never felt a sense of belonging or wanted to be active in the idol community. He just wanted to sell the data at the market price.

Therefore we tried to understand only the core atmosphere and flow within it as much as possible from the outside and of course we developed the ability to obtain only that as quickly as possible.

‘That’s search.’

And now after living as a monitoring idol for about 7 years that ability has become persistent and accurate.

Park Mun-dae rubbed his chin and twisted his mouth.

There are ways to find things that aren’t included in search engines.

‘These are people who use sites that don’t even have a feature that prevents them from being searched.’

There was no need to be that picky.

Of course Sun Ah-hyun's anti-rumor generators also had brains. This means that they routinely carry out their own 'search prevention' measures.

Whenever they posted twisted keywords hints about what they were doing and chat room addresses they were deleted shortly after.

But untrained people leave traces everywhere.

Especially if it is a computerized Internet.

'It's an emotional thing but of course loopholes emerge.'

-When I see kids who swear by their parents' names because they are pretty I think they got shot in the head.

ㄴㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

□Seonah 1Hyeonㅋㅋㅋ Isn't it embarrassing to suck on the name that will appear in

Something like this.

'I mentioned your name.'

Once the derogatory nickname they gave to Sun Ah-hyun is revealed the search can be considered half-finished.

"Still such posts are usually deleted."

"Even if they delete it the search engine saves it."

"…!"

Even if a page is deleted search engines cache the contents of the page on their servers for a certain period of time.

Kindly so that the searcher can see at least past records.

‘I’ve been doing this with Sun Ah-hyun for about half a year so the cache storage period hasn’t even ended… ’

“You just need to focus on that area.”

Then it comes out.

like this.

-No address in Okabang? Haha.

Solve the problem here (link)

Of course there were already many links that were not accessible. The first three page caches he found were all busted.

But if you search persistently…

‘there is.’

Live links are also bound to appear.

And it is easier to find the answer to the ‘keyword problem that only we can know’ which we decided to filter out in our own way.

‘The psychology of these bastards is obvious.’

Just from his perspective he thought ‘This is really complicated! I was just satisfied with the thought ‘You won’t find anyone who isn’t us.’

But there is nothing that cannot be found if you search for it.

‘There are keywords in the question as well.’

So if you change the page address a few times.

-… okay.

Moon-Dae Park started by purchasing the machine and extracted the address in 13 hours of basic work.

So… he can now access the rumor-positive group chat room using his personal computers.

Park Moon-dae finished his quick recollection and shrugged his shoulders.

“If you do it anyone can do it in one day.”

“…”

‘That can’t be possible.’

Of course like a person with good composure Liu Qingwu steadily suppressed the urge to refute.

However I cautiously opened my mouth about other topics after considering them a few times.

“Mundae. Still I have to get out of there quickly. “I don’t think it would be safe if I used your phone number to get in here.”

“ah.”

It’s a personal issue.

Idols have also had vicious stalkers who even extract smartphone usage records.

However I didn’t know what would happen the moment it was revealed to someone that member Park Moon-dae was directly in Sun Ah-hyun’s rumor-generating chat room.

Liu Chengwu tried to slightly narrow his eyebrows in anticipation of the quickly forming outline but…

“it’s okay. “It was created by obtaining a virtual number through an app.”

“…?!”

“I got the American one… Anyway.”

Park Moon-dae did not explain in more depth.

He nodded as if to just know that there is a way to everything.

‘It’s my personal image so of course I have to protect it.’

It was the most important.

“…”

“And this room will stay here for a few more days.”

“…Aren’t you going to capture it and publish it online?”

No I don’t post directly on the internet…

Park Moon-dae briefly looked shocked as if he had failed to gain Ryu Cheong-woo’s trust but then shrugged his shoulders.

“That’s because such public deliberation is not as effective as expected.”

-A chat room where antis of famous celebrities gather and plot a plot is now open!

…is something that happens so often that hard-core Internet users get tired of it.

There were many people who said they were sick of it.

‘The chances of it being treated as a fight between fandoms and buried are quite high.'

It's not irritating.

Well it's not easy for the public to be able to handle something like that let alone a day or two.

Besides that also applies to the people in this anonymous KakaoTalk room.

We've already seen this happen many times so the leak was somewhat expected so it won't be a big hit.

'In fact they will become closer together.'

The thought of being persecuted only intensifies their antipathy and immersion so they may band together and do crazy things.

In order to avoid that… a more delicate method was needed.

To uproot it.

'Let's see… '

Moon-Dae Park watched this chat room for about a day and came up with a list.

-Angry Wapichi: Haha upload completed

From the looks of it this guy was the owner of the Cyber Rekka account.

-Leo is happy: Just die lol

This kid was the loudest and loudest.

Besides that we have finished understanding the flow.

“You just have to wait a little bit.”

After looking with satisfaction at Ryu Cheong-wu who quietly closed his mouth he turned his attention back to the anonymous KakaoTalk room on the screen.

‘The foundation has been laid.’

Now let’s go in.

He raised his hand and took out the first piece of rice cake.

The group chat room entered a brief lull after ‘Today’s Quantity’ ended.

– Toasting Tubon: I’m so angry because of my parents that I can’t get my hands on things ㅠ Why does that kind of pretense work… It’s unfair ㅠㅠ

Joyed Leo: An idea for you like that. Process and money are the triggers these days.

-Leo is happy: Seon Ah-hyeon ballet principal <-Is this something that is being done in a way that involves getting involved with the parents and giving them money? Honestly there is a real possibility.

Angry Wapichi: Oh good

Toasting Tubon: Haha wow!

Amidst the profiles that comfortably and cheerfully express absurd feelings of inferiority and malice a slightly ponderous article creeps up.

quietly.

-Happy Lion: But I don’t know if I can upload this.

It was a new person who came in a few days ago.

-Pale Tubon: ?

-Shameful Grape: Tell me what it is

Then the profile that had been hesitating appeared in the chat.

-Happy Lion: (Capture)

This is the Cyber Wrecka account they run.

This is a WeTube video posted 2 or 3 years before the owner started running this channel in earnest.

[The geography of the dancing prince is class testa Seon Ah-hyeon]

Praising Sun Ah-hyun.

-Happy Lion: This is it.

For a moment the group chat room became cold.

But things were quickly resolved.

-Angry Wapichi: No problem.

-Angry Wapichi: I hated making that lol.

-Shameful Grape: Ughkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

-Pale Tubon: This is recognition.

The happy Lion answered obediently.

-Happy Lion: Yes.

-Happy Lion: I was wondering if it was for another purpose and I made a mistake;

-Shameful Maintenance: What is the purpose?

-Happy Lion: I wonder if you are working here to promote other groups or members… Or is it really for commercial purposes?

-Angry Wapichi: ?

-Angry Wapichi: Wow I feel bad.

No matter how anonymous it was there was conflict there.

'It won't go back without me right?'

'Angry Wapichi' who runs the account himself confidently poured out his anger on 'Happy Lion' and tried to deal with it by labeling him as a Buntang squire.

'I'm the head of the room!'

It was a time when I was about to feel the taste of power that could only be used here.

-Angry Tubon: ?? This is a bit ridiculous

-Angry Tubon: It's true that you're doing it for the money haha.

"…!!"

Suddenly other newcomers started running wild.

-Angry Wapichi: Knock out the trouble maker

-Angry Tubon: Haha I'm getting kicked out.

-Angry Tubon: With that number of views I would earn a ridiculous amount of about 1500 a month but they didn't even mention it to the people who actually work here.

Fifteen million won!

At that moment people watching the chat flinched.

I vaguely thought that this would make a profit. But hearing the specific amount gave me a different feeling.

Don't you even have a stake in making that money? That's how they started the Sun Ah-hyun rumor!

It was a large amount of money that was close enough to naturally and quickly lead to greed.

-Angry Tubon: I thought everything was agreed upon but it seems that wasn't the case.

And one additional word.

-Angry Tubon: Happy Leo? This person really takes charge and does everything. I feel sorry for him.

'…'

And 'Angry Tubon' seemed to have said all he had to say and stopped chatting.

No he disappeared from the chat room.

-'Angry Tubon' left the chat room.

It was belatedly that 'Angry Wapichi' forced him out.

But instead it was a handshake.

It felt like I was being stabbed and my mouth was being covered.

-…

A silence where no one posts a chat.

‘Oh fuck.’

However Cyber Rekka did not open its mouth to explain.

Of course it was a shame to let go of such a large sum of money.

Why would he operate a Cyber Rekka account in his own name?

‘Because it’s a lot of money!’

Other people may not know this but for him ruining Sun Ah-hyun was more of a side hobby.

It is a truly exhilarating experience to see a rich and proud bastard become X in my hands but that is not everything.

The data coming from this free manpower was more important.

‘You can’t try to appease this here and then continue talking about sharing the profits!’

If you distribute all these people whose nose will you put it on?

‘I tried to avoid it and make excuses to crush it… ’

It had to happen somehow.

So I reacted like this instead.

-Angry Wapichi: This is really ridiculous haha…

-Angry Wapichi: Don’t contact me for a while.

-Shameful Grapes: ㅠㅠ

Then several people joined in as if to comfort them. They were people who were emotionally dependent on this place and were unable to make good judgments.

‘it’s okay!’

But it was too early a relief.

Of course his shamelessly angry attitude had negative effects.

-Leo is delighted: Wait a minute

-Leo is happy: Let’s talk a little more about what I said before and then go.

‘…!’

The other person’s sarcasm was offended.

-Angry Wapichi: What do you mean?

-Leo is happy: We almost thought of volunteering.

-Leo is happy: I think it’s time to talk about making a profit.

‘Fuck you!’

The account holder gritted his teeth.

What kind of word like volunteering is used to create celebrity rumors? They do it to their heart’s content because it’s fun but they take all the risks themselves!

It was when he was seething with anger.

-Happy Lion: Why don’t you calm down a little and explain a little for Leo’s sake…

-Toasting Tubon: ㅠㅠAgree

“…Huh?”

Explanation?

‘no… ’

I couldn’t believe they would dare question me. This is just common idiots who are nothing if they don’t have their own WeTube account and are attacking people pretending not to be greedy for money.

‘All the crazy people rolled their eyes… ’

His pride was greatly hurt and he was nervous that his profits would be taken away so his eyes rolled back.

-Angry Wapichi: What is the explanation? It’s really funny to see people being cornered.

It was that moment.

-Leo is happy: Wow is that money really a waste?

Pop.

Cyber Wrecka’s hair eventually turned white and he began tapping on the keyboard.

Like when he insulted Sun Ah-hyun.

-Angry Wapichi: You’re a bastard

-Angry Wapichi: Eter you’re trying to kill Sun Ah-hyun by sucking that fucking idiot.

“…!!”

expose!

Just like that the group chat room began to descend into chaos and dog fighting.

Money betrayal sniping from all directions!

-Joyed Leo: Does it matter who I like? Haha there must be Cha Yu-jin's group and Park Moon-dae's group. Haha toasting grapes too? This guy sucks.

-'Cheers Grapes' has left the chat room.

There is no one to say 'Let's restrain ourselves from this and do our best' which is a natural part of a healthy community.

It was created because there was no such person in the first place.

The acts of cursing questioning and sniping at each other continue like that.

Dozens of chats were uploaded and after a lot of activity we ended up here.

-Angry Wapichi: I don't know but if you tease me you can just leave haha.

In the middle of all the chaos 'Happy Lion' disappeared from the chat without saying a word and quietly returned to his position as a spectator.

'hmm.'

Park Moon-dae lifted his fingers and looked at the group chat room being destroyed with satisfaction.

'That's it.'

destruction.

Next to him there was another air system that had already been removed from all chat rooms.

The open profile said ‘Angry Tubon’.

A few days later.

[We are reporting the creepy behavior of a cyber Wrecka account targeting Sun Ah-hyun (325)]

Sun Ah-hyun’s anti-group chat room was destroyed.

In addition some people who were offended by Cyber Rekka’s sarcasm even moved the target of their revenge from Sun Ah-hyeon to there.

So they took it into their own hands and made it public destroying the opportunity to unite again.

“Now all we have to do is hand over the materials and quietly sue them one by one.”

“…”

Data Pal continues to win!

Chapter 598

I read the exposé with satisfaction.

The birth and destruction of the Sun Ah-hyun rumor creation room were summarized in a very impactful way.

‘It’s only natural that one of the guys in the room wrote it down himself.’

It seems that the techniques he developed when creating the Sun Ah-hyun rumor were poured into this with even more anger than before.

-Still these days Sun Ah-hyun’s strange shorts have been on the rise and it’s these people that give me goosebumps.

-I also run a subcontract factory at Wrecka Garbage.

What kind of subcontract are the haters swearing at? That’s a more shady piece of trash than Rekka that makes money.

-It’s a pit of dog waste with all kinds of evil dogs so it’s funny that they only criticize Wrecka.

Did you get a Rekka account?

I don’t know because it’s anonymous but it seems like they are also in the mix but it was really shit to see them picking on each other.

I leaned back comfortably in my chair.

What was more important was that they raised it themselves rather than that the public discussion itself was effective.

Because it’s the end.

‘Now these guys will never get together again.’

Then cursing and creating rumors won’t be fun because it won’t be as comfortable and effective as before. I’ll just stop withering.

And there may be people who go out of their minds and join other groups again and do stupid things…

‘Before that get the complaint first.’

All you have to do is sue him without saying a word before he gets offended.

hmm. That’s neat.

I nodded and then looked back at Liu Chengyu who was quietly looking at the screen with me.

it serves him right. I don’t post anything on the internet.

They all self-destruct on their own.

“…Mundae. “Can you tell me how this happened?”

That’s it.

I shrugged.

“They are people who gathered for the fun of criticizing idols they have never met in the first place.”

“yes.”

“Then we can easily swear at each other. “Because they have a great sense of victimization and lack patience and self-control.”

It’s easy to collapse because there are people who risk their lives to bring down others just because they feel bad.

It allows you to bite the most senior and successful person in the group.

‘Even so it’s just a cyber wreck… ’

In any case it is because of their own hierarchical relationship.

I muttered contentedly.

“If I was alone it would have been more difficult but since there were a lot of people it seemed like it happened quickly.”

“…”

Cyber Wrecka who is now left alone will not upload the Sun Ah-hyun rumor video. Because she doesn’t want to do good things to the Sun Ah-hyun antis who attacked her.

Although the people in that room might react a bit harshly to the issue of celebrities they said they liked.

For example… me.

‘I might get a little angry… ’

“…”

Actually I had a rough guess.

According to statistics there is a high probability that there is a malicious personal fan of someone related to Sun Ah-hyun in that room.

And considering the situation of Testa who is not very close to other groups it is most likely that they are members of the same group.

So it’s not strange. That’s true but…

‘He’d rather criticize me for not being able to please him properly.’

I don't know why the antipathy shifted towards Sun Ah-hyun. It tasted a bit bitter.

'…Anyway.'

Let's come back to Cyber Wrecker.

Now no matter how much he runs WeTube alone. The quantity and quality will be lower than when several people do it.

'If it was like that from the beginning everyone would know that it's not fun like a ghost.'

Soon the number of views will plummet and it will not be selected by the algorithm so it will go out of business.

That's how it ends.

"Cyber Wrecka will disappear even before we file a lawsuit. "Because there is no money."

"…"

"So the idea was that if I sue slowly it would be completed."

Liu Qingyu's face became mysterious for a moment but soon became calm again. And he nodded as if he understood.

'Are you really convinced?'

Is this because he persistently carried out rumor monitoring when he returned from vacation which he didn't really want to do and brought in the Sun Ah-hyun rumor?

'It feels a bit cheap.'

I think Ryu Cheong-woo is thinking 'Why didn't I do this well in steer?' for no reason.

So I finally figured it out and added the following.

“Actually I’ve seen how these people move many times before and made a rough prediction.”

“before?”

“…You said that when you were Ryu Geon-woo you took pictures of idols and sold them. “That’s it.”

“ah.”

Ryu Cheong-woo let out a small laugh as if he remembered the time when I said something embarrassingly like ‘What kind of person was I before Park Moon-dae?’

“that’s right. I remember. “My brother said that.”

Are you coming?

“But it’s a door.”

why.

“That… doesn’t seem like there’s that much of a connection?”

“…?”

What are you talking about?

Liu Chengyu sat next to him.

“Originally you knew… um did all the people who sell idol data do this like you? “Like digging up rumor videos.”

“…”

I thought briefly.

“That’s not it.”

“yes?”

Those guys are just… business bastards.

Rather than worrying about such detailed market trends he would have preferred to follow the schedule of a popular idol and catch up to the airport to get one more ticket.

‘But I’m an aspiring civil servant and the job was both a part-time job… and actually a hobby.’

I just skimmed a little to read the flow of the idol version in order to make a little more money without the risk of being red-lined for violating the idol’s privacy.

“The difference is experience and environment.”

But Liu Chengwu shook his head.

“I don’t think so.”

“…!”

“This is just something my brother has… um. Should I call it aptitude? “I think it’s a specialty and a strength.”

He looked at the air instruments I used for this job.

After handing over all of the captured content to the company the devices had been formatted twice and were now stored on a bookshelf.

Things I haven’t let go of for these few days.

“There’s the issue of ability but the average person can’t do this much for their team members. “Having to look for words that are difficult to find for over 10 hours… is not as easy as you think.”

"…"

Liu Chengwu grabbed my shoulder.

And patted it gently.

"It was a difficult method for companies to use but you were able to solve it by stepping forward."

And he said it seriously.

"It was really hard. And… you did really well."

"…!"

It is a firm and sincere compliment.

I was speechless for a moment.

I never expected to hear Gong Chi-sa so directly and resolutely.

To be honest I thought Ryu Cheong-wu would be shocked. Actually I thought I had that kind of reaction this time too.

Actually I didn't handle it fairly but I infiltrated anonymously among those guys and secretly created a rift between them.

As for me the other person is acting like X anyway so I'm just being cautious that if it's not inhumane why use any means?

'If it were Ryu Cheong-woo around the time of his Testa debut… '

Some words of admonishment would have been added before or after such as 'Still it would be better to refrain from doing such dangerous things.'

'Because he's a guy with clear lines.'

But this guy who even remembers his experience as a steer… didn't do that.

It ended with just a cool compliment.

He's still a healthy relaxed and mentally strong guy… but I guess I should say that the standard for judging values has changed a bit.

Strangely the range of the line was distorted.

It's more honest colder and a bit extreme.

'…'

But the funny thing is that this episode is more similar to my values.

So to be honest… I didn't feel bad about this situation.

Is it possible to feel bad when someone sincerely acknowledges a problem that one has worked hard to solve?

'I can't say why you only praise me.'

It's not like I'm arguing.

In the end I hesitated and answered like this.

"…Thank you."

"what."

The guy smiled and took his hand off my shoulder.

It was good up to that point.

Until the next word is said.

"But there's no need to tell Ahyeon."

“…!”

“Things were handled well. I don’t think there’s any need to tell someone that they did this because they hate that kid. “It could just lower morale for no reason.”

“…”

hmm.

I was already worried but you gave me time to say something.

I didn’t show a straight face.

Instead he hit the guy on the back.

“Since when did you start thinking so much?”

“…!”

“Whenever you tell me not to think too much and just talk comfortably.”

I’ll take it back to ancient times.

I patted him on the back again and then grinned.

“Ahyun probably isn’t that weak-hearted. “Just have some faith.”

Look.

That evening.

“…so. “The complaint is in progress.”

“I see…”

I sat Sun Ah-hyun down and gave her a concise explanation of ‘How did you start your rumor-mongering period?’

The guy is nodding his head intently listening to my story without protesting.

He didn’t seem that shocked.

‘I knew so.’

However there is an important point here.

‘You just have to go with the clear premise that those rumor-mongers didn’t necessarily hate her because she was Sun Ah-hyun.’

This is because Sun Ah-hyun is somewhat afraid of being hated by those around her for doing something wrong or not doing well.

The point is that you need to be fully aware that they are just a bunch of guys who have fun disliking someone without any legitimate reason or incident to dislike you.

As long as you keep that.

Surprisingly this guy is resistant to indiscriminate criticism. It is not easy to get hit by some kind of bullying and break down.

And as expected Sun Ah-hyun accepted the situation gently.

“I’m telling you this in advance because I’m afraid you’ll be embarrassed when the news comes out later that they’ve been sued.”

“Ugh.”

Sun Ah-hyun nodded vigorously once more and added as if she had finally figured it out.

“So Mundae was constantly looking at new smartphones.”

“…”

That’s correct.

“Oh Moon Dae and Chungwoo did something like that… But you didn’t even open your mouth to the other members and told them only after everything was taken care of. Can I use the word ‘talk in advance’…?”

“…”

But why is this guy who is not even a party to the party meddling from the side?

“I’m kidding!”

Big Se-jin grinned and sat down between me and Sun Ah-hyeon.

“It’s not like Moon University took the risk of handling it all on its own… I think they did it brilliantly because they were confident right?”

That is also correct.

“Then I should praise you first. Oh my Mundae is amazing! “That’s cool!”

“Stop it.”

“I don’t like it~”

I clenched my fists.

Then Seon Ah-hyun who was raising her hand like Keun Se-jin quickly noticed and lowered her hand.

“…”

“Do it.”

“Ugh!”

The guy laughed.

“Thank you Mundae…!”

“Honestly companies aren’t as good as Mundae!”

I could see trust in their eyes. To be honest I thought I would hear some criticism but I only heard good things about Ryu Cheng-wu so…

Let me tell you it felt pretty good.

‘hmm.’

I will accept this lump hug as it is not summer.

I endured palms hitting my back and head.

Ryu Cheong-woo who was watching this added.

“But since the person involved is Ahyeon if you don’t want to sue now you can stop.”

“Oh no! I will do it. Because… if I don’t do it those people might be mean to others again.”

“…okay.”

Liu Chengyu smiled faintly as if he was a little relieved.

“If it bothers you tell me anytime. “Ahyeon.”

“yes…! But. I’m not that worried…! “It’s not true and everyone says they don’t believe it.”

Sun Ah-hyun smiled brightly.

“And this is how I heard it explained.”

“…okay.”

Liu Chengwu nodded.

The look that seemed cool or a little lost in thought quickly disappeared.

‘Is it all sorted out?’

Not long after he was skillfully tearing apart Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin who were fighting again.

From what I heard it looks like a fight broke out over asking Cha Yu-jin’s older brother for advice on some English lyrics.

“Raebin Kim! I’m good at English too! “I don’t need Ethan!”

“The vocabulary I use feels different!”

For your information Bae Se-jin is out on a promotional schedule related to <The Doll Hunter>.

The drama which was a huge hit overseas again this season was constantly having new schedules which was draining the guy’s stamina.

‘Exercise.’

That’s the only answer. I will not continue to stop Ryu Cheng-wu from dragging Bae Se-jin to the luggage.

Anyway whatever.

‘Well… it’s going according to plan again.’

I nodded as I looked at the dormitory that had regained its stability.

However it didn't last long.

This is because a big event that will sweep away all these petty thoughts will hit me in the back.

That evening. An emergency message comes in from the company.

"…VTIC won't make a comeback in June."

-… yes.

"…"

'Fuck really.'

The head… doesn't give me a chance to rest.

As I closed my eyes I heard Big Sejin's voice.

"teacher! "I'm sorry but this means that the VTIC seniors will be coming sooner rather than in June right?"

-First of all the story has already been reported in the media… Unless there is a sudden change in schedule yes.

Gulp.

The employee shouted swallowing his saliva nervously in the midst of a disaster in the middle of the night.

-That's right the May fix!

"…"

There was only one sentence that filled my head at that moment.

'X done.'

“Please wait a moment! Then… VTIC seniors’ comeback will be within 1 to 2 weeks of our comeback.”

So that is.

As soon as she got home from work Bae Se-jin’s face went blank after being struck by lightning and then she muttered as if she realized something.

“It’s the same as when we debuted.”

“…!”

“Yes! that’s right!”

At that time Testa and VTIC released albums almost at the same time and their activities overlapped.

However one thing is the opposite.

“Back then we went in a week late.”

“uh. Testa went in with a bite.”

I remember how we managed to match the score and win first place on the airwaves.

I pressed my eyebrows.

‘…Are you saying you’re going to give it back in the same way?’

In this case VTIC will take flight using the head of Testa whose firepower has weakened after the initial period as a stepping stone.

It explodes a topic that has been dormant for 18 months.

“…Would it be better if we postponed it and hit June?”

“It’s still breathtaking. And… you know. marketing.”

“ah.”

Big Sejin wiggled his eyebrows and nodded.

Due to the schedule of ‘marketing content’ brought in this time it was almost impossible to postpone it to June.

“Then we have to start with marketing…”

“no.”

“yes.”

Moreover if we barely make it to June and go in behind VTIC our name and weight class will not be in a rising position but our image will be damaged.

Then fuck this…

“…”

“…”

“Should I make a bet with Moon Dae-moon University’s VTIC senior to make him come back later…?”

“I don’t know if something like that will work.”

“Yeah… I just tried it too.”

The moment when obvious words are exchanged.

Cha Yu-jin raised her hand.

“Just release it! I am confident in the album we made! What matters is it’s real. “If you’re strong you can win.”

“…!”

“Raebin Kim aren’t you confident in our song?”

“Of course there is! But when you guys are worried like that it’s too easy to say…”

“no. “I agree.”

Bae Se-jin came in.

“When it’s time to go to the military you go. It doesn’t matter if you don’t get the cultural medal. “It’s okay to go this year.”

“brother…”

Liu Chengyu looked around and then back at me.

“I heard that’s true?”

“…”

Are you coming?

“Honestly… I’m also confident in this album.”

“…!”

“I am more confident in pushing ahead rather than changing the schedule and ruining the content based on what my competitors think.”

“…then?”

I twisted my mouth when I saw Gae

good night.

Come in and have a look.

“Let’s go as scheduled.”

And after some time.

The intro was released as planned.

[TeSTAR ‘Intro: Sunset’ Comeback Trailer]

A cut of Sun Ah-hyun’s gorgeous face holding a parasol staring through the lens filled the screen.

It was a powerful thumbnail.

Chapter 599

“after.”

Kim Rae-bin’s personal fan or rather this fan who has a strong affection for the group as well.

She moved to her PC after seeing the Testa WiTube account upload notification that appeared in front of her.

My fingernails clicked against the mouse.

As always during comeback times anxious anticipation pierced my heart.

‘Kim Rae-bin already appeared in the solo intro once before so it would be impossible to do it again… Oh I don’t know. ‘Do it for me!’

Isn’t it natural that the guy who made the food knows how to eat properly and the guy who made the song would express it best?

Moreover it was a really important time. She who was sticking to her attitude of ‘I don’t know everything just please let Kim Rae-bin do well’ felt it firsthand.

Because… there were subtle indicators coming out.

‘The number of followers of the named translation account almost tripled.’

For reference the translation account here was not an account that converted English to Korean but an account that translated Korean activities into English.

In other words the number of foreigners wanting to check out Testa’s news has increased.

Global demand was especially close to an indicator of fan growth.

Even now it's tour season.

The fact that metallurgy and metallurgy increased so much even though it was not a proper activity period… meant that there was more latent demand that had not yet been revealed.

'I heard that foreign kids who took interest in the tour and went all the way back to Testa's activities and created accounts.'

Just by looking at my SNS timeline I could feel some movement.

That created a strange sense of tension even among fans.

I feel like the timing has come.

In fact Testa has clearly built up elements that will appeal overseas and has achieved results.

Starting with <127 Section> game collaboration movie participation entertainment… Because each major piece of content had a global incentive and charm.

Thanks to this Testa's overseas fandom is no longer lacking compared to his weight class.

However there has never been a case that exploded so hotly that it completely wiped out the issue.

-Ah… I think this is only one point of difference!

If there was no possibility at all it seemed like I would never know so somehow it felt even more tantalizing. It's frustrating for no reason.

In that sense this is what fans felt the moment they saw that this tour was receiving rave reviews from global critics and spreading word of mouth.

-This… If I do it well it will explode right?

Because it wasn't a baseless reaction.

In the first place it would not have been possible for Testa to gain the image of a 'conceptual singer-songwriter group making unique attempts' through the tour without the content they have steadily accumulated.

It also meant that efforts to equally satisfy both overseas and domestic audiences were not in vain.

This made even her a little nervous.

'No… If I'm doing this the All Fans will already be drinking their fill of kimchi soup.'

Originally I would have been worried that if Testa became more popular overseas they would naturally neglect their domestic activities and focus on concerts and other things…

'Well unless the company suddenly takes over I guess that won't happen?'

Surprisingly even individual fans with somewhat extreme tendencies like her were no longer concerned about that.

Now not only are they not part of T1 who are so rich but can't do their jobs the chances of that happening are even lower as the guys who were trying to create content even when they were part of T1 have gone independent.

So I was always attracted to doing better here.

'Considering that I almost lost my mind during Epic due to people saying I lost my original intention and all that… do well.'

Testa has been active non-stop for several years.

I hope this group can really explode like crazy this time rather than languishing or ending up as a dud.

"…"

Kim Rae-bin's fan hoped for something a little sentimental without even realizing it.

"Oh what!"

Immediately after that I got sick of it and pretended it wasn't the case and got out.

'Let's see the intro!'

And I accessed the Internet militantly but…

I saw something I didn't want to see.

-All VTIC members are temporarily discharged… 'Return to work at this moment.'

"Ahh! seed"

He was a VTIC discharged engineer.

Idols who won the grand prize and the Billboard award were discharged together as a group on schedule? Naturally it was receiving public attention.

-He came to bring discipline to loose K-pop.

-You guys are crazy for meeting your discharge date… I can feel the venom up to this point (this is a compliment)

-Guys I heard about 18 months of savings.

VTIC has not yet announced the exact comeback date to the media only mentioning that they will 'see you soon'.

However everyone predicted that it would come out within this year.

She wiggled her eyebrows saying that if she had that much time she should just move to the company.

Anyway after taking another deep breath.

“after.”

The moment I was about to watch Testa’s intro music video as I had originally intended…

This time I came across a short spoiler on social media.

‘No ha.’

About the main characters in the intro.

-This intro is Seon Ah-hyeon and;ㄴ

“…”

‘Was it him?’

I also didn’t give it to Raebin Kim.

Promoting Kim Raebin and doing old school hip hop or making money is the shortcut to becoming a global loser but you idiots don’t know how to taste it.

Raebin Kim’s personal fan tapped the PC in a bit of annoyance.

“eww.”

Now out of frustration I was thinking of leaning back and just quickly looking at it and moving on.

But the moment I look at the thumbnail.

“…”

She too was momentarily speechless.

A moon-like face floats brightly against a background of clear and cloudy flowers and grass.

Rays of light seeped through the gap between the parasol he was holding and were scattered around his cheeks chin and eyes.

So even the slightly lowered eyelids are very elegant… There is no such thing as a famous painting.

It was an aesthetic that could seduce even Sun Ah-hyun who is not particularly fond of it.

‘The face… acknowledges it.’

Irritability is gone

She finally hit the play button.

Then a landscape filled the screen in front of me.

“…!”

A spring day’s garden or nature elegant and bathed in light unfolded as enchantingly as an impressionist painter’s landscape.

Butterflies and birdsong.

[Toutes les couleurs ont ton nom.]

Through the gap a narration written in French whispered like a song.

Accompaniment comes in slowly.

And subtitles.

-ALL THE COLORS

HAVE YOUR NAME.

The white text soon disappeared and the beautiful background shimmered like a watercolor painting again.

Eventually a tall dancer wearing a white costume breaks through the static colors alone.

‘ah.’

This is Sun Ah-hyun.

Wearing a costume that looked somewhere between a dance uniform and slacks he crouched down and then stood up with steps that drew elegant lines.

And open your mouth.

[Morning glory

Everything is dyed purple

I smell it

I can’t stop shaking]

The arms and legs moved nimbly and gracefully to the ends of the limbs drawing a circle.

“…”

All of that movement spread across the screen at a dramatic and perfect angle.

A solo dance in the light.

[My blue is gone

I'm not sad anymore

That blue bird is you]

An overwhelming sense of artistry as if a famous painting came to life.

The screen was filled with a feast of all kinds of colors like the lyrics that delicately recall the rainbow colors of the prism one by one.

And the pure white Sun Ah-hyun boasted a surprisingly eye-catching presence yet seemed to melt into the scene.

So much so that I can't refute why Sun Ah-hyun appears in the intro.

[From green to gold

My feelings are ripening

With all your times]

Sun Ah-hyun stretched out to the square of the screen her fingertips shaking slightly and gently pulled her arm.

Then at the tip of that finger someone's hand comes into the screen…

'uh?'

What appeared beyond Sun Ah-hyun's clasped hands was the black ballerina's hand.

Sun Ah-hyun gently held the ballerina and danced the pas de deux together.

however…

[Until your cheeks turn red]

Breathe together

I keep meeting you And then Eden]

“…”

‘It’s crazy.’

A black ballerina moving with Sun Ah-hyun.

That wasn’t a person.

It was a mannequin with delicately connected joints on a black torso.

Sun Ah-hyun was able to pull off the recoil of the joints with only her own strength and technique and performed it as if it were a pair dance.

From penche to pirouette.

Like lovers.

[Your last color is]

The screen which looked like Monet’s painting on a sunny day gradually became more red and more colorful and emotional as the song progressed.

And the climax.

The angle of the camera gradually moves sideways along with the dancer’s movements.

Before we know it Seon Ah-hyun standing in front of the water is moving.

[in the Sunset]

Carefully and sincerely.

Sun Ah-hyeon slightly raised her feet above the water.

And then without hesitation he takes steps gliding across the lake.

“…!!”

[Red is yours

your color your name]

Explosive dramatic and beautiful chords rang harmoniously in my ears.

The mountains and wild flowers on the other side of the lake shook.

Red sunlight poured into the water.

[It’s dazzling than the morning

Come and kiss me]

Wherever my feet touched a parabola formed and the sunset shimmered.

Sun Ah-hyun danced passionately on the water with a torso dangling a disheveled bouquet of flowers.

[(Red is yours)

The sun sets

Even when the moonlight falls

[With unforgettable colors]

And this is where the thumbnail scene appears.

‘ah.’

Sun Ah-hyeon gently put her hand under the water and took out a stick wrapped in a white cloth.

Parasol right away.

However it is not for your own use but for politely putting it on your torso.

He gracefully opened the parasol splashing water droplets and tilted it towards the torso in his arms.

And even wrapping his large hands around the waist of the torso.

It gave off a strange sexual tension and a thrilling feeling.

But the song continues to be clear and neat.

[Red is yours

your color your name]

To the other side of the water.

Sun Ah-hyun continued her elegant and passionate dance with the torso even using a parasol as part of her spectacular movements.

And before we knew it we arrived at the end of the lake.

[U-Um u-Umm]

Now Sun Ah-hyun’s feet on the darkening ground are captured on the screen.

He walked gently and arrived at a hill covered with petals.

There is a close-up of the middle of the hill.

The white coffin.

“…”

Sun Ah-hyun placed the parasol on top of the torso politely and delicately.

Then smiling they enter the open coffin together and close the lid.

Before the sun sets.

thud.

The screen turns black without sound.

And the narration that murmurs.

-Les rêves ne finissent jamais.

Eventually the black screen splits. And light came down from between them.

Beyond the open field of view boys in casual clothes looked at Sun Ah-hyeon with smiles.

They are members.

Relaxed faces as if they were smiling and talking on a daily basis.

-Comme une chanson d’amour.

Park Moon-dae stretched out his hand and helped Seon A-hyeon up.

Before you know it he too is wearing casual clothes.

[did you sleep well?]

[huh.]

Sun Ah-hyun stood up.

And the back of them walking together is captured leisurely with a soft accompaniment…

Until it suddenly escalated.

[in the Sunset-]

The moment the accompaniment reaches its peak.

Tuk.

Something black falls to the side and covers the screen.

"…!"

It was a black torso with a parasol.

"…"

That's how the video ended.

[♪♪♩- ♬♩♪♪-]

Kim Rae-bin's fan stayed still for a moment while listening to the song's chorus melody that played along with the ending credits.

This intro stimulates the five senses.

"…that."

And then I realized.

It wasn't just the fans who were giving this album a lot of anticipation and tension.

I knew their singer too.

‘I made up my mind.’

It was clear that he had put all his energy and time into it.

Kim Rae-bin’s fans squeezed their hands as they watched the intro which came out with such charm and perfection that it was hard to tell how long the song had been in preparation.

“…let’s go fuck it!”

Excitement and anticipation rose.

To the extent that something resembling a sense of duty that she had never had before dwelled in her heart.

‘If they brought the intro like this how on earth did they come up with the title!’

She laughed with energy as she watched the reactions flooding social media and the community.

But after some time.

-Mimimi | chin this

“…?!”

Something happened that none of the fans could have imagined.

One night.

A video was suddenly released.

But it wasn’t Testa’s video.

[VTIC – ‘Serpent’ Official M/V Teaser 1]

“…!!”

The thumbnail shows a handsome man with a sharp look sitting on a marble chair with his bare back and looking back.

It was Sinnoh.

And the concept…

-Hey it’s just one night.

-Ah the kids who laughed wearing crazy knitwear like this ㅠㅠ

Afterlife.

It was VTIC’s debut concept.

They have intensely reprized their first concept by grinding it to the limit.

-A poisonous legend…

“Hey you crazy…”

A typhoon has begun.

Chapter 600

VTIC's teaser.

The impact of just 20 seconds of video rocked the Internet almost like a disaster.

-Crazy V-TIK teaser came out.

-uh????

When you click on the video in a hurry when a notification suddenly appears the first thing you hear is a familiar melody.

It's Chae-yul's voice and… face.

[Every child should go to bed early-]

The languid lyrics flowing from a close-up of a white face.

When Chae-yul turns her gaze it moves the screen as if it has vision scanning the empty old castle alone.

Hwii-

The cool bass that contrasts with the voice slowly rises from below and the vision that was moving through the old castle's hallways becomes faster and faster.

[If you don't want it just leave it—]

The pronunciation voice becomes lower.

[to me]

ridge.

A huge door opens revealing a vast broken hall inside.

Old and broken wall decorations unraveled tapestries and faded flags. Stone statues kneeling.

A space that reminds me of a desolate royal castle.

and…

An overwhelming black and gigantic arch door that seemed to swallow up all the old things appeared in the very center of the screen.

Dooo-.

The dark marble pillars embossing Dante's Inferno curled up from all sides as if they were alive and sat heavily.

And in the middle of it all there is a decadent throne.

Above where the discolored gold had fallen off.

A well-built man stands with his shoes on the throne and turns around.

Sinnoh.

Woooo!

The moment when a close-up shot is captured of a man turning his head and opening his eyes.

Hwiik.

As if being sucked out the screen zooms out to cover the entire hall again.

Then before you know it the hall is filled with majestic and modern stage lighting.

“…!!”

As the sound of brass rings the sight catches the dancers in black military uniforms filling the hall.

ridge.

ridge.

Their red flag lighting military uniforms and even crying and smiling face masks.

Everything that passes by in static cuts heightens the tension.

[Look]

The camera focused on Sinnoh a man on a throne waving his hands.

“…!!”

Even the accompaniment changes to become more modern to match the gaze that is looking straight into the camera.

As the camera circled the throne in that rhythm Sinnoh disappeared and the other VTIC members were shown one after another standing on the throne.

Each person is wearing a different style of formal stage costume.

Sinnoh.

Chaeyul.

Casting and cutting.

And… Cheongnyeo.

The moment the accompaniment races heightens and reaches its climax…

[Look at…]

Cheongnyeo quietly stares at the screen.

Beyond it the maw of a huge snake protrudes.

[The Serpent]

Haaaaaaaaaaaaaak!

The screen was swallowed.

All that remains are subtitles.

[VTIC]

[snake]

"…"

It was overwhelming.

-crazy

There was no disagreement.

A sophisticated and provocative teaser on a huge scale.

The number of comments from people already excited by anticipation was growing countless times in real time.

-What is this?

-When was this film taken?

-How did you take care of your body? What are you doing?

But that wasn't the end.

There were other unique stimulating points.

Nostalgia.

-Whoops good night sweetie

-I came just one night ㅅㅂㅜㅜㅜㅜㅜㅜ

-Are you guys crazy??

The melody that was chanted like BGM before the teaser.

That was the pre-chorus of VTIC's debut song.

-What's going on?

Everyone who was fond of it at the time remembered it.

The lyrics of the song are sung with clear vocals by Joo Dan who was in his teens.

-The night when everyone is already asleep

Should I fall asleep too? (No)

-If you don't like this

just leave it to me

You can leave it to me

(Oooo-Oo!)

Good night sweetie.

VTIC's debut song whose MV was composed of a strange and fantastic story about a boy who falls under a bed at midnight and suddenly falls into a palace.

The small twist at the end where the boys open their eyes in the hospital and reveal that what they saw was the afterlife also became reaction content.

-Good night

Good night sweety

But it's okay if you don't sleep

-Let's do whatever you want

let's go together

A song nicknamed "Sweet Night."

Even the preppy look with sweaters and remodeled stage costumes inspired by various brand pajamas were hot topics.

The group's powerful opening song has a slightly mysterious flavor yet retains a refreshing and boyish charm.

So it achieved all the effects that a large agency at the time was aiming for in a male idol's debut song.

Introduction to worldview.

Forming member characters.

Even building a fandom.

A high-quality masterpiece that clearly highlights the colors of the team and the charms of each member.

Of course it was well received by people in their teens and twenties at the time.

-I still can't find a junior idol who covers it properly.

-It's a song that doesn't become old-fashioned until the end.

Even if you are not a fan anyone who remembers VTIC's songs from that period can't help but feel a new emotion.

People still remembered the leisurely and intense performance of the handsome boys who had practiced this song for over half a year and gritted their teeth.

But what if it was even a fan tika?

-Never stream

-Oh I feel like I'm going to cry but when I look at Shinno's back my gums are coming out and retracting. There's no such thing as Jekyll and Hyde.

-There is a Danbam logo on the details of the crazy kids' costumes. Is this a medal? Badge? This ㅠㅠ (capture)

A story about a boy who once explored the afterlife and now becomes its owner.

It was extremely impressive to announce the beginning of an ambitious restart!

-I really planned it haha. My heart is beating so hard it feels like it's going to explode!

Of course the moment when that emotion that paralyzes reason passes.

Regardless of the fan base everyone who was interested had the same thought.

wait for a sec.

But at this time…

-This is the same as Testa… Is it possible?

Sun Ah-hyun's intro was so impressive and artistic that it left me speechless.

It was the moment right before that that took the community by storm and raised expectations soaring.

However as if pouring cold water on them or counterattacking them VTIC put their teaser in full force.

-No way… do they overlap?

The moment of realization.

All kinds of SNS and communities were ignited several times as if they were about to explode.

-Even the awesome V-tick hahaha

-Wow it's uproar

-What's happening in the second quarter of this year?;;ㄷㄷㄷ

-But hahaha wouldn't this be the end of Testa's one week Triple Crown?

Is this reality? What's going on? All kinds of people began to speculate and talk about what caused this situation to the extent that even the aggro was drowned out by their loud talk.

-Aren't the two affiliated with the same affiliate? Why is it like that?

It seems like Leti said she would only invest and not get involved.

Ah…

And even if they are in the same agency if they make plans for the big players their activity periods often overlap haha. But I never thought these two would overlap…

-V-Tick Testa is he really Dong-Bal? Wow that's crazy they're both regulars too

-Who made a mistake in internal coordination??

But no matter what speculations there were the minds of the people watching were one.

This is fun!

-Please don't delay and stick with it. Let's find out who the real KPOP first team is haha.

-Wow fun

And it wasn't long before the news really dropped that was going to really drive people crazy.

[VTIC "Preparing for May activities… you won't be disappointed."]

[Testar's comeback schedule announced. Will it hit the music industry in May?]

An official report has appeared.

VTIC and Testa.

Both declared that they would proceed according to the existing schedule.

-crazy

-It really sticks!!!

-Wow you can't back out.

When I thought about it it seemed like a reasonable decision.

A gap of 18 months. VTIC needs a strong declaration of return after military discharge.

And at this time when Testa is emerging as a global trend 6 years after its debut Testa needs to make a splash.

Anyone can see that this comeback was the perfect time for both of them.

But they are avoiding it when teasers have already been released?

-I guess I'm running away because I'm scared because I feel like I'm going to lose.

ㄴㄹㅇ The K-Pop Grand Prize male idol is Gao but he can't do that haha.

Still I'm tired of spirit;; Aren't the two groups close?

It was obvious that they had already overlapped but the moment they secretly ran away it was likely that their image would be ruined.

You lose without even fighting.

That can't be right!

-You both sharpened your knives right?

-You must be confident… Wow I'm nervous.

Who will win??

The entertainment community and social media were overflowing with the news. Shorts comparing Testa's intro and VTIC's teaser were also popular.

Isn't it a big match!

-Ha this year's K-pop is crazy fun haha.

"…"

However at the same time fans…

* * *

"I saw the reactions of those lovers!"

"…hmm."

Cha Yu-jin waved her smartphone and read slowly.

"Ohooooho… buy the album until you die? Orbit come grab more fans and… Have discipline? Umm and…"

"…"

"and?"

A clear voice spoke again.

"Petik? "It's easy without any morals…"

"stop."

Until there.

I turned off the Internet navigation window on Cha Yu-jin's smartphone screen.

“Nooo!”

Yes dude.

‘There’s no need to look any further.’

Look at how they are taking over all kinds of real-time trends and popular videos on WeTube as if there is a war going on.

“Right now half of the popular videos on WeTube are related to us or VTIC seniors.”

“under…”

At least one interest was properly attracted.

Since ancient times it has been fun to watch Buddhist police fights.

Thanks to this there were a lot of crowds and it looked like there were more people excited but in fact if you went under the water there would probably be a hellish fight between fans.

‘If there’s anything positive though… it’s the lack of ridicule.’

As interest continues to reproduce and grow like this is there no ridicule towards any one group?

It means that one side is not hit.

‘It’s not easy to tell whose victory it is.’

And what made this possible was…

“Wait! There was this too! ‘Ahyun’s intro performance is solid’?”

“Oh!”

“This is Ahyeon’s story! Right?”

I can't refute that.

That's right. It was great that Sun Ah-hyun's intro played its role properly.

'I didn't get caught by the VTIC teaser.'

Originally it was easier for the person who came up with this first to be buried.

Sun Ah-hyun's terrifyingly artistic video appealed to all walks of life. Analysis videos were also uploaded on channels that had nothing to do with idols.

It was still firmly maintaining its position as the most popular video in Korea competing with VTIC teaser in the rankings.

I chuckled.

'He was so shocked when I heard he was single.'

After all if you give something to him he will do it right.

"really! "I feel very reassured now that Ahyun is doing it right?"

"That's right. "It was a wonderful video that moved both the audio and visual aspects of Ahyun's song choreography harmoniously!"

"Thank you so much…!"

Sun Ah-hyun blushed but nodded cheerfully.

He must have really liked the result and his complexion has been good since it was revealed.

To some extent he carefully maintained the torso that appeared in the music video and even dressed him in a sweater he knitted and placed it in the practice room.

‘It’s only a good thing if you feel proud.’

Everything went smoothly as expected.

‘…Until the VTIC guys put out a teaser.’

“…”

I caught my breath.

The plan for the best situation that had been drawn up half a year ago was now just a piece of paper.

‘You just have to trust the content.’

Now it was a real dog fight.

It would be a little different if we could fight… Well there was no need to communicate with each other in this situation.

Did you see the chatting during the Colosseum duel?

‘This is how it goes.’

I nodded when I saw that the group chat room that VTIC members had randomly invited to had been suspended for over a month.

Even if I spoke first here it would have been a loss.

No need to say anything.

‘Let’s stick together properly.’

That’s how I concluded it.

But that night.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: How are you?

“…”

Are you sane…?

I almost rubbed my eyes when I saw the text message that arrived a few hours ago.

Of course the hand sent a normal reply.

-Yes I am doing well. See you at the music broadcast senior.

huh. Scratching doesn’t work anymore. Let’s see who comes first in the music room.

However I received another call right away.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: How about we meet a little earlier?

“…”

Crazy… is he a guy?

-Aren’t you running out of time to prepare for your comeback? I think we need to take care of at least one more thing to show a better side of ourselves.

-Let’s fight together

I appropriately changed the phrase ‘Okay just practice’ into social language.

But this kid didn’t know how to give up.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: You seem to be very angry.

“…”

huh. I’m about to get mad because of this shit you bastard.

‘Why is this guy doing this?’

-That can’t be right. Fighting.

After waiting for a while another reply came.

also!

– VTIC application senior: Well it’s difficult.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Have you looked at the internet just now?

after…

I just didn’t reply.

But this kid didn’t know how to give up.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: I think the whole country will know about the comeback whether it’s us or your group.

“…”

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Your junior must have already realized this.

I finally answered while holding back a sigh.

-Are you saying you should like it because the timing of our comebacks coincided with each other and the topic sparked a fire?

– VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: There is nothing to dislike.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: As long as you have the confidence not to be pushed out

Wow.

‘Look what he’s saying.’

There was definitely a ridiculous increase in the number of people interested in it compared to regular comebacks.

‘This is almost at the level of releasing music on popular entertainment shows.’

And I knew why.

Just… it’s fun just to watch this game.

Why are audition survival shows that are so successful at the box office popular?

As long as you win you are guaranteed a huge success.

That’s why it’s exciting and thrilling to see them risking everything to win and move up.

A game where your life can be decided by a single point of evaluation.

It even goes without saying if those are two first-team idols.

But still.

‘In terms of schedule VTIC is in a much more advantageous position to achieve success.’

Hearing those words would be very persuasive to a guy who is in a good position to come in on my tail and eat me.

furthermore.

-yes. But I don’t think you contacted me to make me feel good.

-Do you have anything to suggest?

Cheongryeo is not the kind of person who would contact you just to say bullshit like ‘We all did something good together haha’.

‘There is a purpose.’

And sure enough

-VTIC Senior Cheongwonryeo: It would be nice if my junior felt good because of my contact.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: I had something to say.

huh. I thought so.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: Actually this is a proposal that came to me.

-VTIC Senior Cheongnyeo: I think it would be good for juniors to do the same.

Do you want to do it?

But I smiled and answered with my teeth showing.

-What is it?

Information is most welcome.

But at that moment.

Instead of replying Cheongryeo invited someone to this room.

“…?”

And if someone does that.

– Senior Ha Jin-tae of Tea Holic: Hello Mr. Moondae~~

“…!!”

Tea Holic.

A senior member of a male idol line and an entertainment group that left the company and became independent.

And LeTi invested in that company.

Just like our company.

– Senior Ha Jin-tae of T Holic: It looks like the conversation went well haha. I brought you a good suggestion!

After greeting Cheongnyeo and me one more time he continued his message slyly.

-Senior Ha Jin-tae of T Holic: No we got excited when we saw our juniors competing so passionately. I'm contacting them to see if I can pick up some firewood.

-T-Holic senior Ha Jin-tae: Do you remember what I said before?

Ha Jin-tae wrote the following words without hesitation.

-T-Holic Senior Ha Jin-tae: Agency group entertainment

"…!!"

-Senior Ha Jin-tae from T-Holic: V-Tick's agency Leti Testa's agency Orbit and our T-Holic are all from the same group.

– Senior Ha Jin-tae of T Holic: If you want to do this you can do it.

"…"

-Senior Ha Jin-tae of Tea Holic: Do you have any plans to increase the size?

Chapter 601

Sunny spring. News of the comeback clash between VTIC and Testa heated up the Internet. and…

Park Moon-dae's first home game was stretched out on the desk!

thud.

'I feel like I'm going to die… '

I felt like I was going to die from stomach pain.

Although as Park Moon-dae's monitoring results showed ridicule or ridicule of either group was not conspicuously visible in popular videos.

Balance of the dragon and tiger upper arms.

But how was that possible?

'They're all clenching their teeth… '

In both fandoms the balance was maintained as malicious fans frantically tried to kill each other…

In the K-POP version where scheming is rampant clumsy people could not survive so what was left was thanks to the fact that they were warriors who had already gone through all the hardships.

Repeating intentional strikes and thrusts to wear down the opponent's group without getting caught!

————————= =

[Huh honestly this is so haha… I think the group that was discharged will win.]

The difference in firepower seems to be too big. Since V-Tick is making a comeback after 18 months there will be a difference in the amount of money fans can afford.

In the first place when the two of us got together the junior never won.

It seems like everyone forgot about it for 18 months haha.

————————= =

-Yeah I know.

-Please get off.

-Interested in aggroim

-Wow Tikas are all really old and ugly.

Uh this article was written to elicit this reaction.

-What do you think about the fact that the current global ranking of popular videos is almost the same as Testa? Haha.

So Testa will come out first and it will be at the point where its firepower drops… Hmm.

V-Tik is just a 20-second image teaser and Testa is a 3-minute full intro. What is your conscience?

-LOL The dog viewer is so obscene to criticize V-Tick… Azusa's habits are still the same. Does Testa know that his fans are doing this kind of trick?

Tikas they always grab the hair of popular junior male idol fans.

Since they are doing this while thinking ahead of public opinion it is a crucible of confusion that makes it unclear which side the purpose of this propaganda is to disparage!

In the end it ends with anxious fans desperately reporting and blocking the post or account…

Homma was confident that the number of posts buried by fans like this would be dozens or hundreds per day.

'I'm tired… '

Today too Homma muttered with wide eyes after stopping Aggro who was trying to use the photo he took of Mundae to spread rumors.

So what is the cause of this situation…

'It's because of VTIC you bastards…!'

Honestly VTIC could have made a comeback anytime this year!

But Testa… Testa is at a really important time right now with overseas reactions really picking up. What kind of pretense is this?

'If the timing is right you can even act in the military!'

Aren't you intentionally trying to get rid of your competition?!

Homma huffed and swallowed his anger. No matter how I thought about it it felt like sniping.

Cultural Medal.

After VTIC won the award I thought 'Isn't it a waste to create added value for these guys to go to the military right now?' It was quietly mentioned to the team that wanted it but basically cultural medals are not often given to the pop culture world.

People who practice pure art almost exclusively occupy it and in most cases it goes to older people who have worked at the level of masters.

‘For a popular singer promoting overwhelming national prestige would work best… ’

So we needed to achieve more impressive results globally but if there was a team that openly shared the pie like this… it seemed like the impact would be dispersed.

‘I’m sure the kids will be conscious… ’

It was obvious that Bae Se-jin’s enlistment schedule had not yet been announced. Naturally there is some expectation of acting for 1-2 years.

‘after.’

For some reason I felt like my luck wasn’t on my side this year so Homma was a bit bitter.

“Ah… Really VTIC. under.”

It was crazy.

…Of course VTIC fans were in the exact opposite position yelling ‘Testa you crazy bastards.’

Anyway she swallowed a cabbage supplement that was good for stomach pain and made a promise.

‘I will do my best as much as I can… ’

no.

Trying my best wasn’t enough.

‘Do it! ‘I do it absolutely!’

Even for Park Moon-dae who is consistently serious about his job even beyond the contract renewal season!

I had been trying to relax and enjoy the tour but the tension filled me like it was during the <Azusa> finals.

And it burned brightly.

-Minsoya thank you for the Jakarta Con photo ㅠㅠ Does it look like you're growing out your hair on purpose? I'm already looking forward to this comeback… 1st place from the sound source is the only answer!

She also sent an encouraging message to her friend who has now graduated from graduate school and made a promise.

This is what Named Homma with so many people watching can do.

Fans… are encouraged!

'I don't get pushed back and get good grades!'

Motivation led to adrenaline.

Then I logged on to WeTube to watch the intro and pledge once more…

…but then a new video appeared in front of me.

"…??"

The thing with a sign saying 'Pre-release' was… an entertainment trailer.

[VTIC Testa… And Tea Holic? Let's embrace each other too the three male idols! | | [Going to group MT]

The thumbnail screen shows T-holic Ha Jin-tae pretending to be cute while wearing an expressionless VTIC cast sailor uniform with a pear-shaped cone made out of newspaper…

And Park Mun-dae with pigtails and the expression of a Tibetan fox was floating.

"…?!"

I thought it was a manipulation.

But no matter how many times I watched it again this was the official T-Holic entertainment channel… I was right!!

Homma clicked on the video without even being able to breathe.

The first thing you see is a green grass field with scattered sunlight.

And I saw a group of handsome people running on top of it together in slow motion.

Idols wearing gym clothes.

However in sports entertainment shows that appear in droves these are people who are too big to be seen anymore.

"ji…"

It was really VTIC and Testa!

[These people]

[Everyone knows this face right?]

[How are these people here?]

[Are you curious?]

The cut then changes to a conversation between T-Holics sitting in the conference room.

[Planning agency conference room located in Sangam]

[T-holic Yoon: Bro is our agency MT's response really good?]

[T-Holic Gemstone: Uh-huh. Everyone says it's fun. They said the comment response was also good.]

T-holic was worried.

'Agency group MT'. This promotional content which has been tried on several WeTube entertainment channels had particularly good synergy with T-Holic's entertainment program.

T-Holic who has been the representative image of the agency for a long time hosted Tiki Taka making it more interesting.

Younglin's agency group MT which hosted the previous episode also did a good job of dripping without crossing the line to Haloheim and garnered a lot of views.

But… Tea Holic was still hungry!

[T-Holic Ha Jin-tae: But… do I want to do something like that as a participant? We can go to MT well too. There was a lot of noise.]

[T-holic Wonseok: Hey you look like a really old manager.]

[T-Holic Martin: Old people… can't?]

[T-holic Ha Jin-tae: Haha]

[T-holic Yoon: Hahaha]

[T-holic Yoon: Brothers leave me out.]

T-holic was furious at the youngest's remarks!

[Tea Holic Gemseok: Hey!!]

[T-Holic Ha Jin-tae: You're in your 30s too! Don't be cocky!]

T-holic who was dissing each other soon complained again that they also wanted to do entertainment for their agency.

Besides being the host we also want to do hot content! I want to do it!

However self-dissing is rampant again saying that we are too old and lack freshness.

[T-holic Ha Jin-tae: Then… shall we try to seduce some guys that would be fun to hang out with?]

[T-holic Yoon: Who?]

[T-holic Ha Jin-tae: Family~ Our one-pot family tied up with capital!]

And a bombshell!

[T-holic Ha Jin-tae: It's our LeTi line now~]

[T-holic gemstone: !!!!]

[T-Holic Martin: Are you crazy?]

[T-holic Yoon: Why are they going with us!]

[T-Holic Ha Jin-tae: Again! Do you have friends other than us who are in the LeTi line? Orbit Testa…]

[T-Holic Gemstone: Wow please edit.]

Everyone was vehemently opposed and the production team also made a fuss but in the end everyone passed on.

If you just get cast it's a big hit!

But… of course it's not easy.

[The difficult process of recruiting]

[VTIC Sinnoh: We… are no-jamtic! (crying)]

[LOL]

Reality is a gutter!

VTIC who was depressed and said he was not confident in his ability to do entertainment and Testa who was boasting that he had slept a total of 5 hours this week were alternately shown causing laughter.

[Testar Ryu Cheong-woo: I… lost by majority vote. Unfortunately next time…]

[T-holic Ha Jin-tae: No!!]

[It's dirty Tea Holic! Persevere Tea Holic!]

And in the end it was the victory of careful consideration and persistence towards the company.

[T-Holic Ha Jin-tae: I did it! I did it! Both received OK!]

[?? : Kwaaaa!!]

[~~All production crew cheers~~]

It was accomplished.

A one-pot meal party featuring three all-time grand prize male idol teams!

[Let's play guys!]

So one by one these famous idols arriving in a van to the MT location with good water and air pass through cut scenes showing them having fun.

Of course it's not just heartwarming it's playful.

[Is it really good to come?]

[Testar Park Moon-dae: It's been a long time since we filmed with so many seniors. Feeling younger is the best…]

[T-holic Yoon: Hey wait a minute.]

[❀Burning atmosphere❀]

With funny BGM playing the now exciting screen showed the solemn faces of each group member looking at each other while hugging the ball.

[Please let them win…!]

[Genealogy of the top three male idols representing Korea. They… fight! (It's real)]

A test of courage hide and seek and a game of tag with supernatural powers. The cooking king showdown… The scenes that would have caused all kinds of speculation passed by with ease.

And even a random play dance!

[T-Holic Wonseok:… Did you just eat and listen to K-pop?]

[A great clash of K-pop addicts!]

Moreover the phrase is a bit like a piece of cake.

[No way… even a new song performance?]

"…!!"

In the screen.

A grinning Se-jin Lee stretches out his arms in the large Testa center.

Then the image of Cheongryeo raising her hand and making eye contact with the camera intersected.

‘crazy!’

[Enjoy all of this at once!]

[T-Holic Martin: How on earth did you recruit him?]

[T-holic Ha Jin-tae: Haha]

Amidst the pleasant and magnificent BGM majestic subtitles came to mind.

[Jewish Union MT!]

[T-Holic’s ＜Just Bring Your Body＞ COMING SOON～❀]

[See you soon!]

“…”

Park Moon-dae’s first home game was blankly watched as the cookie video played.

[Since this has already come to an end can I take the whole family?]

[!!!!]

The faces of Mirinae Spacer and Soft Sweets getting off the tour bus are close-up and the exciting BGM plays.

Boom!

That’s how the eventful pre-release ended.

[～Please watch a lot～]

“…”

T Holic VTIC Testa Mirinae Spacer Soft and Sweet LeTi Orbit…

What did I just… see?

The end of April is filled with sunlight.

“Wow! “The weather is great!”

“That’s awesome!”

We jumped out of the van and onto the green camera-strewn grass.

Cha Yu-jin was the most excited and Lee Se-jin may have intended to look excited but she still seemed happy enough.

“haha!”

“Hello~ We’re here!”

In front of me I saw the entertainment crew of ‘T-Holic’s Show Business’ smiling.

That’s right.

Testa accepted the offer and ended up appearing on this group entertainment show.

‘Why did it become like this?’

It’s simple.

Because it was concluded that it was more beneficial.

I remembered something that happened a while ago.

After T-holic Ha Jin-tae suddenly appeared in the KakaoTalk room and said something crazy like ‘Would you like to do a group entertainment show with us?’

I reacted like this.

-Thank you for the great suggestion. I will think hard about it.

Of course I was sending it through KakaoTalk on my PC and making phone calls on my smartphone.

To whom? Of course it is Cheongnyeo.

-I told you not to do this.

Do you know what the condition was that I would remove this piece of system attached to this guy? It was very simple.

‘This is it.’

It was like ‘Let’s not get caught up in a dirty agency between the groups.’

But are you outright asking me to appear on an entertainment show jointly with your agency that even put conditions on me not to do it?

‘Is this guy going to start a fight?’

I seriously even thought about that.

So this time too ‘Hmm? I didn’t say it myself but a T-Holic member would have said it.’ I was thinking of blocking this bastard right away if he said the same bullshit.

A quite… unexpected answer came back.

-That’s why I contacted you.

“…”

-What are you talking about?

-That's why I'm asking instead of fixing it. I thought you would hate it.

-…

therefore.

In my opinion it's beneficial but since I've had a deal with him before I'm asking to keep good faith instead of rushing through it.

-But from what I can see there is nothing bad about either of us appearing. I thought your junior's judgment would be similar.

And he neatly added:

-But if you still don't like it I'll do my best to refuse it.

-Is that so?

-sure. Because it's a promise.

Honestly I was a bit surprised.

'This… is a judgment with character.'

Moreover I never thought he would even say 'I thought you would be okay.'

'…Has it changed a bit?'

I decided to raise Cheongnyeo's personality rating which had been lowered due to this incident.

Anyway so we gathered the members together and chatted for a while. What to do.

And what was the conclusion?

-It's a benefit.

-huh.

This means that as long as you win you will eat properly.

'It's right to raise the plate.'

If two groups who compete one-on-one for their souls appear on an entertainment show together it is natural but the topic becomes even higher.

This type of interest is difficult to maintain if the interest does not last but it will serve as the rice cake for several weeks.

'It would be even more so if Tea Holic got involved.'

Then the winner gets more to eat.

Moreover it was impossible for VTIC to call us with a plan to win everyone in the program.

'T-Holics are not easy guys either.'

It was definitely worth a try since the parent company would not take VTIC's side after being bribed by a bastard.

Oh honestly.

'VTIC guys are boring.'

Isn't this an implicit truth?

I confidently declare it. Testa is more fun than VTIC.

"Honestly I don't think I'll lose on the entertainment show."

“me too.”

“Ah our group synergy is unconditional~”

All other members thought the same thing.

Moreover the burden was lessened because the condition was that T-Holic would eat up all the aggro caused by this crazy entertainment show.

‘I will win no matter what.’

I bumped my palm down with a few members.

“Everyone is gathered~”

“yes!”

Now all the teams entered and nodded as they looked at the packed lawn.

The members also nodded along with flushed faces.

“Going Testa!”

“Oh should we do it too? Spacer… go go!”

Similar slogans appear here and there. Moreover it was around this time that the VTIC guys started talking about us doing something too.

“Oh then MT has no meaning.”

“…??”

“yes. yes. “We should all play together.”

Ha Jin-tae one of the T-holics who was grinning raised his hand.

“MT… is trying to become friends with everyone but what if only the team becomes friends again?”

Hey no way.

“So now the team all stops!”

“Huh??”

“Our four T-Holic members will each pick one person to form four teams regardless of group!”

“…!!”

I looked around the lawn.

VTIC was in chaos with the juniors dripping with cold sweat and their pupils shaking.

Even Cheongryeo is just smiling silently. Looks like I didn’t receive any notification.

X is done.

‘Performance… awesome.’

T-holic these bastards… they are truly aggro AoE totems.

Chapter 602

I will tear up all team members and divide them into 4 teams!

Tea Holic who made an unconventional declaration really spoke well.

“Originally we were going to come up with an ambiguous number of five teams… but one of our members was missing so it was perfect right?”

“yes.”

“I heard that a traitor who went to film a movie shouldn’t even be made life-size.”

After taking a moment to appreciate the situation that seems to be floating around the Internet such as ‘What happens if a T-Holic member fails to attend a variety show alone.txt’.

“Now then let’s all decide on a team!”

Now is the time to really tear the existing team apart…

“It doesn’t work if a team with only one group has many members right? “We took everything into consideration and came up with a very fair method!”

And the production crew went around to each group and handed out posters.

“It’s a psychological test!”

“yes?”

“People choosing the same answer? “It’s about team building!”

“Is this a clue that we are a good fit for each other?”

It’s classic.

“ah! For groups where the number of people is not a multiple of 4 the production team has pre-determined the number of people who can choose for each option. Guys! Just look in parentheses!”

What the hell.

I sighed and read the question on the poster.

Still he is meticulous in his own way…

[Q. and! As I was walking down the trail I saw a sign. But I can’t read it because it’s in a foreign language. Which one should I follow?☜☞]

-1. Blue (2 people)

-2. Green (2 people)

-3. Yellow (1 person)

-4. Red (2 people)

“…”

A clue… is this a clue?

“Uh-huh! “It all has a deep meaning guys!”

Those bastards have sharp ears.

“Oh my! “Of course brother!”

“Let us guess its deep meaning!”

“That’s right~!”

I’m gritting my teeth.

But like everyone here who is full of entertainment they put their heads together on the poster and started thinking seriously.

Which color sign should I follow?

“RED!! I’m red. That hair is a lot of red too! “It’s a good sign.”

“Oh~ Okay.”

Bae Se-jin was a master.

“But isn’t red… a danger and caution sign?”

“…Let’s just do what we want.”

That’s how Cha Yu-jin caught the first taro red.

And surprisingly… Sun Ah-hyun chose the remaining red color.

“…??”

“That us… I remembered the chorus of the intro song!”

“aha.”

-Red is yours… Your color your name.

Everyone nodded as he spoke with blushing cheeks with the chorus automatically playing in his head.

‘It’s an admission of affection for solo songs.’

“Oh that’s right. Actually that’s why I chose it too.”

“Eujin there’s a proverb in Korea that says if you lie horns will grow on your butt.”

“That’s cool. “Why do wonderful things happen when you lie?”

“…”

Everyone was speechless.

I opened my mouth again.

“Let’s just do what we want.”

“huh.”

And while the members were each choosing the color of the sign one by one giving various reasons after careful consideration a question came back to me as well.

“Where do you want to go to Mundaemun University?”

“I don’t mind just taking what’s left…”

“Hey! “Where can you find something like that?”

“okay. “You have to choose what you want.”

I finally caught one rubbing the back of my neck as the entertainment crowd cheered me on.

“Then… it’s yellow.”

“Because it’s a Welsh corgi?”

“Because it’s a puppy?”

Are you serious?

“It’s my first dyed hair.”

“Aha~”

“I’m a suitor…!”

Are you coming?

I chose yellow well among the applause.

Well actually.

The fact that there was only one person in yellow had some influence.

‘If you’re going to fall alone it’s either me or Big Sejin.’

Shouldn’t those who can create Tiki Taka for broadcasting while keeping a reasonable line between unfamiliar and unfamiliar people go?

But for some reason Big Sejin seemed to want to choose blue.

“Hmm. So should I do blue? “I like it because it somehow feels like I’m going to the beach.”

also.

Anyway when each person picks a color and raises their hand the production crew gives them a cloth.

Then tie it to your head waist or chest according to your taste and move towards the colorful flags fluttering…

There are already two people standing in front of the yellow flag I chose.

“and! Mr. Moon Dae!”

“Oh~”

I blinked.

The VTIC guy who came running… was Jin Chae-yul with a big smile on his face.

oh.

“Mr. Moon Dae also likes yellow!”

“Yes… of course.”

And the guy next to me is Ha Jin-tae a tea-holic with a yellow string wrapped around his head.

“The symbol of a leader. “It’s sunshine.”

“…”

“…Actually Martin took red first because it was a symbol of passion.”

Are you coming?

And the person who came after me…

“and!! “Our team looks really strong!”

Mirinae’s Jeong Yul-gi.

“oh my god! Mundae brother? “Oh that’s cool!”

And Gold 2… Spacer Kwon Hee-seung.

“…”

“Shall we make a slogan? “Wow I’m so excited!”

“Good! “Our seniors and juniors is there anything you want to do?”

“Wow me! I hope it’s like a sunflower! “It’s pretty big and delicious!”

“sunflower? Wow that’s such a good idea Jeong Yulgi!”

“Thank you senior Chaeyul!… Wow! Soft and sweet sunbaenim Sua has arrived!”

“wow!”

“hello!”

It’s embarrassing.

‘What the hell just happened?’

I think I heard ‘Wow’ about 10 times.

What does this atmosphere mean as if it were a gathering of kindergarten teachers on recreation?

I felt dumbfounded as I saw all the people smiling brightly.

What’s even scarier is that the smiles are not just from capital but are genuine.

“How is everyone’s MBTI? “I’m an ENFP!”

“Hey me too!”

“It’s me!”

yellow. Should I have just given him a big…

“wait for a sec.”

Ha Jin-tae suddenly looked around and put his hand on his chin with a serious face.

“Our team matches up so well… isn’t it our destiny to be first place?”

“…?”

“It’s a team made up of the top survivalists!”

“Huh!”

Mirinae Jeong Yul-gi and Gold 2 Kwon Hee-seung screamed and turned to look at themselves and me. The eyes are bright.

…Are you asking me to respond?

‘What is… ’

For a moment I mentally slapped the head that was about to get agitated and regained my senses.

“It was a long time ago and there are many people who have never appeared on Survival.”

“no way.”

Ha Jin-tae whispers.

“Me and Chae-yul… are the members with the best say in the team.”

“…?”

“Soo-ah you too right?”

“Oh… I guess so!”

The soft and sweet member who is famous for being a fearful and crybaby member of the team answered brightly.

-lol

– Jintae come to your senses.

-The yellow team which consists of survival 1st place and the group's in charge of molestation feels proud.

"…"

The expected reaction comes to mind in surround what do you think?

Meanwhile Jin Chae-yul nods her head brightly.

"that's right! "I also get to say whatever I want to say in our group!"

"also!"

Come to your senses. That's brainwashing.

* * *

After many twists and turns team recruitment was completed.

"Do you like all of your team members!"

"yes!"

A clear and powerful voice filled the lawn.

If you're the type of person who says you don't like them you wouldn't be an idol.

Anyway… whatever. I'm not bad either. I still saw my teammates with smiles on their faces.

It's a bit… an unexpected team composition and it seems like it might be difficult to take control… but let's just accept it.

‘Let’s just have fun. Just fun.’

It’s okay that they are happy among themselves. As for my portion… let’s do something.

And when I look around I see other completed teams.

First of all the faces visible under the green flag.

“As it is a sign I intuitively decided that green would be the safest when considering the symbolic meaning!”

“…! Me too!”

“Haha I guess everyone had similar thoughts.”

“Our team is the brain. “It’s so good guys.”

Raebin Kim Mirinae Minha Park and even Cheongwoo Ryu.

That team’s Tea Holic Wonseok was looking at his teammates with a bright expression on his face as if he had just drank gabby cone.

When VTIC Sinnoh joined us for the last time the green team welcomed him with utmost amicability and cheered him on.

It’s literally a group project of hope.

‘They’re all the calm type.’

Roughly… It was a combination of trying to make a reasonable decision and then running off into a strange place and making people laugh. That’s fun.

-Ryu Cheong-woo’s group assignment without stomachache makes me feel like Azusa’s past life.

I nodded in anticipation and looked at the other side.

The one over here is the red flag the red team.

Each person is already making an introduction gesture…

“I’m Martin!”

“I’m Eugene!”

“This is Seon Ah-hyun. Please take care of me…!”

“…”

Team Pokemon Rocket?

“Hey I’d like to introduce you to my juniors!”

“Even if I just stand up the flag it’s a miracle. Please pamper yourself to your heart’s content.”

‘…??’

People with polar opposite tendencies have all gathered together.

Both Mirinae and Spacer said that the composing members chose this place by chance and they both seem to have unique personalities.

‘Are they just gathering their own aggro makers?’

And here comes the final boss…

“Each team member here has a unique color. Well that’s a good thing. “We can create synergy by acknowledging each other’s differences.”

‘…’

“Oooh~”

“I really think so…!”

“yes. In the short term I think we are an efficient union. Hmm to put it in perspective the team name comes from the red spectrum…”

…VTIC casting and forging.

I looked at the somewhat triumphant guy and inwardly shook my head.

‘I’m excited that there is no enforcement team.’

I guess I’ll have to catch Cha Yu-jin and crack down on him… I tell Joo Dan not to say things like ‘Nerd’ in his mouth.

And last.

If you pull your head out and turn… you will see a blue flag.

The blue team gathered early and even finished creating the team name.

“Oh~ Senior Cheongnyeo! I am so reassured~ Please take care of me.”

“Haha that’s too much praise. Mr. Sejin. “I don’t really appear in variety shows so I’ll try my best not to cause trouble.”

“It’s an honor seniors. “I am Mirinae Seong Ha-rin and I will work hard!”

“This is it. Everyone is so reassuring. great!”

VTIC Cheongnyeo Testa Lee Se-jin Mirinae Seong Ha-rin.

‘…’

All of them were burning with ambition and were sitting with smiles on their faces.

There is no separate tiger den.

"…i look forward to."

And Bae Se-jin was caught in the gap looking like he wanted to run away.

It's a face that looks like it's about to pass out at any moment.

'…I should have given it a yellow one.'

I can't help it. Stay strong Bae Se-jin.

And looking at it this way I could already see the future of how this program would work.

'These guys are the ones who come up with a strategy to steal the game before they win.'

A team full of guys who prioritize practicality over winning. Is there a more threatening combination in entertainment?

But let's not be mistaken.

'It's an individual exhibition.'

Will the yellow team win or the blue team? That doesn't matter.

The important thing is that the tester on each team eats the most.

When our eyes met I returned the same grin to Cheongryeo who grinned.

'huh. Even if I go to Moro I will win.'

Look carefully.

"Now then our good juniors…"

“Huh?”

At that moment T-holic Yoon of the blue team was trying to start a conversation when he received a loud tackle from Ha Jin-tae.

“Youngest child what is your habit of speaking to your senior?”

“…?!”

Ha Jin-tae swung his arm.

“Senior your eyes are wide open. “How can you call them juniors!”

“What are you talking about?”

“That one!”

Ha Jin-tae’s hands politely pointed to a member of the blue team.

That’s right… Bae Se-jin!

“He debuted two years earlier than you! A genius child actor!”

“Huh?”

For a moment even the morning sunlight sparkled as if a halo was visible behind Bae Se-jin.

“…It’s okay over there.”

But T-Holic’s youngest stuck his head in it!

“I’m sorry senior!”

“…!? No it’s really okay…”

“Wow to a senior who is like the sky! Do you know what mistake I made?”

“I feel it painfully!”

“…”

“Are you just saying it?”

“Oh no! From now on senior Sejin Bae is the team leader! “How dare a junior try to become a team leader!”

“…??”

“Okay I’ve decided! “Our team name is not Blue Bird it’s Blue Pear Team!”

Bae Se-jin’s face speaks.

‘Me?’

However as a result of the discussion.

In the end he was raised in front of the flag like a King.

fluttering.

“Blue boat team departure!”

With the blue flag in the background Bae Se-jin covered her face with one hand.

“Wow the only team leader who isn’t a tee-holic!”

‘Excellent.’

I internally applauded the true portion maker.

“So have you all decided on a team name?”

“yes!!”

“Okay then… MT begins!”

And finally full-scale filming began with cheers.

…Of course from now on it was a truly great experience.

Chapter 603

“Then the opening game is… All the same!”

“Ugh.”

This agency’s group entertainment initially followed a very common MT structure.

Each team creates a slogan and choreographs simple gestures takes a quiz and gives rewards and punishments. In this way we are strengthening the identity and sense of belonging for each team which may still be awkward.

…Of course there were teams that didn’t need that in the first place.

“Now I really think our sunflower team will win!”

“That’s it Chaeyul! “Did everyone do well in choosing yellow?”

“yes!”

“I guess our team all feels the same way!”

huh. You were like this before you did this.

I looked back at the faces of this team. Even though he came in last place he still smiles.

It was a team of happy idiots one of whom exists in every game like this.

I… am such an idiot.

“Senior from Mundae thinks so too!”

“yes. “I’m really happy.”

Let’s hit the bullseye.

“Big.”

The big guy wearing a blue belt on the other side looks at me and laughs.

Don’t laugh.

Take a look at your team.

“Well even though we are different groups I will do my best to help the blue team win today.”

Cheongryeo smiled and neatly put up a fighting pose. Then a lively response poured in as if they had been waiting for it.

“I respect you senior!”

“This is my whole heart~ Blue Boat Team Fighting!”

“…”

Those guys… Every time they open their mouths lies come out.

After seeing the blue team smiling warmly as they asked team leader Bae Se-jin for a word I looked back at my team who were just smiling.

“lol!”

“…”

Isn’t it a balance problem?

For reference the blue team was the second-place team in this opening game.

He worked hard to get it right but when he saw a variety show he couldn't resist and started asking questions so he got it wrong on purpose.

Thanks to this the green team is smoothly taking first place…

"haha."

I just smiled and saw Cheongryeo quietly retreating behind her teammate.

'It's not funny.'

You're boring.

In particular Cheongnyeo who quietly takes care of others and makes concessions seems to have no desire for entertainment at all.

There was no particular editing angle.

'Hmm.'

Why do you make that choice?

However without much exploration the first full-fledged main game began immediately.

"This game is… Superpower tag!"

"It's literally a game where you use your superpowers to chase each other! "We alternate between attack and defense."

The superpower game of tag which seemed to have been taken from a certain mobile fighting game had a suitably shameful and fun structure.

When a person with the ability shouts slogans and sends signs everyone else is implicitly pretending to be affected by that ability.

That's right. Only the shameless can endure.

"I am… <Flying Dog>!"

"Mundae raise your hand to the sky!"

…like this.

When I raised my hand in the air all kinds of people followed the gesture looked up at the sky and started performing Hollywood actions.

"Ohhhhh puppy flying in the sky?"

"I can't move my body due to the sight being so amazing!"

"hmm. "This is a <pause> ability that doesn't discriminate between friend and foe."

"I see…!"

…I wondered if it was necessary to do something like that.

I was silent for a moment wearing a dog headband as I watched the guys making a fuss.

– Hahaha look at the facial expressions haha.

-Park Moon-dae was shameless in saying that he had often tried puppy but he broke down here haha.

-I guess I didn't know he would do this to me haha.

-Oguogu Mundaeng were you embarrassed because people reacted so well? ㅜㅜ

Based on many years of experience I know roughly what you'll hear…

‘Anyway thanks to you I won.’

I strengthened the red team’s last runner Cha Yu-jin with superpowers and narrowly caught him.

“Oh~ <Sunflower> yellow team wins!”

Cha Yu-jin shook my hand smiled and whispered to me.

“If this was really a game of tag you would lose to me.”

“I get it. Eugene the red team lost.”

“…”

“Pui pui pui~”

Cha Yu-jin looked at me with a shocked face with Ha Jin-tae’s jeers in the background and then disappeared with puffy cheeks.

For reference Joo Dan who is next to Cha Yu-jin is even adding to the awkwardness by even going so far as to analyze that ‘the reluctance to use superpowers was the decisive cause of defeat.’

“The strongest thing in this game is not physical ability but superpower. “If you assume you have superpowers don’t doubt them and use them actively…”

Well you too grow strong.

However what I didn’t expect was that I would witness something even more shocking than this in someone else’s game.

“Now next is… the match between the green team of <Safety First> and the blue team of <Blue Boat>!”

This is where Cheongnyeo took action.

The guy used his superpowers without hesitation.

“Huh?”

“wait for a sec.”

In the nick of time before his teammate was caught Cheongnyeo ran in front of the attacking team.

Then he pulled out something in front of his eyes and held it out then made a nice shape for the muzzle with his other hand and aimed it.

Finally a slogan!

“＜There will be a brief crackdown＞.”

A police badge with a blue ribbon sparkled in the sunlight.

however.

“Huh?”

“You don’t have to show me your badge.”

“ah.”

“Oh my Mr. Cheongnyeo.”

It was an unnecessary action!

“…Anyway it’s safe to use superpowers!”

Ryu Cheong-woo of the green team who was forced to sit down for three seconds at the referee’s declaration smiled and let go of the spacer member of the blue team.

“Wow!”

“Mr. Cheongryeo! exorcism!”

“thank you. Ah but this wasn’t it…”

Cheongryeo lowered the police badge he was holding looking a little embarrassed. It’s as if you were so absorbed that you lifted it without thinking and then felt a little embarrassed.

“ha ha ha!”

“You’re so cute~”

The T-Holics started saying absurd nonsense.

A guy who can shamelessly do even worse things than that without even changing his face is such an abomination…

“…!”

I see.

I realized.

‘Was it wrong on purpose?’

This was what that bastard was aiming for.

Let’s think about it. Why do idols who appear on entertainment shows try to be funny?

‘It’s for topicality and volume.’

But what if you already have both?

Right now this group’s MT entertainment has already secured buzz with its crazy cast combination. The biggest axis there was VTIC.

The amount was also the same.

‘What kind of crazy production crew doesn’t give VTIC some screen time?'

They will even make it by squeezing in the amount that is not available.

So how to make that volume is entirely up to VTIC.

And what Cheongryeo chose was…

-The concept is strong but it's surprisingly flimsy? Hahaha. The kids are so gentle.

-I like it because it's no fun.

-Noxious is the demand!!!

You guys do the funny things.

We will take care of a favorable image.

As they are making a comeback with a strong concept this time they are trying to melt away the layers of resistance to dark songs and even bring out the feeling of 'These are young people who work hard~'.

"…"

I wiggled my eyebrows.

Do you believe that eating only the kernels will work?

'That's an illusion.'

I'll show you that the one with the most impact ends up eating it all.

"The next game is <Hide and Seek>!"

“Whoa.”

After a round of psychic tag Park Min-ha of the green team sat down in his seat wiping his forehead.

Then I heard a question that worried me.

“Are you okay? Even water…”

“it’s okay! ha ha ha!”

Park Min-ha jumped up and not even able to breathe stretched out her hand and grabbed some water for herself.

living!

‘Let’s stay alert!’

Although Kim Rae-bin’s attitude was only one of respect for her teammates and juniors she did not let down her guard.

‘Everything looks plausible after editing.’

Even if the production team didn’t do it there were cyber wreckers all over the world.

The hell of dating rumors… no way.

So I sent several advices and questions and answers to Yulgi who is very honest and friendly…

“Sua Woongni!”

“Ugh Yulgi!”

…I was walking around with my soft sweet senior and was naturally drawing all the aggro towards him.

It was fortunate.

‘Whoa.’

Park Min-ha the de facto leader of Mirinae sat down with a long sigh of relief.

It was a good opportunity but it was also dangerous so she would never relax until the end and survive!

‘You have to be active!’

Park Min-ha stood up with shining eyes.

Fortunately the green team performed well. Although we were eliminated right before we took first place in the opening team match and the team atmosphere was good.

This means that there was no atmosphere in which one could not join in on the conversation due to concerns of seniors.

‘So let’s take care of my portion size.’

Just keep doing well like this!

“Okay the next game is about to start!”

“yes!”

She swallowed her saliva as she heard Lee Se-jin who had already been invited as an impromptu MC by T Holic shout out.

And the next game was hide and seek.

“Wow!”

A huge playground-like set structure built in the backyard.

It was a simple and cute structure where one person dressed up had to find all the opposing team members hiding in various places.

And this time it was the green team's turn to hide.

'I like Joe.'

I felt like I could get a role just by reacting well when I was caught doing something like this!

So it was when Park Min-ha was quietly hiding next to a pile of boxes.

How long has it been?

Knock knock.

In the silence someone touched my shoulder.

'Is it the production team?'

I turned my head to see if it wouldn't show up on camera.

"hello."

"Ugh!"

There's an axe!

Oh no it was Park Mun-dae in gym clothes holding an axe who was looking at him.

But it's pigtails!

"…?!"

Park Mun-dae must have noticed his gaze and muttered while touching his own head.

“There was a prop that was too scary… so the team members suggested we neutralize it.”

“…”

Cute… long but even scarier!

‘How on earth did you come here without making a sound!’

There was even a spring on Park Moon-dae’s back.

The moment I thought if that mainspring stops the game will end in timeout and I don’t know how it moves so quietly even with that thing on…

Park Min-ha realized that Park Mun-dae was wearing sleeping socks not shoes.

“…”

This is a person who is truly serious about the game.

“yap. “I found it.”

“…yes.”

Anyway she was eliminated like that.

Leave a great reaction.

‘…the quantity will be released… ’

Trudging back to the bench she went between the people who had already been eliminated.

“welcome!”

Please don't welcome me…

Park Min-ha greeted Rae-bin Kim by giving him a hug and then watched the rest of the game.

however…

"…!"

"Only Chungwoo remains!"

Before I knew it the game had become an individual competition.

Park Min-ha observed the situation trying to keep her narrowed eyes straight.

Surprisingly Ryu Cheong-woo was observing Park Moon-dae in reverse and was slowly moving from place to place wasting time.

It didn't seem like he would be caught easily.

'Really… calm down.'

Park Min-ha felt it again.

Come to think of it Ryu Cheong-woo was like that throughout this MT. No matter what I asked him to do he did it without hesitation and no matter what he did he was good at everything he did with his body.

Is that the attitude of a leader?

'I have to show something like that in the next game…!'

Park Min-ha made a promise. But at that moment.

"…!!"

Isn't Park Moon-dae who discovered traces of Ryu Cheong-woo's movements slowly approaching?

‘I got caught!’

How much time is left?

She saw the mainspring on the back of Park Mun-dae. It was still running well.

And Liu Chengwu still had a calm face as if he hadn’t noticed.

‘no!’

Finally the moment came.

Park Moon-dae sneakily went behind Ryu Cheong-wu and stretched out his hand and shouted.

“I found it…”

That moment.

Liu Chengwu slipped under Park Mun-dae’s ax without even looking back.

So that Park Moon-dae cannot move carelessly for fear of him getting hurt.

“…!”

Then at surprising speed he went behind Park Mun-dae and grabbed his back.

To be precise he grabbed the mainspring on Park Moon-dae’s back and turned it in the forward direction.

“oh.”

That's right.

Liu Chengwu who stopped the main winding manually said with a grin.

"If the mainspring stops it ends in a timeout… right?"

"…!!"

It was a contrarian idea.

"Wow!"

"oh my god!"

As people poured out Lee Se-jin shouted cheerfully as she saw the production crew's signal.

"Ah the green team is going crazy! "I'm moving up to first place overall!"

"Oh!"

Park Mun-dae with his hair in pigtails applauded solemnly.

And the yellow team members around me said 'It's okay!' 'Mr. Moon Dae you did a great job!' To see him comforting Park Moon-dae while saying the same thing…

'Wait a minute is this okay?'

Park Min-ha suddenly came to his senses.

This… it's not important that I win!

'In the end Testa seniors got all the cuts!'

It ended in the match of the century between Park Moon-dae and Ryu

Cheong-woo.

In that case it would be more helpful for our group to give Yulgi a chance to play in the finals instead of me…

“Will the green team continue to win like this? Our blue team also needs to be strong～”

“…”

“If you win first place don’t forget the food truck prize!”

Still I like first place!

Park Min-ha decided to have fun for now!

* * *

A few hours later.

Finally the first day of MT filming came to an end.

“Does Testa eat things like this every day?”

“i envy you.”

“Of course the most important position on the team is cooking.”

I easily won the <Dinner Cooking King Challenge> and distributed well-boiled pork and hand-made kalguksu to my team members.

The production crew did not bother to prevent the team from sharing food with other teams and thanks to this the first day of MT is ending more warmly and comfortably.

‘You know how to control speed and speed.’

And now it’s midnight.

During this time when filming was temporarily halted for camera data replacement and maintenance people were dispersed and talking quietly.

‘You were having fun risking your life just now.’

A night where the bright noise from earlier disappeared like a lie.

I was no exception.

“Mr. Moon Dae is here!”

I will correct it. There is also the same guy as before.

I saw Jin Chae-yul sitting next to me smiling.

What are you trying to say?

Chapter 604

The outskirts of the MT filming site where the sun has set and the stars and moon have risen.

VTIC Chaeyul who was sitting next to me asked without hesitation.

“Are you looking at the stars?”

“yes.”

“also!”

The guy looked at the stars together with a refreshed face then opened his eyes wide and said as if something suddenly occurred to him.

“Somehow déjà vu? I said I felt something like that… I think it’s similar to when we appeared on a mountaineering variety show before! “Why are you drinking cocoa?”

…VTIC and Testa did entertainment before?

‘ah.’

I realized it a little late.

That… is a story that no longer exists.

This is what happened in the world created by the system where I as Ryu Geon-woo debuted with VTIC members through LeTi Survival.

Group Wishes.

“…”

It's hiking. Were there any entertainment shows like that at that time?

After doing everything I could to win the grand prize in just one year it seemed like I was wasting my image and going out to all kinds of places.

And Jin Chae-yul who seemed to have grown a few years older than then spoke to Park Moon-dae.

"I just called you Gunwoo hyung."

"Because that was the way things were back then."

Chaeyul laughed shyly at my answer.

"This MT is also the same team as before! "Our yellow team!"

"…"

"Let's just keep quiet like we did back then. Do you remember? "I said we should just keep quiet!"

I remember.

-Well if I go back now it might be hard to call him Geon-wu hyung… but is it okay if I let go of the words? Not Mr. Mundae but Mundae!

And I told him to talk to me comfortably but he didn't answer.

I just laughed this time too.

"…"

Jin Chae-yul perhaps vaguely aware that silence was a tacit refusal did not offer any more advice.

But soon he continued speaking in a voice that was not dark.

“Anyway today was really fun!”

“yes.”

Well… he did all kinds of funny things but he wasn’t at a level that would be dangerous as an idol.

They adjusted it just so it didn’t go over the line.

‘The production crew does a good job.’

T-Holics have a manpower supply. As I quenched my appetite I glanced at the production crew and Tea Holic guys talking on the other side.

“It’s been a long time since I appeared on a variety show with so many seniors and juniors. “Is that the case Mr. Moon Dae?”

“yes. “That’s right.”

“I hope I have another chance next time!”

huh. That’s not possible.

‘At that time the aggro effect was reduced and only the fans were stressed.’

Jin Chae-yul who casually made a sound containing a scary story continues to babble about the sound of stepping on a land mine.

“That’s our group chat room over there.”

That group chat room you invited yourself to.

And why is it that as soon as their comeback coincided they were caught by a ghost-like bastard and all contact was cut off…

“Is it okay if I say hello now? “Because there hasn’t been a post for a while…”

"…"

"It's nice to see them make a comeback together this time but it's a bit disappointing."

I looked back at the guy.

It was unexpected.

'You noticed.'

Two top groups with similar weight classes and this comeback is very important.

It seems that this guy had a premonition that if they were released at the same time their relationship would inevitably become ambiguous.

However… did you ever feel that it was regrettable?

"Sometimes I even ask how you are doing! "I made jokes… how do you feel?"

I chuckled.

"Good."

"thank god!"

Jin Chae-yul's face suddenly turned bright red.

"Hmm. I didn't want to have an awkward relationship with the testers. "We experienced something special together."

Wishes.

Although it may now be vague like a dream he seemed to have given meaning to it.

He seemed to think about it for a moment and then added this.

“We didn’t intentionally change our comeback because we wanted to overlap with the testers. “We were planning to do this on this date even before we enlisted…”

okay.

Cheongryeo was probably the only one who took that into consideration when setting the comeback date.

I thought the other VTIC members would just think of it as ‘comeback right after discharge’.

So actually I wasn’t even angry at these guys.

“This is how we were meant to be. “I hope we can keep in touch and meet up sometimes and remain friends.”

“…”

I nodded slightly.

“yes. “Mr. Moon Dae is already close with Cheongryeo!”

That’s not it.

I looked back at Chae-yul with mysterious eyes but he had said all he wanted to say and was looking at the stars with cool eyes.

It felt funny to say anything now so I just turned my head to the sky.

Even though it was on the outskirts of Gyeonggi-do the stars were shining brightly unlike in Seoul.

“Because I’m doing this… I remember when the testers debuted before. “We met on a music broadcast.”

It was like that.

‘That was already about 6 years ago.’

Now that I look back on it I feel like I went through a lot of hardships to get this far.

In this short-lived entertainment industry and also in the idol industry both of them have been stubbornly sticking together for several years without giving up.

I felt a little cheerful for some reason and answered quickly.

“…but this time it’s the opposite.”

“Huh?”

“Because our seniors are coming back after our comeback.”

“Huh.”

They seem to know they have an advantage.

I spoke to Jin Chae-yul who looked a little embarrassed.

“But I have no intention of being pushed back.”

“…!”

Jin Chae-yul looked at me with wide eyes for a moment and eventually burst into laughter.

“i know. “So did we!”

When I nodded Chaeyul lay down on her back.

“And really… I prepared a lot this time!”

“…”

“I don’t think VTIC will lose.”

Is that so?

“It’s the same with Testa.”

“Huh.”

Jin Chae-yul did not respond.

We quietly reflected on our war intentions.

“…”

“…”

And suddenly a question came to mind.

“Now that I think about it.”

“yes!”

“By any chance seniors when did you film this music video?”

I wouldn’t have had time to take a picture like that considering the hairstyle.

‘Even if I wore a wig there wouldn’t be time for CG post-processing.’

And Jin Chae-yul gave a clear answer.

“Oh before I enlisted! “At that time I had already decided how I would make my comeback.”

“…”

Scary bastards.

“Ah the Testa intro video was really cool.”

“thank you.”

You did a good job persuading Sun Ah-hyun to release it.

That was when I snorted inwardly.

Jin Chae-yul held out her hand.

“Let’s work without regrets!”

“…”

“ah. “Is this what you heard from Jaehyun?”

Don’t talk about him.

I shook hands with Chaeyul who extended her hand. The guy smiled and waved his hand.

‘…Not bad.’

I also chuckled.

“Senior please don’t talk. “Because I decided to do so.”

“omg!”

Jin Chae-yul who was pleased started talking nonsense about how she uses a mix of formal and informal language even with people she is comfortable with and immediately shouted as if she couldn’t stand it any longer.

“Ugh can I ask you just one more thing? “Let’s talk together!”

I am indeed. You’re persistent.

“okay.”

“…!”

“But only in private.”

“of course!”

Jin Chae-yul smiled and nodded.

And I woke up energetically.

“Oh they give you drinks over there. “I’ll take that one!”

“okay. brother.”

I lightly waved at the departing guy and then turned my gaze back to the sky.

‘Is it going to be revealed soon?’

The MV is released the album is released the music is released…

The stage appears.

A period of intense activity unfolds with fierce confrontations with strong competitors.

After this filming is over it will begin in earnest.

And the broadcast of this film will also be released around that time.

‘…I need to film this entertainment show more properly.’

I promised myself once again and thought about the next destination of this 1 night 2 day MT.

‘Now all that’s left is… a random play dance.’

That was really cool.

With that in mind it was time to get up and go back to the dorm room with Jin Chae-yul who was holding a drink.

“Aren’t you tired of falling asleep already?”

“yes…?”

“The production team says they have prepared another game!”

“Oooh!”

Sudden notice.

and…

“Oh what a test of courage!”

“…”

“I don’t know much about scary stories… but do you know a lot?”

no.

[start!]

“Ugh!!”

“Aaaahhh!”

…I almost lost out with soft and sweet Su-ah but I want to make it clear that I wasn’t in last place.

For reference even at this time Cheongryeo was very shy.

“Ah a ghost story.”

No matter how much I think about it he's not the kind of guy who would be scared of ghosts but he gave off the impression of a neat model student who looked a little embarrassed.

"I don't know a lot of scary stories… but I'll choose from the ones I've heard."

"Oh~"

I packed just enough content to avoid being moderately scary and boring.

However seeing Joo Dan keep quiet about his excitement and overuse of TMI saying 'It's a classic novel's storyline so the copyright has expired so I can say it with confidence' raises other suspicions.

'He only cares about himself.'

Among the VTICs I looked at the guy with suspicion who acted like an actor who only appeared on interview programs to care for his image.

'Did you feel anything when you looked at my axe earlier?'

Could it be that you are trying to maintain your image and leave the impact to other members?

There was something about it that didn't seem clear to me as a choice made by a kid aiming for maximum efficiency.

'Hmm.'

"The winner is… the green team! Raebin Kim from the green team <Safety First>!"

"Wow!"

I gave Kim Rae-bin the ghost story machine a complimentary gesture from outside the camera and finished filming that night while carefully observing the VTIC guys.

And the next day.

“I can’t believe the day has come when we can proceed with this lineup… The author’s mouth is almost in my ear right now.”

“They said they brought more cameras for this game.”

The long-awaited random dance challenge has arrived.

And here I realize what Cheongryeo’s aim is.

The author of <T-Holic’s Show Business> picked up a pen.

The alpha and omega flower and fruit of idol group photos. The random play dance was about to begin.

In the meantime the production team thought hard.

How can we make random play dance different from other MT content?

Actually the basic formula was simple.

-1. KPOP is played randomly.

-2. Those who can dance the choreography jump to the center and dance.

And in normal idol content one thing was added here for tension.

-3. Everyone must dance and anyone who can’t dance is eliminated!

Well there were variations on the formula such as only one person from a team having to appear but as these rules become more complex they tend to become less intuitive and less fun.

So instead of messing with this proven formula the production team decided to add another element.

That's right… cyber audience!

This MT's <Random Play Dance> will be broadcast in real time to only 300 people online and the reactions will be collected and applied to the subtitles!

He even reads funny comments to the idols making them laugh out loud.

'It's okay if a little team spoiler is released during this process.'

If anything that will only heighten fans' expectations!

The author inspected the device with keen eyes.

On the tablet connected in front real-time comments and small monitor screens began to appear.

-what

-Are you connected?

-Whoops!

Swearing and a few sensitive words were filtered out but the majority of the words flowed freely.

And once the camera was properly on screen it almost started to explode.

Because the idols naturally getting ready in the grass looked clear and close!

-I'm crazy

-ah

-It’s like a lineup composition.

-Mundaeㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠㅠ Please let us dance with Mundae popcorn.

-Sung Ha-rin AKA K-Pop’s Cheodoli

All kinds of reactions were pouring in from people who were fans of the performers to regular viewers of T-Holic’s entertainment shows and people who applied just for fun.

“Then let’s begin!”

The random play dance began.

Chapter 605

A few days ago.

“Of course the best way to get the volume is the random play dance.”

“Hmm.”

Testa gathered together and talked about his mindset in preparation for his agency’s group MT filming.

“In the beginning we were moderately fighting from behind but in the second half we all suddenly came out together and it was a great fight! how is it?”

“I think it would be great if we continued to do well from beginning to end.”

“Either way you should know the choreography well.”

Everyone nodded at Liu Chengwu’s correct opinion.

And Cha Yu-jin spoke brightly.

“But I don’t know other people’s choreography very well!”

It was a declaration that I only listen to things that are good for me.

‘huh. ‘I thought so.’

Raebin Kim gave strict advice in the meantime.

“From now on organize it by year so you can learn it quickly.”

Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders.

“But I know better than Kim Rae-bin!”

“…! “The range of KPOP I listen to is much wider than yours but based on common sense I know better…”

“I dance better!”

Hehehe.

Now the members watched Kim Rae-bin and Cha Yu-jin fighting with harmonious faces.

Park Moon-dae also watched the scene peacefully but eventually joined in when the two guys were saying something like ‘Then we’ll see when we practice together and see who’s better.’

“But I don’t think we need to practice together.”

“yes?”

While listening to Kim Rae-bin’s dumbfounded question Park Moon-dae looked around at all the other members and spoke.

“If you want to maximize the impact it’s not good to adjust too much.”

“…?”

“Reality entertainment shows that are complicated are not fun.”

“ah!”

Several members nodded.

For several years now it has become a practice to strictly match the order and formation of content such as relay dances.

‘It’s been leveled upward.’

But that's literally leveling the playing field.

It meant that it was an acceptable choice rather than the obvious top hit that said 'There are individuals who are good even though they didn't get it right so coincidence coincides and a new charm emerges.'

The synergy that occurred when the skill and talent coincidentally created the perfect picture just like the amount of practice and habit that the body was naturally accustomed to was the best.

'It's not something that can happen in a short period of time so the problem is that we don't take risks and just prepare diligently.'

In addition there was a risk of being criticized as 'burdensome' by gritting one's teeth and preparing for the topic of mini-games in entertainment shows.

"For something like this naturalness is the key."

"Hmm."

The members were lost in thought for a moment but then shrugged their shoulders.

"What Moon Dae said is correct."

"Ugh."

This is because Park Moon-dae's risk insight has been proven through many years of experience.

"Then shall we each work hard to prepare what we like?"

Lee Se-jin who was watching quietly added with a grin.

"Then if you were to do this song it would be better if you also refer to the movement of the part you would take on."

"Ohh."

“Goooood.”

The members laughed along.

Everyone prepares on their own.

Mainly choreography that I like and want to do.

“Then if by ‘accident’ the sum matches the formation also matches.”

“indeed!”

Everyone smiled and nodded at Park Moon-dae’s trustworthy remarks.

‘Faith to trust one another!’

With that in mind Testa each worked hard to prepare in his spare time…

The problem is… I didn’t know that the team composition would be torn apart like this!

“Now <Random Play Dance>! The team that survives until the end will receive points and a meal truck!”

“…”

The testers looked at each other with their pupils trembling!

In fact it was almost impossible to notice that it was a humanistic structure in which everyone in each group was included so whoever won could get a ride on the food truck.

“Who will bring victory to the food truck group and team!”

“Oooh!”

This is because each team’s T-holic incited it.

“We must win no matter what! “There are a lot of dancing members on our team!”

“Just looking at our colors we are the smartest team. Guys. “Isn’t this all a battle of wits?”

“Team leader Bae Se-jin! Please place an order on our blue boat!”

“yes? that is…”

The atmosphere is on fire for each team. Real-time comment responses were also quickly being swept away by Tea Holic.

-Whahahaha

-I see a Balbung team. Is it an illusion?

-Each team has its own distinct characteristics right? Haha.

-Green team’s only dance member Park Min-ha Let’s Go

And after looking back at his yellow last-place team Park Moon-dae recalled the temporary testa meeting that was hastily held just before this game.

Now that things were like this there was only one way.

-We really kill each other.

-…?!

It means to fight hard to win.

‘Let’s eat at least one of them.’

Let Testa members take home the famous scene!

“I was quite the lead dancer right? Just trust me guys.”

“yes!”

Hearing T-holic Ha Jin-tae’s voice encouraging the yellow team Park Moon-dae pledged again.

‘They won’t be easy guys.’

This team alone was practically a center meeting. Jeong Yul-gi Kwon Hee-seung Su-ah…

And even VTIC’s center Jin Chae-yul.

Center is usually a dance position.

It also stands out.

‘Ha Jin-tae looks pretty good too.’

Park Moon-dae guessed sharply.

and…

“＜Sunflower＞ Yellow Team～ Captain Ha Jin-tae is eliminated!”

“oh.”

Like a lie all of T Holic including Ha Jin-tae were eliminated within 5 episodes.

It was ‘Reason: I don’t know the songs these days’…

-A large number of captains were eliminated.

-Mr. Kim Martin who says he doesn’t listen to the latest K-pop now stop putting strange ballads on Lil’s and listen to K-pop.

-Ha Jin-tae is creating dance hahahahahahahaha

-It's okay their faces are still like idols.

…It had a strong impact in its own way.

'Is that also a strategy?'

It was funny.

"Come on let's cheer."

Now T-holic was sitting across from him encouraging his team members with eagle eyes like a coach trying to catch other team members.

but.

"Then who is eliminated…"

"…"

"…"

"I don't do it."

That's right.

-??

-Why is Ryu Cheong-woo also good?

-Did you come here with a plan?

-Is this a T-holic camera?

Let's say that Testa like Ryu Cheong-woo is naturally good at even members who don't seem particularly interested in other groups or trends.

The problem is…

-Wow this one doesn't get eliminated either haha.

"…!!"

Testa wasn't the only one who paid attention to random play dance.

'If I want to stand out… yes! 'How about dancing nicely here?'

'Ah if you want to tell us the names of our brothers one more time you must remain as a final member here!'

Everyone knew. <Random Play Dance> is the content that gets the most views.

And all of these ambitious idol cast members have been practicing the expected songs pretending they are not!

'Don't you have any eye color at all?'

The venom of a survival veteran!

It wasn't even soft and sweet. They say it's because they've seen a lot of 'recently popular K-pop' on their reaction WeTube channel.

In the end T-Holic opened his mouth.

"…Do you guys only eat and dance to K-pop?"

"ha ha ha."

"It's a job because I like it!"

-I'm proud of you guys.

-This is… the first generation of K-pop?

-My heart is racing.

The writers held back their laughter as they watched real-time viewers moved by the naturally virtuous words.

Of course it's not possible to only release songs that everyone knows.

Still if you don't know you follow along by dancing as if you don't know.

There is no one who does things half-heartedly.

So during the 10 rounds only about a quarter were eliminated!

-Awesome fun

-Wow it's really different since it's done by current first-tier idols haha.

-It's so fun. The guys instantly form a triangle and ask what's going on. It gives me goosebumps haha.

There Park Mun-dae had a hunch once again!

'Not being eliminated is no longer a problem.'

It was a preliminary round there.

How do you pull out an impactful scene during this time?

We were at that level now!

-Great clash of K-pop fans

-The yellow team is so cute. Please come forward together just once.

-Chaeyul thank you for the magic boy. I will never forget you. Please make a fancam.

-Joo Dan why do you know that song…?

He focused on the flow.

＜Random Play Dance＞ started with the performers' hit songs and gradually expanded the scope of the questions.

-This is Mirinae's debut song!!!

-Hello come on.

-Whoever plays Sangun will be blessed.

-I just liked the song but is it a spacer??

-I ran out of T-holic but is this T-holic song real? Crazy haha.

Lines to promote the status of 'We are the agency with so many hit songs!'

These were choreographies that all the performers had predicted and practiced in advance.

And now once the agency's promotional repertoire is over…

-This is a Tic Tac Tok pick haha.

-Oh please just one cast member who really knows this.

The latest hits old hits and songs with impressive choreography are coming out in earnest.

These are songs that I don't usually see covered in earnest because I don't have much of a connection with these idol cast members!

-I was really waiting for something like this ㅠㅠ

-Please please play my first love heart song.

Viewers stared at the screen with even greater anticipation and excitement.

And from here the dropouts begin in earnest…

This person was the first person eliminated from Testa.

-Crazy Cha Yu-jin

However they were not eliminated easily.

-Sssssssssssssssssssssss.

-Did it turn?

[Show me up]

Heavy electric.

As soon as the choreography challenge song which was popular on Tic Tac Tok in the Western world started playing she immediately took to the front and center alone.

"…!!"

And he reproduced the hip-hop move in his own way with the intensity of an animal.

"I don't know anymore!"

And when a song I didn't know came up in the next round I voluntarily got eliminated without any regrets instead of just ignoring it.

It was a very impressive cut.

"Good bye!"

A truly famous scene!

-torn

-Is this a star?

-You only live once like Cha Yu-jin

‘Excellent.’

Moon-Dae Park also gave generous scores. Cha Yu-jin grabbed the spotlight at just the right time.

‘I have to be like that too.’

And waited for his chance.

The opportunity came soon.

[Now I’m curious about the seat next to me

Your heartbeat

Who are you running for now?]

“…!!”

-crazy

-Oh I’m so curious about this.

A tickling mixed voice.

It was a song by Halo Haim a new mixed gender group that attracted a lot of attention with its dating reality show!

That moment.

-???

-omg

Park Moon-dae who was not even a dance member suddenly came to the center.

But I wasn't alone.

-???

A cast member who drew the admiration of the production team and Tea Holic from the first episode.

He also rushed forward at the same time.

Even in this place where prominent idol members gathered he was the ace who completely swept away the early center positions.

as soon as…

"Sejin let's go!"

This is Lee Se-jin Testa's choreography team leader.

-Ahhhhhh

-no way

-Let's go let's go let's go!!!

He came forward smiling while being cheered on by T-holic Yoon a member of the same blue team that had already been eliminated.

Then spread your arms and turn around.

[This trembling is still only in my heart

I can act calmly]

"…!"

He scanned Park Moon-dae's part and danced it right away.

It looked as if they had practiced each part separately but that was not the case.

Because the male and female parts were randomly mixed together!

-oh my god

-Why is this right????

In fact after seeing that Park Moon-dae had learned to combine only the male and female parts that he could portray well Se-jin Lee changed his parts accordingly and adjusted them accordingly.

While checking in real time.

Thanks to this the level of perfection has improved like a real cover choreography.

-crazy

And as part of the point choreography one person sits and one stands and looks like Cupid's arrow toward the camera!

People screamed as they watched the pair dance in full formation.

-Be good.

-You guys hang out like this…?

-But Park Moon-dae you are the main vocalist…

"Aaaah! A truly tense match! and!"

‘That’s it.’

Park Moon-dae was satisfied to see T-Holic’s reaction and the production crew’s expressions at the moment the song ended.

Mirinae Seong Ha-rin even caught sight of them and grabbed Park Min-ha and danced a pair choreography for themselves so from the middle of the group other people also started to dance appropriately.

The atmosphere at the center was properly brightened.

“Wow really… why am I so interesting?”

-admit

After deliberately glaring at each other with Keun Se-jin Park Moon-dae grinned as he returned to his seat.

‘If you don’t know any better the image of this cut will remain clearer if you are eliminated.’

Quantity secured.

If you force yourself to survive in silence you will be obscured by the impact ahead. To put it bluntly Cha Yu-jin’s instinctive choice to be eliminated without any regrets was the right one.

‘Let’s take a good look at each other.’

But the moment the next song starts playing.

He had no choice but to jump out again.

-come

-Park Moon-dae

-Park Park Mun-dae

-Come Mundagato

'This has to go.'

[Oh me too! I like you~]

A soft and sweet immortal song.

Because it was!

"Wow!"

"go for it!"

While listening to the cheers mixed with laughter from the eliminated softies he prepared the opening with the skills of a teaching assistant who has been skilled for many years.

This was clearly a plate laid out for everyone to eat.

however.

-omg?

In the refrain Cheongryeo comes out smiling looks at Park Mun-dae and moves accordingly.

However the direction was different from mine.

"…!"

[POP! POP!

You are my Popcorn~ (Oh Yeah!)

my heart

CON CON CON CON

Control it~]

The mirror version!

It was a perfectly symmetrical dance.

'This crazy guy.'

He even gave Park Moon-dae all the center parts when the mirror choreography wasn't pretty and he only did the side parts.

– Hahahahahahahaha

-Why are you so good at it?

Hahahahahahah

-Is your memory crazy?;;

I was more impressed by his calmness.

-What is it?

And from then on Cheongryeo naturally began to move further forward and toward the center.

People who unconsciously became focused observed the movement and realized.

Every movement was perfect!

It's like mastering your own choreography.

-No but Cheongnyeo is really good at it.

-Shin Jae-hyun From earlier on he was openly letting people on his blue team who weren't part of the dance group dance behind him which was crazy…

-The leader came.

-Sssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssss neither also

-Jaehyun you really haven't changed since you debuted you K-pop fang.

Park Moon-dae realized at that moment.

'This is what I was aiming for.'

The calm and exemplary appearance shown in the MT filming right before Cheongryeo.

That was to emphasize the impact of this scene.

In this random play dance you create a character by showing perfect choreography with the same attitude but closer to clear-eyed madness.

‘But at his main job he is inhumanely good at it.’

The subtitles were already easy on my eyes.

This gap between the two appearances is very clearly visible and will maximize the appeal of the character and skills.

‘Oh damn.’

Park Moon-dae clicked his tongue inwardly but still felt it was a situation worth trying.

Isn’t there a crazy K-pop choreography vending machine in Testa?

‘If you just leave it to Lee Se-jin and Yongho to interact… ’

“…”

wait for a sec.

He realized.

The color of the strings worn by Lee Se-jin and Cheongryeo is the same blue.

So I came to my senses.

‘…You must not be eliminated!’

If only those two remain there will be no competition. Because we’re on the same team!

And it was clear that the narrative of Cheongryeo which was considered a latecomer in terms of editing would look more attractive.

This means that he could just steal the main narrative of the blue team's victory.

There was a need for Lee Se-jin to be more active.

'But… it's difficult for other members of us to come up with the composition.'

Sun Ah-hyun the remaining member of the Testa dance line didn't know much about K-pop songs to begin with and the reason she survived until now was mostly because of copying.

This means that the opportunity to move forward and play confidently is uncertain.

Then since Cheongryeo cannot be properly checked… In the end considering the number of cases another double backup is essential.

'…Do I have to stay and become a comparison group for those guys?'

After thinking for a moment he quickly exchanged glances with Sejin Lee.

And I decided.

'let's go.'

We had to somehow keep Cheongnyeo in check and share in the team competition!

…And here there is a cast member who looks at all this with a mysterious look from behind.

'…Can I stay like this?'

It was Bae Se-jin.

-???

-No you hamchi

-How long has it been there hahaha?

And to answer in real time the questions from some of the comments I noticed…

“Everyone danced openly so I just danced along…”

-ah

-oh

It was thanks to the crazy passion of the members of the same team.

All you had to do was just follow the choreographed march of Cheongryeo Lee Se-jin and Seong Ha-rin’s stunt-like trio!

And Bae Se-jin did not come forward because she thought that her goal was not to dance well and stand out but simply to not cause trouble to the group.

The copy machine is the only remaining copy machine in this game where people who cannot dance well due to overheating voluntarily leave.

Bae Se-jin survived in stealth mode!

-let’s go

-Let’s go Baehamchi!

-Aaaaaaaaaaaaaa

“Ah messages of support are pouring in!”

“…!?”

Meanwhile the random dance began to build towards its climax.

Chapter 606

– Wow fifteen? It's more fun because there are still people left haha.

＜Random Play Dance＞ caught fire even more as elite members were selected.

Now the section that will stand out due to the amount of practice is over.

This means that this is a time for 'real' K-pop listeners who know all the hot songs. As a result when we all dance to each angle together we exclaim in exasperation.

-React as soon as Ganju comes out?? LOL

So in order to further narrow down the losers more minor song selections began to be introduced… and again the contestants began to go in groups of twos and threes.

'Here all you have to do is not fall without any impact.'

And Testa was cleverly avoiding that.

"Oh just now Mr. Ahyeon! I wonder if I know the choreography properly… hmm. Come out and do an independent inspection… Ugh!"

"Ahyeon don't call me! "Don't call the red team!"

"The red team catches people!"

This was also the case when the last remaining member of the red team Sun Ah-hyun was eliminated.

"It seemed like you were picking on the spot even though you didn't know the choreography earlier!”

“…!”

“We’ll see what it’s like!”

At the moment of crisis Sun Ah-hyun cautiously came forward when she said ‘I’ll check to see if you really know.’

and.

“Now let’s start the music…!!”

Instead of existing choreography he elegantly performed a modern dance of his own creation.

“…!!”

“thank you…!”

He showed a room like that and happily left.

-Crazy… What the fuck is this?

-Even if I lost I won.

-You make art with K-pop.

-I feel like Tic Tac Tok suddenly releases another song and it becomes popular but this is it hahaha.

It was a cut that clearly impressed the public with Sun Ah-hyun’s new charm which they were still unaware of.

Of course jaw-dropping dance skills were the foundation.

“I will do my best to cheer…!”

And as soon as Sun Ah-hyun returned to her seat T-holic excitedly broadcast that the comments were pouring in saying that she had become Bambi again.

‘Good.’

Park Mun-dae nodded.

I was satisfied with the drawing as everyone did it brilliantly before being eliminated.

As expected the individual strategy worked well and he could see strategic victory before his eyes… but at the same time he also saw people from other groups who were still alive.

‘He’s persistent.’

Three VTIC members were still competing. When the challenge song that was popular on Tic Tac Tok came out the remaining members except Ju Dan accepted their fate and failed.

-I thought it would be like T Holic 2;

-In the military instead of walking you have to do K-pop dance?

-Why… you know everything right?

“Oh I don’t have anything special to do so I miss it. “I think I’ve heard it a lot!”

“that’s right. In fact didn’t you listen to it more than when you were active? “I did.”

In response to the bright answer comments flooded in calling it ‘true madness.’

‘You kill a character once.’

Park Moon-dae sighed and clicked his tongue at the neatness that even the elderly seemed to like.

Anyway he raised both fists as if he was supporting his seniors and waited for the next song.

However in the meantime the production team faced an unexpected problem.

“I almost ran out of songs I prepared.”

“…!!”

We’re out of song selection!

The idols burning with ambition chewed up all the songs.

-How good are you?

-But I thought it would be like this ㅅㅂㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

-Guys you know this is just a game for laughs right?

-Oh they’re all so sincere it’s so funny haha.

And at this time there were people who raised their hands.

There were now more dropouts than survivors.

“Then let’s choose a song!”

“Oh where are all the old people! This is something that someone like me who knows the latest trends…”

“hey! “You also failed in the 5th round!”

“Don’t be cocky! “Don’t be cocky just because you’re the youngest!”

It’s an exciting situation where the eliminated people led by T-holic sit together and choose a new song!

-LOL what is it?

-These idols' sense of song selection… I'm afraid!

The attention of real-time viewers naturally focused on the song selections of those eliminated.

What on earth will the incumbents choose?

And amidst the new fun the remaining songs from the remaining production team were played.

It was a dance collaboration song between male idol members with nothing particularly special about it.

[Come out and whip it whip it whip it

Just dance]

But it wasn't exciting anymore. It's just a song like a passing road.

-I'm looking forward to the new song selection haha.

The moment when interest in the current round naturally fades.

"left."

"…?"

The participants flinched as Cheongryeo's clear voice suddenly reached their ears.

'left?… ah!'

I realized that the majority of participants meant to perform a neater group dance by following the direction of the choreography steps. So I quickly tried to coordinate the direction of development with Cheongryeo.

But the admiration came before that.

"…!!"

Because there were some participants who moved as if it were a reflex reaction as soon as Cheongryeo's instructions were given.

They were instantly synchronized before the beat even started.

[Dancing till dawn today

That's the rule rule rule]

These are the VTIC members.

"…!!"

"Wow that!"

With unbelievable timing the eliminated contestants also suddenly lifted their upper bodies.

Comments were faster.

-Look at the reaction

-what?

-crazy

The board which had been wilting due to the ridiculous angle of the knife immediately heated up.

"…"

Park Moon-dae also had a hunch.

There was just a scene that was supposed to be cut the moment it was aired.

‘Even though the team was split up the value of the group name increased.’

It was a terrifying feeling.

‘It’s not that easy… ’

It was a moment when Park Moon-dae and Lee Se-jin looked at each other and smiled slightly bitterly to avoid being caught on camera.

“…hmm.”

Dropout magnet.

One member who was watching what was going on gently intervened while Tea Holic was passionately selecting a song and naturally pointed out a song.

“How about this next time?”

“Oh… our song?”

“haha.”

Around the time when T-holic Ha Jin-tae blinked at Ryu Cheong-woo’s suggestion.

The next round was continuing in front of them.

[I’m okay with that Babe

Boooo-

With a trembling heart I greet you you really are

Ah Blow my heart out!]

The song released this time is… the refrain of a dance song by a female idol aiming for cute and easy popularity!

The viewers who regained their concentration immediately cried out.

Who?

-This is it.

-You came.

-scram

– Dance God Dance King Copy Machine Doom Chit Bae

The last dance copy warrior who quietly continued to dance along behind these monsters.

Bae Se-jin!

The moment for him to be active is now!

It's not too difficult and it's cute and impressive so it's worth a try!

-good!

"ah…"

-??

But… reality was dull.

Even though it was almost a set-up Bae Se-jin did not stand out that much this time.

I just danced moderately hard as before and didn't try to monopolize the spotlight by playing the center.

I just coordinated my movements appropriately around Cheongryeo and Lee Se-jin who are on the same blue team.

'hmm… '

I guess I thought 'Among these guys who are so sincere and good at things I'm a bit of a loser.'

Park Moon-dae checked this while doing the time-staggered rabbit head choreography with Jin Chae-yul.

And as he expected the real-time comment response faded a bit.

-Well done

-Huh the end?

-Hmm haha

-It's great that you survived haha.

It's just… not fun.

"Yes~ Then next time!"

And it was the moment when T-holic and the eliminated candidates who had just finished discussing song selection introduced a new song list.

-Ooohhhhhhh

-Ah they taste good!

The new song caught my attention and Bae Se-jin was soon forgotten.

After one or two songs like that.

[Take ma base

[Um-ha]

A unique song came out.

A very intense hip-hop dance song that the T-holic dance unit released when they were young.

The song which can be seen as a collection of all kinds of carefully designed angles grooves and expressions was quite a hit.

-oh

-It's been a while since this happened.

-It's a famous song haha.

Viewers had small expectations that they would be able to see each group's elite dance members show off their individual skills.

It was that moment.

"brother!"

"…!?"

suddenly.

Bae Se-jin suddenly jumped forward as if it were a spinal reflex.

-uh

-for a moment

But before I could react.

It pours in from the choreography.

“…!!”

Surprisingly Bae Se-jin started dancing the intense fast and difficult choreography without any hesitation using her whole body.

Almost exactly the same as Lee Se-jin who called him right next to him and came out with him.

[!!!!]

If there had been subtitles it was a powerful introduction that would have been replayed over and over again with the huge red font taking over the screen.

And that amazing power continued to explode until the end of the dance break.

Until the last move.

thud.

“just now! “Mr. Sejin!”

Naturally as soon as the song ended there was an uproar both in the production team and in the elimination room.

Questions poured out to Bae Se-jin who accepted the microphone.

“What did you just do!”

Bae Se-jin wiping off his sweat answered while taking a deep breath.

“Because it’s a song I’ve been practicing for a long time…”

“yes?”

“This is the basic practice song for debut…”

“Oooooh!!”

That’s right.

After debuting as Testa Bae Se-jin had to study the rest and receive advice from dance members due to her lack of basic skills.

Of course rather than Sun Ah-hyun who was a major or Cha Yu-jin who danced almost instinctively the dance members who were experts at practicing were mainly in charge.

That was Sejin Lee.

-Hmm… Isn’t this the best? But if you have other candidates in mind I can’t help it~

-… doesn’t exist.

-Oh yes.

Even when we feel like each other is undesirable and annoying. It was a practice I did without hesitation even though I gritted my teeth in discomfort.

Of course I had no choice but to get it on my body.

It still spills out when I tap it.

-I’m crazy

-You debuted and practiced as Testa right?

-Bae Se-jin didn’t escape for no reason amazing;;

And… Bae Se-jin pointed to the side with a shaking hand.

“…He told me.”

“…!”

“Oooh!”

Lee Se-jin who had been singled out looked back at him with a slightly surprised face but then burst into laughter.

“Ah you did a good job!”

“…”

Bae Se-jin laughed as if the wind had gone out.

I felt like some old tension had disappeared.

After a few rounds he was naturally eliminated but it was an honorable elimination that was no longer treated as a dance skunk.

and…

“Wow! “In just 1 hour and 30 minutes!”

Finally the last five people remain.

‘It was long… ’

And Park Mun-dae persevered and survived!

The MT lawn filming location is almost like a finals atmosphere.

“Can I hear your thoughts? <Sunflower> You were left alone in the yellow team.”

“Going sunflower!”

I accepted the microphone while listening to Jin Chae-yul's cheering.

"But only Moon Dae's position here is the main vocalist."

"Of course."

So up to now you have acted as a punching bag to help Sejin Lee stand out.

Of course the question was good.

"How do you know so well?"

"Because I am sincere about K-pop."

-You know.

-Now it's hard not to know

-Don't go anywhere and say that you're from Godbangin even trainees don't do that.

-17 Songs Survival K-Pop Machine appoints you as an honorary dance line

Thank you for your enthusiastic support.

After laughing at some of the comments on the screen the writer showed I gave the yellow team a fighting sign and stood.

Next to me a survivor from the blue team was being interviewed.

as soon as…

"Mr. Cheongryeo! "The original group was VTIC."

"Is that so?"

“Now that you are the only final survivor there do you have anything to say to the members who fell first?”

“Well the blue boat team is the winner right?”

“Hahaha!”

Cheongryeo.

‘I’m tired.’

I saw the VTIC guys crying and shouting ‘V-Tick wins today too!’ and asking them to remember their slogan even though the team was divided.

Cheongnyeo will ultimately remain until the end so their narrative will be completed well…

We also have the main dancer left.

“And… our production team’s pick for the winner! Sejin Lee!”

“Oh really? “This is a little embarrassing!”

Testa must eat until the final impact.

‘Be good.’

I briefly greeted Lee Se-jin with just my eyes and then took my seat.

The interview ended not very long.

“Then let’s start singing again!”

There was a sense of tension.

The long-awaited final round.

Cheongryeo and Lee Se-jin. Of the two who will survive until the end and eat up this entire narrative as the victor of the blue team…

[Oooooh! My sorrow runs along the Seomjingang River~]

"…?!"

…there was none.

A lawn filled with silence.

The rich lyrics of the song filled the speakers with a beautiful orchestra and sci-fi-colored media sounds.

However the strangely savory rhythm between them strangely reminds me of trot…

-???

-?!?!!?

That's right.

"We never said we only play K-pop from idols!"

"…!!"

K-pop is not just about idols.

A masterpiece in the style of psychedelic song full of the experimental spirit of a vocalist-turned-trot singer.

That song is gaining cult popularity among seniors!

It is <Seomjin River Lover>.

…I heard later that the real-time comment response to this decisive battle song also turned upside down.

Hahahah

This guy who listens to and listens to all kinds of songs truly doesn't discriminate between genres…

"I would like to give this honor to my senior Wongokja Ki Seong-cheol who broadened my creative vision with great songs and choreography!"

"Waaaa!!"

"Green team wins!"

"…"

-The person who knows K-pop the best won hahaha.

"…"

Master of K-Pop King of K-Pop.

It was a moment where it was truly confirmed who among us was the most sincere about K-pop.

Chapter 607

“Raebin Kim! Kim Rae-bin!”

“thank you!”

After filming ＜Random Play Dance＞ was completed.

I shook my head as I looked at the green team which had become a frenzied Kim Rae-bin praise group and the excited camera corps.

‘It’s going to be like that for a while.’

It was worth it.

The guy who won the title with two consecutive hits following a ghost story to test his courage was actually the main player in that team’s final victory.

And from a practical standpoint it wasn’t that damn temporary team but the main player in the victory of the Testa variety show.

‘I never thought I would win there like that.’

A rapper who beats out all the prominent dance lines and wins? It is truly a human topic.

Isn’t it rare to find someone who pays for food properly even on unexpected items?

‘They do more than one thing every time.’

I chuckled as I saw him having fun.

Sure enough it was only after completing the interview with the production team that Raebin Kim was able to leave the green team and receive congratulations from the Testa members in earnest.

Then this word came out.

“Oh by the way Yujin was eliminated first and Raevin stayed until the end.”

“Oh really?”

This is what happened when Kim Rae-bin and Cha Yu-jin were fighting over who was better at the random play dance.

It’s been a long time since there was such a clear decision on win or loss.

“Hey~ Ravin’s method was right!”

“Wow that’s amazing…!”

“That’s right. “This is a claim that has been proven to be true so I will not hesitate to say that it is an immodest statement!”

Kim Rae-bin looked back at Cha Yu-jin who had been eliminated early and was sitting in the elimination box with a proud expression on her face.

And shouted.

“I won so admit it and move forward!”

“Uuuu…”

Cha Yu-jin had a clumsy face but eventually slumped her shoulders and nodded.

“OK. Raebin Kim remained the longest.”

“…!”

“congratulations.”

I saw.

Raebin Kim makes a rare gesture of gratitude while looking at the sky.

‘Is this a goal celebration?’

Of course like the deep-rooted bastard I am I immediately tried to encourage the loser instead of making fun of him.

“Confidence is a virtue of an idol but from now on you just need to learn the habit of listening more to the advice of others Cha Yu-jin!”

“OK.”

Cha Yu-jin nodded her head calmly and Kim Rae-bin returned to her serious youngest self bowed politely to us and left.

“Then I will change my clothes and come back!”

“Are you coming?”

Still I still had fun walking.

After watching Kim Rae-bin enter the MT building I turned my head to Cha Yu-jin who had lost with the intention of offering some words of consolation.

However the person involved had a calm expression on his face.

“…?!”

“…You lost are you okay?”

Cha Yu-jin shrugged her shoulders in response to Bae Se-jin’s puzzled question.

“Challenge is not best if it lasts long. “I’m cooler than Kim Rae-bin.”

“…!”

“Then why didn’t you respond like that earlier?”

“Because I’m a good boy who cares about my friends’ feelings!”

Fluent and pleasant English followed.

[Kim Rae-bin had an experience that will never last forever thinking that she beat me with dance. Just let them enjoy it enough.]

Then he lay down on the grass and started whistling to enjoy his rest.

“…”

“…”

He was truly a great guy.

‘Both of us won’t lose to each other even if we die.’

They are of the same age and have similar abilities.

Bae Se-jin who was watching all this quietly opened his mouth.

“It may seem a bit obnoxious… but I think I understand your feeling of satisfaction.”

“is it so?”

Well you might think so because this guy like Cha Yu-jin fell with an impressive blow.

‘That basic exercise song.’

The intense choreography with all kinds of steps and moves was probably not what the public expected from Bae Se-jin.

“No that doesn’t mean I dance as well as Cha Yu-jin!”

Bae Se-jin muttered with a somewhat proud expression.

“I was lucky with the song selection… Lee Se-jin gave me the right signal at the right time.”

“But the results of my brother’s practice are correct.”

Bae Se-jin did not deny it.

The guy talked about how he felt at the time with a slightly embarrassed expression and then decided ‘I have to say thank you to Lee Se-jin as expected.’

“…”

I saw Bae Se-jin heading towards a person with the same name on the same team.

However in this situation there was actually one more contributor besides Keun Se-jin.

I took a step and quietly stood next to the guy who was sitting with a happy expression on his face while the green team was praising Raebin Kim.

Liu Chengwu.

‘Bae Se-jin thought he was lucky but… ’

“My brother did it. that.”

“…”

“Bae Se-jin’s song selection.”

“ah. “You saw it.”

It’s obvious even if you don’t look at it.

Didn’t this guy say something to T-Holic and then Bae Se-jin’s practice song came out as the next song? Even a kindergartener would have guessed it if only he knew the circumstances.

This guy just picked up that practice song and put it into the song selection.

So that Bae Se-jin can play an active role.

“I hoped that Sejin wouldn’t regret holding on for so long.”

“That’s a good decision.”

“thank you.”

Ryu Cheong-woo accepted the Gongchisa without hesitation but added ‘I don’t think there is a need to emphasize it to Sejin.’

And grinned.

“Ah but I didn’t ask for that trot song in the last round.”

“…”

“It was a song I didn’t know to begin with.”

That’s it… I guess so.

Seomjin River Rubber. Kim Rae-bin is probably the only one among the cast who appreciates and remembers it enough to remember the choreography.

No it may not be a cast member but it may be unique among all current idols…

‘The production team probably included it as a joke as it was a break from choreography creation time.’

“Ravin was probably the only one who knew that.”

“that’s right.”

Liu Chengwu readily agreed.

“Ravin is truly a genius.”

“yes.”

“Yes… it’s good to see you displaying all your skills like this.”

“…”

Before I knew it Kim Rae-bin who had changed her clothes was running out of the building.

And even Bae Se-jin who is having a conversation with Big Se-jin.

Liu Qingyu looked at the scenes for a moment then turned his head and looked at the red sun.

It was time for the sun to set.

“You also showed your skills as a leader. what.”

The moment of judgment when putting a member in the right place.

Liu Qingyu looked a little surprised but then his smile returned.

“okay? Well my skills…”

The guy’s words became blurred.

And in the midst of a quiet sunset. A quiet voice was heard.

“It would be nice if we could keep doing this.”

“…?”

What is it?

‘Why are you using such meaningful language again?’

I asked hesitantly.

“Are you planning on not renewing your contract?”

“huh? “Mundae it hasn’t been long since we renewed our contract.”

Fortunately Liu Chengwu laughed as if it was absurd and immediately denied it.

“I think the way you talk makes you seem uncertain about the future.”

“Is that so?”

Liu Chengyu saw the sunset on the road.

“Maybe it’s because it’s the activity season soon.”

“…”

This was definitely a somewhat unique activity.

This is because they are risking everything without being able to guess the odds of winning rationally.

“I’ll do my best.”

“me too.”

A quiet break from filming due to interviews.

Liu Chengwu and I sat quietly and thought about what would come next after this entertainment show.

The long-awaited release of a new song.

After the sun sets.

“Oh it was really fun brothers!”

“Wow we really had fun!”

In the lull of the interview Gold 2 spacer Kwon Hee-seung also came up smiling and excitedly shook Keun Se-jin’s hand.

‘Your expression is fine.’

It seemed like he had a feeling that the amount of spacers would come out well.

Looking at the production team’s style here it seemed like they would give each group a fairly even portion without dividing it too much based on name value.

Moreover he has the position of successor to T-Holic.

-You say you are a T-holic of the MZ generation? No we are also MZ!

-Does anyone have pictures of us doing activities in our 20s?? I think it feels a bit similar…

-Spacer fans. These opinions are the personal opinions of Martin and Ha Jin-tae. I earnestly appeal that this is not the position of T Holic’s representative…

It was pretty funny.

And Kwon Hee-seung perhaps anticipating this picture sneakily approached me and said this.

“Actually if the Testa brothers said they wouldn’t appear I was wondering if I should use the wish ticket they gave me last time…”

hmm.

This guy was given it as compensation for his hard work with the server and other systems.

But we appeared on the show without even having time to use that ‘wish ticket’.

“Are you being considerate of us? “Oh my if it’s like this I think I can hit Sam with the wish ticket!”

I chuckled.

“There’s no need for that.”

“…wait a minute. That means that this appearance was also part of Moon Dae’s big picture! “Ugh too.”

no.

However he said things like ‘It definitely seemed like it would spark a firestorm of buzz’ and then stuck his tongue out at our decision to team up with VTIC this time.

“Honestly I’m not that big of a person so I was really nervous… If I were you I would have avoided it.”

No we wanted to do that too.

‘I got stabbed in the back.’

But Kwon Hee-seung eventually smiled.

“But I think I understand why you guys are so confident.”

“oh?”

“I saw it at work. that.”

Testa. The content of this album.

The guy with squinted eyes muttered in confusion then quickly bowed vigorously and disappeared.

“I look forward to the release!”

“…”

Even though he seems to be trying to please me he is strangely in a bad mood.

‘I guess it’s because I was surprisingly good at finding facts.’

I chuckled.

It was then.

“Well junior it seems like your company is confident in this album.”

Fuck you.

‘There’s no sign of him.’

When I turned my head Cheongryeo who had finished the interview was standing next to me.

The guy smiled.

“Are you surprised? sorry. by the way. “I wonder if you enjoyed this shoot.”

“…”

Here it would be easy to say back ‘I guess that’s what you did’ and keep each other in check.

After thinking briefly I opened my mouth.

“Senior.”

“hmm?”

“Why did you suggest this entertainment?”

“…”

I noticed it while filming.

“It is true that this entertainment show was beneficial to the VTIC seniors but I think it was just as beneficial to us.”

This guy definitely said ‘We will be beneficial to each other.’

But in the end I thought they would come up with a very cruel strategy and even with the boring VTIC guys they would somehow win and prey on Testa who was good at entertainment.

But in the end this entertainment wasn’t that bloody.

VTIC just did their best to do their part as VTIC but did not try to crush Testa’s character.

It means that Cheongryeo did not adopt a strategy to kill the opponent.

It’s to the point where you wonder if there’s a need for fair play like this when there’s already a lot of confusion surrounding the timing of the album’s release.

It’s not that it wasn’t a threat but it’s just common sense.

‘What is the reason?’

I looked at the guy.

Cheongryeo calmly opened her mouth.

“iced coffee. I already told you. This entertainment is said to increase the popularity of the show. Um… should I say it this way?”

The guy laughed and tapped his chin.

“Junior. “This group entertainment is content that should not cause excessive fatigue.”

“…!”

“I’m tired of conflict being incited even in entertainment shows… That’s a failure to control the pace. “The climax has to come from each person’s content.”

Cheongryeo explained in a low voice.

“The structure where VTIC and Testa prey on each other is a one-time event that can only be used at this moment. But I can’t do such a wasteful thing.”

“…”

There have been several instances in the past where activities of Testa and VTIC overlapped.

However this is the first time that the weight class is so similar that the winner or loser cannot be predicted.

And maybe… it might be the last time.

“Even if we release simultaneously in the future it will be difficult to maintain this structure. “Because topicality is something like smell.”

“smell.”

“Of all the senses in the human body it gets fatigued and dulled the fastest. “I would say he quickly adapts to the situation.”

Cheongnyeo smiled softly.

“The public gets tired and gets used to it that quickly.”

So he used this entertainment purely as an amplifier.

“It’s a moment that will never come again so we need to nurture it and use it well while maintaining balance with care.”

“…”

I never thought I would say this.

‘It’s a moment that will never come again.’

Now this kid knows how to say some pretty common sense things.

I chuckled.

“It’s strange to hear those words coming out of your mouth.”

“Is that so?”

okay.

“But that’s true.”

“…!”

I’m still mad about the comeback date… but still.

I held out my hand to the guy.

“Thanks to your recommendation I enjoyed filming. Senior… see you next time on a music broadcast.”

"…Not much to say."

The handshake was short and firm.

And now it was time for the entertainment MT filming to come to a close.

With the main purpose of filming this entertainment show.

"Filming resumes!"

"yep!"

I don't know the VTIC guys' new song either.

Even the VTIC guys won't know about Testa's new song.

The only thing that is certain is what I have planned and prepared.

And about the things I prepared with the other Testa guys… I've said it repeatedly.

'I am confident.'

"Now let's take a look!"

We ran out onto the lawn that we had become accustomed to over the course of a day.

And then he smiled and took his stance.

"Testa's new song performance starts now!"

A few days later.

The comeback date finally arrived at midnight.

“…”

In anticipation nervousness resentment excitement anxiety and excitement.

Testa’s music video has been released.

Chapter 608

Just before midnight.

Lee Se-jin and Park Moon-dae's twin home workers Ryu Seo-jin sat in front of the PC after a long overtime shift.

"…"

It was long.

The past two months have been long with me working overtime like crazy to prepare so I could get my annual leave and half-day leave during the Testa activity period…

'In some ways it might be fortunate.'

Because I was busy working I didn't have time to really look at people's reactions.

And now the Internet is truly a melting pot of confusion.

-Testa released today

-Crazy it's really just one week since the comeback.

-Hands are shaking

-Tuesday testa next Friday V-Tik… Wow I'm so nervous I feel like I'm going to throw up.

-Awesome fun

The tense tension as if it would explode if pricked with a needle continued to swell to a dangerous point without losing a single ounce of air.

When a trailer for appearing together on the agency's group entertainment show appeared there were times when more than half of the popular posts were related news.

This is because suspicions have increased as to whether they came out together to target him.

-What on earth is happening in Korea this year?

-All those bastards who are addicted to alcohol are getting old and greedy and damn my head feels like it's going to explode.

-No matter how you look at this it seems like Letty came up with a crazy plan just to make it a hot topic.

-I definitely want to watch it haha.

Of course the conclusion was 'Do you think LeTi is crazy?' but public opinion was so crazy that the speculation became controversial.

In related communities and social media there is so much excitement that very few people who are not interested are so fed up with the timeline that they do not access it.

There was no longer any chance that an individual or some fandom would be caught misleading public opinion.

'I don't know what will happen to this now.'

She even became uncharacteristically nervous and violated her own unspoken rules.

She even secretly asked her older sister Ryu Seo-rin the author of Azusa.

Do you know why Testa's comeback coincided with VTIC?

-… I don’t think he was aiming for it.

“after.”

I felt like I was going even crazier with that ambiguous answer.

Even people in the entertainment industry don’t know.

However the lack of a clear conclusion made people more anxious.

‘In a way it really… succeeded in making people unable to take their eyes off it.’

Including yourself.

She eventually rolled up a highball and sat in front of the PC again.

And it really was time.

“…”

In the silence a new video notification appeared in front of her.

[TeSTAR – Bad Feelings Official M/V]

The background of the thumbnail was… a dark shadowy interior of a warehouse.

And the white face of Park Moon-dae looking straight ahead with a scar on his face.

Mouth slightly open as if slightly surprised. And even the basic somewhat expressionless facial expression.

He looks handsome with his long flowing black hair.

Of course… I’m sure he’s pretty and handsome.

“under.”

The wound… and that composition.

…It was clear that there was a 90% chance that it would be a supernatural worldview concept.

Ryu Seo-jin frowned.

“Why…”

If I were to be too conceptual this time there would be major side effects.

I know that Testa originally targeted both domestic awareness and fandom with the formula of ‘intense conceptual content’ + ‘popular songs and choreography’.

‘It was an understandable strategy.’

No I thought it was quite clever and I even thought it was amazing.

However this was only possible because the public was not particularly interested in the idol worldview such as music videos and settings.

‘But this time everyone will be very interested.’

It was a topical side effect.

There were many people waiting for something to come out. Because I’m curious!

‘And as soon as it comes out it will be compared to VTIC.’

As a result VTIC’s Conceptual was famous for being well-received overseas so domestic public evaluations were more generous.

‘In comparison if this title music video looks even the slightest bit funny to Testa it's a blatant negative.'

How to organize quality content.

Ryu Seo-jin squeezed his eyes thinking about the public opinion that would persistently dig into even the slightest chance of ridicule.

Of course to put it another way it means that the unfortunate situation of being buried without receiving attention even though it is truly attractive has been prevented…

'The side effects will be serious too.'

-What is that? Fuck you lol.

-Did you do something like Testa?;;;

-I didn't know idols did this kind of thing these days. Somehow. Feeling of disparity?

…something like this.

Twin Homma's eyes trembled at the clearly expected reaction and his eyebrows furrowed.

However if Testa unconditionally releases a popular MV his overseas reputation as an 'artist with an outstanding experimental spirit' will fade…

There is no way Testa could have chosen that.

"under…"

okay.

Let's endure a little ridicule. If I just picked a good song and performed well it would be gone.

'I guess it's like the mermaid aggro in the <Promise> music video.'

She drank her highball with half-resignation.

And this time I pressed the play button on the MV.

Sweet.

The first thing that appeared on the black screen was a corporate-like logo.

[TESTAR in

-Keep It Safe]

The text became unreadable and the video started.

Hwiik.

Bright images pass by.

That scene at the window with the sound of laughter the sound of bells and the curtains fluttering…

'…classroom.'

school.

Playground broken school gate clock hallway school uniform desk messed up blackboard…

The scenes flowed past the outer cuts of the music videos for the debut album <Magical Boy> and beyond <Airplane> and <Promise>.

The panorama resembles the growth process of a boy or Testa.

The feast of countless short images…

widely.

It stopped while looking at the office keyboard.

Tap crack crack.

A background filled with the classic phone ringing and talking noises and the noise of flipping through documents.

A man's white hands with shirt sleeves on a black typewriter tapped on the keyboard.

The camera moved up and showed his face.

This is Park Moon-dae wearing a neat office suit and dark glasses.

"…!"

And Kim Rae-bin's soft singing rap that stands out over the bass that feels like tapping a pen.

[Get this feeling

Then I'll fall and fall]

The music rushes.

Sensuous rhythmic beats and smooth guitar modulations flowed into a sophisticated pop melody.

The popular and adult-like accompaniment went through the steps smoothly.

At the same time Park Moon-dae lightly kicked out of his seat and stood up throwing down his glasses.

He was wearing a tight-fitting gray suit.

[Walk on asphalt barefoot

Slowly and calmly still]

Lee Se-jin who was sitting behind him grins puts on his employee ID stands up and joins in coming to the front of Park Moon-dae.

And pair choreography with light steps and raising hands.

[Not yet reloaded

Reloading

Without fear without heat without you]

As she moved her feet and bounced her hands the camera turned and Sun Ah-hyun who was watering the plants gently joined the center and sang.

[Even in my dreams every day

you came out

[Sleepwalking again today]

Each time the camera rolls each member appears performs and joins the formation to create a testa.

Bae Se-jin with Cha Yu-jin's coat draped over her shoulder with her tie almost undone; Kim Rae-bin in a tight-fitting black suit.

Even Ryu Cheong-woo rolled up his shirt to his elbows.

Even Twin Home blinked.

'Is this a one-take performance with an office concept?'

Is there any fan who doesn't like handsome and tall idols performing in neat suits?

[No resolutions are of any use]

And in keeping with the rhythm the screen occasionally spun around to show the modern movements of two white hands running across a black keyboard matching the choreography.

It was sensuous.

Around this time the expectation that a modern and artistic music video would be released was passing by.

[I received so much

I can't throw away even one

I will also give you a gift]

Suddenly ripples appear on the keyboard.

Pop.

[…]

In silence.

Park Mun-dae raised his hand and swept the back of his hand where the ripples had touched it.

There were drops of blood.

[These bad feelings!

Don't leave too

[Think of me every morning]

Inside the office Testa continues to wear a three-piece suit that fits each person and performs on stage with dancers.

A strong and cheerful choreography was performed using a gentleman's umbrella pushing the office desk.

[These bad feelings!

You take it too

Take it out every day like me]

However on the one hand a strange storyline unfolds.

Testa discovers strange traces on the office ceiling during overtime or while drinking coffee in the bathroom during a break.

Blackened logo secret passage hidden symbol.

[Umm-um Dduru-du

Even when the sun sets and the moonlight falls

Unforgettable feelings]

Even being surprised to discover a suspicious black torso covered in white cloth and a strange foundation in the basement warehouse.

An explosion a face turning its head a hand knocking on the door and A4 paper flying in the air.

Bae Se-jin shaking his hand Ryu Cheong-woo waving his eyes

And even Kim Rae-bin's awl that broke the office window.

[Uuuuuu-!]

All the cutscenes pass by quickly.

It was… like a drama highlight trailer.

‘What… is this?’

[Bad feelings!]

Testa’s performance which sang about obsession with a relationship that had left in the meantime was almost over.

Cha Yu-jin standing in the center quickly made a turn and landed on her knees on the floor grinning.

[These bad feelings-!]

And the ending in a dark office amid glowing electric spotlights.

[after!]

Colorful clips poured onto the camera as Lee Se-jin blew a kiss.

Ending credits.

‘…’

“under.”

Only after the music video ended did Twin Homma exhale.

And I moved my hand reflexively.

‘The comment is… ’

As expected there was a lot of screaming in all kinds of languages.

This is the only thing that has any content.

– Suit

-love you

-This is okay crazy crazy

-Thank you crazy people for dressing up each type of suit well.

-Seon Ah-hyun stuffed black socks and garters

-Cheongwoo Pomade Wankan Poka please

It was worth it.

'I came out aiming for it.'

The destructive power of Testa who poured out the sophisticated and sexy suit concept that he cherished without warning was incredible.

Since I have been wearing techwear old uniforms or remodeled traditional clothing other than school uniforms the satisfaction of this basic thirst has been enormous.

Even the somewhat cynical girl almost had all kinds of calculations running through her mind as she thought about taking stage photos right away!

-The suit's blessings are endless…

'…'

I agreed.

However regarding the strange story line that started from the first verse… As reason returned my head began to keep score.

It definitely wasn't too creepy. That was really fortunate. but…

'For some reason it felt like I was just scratching the surface.'

Usually even if an idol's music video has a storyline it is only part of the worldview for the fandom or for the impact of the song.

In other words exaggerated theatrical and surreal aspects often stood out.

In the end it is clearly revealed that this was an act only for the brief impact of this music video.

'It was the same with Testa.'

Moreover since one of the members was a famous actor he was able to control it well and stand out even more.

'…Bae Se-jin.'

But these are the short cut scenes in this music video.

There Bae Se-jin was shown on screen not with a theatrical performance but with a slightly awkward and natural attitude and expression.

It feels more realistic than a drama.

'Did you end up like this because you were trying not to make me cringe?'

As a fan it was interesting and experimental… but it was disappointing because it was like a still cut from a trailer and the performance without that was so good.

'There is nothing that will help my grades.'

Isn't it just taking up playing time?

Twin Homma thought with cold eyes.

'If you're going to freak out over 30 minutes of the MV story extended film please release it much later.'

The number of views will be scattered and the public who cannot sympathize with it may react hesitantly.

Although she was a little worried she decided to trust the sense of the idols she was photographing.

Now that the company has become independent of course the right to speak will have become stronger.

‘I said a detailed activity schedule table would be released tomorrow right?’

It will be clear when you check it then.

But the next day.

“…”

She confirms shocking news.

There was indeed a schedule for releasing additional content that appeared to be related to those brief cutscenes in the music video.

Even next week!

‘Then it coincides with the release of the VTIC music video.’

But it wasn’t the worst that Twin Homma expected.

Because it wasn’t some stupid MV extension.

[Episode 1 of Testa’s Strange Office released]

Its own content.

Testa is famous for traditionally making and supplying rice cakes during breaks in activities.

Those cut scenes in the music video… were actually the highlight of Testa's own office reality show!

"…"

The trailer was indeed correct.

-Pre-release video release this Friday.

Twin Homma who had been staring blankly at the screen came to his senses for a moment.

But wait.

Images of these very meaningful unique and even slightly creepy cut scenes flashed through my mind.

'If the still cuts were like that… '

What on earth did Testa choose?

Chapter 609

Turn back time a little and it's sunny April.

Crack.

I was sitting in the company office with the blinds closed and typing on the keyboard.

[Due date for this quarter

-_____]

A random Excel file was opened in front of me. I never wrote it but it was installed on this PC anyway.

In the quiet office every desk was occupied by company people and among them was the person sitting next to me who spoke to me.

"Mr. Moon no Mr. Park!"

Big Sejin wearing a dark blue suit smiled and offered the office worker a drink.

"How about Americano? "I just got off."

"Good."

There may be only one question that comes to mind when people watch this video.

-Is that coffee PPL?

The straight answer is no. It's just coffee in the bathroom.

‘It’s been a while since I did something like this while filming.’

In the midst of the flood of WeTube content in the age of advertising this is such a clean private tumbler.

I drank the iced Americano in one gulp and returned the tumbler to him.

“Thank you. Assistant Manager Lee.”

“Nothing to say~”

Of course we are currently filming our own content.

‘I became an office worker to match the new album’s suit concept.’

I looked down at my gray suit with light stripes.

The custom-made suit which I had never worn even as an office worker fit my body perfectly.

We’ll talk later about how we were able to create our own content without PPL while wearing something like this… Anyway.

Thanks to that I was excited and aimed to be able to show real corporate life without indirect advertising.

“But Manager Bae Se-jin at the company dinner yesterday you said you would show me something at work today~”

“…I?”

“yes! “Ah it’s not like you don’t remember right?”

Bae Se-jin who had neatly set her bangs and slicked back her bangs gritted her teeth and responded to Big Se-jin who smiled as he told her to take it.

“…okay. I remembered. “Assistant Manager Lee Se-jin got drunk and shouted that he was leaving the company so I said I would show him the resignation interview."

"…Oh me?"

"huh."

"I think you heard wrong."

"No that's right."

"No."

The manager and assistant manager with the same name try to win through propaganda and fabrication.

"Good morning! I'm not late! "It's still 9 o'clock!"

Manager Cha Yoo-jin who came running in on time alone with hot blonde hair.

"Director Cha is a foreign graduate of a prestigious university. "In that culture time comes exactly on time."

"Is that so?"

"Then there's nothing we can do."

"Where did you come from? Harvard?"

[Harvard? The Ivy League is a place for seniors. The real university is in the west.]

[Please shut up. Eugene.]

The production team has a knack for making hot comments that would otherwise go through the agony of editing.

And… the most capable among them is the intern.

“Yeeees! Raebin Kim is an intern so she works for me!”

“…”

“Chief I’m the chief!”

Bae Se-jin was conflicted and fought back for the setting.

“…okay! “Please follow the example of Ravin intern Cha Yu-jin and work hard.”

“yes…?”

Kim Rae-bin who became the youngest intern suddenly looked at Bae Se-jin with a shocked face.

Bae Se-jin who was trying to continue the skit tried to look away with a tired expression on his face…

“no! Just work with me. “Imitate me!”

“…! All right!”

Failed.

Sejin Lee held back her laughter and slammed her head into her desk.

“…”

It’s just… a skit.

‘Is it realistic in the meantime?’

There doesn’t seem to be much hope.

Moreover there are some exceptions that no one would have guessed.

“I brought you a print.”

“ah. thank you Thank you for your hard work.”

“haha. It’s okay if you tell me. Assistant Manager Park.”

“…”

Even intern Ryu Cheng-wu.

“Chief are you here!”

“Chief!”

Even the manager Sun Ah-hyeon was born through a lottery.

‘I’m confused.’

There are people breaking out in a cold sweat after seeing a picture of their ranking being shattered.

I was silent as I watched the next steps of Liu Chengwu who was completely neat and dressed in a formal black suit to match the image of an ‘intern’.

“Ravin let’s work hard.”

“Yes Cheongwoo!”

“Oh since we were interns we decided to talk comfortably.”

“…I will try to do that no I will try!”

Kim Rae-bin was broken.

“Manager please take care of yourself today as well.”

“Thank you…”

And Sun Ah-hyun also broke down.

I shook my head inwardly when I saw Seon Ah-hyeon whose face was turning red and coughing.

For reference the reaction he had when he was the last member to enter this office was unusual.

Enthusiastic cheers as if the president had entered the room!

“The best manager!”

“Awesome! “He said he was having a board meeting!”

“Amazing! Wow!”

I thought that guy’s face was going to explode.

“Daree Moon Mr. Moon do you know that? Manager Seon Ah-hyun is actually the chairman’s secret grandson…”

“stop.”

“yes.”

This setting was cut off before Sun Ah-hyun fainted.

After that I inevitably realize one thing.

‘Here… am I the only one who can take charge of the proceedings?’

This is a mess where everyone gets dragged around by the settings.

This means that the country must also be cut off.

It’s like this.

“Hmm I think intern Chungwoo does a good job!”

“That’s right he’s the pillar of our company.”

“…an intern?”

The two guys went berserk at Bae Se-jin’s hesitant question.

“Manager Bae Se-jin just spoke about discrimination against interns!”

“I heard you can be converted because it’s a hired intern! Black and white! What should we do because we feel sorry for our intern?”

“Oh no…!”

In my head the comment reaction of ‘hahahahaha’ came to mind but I saved Bae Se-jin before she sank.

“Speaking of pillars what are our department’s goals for this quarter?”

“ah…!”

Bae Se-jin’s face brightened as he finally realized that he was finally entering the proper office setting and quickly moved to the whiteboard.

Of course it’s an illusion.

I saw Lee Se-jin whispering to Manager Seon Ah-hyeon.

“Such a smart question. As expected Manager Moon is the pillar of our company. Isn’t that right Manager?”

“Ugh!”

“…”

The rank is just… water.

Strange scenes unfold that would have been unthinkable in real office life.

‘They’re even subtly calling me Manager Moon not Manager Park.’

It is a family business in the true sense of the word…

I don’t know what the true behavior of a superior is since I’ve only been an assistant manager.

“We… right. “It’s the company that develops that AI.”

What is certain is that Bae Se-jin throws an unreasonable number and it is funny.

I nodded looking at the mysterious circle he was drawing on the whiteboard.

“But what is that?”

“…It’s an AI assistant device.”

“ah.”

“I see…!”

I ignored Se-jin Lee’s head on his desk and his shoulders shaking.

And the price of turning away was severe.

After the absurd ‘Universal AI Development Idea Discussion’.

“Director Moon said he would take responsibility for the process.”

“and!”

The arrow came back to me.

“I am…”

“A pillar of our company!”

“…”

Is this what happens in the end?

“Oh right. Manager Moon was also working on Excel earlier.”

“…”

I decided to adapt to reality.

‘It’s funny because it’s unrealistic… ’

Without hiding my nervousness I sat down lightly in my seat with a sigh.

Is it now my turn to make up a story?

“Is this the Excel file?”

I don’t know.

“That’s right. First let’s set a goal.”

Feeling like I was cheating I opened the Excel file from earlier and started typing.

‘Comte is like that.’

When I placed the cursor a date input field appeared.

[Due date for this quarter

-___Year___Month__Day]

“I wonder what June 18th would be like~?”

“okay. Debut… no it’s a date that somehow feels like a special anniversary!”

Are you coming?

‘The fans will find it fun.’

I followed their instructions and started typing furiously.

[Due date for this quarter

-June 18 20XX]

That was the moment when I entered it and got the result.

Pick.

For a moment the monitor blinked.

“ah.”

Tuk.

Liquid fell on the back of my hand.

When I raised my head in the coldness I saw water droplets falling from the ceiling as if it had leaked…

It was blood.

“…!!”

“Your hand on the door!!”

…I was surprised even though I knew it.

‘This is how it appears.’

I got scared and pulled my arm away from the members who were trying to tear my arm off and wiped it with a tissue.

“Maybe it’s tomato juice?”

“Ooooh… should I try it?”

“it’s crazy?”

In reality it may have been food coloring using starch syrup but in any case everyone was horrified by the production which seemed to be aimed at blood.

Liu Qingyu looked at the ceiling and quickly gave instructions.

“wait for a sec. Chief Cha Yu-jin. See the pole on the left? “Let’s write it.”

Cha Yu-jin said ‘Ah the intern to the chief!’ As if he had momentarily forgotten the same skit he lifted the pole in the left corner as Liu Chengyu said.

Tootong.

The outdoor unit panel on the blood-stained ceiling opened and what was hanging precariously fell down with red water droplets and hung languidly…

“…!”

It has a sticky red scab on it.

“calendar?”

That’s right.

It is also a wall-mounted calendar that you tear off one page at a time from the old days.

The members crowded around the calendar unable to get close to each other.

And they shout in unison.

“July?”

[July]

The calendar was showing July with all the previous month’s pages torn off…

“But it’s April now…”

For a moment the scene disappeared in a flash of horror.

“…Did we set this in July?”

“In that case the clothes we wore are not for summer use…”

“Wait a minute.”

I looked at the PC.

Now I can see the time written in the bottom left corner.

10:07 AM

20XX-07-07

“July 7th.”

“…!”

That moment. The other members also hurriedly ran to their PCs and checked the time.

“me too…!”

There was silence for a moment.

“So… is today July 7th?”

“Is that so…?”

Instead of participating I looked back at the calendar hanging from the ceiling.

Those dates.

“…Mundae hyung?”

“Still it’s strange.”

“yes?”

I pointed to July 7th on the calendar.

The leftmost number written in red.

“Today is Sunday.”

“…!!”

day off.

Not going to work.

“…”

Bae Se-jin opened his mouth with trembling eyes.

“Then why are we at work…?”

Where are we?

That's how Testa's creepy and strange company tour began.

* * *

And again in May.

On the screen after the pre-release video a trailer was playing.

[Next story]

[Assistant Manager Sejin Lee: Manager you came back from a meeting in the morning. Did anything strange happen there?]

[Manager Seon Ah-hyun: Ugh… not really.]

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae: What specifically did you talk about?]

[Manager Seon Ah-hyeon:… that.]

There was silence on the screen.

[Scary silence]

And the real-time reaction is exploding.

-It was probably just a set-up meeting anyway but the effect of not remembering anything is scary.

-What the fuck?

-Ah I like thriller dogs. Look at them pecking a lot.

"This was really scary."

"That's right!"

-I've never written in Excel but now that I'm looking at the interview with a liberal arts college that said it was installed on my computer I'm horrified;;

-This isn't a joke… ㅠㅠ

-Suddenly becomes unable to smile while laughing

"Oh good response."

"This is a good start right?"

[What really happened in the Testa department in July?]

The testers who watched all the subtitles of the last trailer slapped their palms.

Chapter 610

This is the living room of Testa's accommodation.

As usual I was in a lazy mood after finishing monitoring the pre-release of entertainment shows.

"Even though we were busy it was nice to get together like this right?"

"Ugh…"

"Yes… haam."

"Our office workers' entertainment show is fun."

Sleepy members yawned or dozed off here and there.

Since the music video was released the schedules were already very tight so rather than monitoring each other during the free time they chose to gather together and watch it together even if it was late.

"Now let's sleep… We're waking up again at 3 a.m. tomorrow."

"God…"

Naturally Testa got up from the living room sofa and moved in groups of two or three to go to sleep.

There is no particular tension. Everyone may have many expectations and anxieties about the promotion period that is about to begin but at least they seem to be comfortable when they are working together.

It seemed like there was nothing to worry about.

Liu Chengwu checked them one by one on his way to wash his face.

And when he came out of the bathroom with a towel in his hand all the members had gone to bed.

Except for one person.

Park Moon-dae is sitting in a dark kitchen quietly drinking water.

"…"

It was a calm face.

"…brother?"

When he called without thinking Park Moon-dae's older cousin Ryu Geon-woo turned to look at him. Liu Qingyu sat across from him and made a thoughtful invitation.

"Now you should go in and sleep."

Park Moon-dae was silent for a moment before answering.

"Watching the pre-release of the office variety show reminded me of the filming time."

"ah."

I guess I was remembering how things turned around after the bloody calendar fell from the ceiling outdoor unit.

'Is it worth not being able to sleep?'

Liu Chengwu who somehow became cheerful grinned.

"Did you try to go inside the ceiling outdoor unit?"

"…"

Park Moon-dae ignored Ryu Cheong-woo's gaze!

After an atmosphere of fear was suddenly created in a company entertainment program where people wore suits and talked.

“…First of all there seems to be no separate way. “There are some blood stains.”

“Mundae your legs are shaking right now.”

It’s because of my mood.

I took out the upper body that had been placed in the ceiling to explore.

‘It’s a waste of a suit.’

It was a dust pit.

“thank god. “If I had seen the ghost of Mundaemundae I would have fainted.”

no.

‘I did this to clear my name as a scaremonger so don’t be upset.’

Anyway I stepped down from the desk avoiding the calendar and the guys finally regained their composure and started talking again.

Topic: What kind of situation is this?

“Why is it suddenly July in the current time zone and why do we have to go to work on Sunday? Um does anyone know?”

Of course there was no reaction.

“Looking at the door frame being twisted it doesn’t seem like there’s a secret passage or anything like that through that ceiling.”

“okay.”

Bae Se-jin nodded.

“I don’t think it’s like the zombie entertainment show.”

“…A zombie entertainment show?”

“ah!”

Suddenly it seemed like it occurred to them that this was all an office worker’s contest and they started to hurriedly cover Bae Se-jin.

“Escape the room! “I’m sure you mean escaping the room!”

“Ugh…!”

“okay. We had a company dinner and escaped the room. that!”

“that’s right. “The manager took the lead~ Our intern Ryu played an active part!”

Those who returned to their duties successfully immersed themselves once again into their identity as office workers.

At the same time I became cautious thanks to the strange tension created by the bloody calendar.

“First let’s look for clues here.”

“okay. “I think there might be a hint.”

Instead of running out right away I decided to explore the office.

‘I think it would be fun for the viewers to be scared because it seems like they are overly immersed.’

“Let’s do it together Director Moon!”

“Of course. Chief.”

I followed Cha Yu-jin’s recommendation and started searching the office and I definitely found out one thing.

“There are a lot of things locked down.”

“Oh…”

Several cabinets and desk drawers were locked.

If you don’t have anything to fill you can just leave it empty but it’s a bit suspicious that it was locked without a lock.

‘Will you release me later?’

It was then.

Bae Se-jin slammed his desk and shouted as if he knew.

“Now that I think about it we are developing AI.”

“…?”

AI drip here suddenly again?

Ryu Cheong-woo asked kindly among the guys who were embarrassed by the sudden skit attempt.

“Chief have you thought of an AI you want to develop?”

“No here…!”

Bae Se-jin hurriedly shook his head and searched under the desk.

And he took out some documents.

“Look at this!”

It was a navy blue folder with the word ‘KIS’ written in huge letters on the front.

[Development of artificial intelligence]

“…?!”

It wasn’t a drip it was a real setup.

“…are we really developing AI??”

“I told you so!”

The brief misunderstanding was resolved and we went through the documents that looked like company settings.

And on top of all the documents in it…

Every sentence is heavily crossed out with a black marker so the only things that can be checked are words like ‘KIS’ ‘artificial intelligence’ and ‘delivery’.

I flipped through the pages and muttered absentmindedly.

“This is usually done before putting sensitive data such as personal information in the shredder.”

“Oh is that so~?”

“yes.”

It was then.

Palak.

“hmm?”

A piece of paper stuck at the end of the folder fell alone onto the desk.

Strangely enough the title was printed in Myeongjo font at a size of about 26pt on the front of the paper which was made of a slightly smooth material.

[Summer special work guidelines – for holidays]

“This?”

Sejin Lee began to read the contents while rubbing her chin.

“We welcome all the valuable employees of KIS who applied for special summer work this summer…”

“…”

“…for a moment.”

That’s right.

“What? “Don’t we have summer vacation?”

“I guess so.”

It was just holiday overtime?

‘Special work on Sundays during special vacation season.’

It’s a truly amazing worldview. Are you planning to show K-Overtime to the world?

“There’s more in the back…! “Because it shows through.”

“ah.”

Hearing Sun Ah-hyeon’s words Ryu Cheong-woo turned over the paper.

As the title suggests there were neatly printed work rules written on them.

However in a form that is often seen elsewhere.

1. Be sure to adhere to the daily delivery quota.

2. During summer work only the 7th floor office space of the company building is open. Access to other floors is controlled.

3. Delivery can be registered on the tablet PC at the entrance of each office and by-products can be registered on the tablet PC in front of the warehouse on the first basement floor.

4. Turning off hallway lights is a natural power saving phenomenon. Please be mindful of safety and return to the office.

5. On public holidays the elevator operates only with an employee ID card to save power.

6. Don’t take the stairs

7. Do not welcome employees who are not listed on the time sheet. Don’t react.

8. The shift ends when all deliveries and by-product processing are completed.

9. There is no number 6 in the instructions.

10. The head office operates autonomously so there is no notice of end of work. Recommend a sleeping room to employees who respond to notifications.

11. Only full-time employees are allowed to enter the bath room.

We hereby inform you that KIS Co. Ltd. has no obligation to compensate for any situation that arises if you do not follow the contents of the above guidelines.

I hope you have a rewarding working time.

For a moment a cool silence fell in the office.

“…This is strange.”

Liu Chengwu also touched the paper with his fingers.

“Why are you mentioning the first basement floor when you say you should only be in the office space on the 7th floor?”

“This is scary in informal language only number 6… No there is also an item that says there is no number 6? what?”

“There are a lot of strange phrases…”

There were some creepy things about it.

Cha Yu-jin frowned at the content but shrugged.

“Then let’s go out first! “I like seeing it in person.”

“Hmm.”

“I guess so. “It seems like the entire office has been ransacked.”

Eventually the members carefully examined the drawing of the 7th floor found on Sun Ah-hyun’s desk and quickly reached an agreement.

“There are both an elevator and stairs at the other end.”

“OK.”

Cha Yu-jin took an active role.

The guy pulled off his tie hung it next to him and approached the door.

“Are you mentally ready?”

“Ugh.”

And then the office door opens slightly.

Come on.

The sliding door which makes good use of space moves smoothly.

Just like that Cha Yu-jin stuck her head out into the hallway and shouted.

“I’m going to go…!!”

No I was about to shout but stopped.

“…”

“Eujin…?”

That moment.

Cha Yu-jin grabbed Sun Ah-hyun who was trying to stick her head out after her and sent her backwards.

“Let’s go in!!”

“uh…?!”

for a moment.

I immediately looked over Sun Ah-hyun’s shoulder and beyond the open door.

Blink.

The hallway lights blinked.

And at the end of the hallway.

There was something in front of the emergency exit……

[♪♪♪♬♬♬♪♬♬♬]

It was an old music box.

It was turned over its contents fully visible and its tuning was distorted causing a eerie melody to flow out.

If that were all it was it might have just been a scary prop but…

There's something sticking out of that box.

An upper body with black sticky arms that doesn't look like a ballerina or a clown.

crawling on the floor slowly.

Ki-Ik.

"Aaaah!"

"Ahh!"

What is that?

'A person… It's not big enough for a person.'

It's the size of the upper body.

It was definitely not a doll mask. How on earth does something like that move?

As if they instinctively sensed this the people around them couldn't take their eyes off him and started shouting as if they were truly confused.

[Why don't you at least make a fist? Damn it doesn't look like it's going to work but I'll give it a try so stay tuned!]

"Yujin forgot Korean!"

"Just close the door!"

And that moment.

I saw Liu Chengwu's eyes moving between the guys who were reaching out to close the door.

In the opposite direction of the hallway.

There was a light source other than the office.

Next to the office entrance. Black stand.

Tiring.

A shining white square above it.

"Left for a moment…"

I stretched out my hand before Liu Chengyu finished speaking.

And as I tightly grasped the glowing square Cha Yu-jin swept everyone in front of me including me with her arms.

“door!”

Raebin Kim closed the door exquisitely.

thud.

I sat back down and looked down at what I had in my hands.

It was a tablet PC.

“after.”

“Wait a minute… Manager Moon wasn’t that in the instructions earlier?”

“yes.”

It seems so.

-3. Delivery can be registered on the tablet PC at the entrance of each office and by-products can be registered on the tablet PC in front of the warehouse on the first basement floor.

Meanwhile the music box is slowly creeping across the hallway and towards the office.

I heard a sound.

[♪♪♪♬♬♬♪♬♬♬]

The flickering light in the hallway appears and disappears through the gap in the door.

‘shit.’

This is creepier than I thought.

‘Let’s move quickly.’

I immediately lowered my gaze to the tablet PC.

There was a phrase floating there.

[Delivery item transportation plan]

-Do you want to deliver?

“What are you delivering?”

“Is it okay if I just press that…?”

“I think it was written there in the work manual earlier…”

“Push!”

At the same time words broke out from several people.

I gritted my teeth.

‘There will definitely be stages of progression.’

Let’s calm down. This is a variety show.

So… right.

This means that even if we press here nothing major will happen.

“I’ll just press it.”

“okay!”

I looked back at the other guys and immediately moved my finger.

-Do you want to deliver?

yes.

So I pressed the button…

[In delivery]

Knock knock knock.

“Not yet?”

“for a moment.”

After a few seconds of anxious waiting that sent chills down my spine…

A message appeared on the screen.

[Delivery completed]

That moment.

The hallway light that had been flickering in the crack in the door came back.

The sound of the music box also disappeared.

[-]

“…”

The situation was over.

“after.”

“her…”

The members let out a long breath and sat down on the floor of the office wearing suits and shorts.

“Is this the end?”

“It seems so but…”

Bae Se-jin seemed to have come to his senses and looked back at the tablet PC I was carrying and muttered.

“So… can we play tag and look for this pad?”

“oh my god.”

“Oh my gosh I’m doing the extra work properly for once.”

I felt a little relaxed.

‘after.’

It’s tough.

It was a moment when I was about to put down my tablet PC and take a breather.

…An artificial voice came out from there.

[We are starting to recruit employees for delivery.]

The office lights went off.

“…!!”

Weeeeeee-!

A loud siren sounded and red lights flashed.

What is this again?

“Is everyone okay?!”

Sejin Lee’s shouting from the side was heard by the siren.

Blinking. Blinking.

A few seconds like an emergency alarm suddenly occurred again.

“Mundae be careful…!”

And this time it suddenly became quiet again.

Pick.

The light in the office came back on.

“Whoa.”

I immediately turned my head.

The office looked the same as before.

“Is everyone okay?”

“What just happened?”

The guys checking on each other’s well-being didn’t seem any different.

Just like wearing a suit.

but…

“Ravin…?”

There is no one.

The guy standing in the doorway.

“Where did Raebin Kim go?”

“…”

After looking around… I quietly opened my mouth.

“doesn’t exist.”

Ding-dong ding-dong!

…Notifications started coming out of the office speakers.

-Intern Kim Rae-bin. Today’s work is over.

-Please check the by-products.

Sweet.

And one of the locked drawers in the office automatically opened revealing the black box inside.

“…”

I reflexively reached out and opened the box.

A small music box.

Kim Rae-bin’s employee ID card was hanging above it.

[KIS Company]

Raebin Kim Intern / Music Box

-Keep it Safe

“It gets more interesting from there.”

Park Moon-dae did not deny it but nodded.

Chapter 611

“Hey hey is episode 1 coming out today?”

Raebin Kim’s fan sitting in the living room ignored her younger brother’s words.

The younger brother passed her by as if nothing had happened opened the front door for no reason and then came in and asked again.

“Are you coming out?”

“Oh really! “It’s coming out!!”

what?

The first episode of Testa’s Bizarre Office.

My younger brother grumbled and said things like ‘Why am I having a seizure all of a sudden?’ but he quietly sat down on the sofa anyway.

It was obvious that Gao was hurt and asked for nothing but Kim Raebin’s fan who had already gotten used to it was just distracted by more serious matters.

It was a behind-the-scenes look at Testa’s new music video that surfaced on her social media.

It must have been a long time filming the choreography scene so they wiped off the sweat and took off their suit jackets while grinning or making a V at the camera.

Naturally her eyes were focused in one direction.

Raebin Kim!

It was her favorite wearing a black suit and black shirt omitting the tie and wearing glasses.

– Hahahahahahahahaha you crazy guy.

-A black suit and a tie pin piercing on your own? Kim Rae-bin knows something too

-My baby looks fierce even in a suit!!!

Of course looking at the posts shared on social media the reactions of other members' fans were no different.

'Crazy guys.'

Every time something pops up it is clearly visible.

Testa really… really sharpened his knives and took care of it for this promotion period.

For what?

'I was trying to wear a suit.'

The impact of a custom suit that was tailored to suit each individual's age without being too excessive at the right time was remarkable!

'I thought the timeline was paralyzed.'

The speed at which GIF files were pouring in for each member with each correction was scary.

By releasing a music video that no one could see it was very successful in attracting attention from fans and the public and all fans cheered.

But… are you using that as a preview of your own content?

-Fuck you you crazy bastards.

She swallowed remembering the dizzying timeline of her private account.

‘Hey… you can’t be eaten by your world view?’

I was conscious of the fact that Testa’s inclusion of a game in his last album garnered tremendous praise and attention so I was anxious that he may have gone a step further this time with a worldview.

She tore up the sofa.

‘Do you guys know what kind of OST the title song is from?’

Of course there were fans who welcomed it because it suited their tastes but some fans who cheered after watching the neat suit music video despaired.

-Ugh fuck that damn world view of the Ten Virtues again…

-I only do music videos… ㅠㅠ

-I want to watch the stage guys.

Kim Rae-bin’s fan took a deep breath.

Let’s not be too pessimistic.

‘This will happen again and it will turn upside down.’

Until now Testa has been like this once or twice providing unpredictable answers and content that completely relieves anxiety.

And the joy and relief I felt at that time!

‘You will have thoughts this time too!?’

It was a kind of learning effect.

As evidence there were quite a few people like her beneath the surface.

-I believe in successive successive wins ㅅㅂ

-Betting like dogs

-First of all Kim Raebin's songs never fail. They are always above average. Did you feel anything while watching the song?

First of all the last comment was true.

As you said what is Testa's current music performance like…

[1st place Bad feelings / Tester] (-)

No. 1 in perfect and clean daily.

'I thought my heart was going to explode.'

Thanks to this the board was burning hotter.

-Testa new song entry 1st place

-The first results of the May comeback showdown came out.jpg

-The entry graph is crazy.

Expectations were created when Testa's sudden fan song 'EPIC' released at the beginning of the new year became a huge hit with the public.

And this comeback itself attracted attention thanks to the simultaneous release aggro with VTIC.

First of all it meant that I jumped up the stairs properly without falling down but…

It can't end here.

"Maintenance is important."

"what."

Kim Rae-bin's fan did not answer his younger brother's question and continued to scan the communities with bloodshot eyes.

'You can't be pushed out when VTIC comes out.'

VTIC's comeback is only a few days away.

The outcome of this match was determined by how far the team was pushed back.

If we were pushed too far it was literally the end.

So it's good to give them their own content as an additional treat this week when they make a comeback.

But… a full-fledged universal fan service video like this?

Rather it is difficult.

'All the muggles are running away!'

This was an even bigger problem because this content attracted aggro due to its pre-release.

As someone who has been a fan of the film for several years the public's interest has been drawn to this world-viewing video which seems to be minor to anyone.

So even though I knew about Testa's successful record I couldn't feel reassured.

'Oh muggles don't just look at me.'

I remembered the title of a video related to Kim Rae-bin's fan that I saw on WeTube a while ago…

[Testar's Bizarre Office What genre is this drama? I watched the music video and analyzed it!]

There was even a YouTuber who was excited.

'under.'

The games included in the album were originally only played by people or fans who liked those types of games.

"Oh please."

Don't let this atmosphere cool down. Don't cool down!

Grinding her teeth in anticipation and anxiety she played the first episode of Testa's own content <The Weird Office> on TV when it was time to release it.

And the first episode I watched…

"…!"

It was unexpected.

-???

-No what the fuck is this?

-Are you really a ghost? Isn't it CG?;;

-what? what?

A mystery story that unfolds in each direction.

Even the horror production eliminated all humor and exquisitely created a sense of contrast with the skit by directing scenes like a drama or movie.

Thanks to this the shock and immersion were even stronger.

And what made people even more shocked was the quality of directing in the video.

-I thought I would faint when the music box came out.

-What did you do to the idol Jacon?

-How much money did you spend? No but I don't think this is the quality that can be achieved just by spending money on your own… There is no PPL so how did you do it??

The quality of the props and the strange monsters that appeared was like a drama made with a lot of money by Net Plus.

The sense of existence of a set that resembles a real office and the movements of strange creatures that are as realistic as a real situation.

Moreover they did not emphasize words or nuances such as 'their own world view that can be understood only if you know the entire contents.'

The structure which was just like the introduction to a mystery thriller drama had no barriers to entry beyond the genre.

Moreover Testa's serious thriller-type reaction without any playfulness further added to the atmosphere.

-It's CG but even the non-acting members reacted… No;;

-I guess the members didn't know??

-It's like a drama based on a webtoon.

Druk drool drool!

A loud notification of a new post rang on her smartphone but she didn't have time to look at it.

Episode 1 was cut off when Raebin Kim disappeared.

-If episode 2 hadn't been released simultaneously I would have passed out right now.

As they said episode 2 was released at the same time following episode 1.

"hey."

Without saying a word my younger brother automatically clicked on the next episode.

15 14 13 12…

The 15-second commercial was brutally long.

It was only after I had adjusted my grip with both hands a few times that the next story finally came into view.

[…]

A dark office screen with few lights on.

There was silence as a slow close-up showed the Testa members standing stiffly.

Only 6 people.

[Manager Bae Se-jin: What is this?]

Kim Rae-bin disappeared the moment 'delivery' was in progress.

The only thing he left behind was his employee ID card which was placed on a small prop in the shape of a bizarre music box that was crawling down the hallway.

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae:…]

Park Moon-dae who slowly grabbed it amidst the white noise suddenly turned his head.

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae: Bus products.]

[Manager Seon Ah-hyeon: Huh?]

Following the gaze the <Summer Special Duty Manual> was placed in the place where it was moved.

[3. Delivery can be registered on the tablet PC at the entrance of each office and by-products can be registered on the tablet PC in front of the warehouse on the first basement floor.]

That neat document was now even creepy.

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae: This… looks like a by-product.]

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae: A by-product product notification appeared on this tablet PC earlier… After delivery.]

There was an indescribable silence among the members.

And in the meantime Park Mun-dae sat down on the floor with the instructions and began to quickly look through them.

[Assistant Manager Sejin Lee: What are you doing Manager Moon?]

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae: Confirmed.]

Park Moon-dae's clear gaze could be seen calmly sunken through his slightly long black hair.

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae: I feel like things are happening as written here.]

[Manager Bae Se-jin: Ah!!]

The members immediately put their heads together and began to carefully review the contents written in the <Guidelines>.

When you see the warning to be careful about safety when the lights are flashing it seems like a monster appears at that time. It would be better not to go to other floors where access is restricted. Let's not go into the bathroom at all…

and.

[Seon Ah-hyeon: Only this 6th time the tone is different.]

Until this item.

[6. [Don't go on the stairs]

"…"

Instinctive horror and analytical intelligence intersect to build tension.

[Assistant Manager Sejin Lee: Then… should we go to the first basement floor first?]

[Chief Cha Yu-jin: Wait. Raebin Kim has disappeared now. We don't know what will happen in the future. See the 7th floor first.]

[Manager Seon Ah-hyun: Ugh. Still wouldn't Ravin be able to find out some clues if he went underground?]

[Manager Bae Se-jin: That other office is closer.]

The conversation progressed quickly and intensely but in the end what I was conscious of was the <Guidelines> again.

[8. The shift ends when all deliveries and by-product processing are completed.]

It was impossible to ignore that phrase.

In the end the story goes that this work can only be completed by going underground and ‘processing’ the by-products.

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae: Let’s go down to the basement.]

[Chief Cha Yu-jin:… Yeap.]

Eventually the members agreed to move.

-You’re not going to use the stairs are you?

-Guys don’t go down the stairs I’m too scared ㅠㅠ

And as if responding to the cries of viewers Testa also made a common-sense choice.

[Intern Ryu Cheong-woo: Then shall we take the elevator first?]

[Manager Bae Se-jin: That must be so.]

-phew

-Thank you guys.

-I almost couldn’t sleep today.

It was a moment when viewers felt relieved.

Tiring.

A light comes on on the tablet PC screen that Park Mun-dae was holding.

It was a new notification.

[Until next delivery

– 00:30:00]

uh?

It was a moment when viewers blinked.

[Until next delivery

– 00:29:59]

“…!!”

Time limit!

An urgent BGM exploded on the screen.

And… the office lights started blinking again.

[!!!!]

The members started moving quickly as if they were on fire!

[Manager Bae Se-jin: Take what you have now!]

[Intern Ryu Cheong-woo: To the elevator!]

As Sun Ah-hyun carefully picked up the music box for the last time the members began to carefully but quickly move down the hallway to the elevator.

And witness it in the process.

[Chief Cha Yu-jin: None.]

The music box box has completely disappeared.

And only a dark red mark remained in that place.

-Ouch

Sun Ah-hyun adjusted the music box she was holding with trembling hands.

And that wasn't the end.

[Manager Bae Se-jin: Over there!]

The camera's point of view followed the hand and turned back.

The focus is Office 3 where the members whose lights were blinking alone came out.

Da da da da da da da.

Inside the window there was a loud noise and strange palm prints began to appear.

And in all the offices that follow the traces lights start blinking.

As if chasing the members.

-Amicin

-I'm scared of dogs

-Please save me.

[!!!!]

The members could not even breathe properly and quickly arrived in front of the elevator avoiding the traces.

[Manager Seon Ah-hyun: Quickly quickly…]

[Assistant Manager Sejin Lee: It doesn't work next time!]

The members quickly took turns putting their employee IDs on the elevator reader but in the end there was no response so they used

Raebin Kim's employee ID card.

And it worked.

Beep!

The elevator door opened.

-Hurry!!

-Ughhhhh

-Handprints are almost there.

[Intern Ryu Cheong-woo: Watch your step!]

Ryu Cheong-woo who pressed the elevator button took all the members on board and was the last one to get on and Park Moon-dae repeatedly pressed the close button.

And while the handprint is being chased all the way to the window of the office right across from the elevator…

thud.

The door was closed.

[Going down.]

Testa succeeded in boarding the elevator safely.

"…under."

A long sigh of relief.

-phew

-Oh I was really scared that something would pop out.

-I'm tired of judgment. Wow.

-It was me I was already crying and (forced) leaving work.

The members also took a breath took off their jackets and sat down or leaned on various parts of the elevator.

Only then did a joke come out.

[Chief Cha Yu-jin: Gosh… Manager Moon didn't faint right?]

[Assistant Manager Sejin Lee: That's right. For some reason I'm fine.]

-lol

-Just teasing Park Moon-dae

-It's the same guys.

Park Moon-dae also twitched his lips and then just smiled.

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae: Yes. I'm fine.]

[Intern Ryu Cheong-woo: Haha…]

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae: Is the intern smiling?]

[Intern Ryu Cheong-woo: ?!]

-Hmm hahaha

[Intern Ryu Cheong-woo: Sorry.]

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae: Yes. Let's do well.]

The atmosphere relaxed for a moment and the elevator continued to go down while we were in the mood to talk about our future plans again.

7.

[Manager Seon Ah-hyun: Is everyone okay?]

[Chief Cha Yu-jin: It's okay. We are strong.]

6.

[Chief Sejin Bae: Did we take all the clues we found?]

[Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae: Yes. I don't think I left anything behind.]

5.

[Assistant Manager Sejin Lee: Then let's go straight to the underground warehouse…]

And then.

The elevator going down stopped without warning.

Ding.

A destination you never clicked on.

"…?"

[4th floor 4th floor.]

…uh?

That moment when viewers blink and stare blankly at the screen.

In the silence the elevator lights began to blink.

"…!"

In the pounding white noise.

The members on the screen slowly raised their heads and began to look at the door as if they didn't want to believe it.

The elevator door on the 4th floor.

[…]

But the door did not open.

The elevator just stood there.

Instead.

[Agent?]

"…!"

The faces of the members on the screen froze.

And again unclear words are heard from beyond the door.

A familiar voice.

[I am Raebin Kim intern.]

That was Kim Rae-bin's voice.

-uh?

-????

-for a moment

-Guys

While reactions consisting of words were pouring in a friend of the same age was reflexively opening his mouth on the screen.

[Chief Cha Yu-jin: Kim…]

A hand rises above Cha Yu-jin's mouth.

"…!"

It was Liu Chengwu's hand that moved quietly and blocked the pronunciation.

And the soundless shape of the mouth.

[Intern Ryu Cheong-woo: Please do not answer.]

He pointed with his other hand.

The writing visible on the paper that Park Moon-dae hastily pulled out.

[7. If an employee appears who is not listed on the time sheet do not welcome them. Do not react.]

"…"

[Agent?]

The elevator lights started blinking.

And… the title subtitles that fill the screen.

[Strange Office EP.2 / You're next]

Kim Rae-bin's fans covered their mouths.

Chapter 612

Silence filled the elevator.

I saw Cha Yu-jin who was frozen just moving her eyes and scanning the instructions I was holding.

And I can still hear voices outside.

[I am Raebin Kim intern.]

Sweet.

At that moment as if I couldn't bear it anymore a sound rang from the elevator.

However the door did not open.

It was the sound of Bae Se-jin pressing down on a ballpoint pen and writing on the A4 paper he hastily brought with him.

And with his other hand he rolled a handful of ballpoint pens on the floor.

'here!'

The moment they saw that everyone picked up their pens and hastily put it on paper as if they had made a promise.

– Are you just ignoring me like this?

-Is that Kim Rae-bin? We have to check.

– No by what means?

-What if I ignore it and then open it and come in?

-If you say not to welcome or react it seems like it will disappear if you just stay still.

-Should we try another floor?

At Liu Chengwu's last words everyone's eyes turned to the button.

And found it.

'…That!'

The light is on on the 4th floor.

It was as if someone had pressed it.

Even though no one pressed it.

"…"

An eerie silence filled the elevator again.

I raised my hand to signal to the other guys to calm down and then moved my feet carefully.

[Agent?]

I stood in front of the elevator license plate while looking over Bae Se-jin's trembling reaction.

And slowly…

[B1]

After pressing our destination.

[4]

The light on the 4th floor was turned off.

Then.

Weeeeing-.

As if it were a lie the elevator started moving again.

“after.”

Inside the elevator where the lights had returned as if normal power had returned the members wiped away their cold sweat and sighed in relief.

And the moment an announcement was made saying ‘We’re going down.’

[Are you going underground? All right.]

“…”

[I will use the stairs.]

The elevator light goes down.

3.

2.

1.

“Run.”

[It is on the first basement floor.]

As soon as the elevator door opened we kicked it out at full speed and ran.

“To the side…!”

Look at the map and turn according to the shouting.

“Over there!”

I walked through an old dimly lit concrete hallway and saw a grey-brown fire door at the end.

And even a tablet PC attached to the door.

[Do you want to register your by-product?]

“yes! yes!”

Yes struck.

Then with a creaking sound a small gap opened at the bottom of the fire door like a mailbox or delivery box.

Squeak.

The inside is black.

…Are you asking us to put by-products here?

“Director Ahyeon that’s a music box!”

“Here…!”

Sun Ah-hyun quickly held out the music box she was wrapping around. And I took out Kim Rae-bin’s employee ID card…

“If you throw away Kim Raebin you won’t be able to take the elevator!”

“ah!”

For common sense reasons only the music box was included first.

Of course it was unclear whether common sense would prevail in this crazy entertainment show.

Fortunately after a few seconds the tablet PC displayed the text calmly.

[Registration completed]

However there was no other reaction.

silence.

“…Is this the end?”

The fire door through which the music box was taken did not open. Liu Chengyu encouraged Lee Sejin to pull it but the door was only locked tightly.

“…”

“…”

“What about when we get off work?”

“I guess they’re telling me to work overtime.”

It was only for a moment that I let out a few words as if I was joking.

Blink.

The emergency exit light that was flashing at the other end in the distance began to blink.

And then I hear the sound again.

Knock knock.

[Chief of Staff? Are you there?]

"…"

"…It looks like a friend from the 4th floor has come down."

The sound of a knock on the emergency exit door echoed through the hallway.

Big Sejin muttered in a voice full of empty laughter.

"Would it have been better to include an employee ID as well?"

I looked down at the tablet PC again.

[Until next delivery

– 00:24:56]

…now there is a text floating at the bottom.

A question I saw before.

-Do you want to deliver?

The emergency exit lights blink increasingly unsteadily.

It's not Raebin Kim… It's like the music box monster we saw earlier is lurking behind it.

But everyone knows what happened when delivery was pressed here. So I forgot my fear and hesitated.

Big Sejin touched his shoulder.

"…let's do it."

"…"

“There is no other way.”

“Is it really not possible…?”

No one could answer Sun Ah-hyun’s question.

Finally I asked with a sigh.

“Let’s take a majority vote.”

No one could deny it.

And the result.

“We will deliver.”

“…”

I pressed the button.

[Delivery completed]

As the screen changed the flashing lights at the emergency exit and the sound of knocking on the door disappeared.

But everyone knew from past experience.

That this is not the end.

[We are starting to recruit employees for delivery.]

The lights go out again and the red siren sounds.

“…”

The members form a circle and hold hands as if they are riding a grand prize. It was the same next to me.

I didn't shake it off and stayed still.

– Assistant Manager Sejin Lee. Today's work is over.

-Please check the by-products.

When the light came on my hands were empty.

"Everyone was really serious back then."

I knew it was a filming but it was more shocking than I thought to see the members next to me disappear one by one in a creepy situation.

In the middle of the night Ryu Cheong-woo who lived in Testa's dormitory saw Park Moon-dae sitting across from him at the table nodding his head silently.

The face that looked as serious as back then seemed to recall that time.

Liu Chengwu somehow suppressed laughter and continued to reminisce.

Those slightly eerie moments.

"After that members kept coming."

"…"

"The members who disappeared."

We returned to the 7th floor to look for clues.

Of course in the process I again experienced the phenomenon of hearing the voice of a member who suddenly disappeared.

This time it wasn't Kim Rae-bin.

– Chief.

-Is everyone okay? This is agent Lee Se-jin.

It wasn't even behind the door this time.

It was right behind my back.

"…"

Everyone froze at the sound of that lively voice but without even looking back they boarded the elevator and went up to the 7th floor.

-hey!

"I felt strange hearing Lee Se-jin say that…"

"…"

"No Assistant Manager Lee Se-jin."

I nodded while listening to Bae Se-jin.

And before we knew it the lights were turned off and the harvest to date was organized on the darkened 7th floor.

There was nothing special though.

"The doors to the sleeping room and bathroom are locked."

"Both of them are related to the instructions."

-The head office has an autonomous working system so there is no notification of the end of work. Recommend a sleeping room to employees who respond to notifications.

-Only full-time employees are allowed to enter the bathroom.

As I recalled those items I unconsciously leaned next to the sleeping room door.

And it was the moment when my hand naturally touched the door. Unexpectedly I felt a different texture from the door.

'…! This is.'

Cool smooth surface.

'It's a liquid crystal display.'

When I turn my head the small screen half-hidden by my body meets the skin of my finger and becomes activated showing light.

A tablet PC was attached to the sleeping room door.

I read the content immediately.

[List of employees for delivery]

-Raebin Kim

-Lee Se-jin

And at the end the cursor was floating.

As if asking me to type it in.

"…"

wait for a sec. This is…

‘Are you saying you’re going to make it even for me?’

“What did you find Mr. Moon?”

“Deputy Park?”

But before I could properly answer that question the lights started blinking again.

“…!”

Crash!

“It’s coming again!”

“Ahhhh! really!”

Palms began to be stamped again from the office window where we left.

The members jumped and screamed in the now familiar atmosphere.

“It won’t work!” Let’s not just deliver this time. “Better see what happens!”

“Ugh!”

Bae Se-jin had already spoken to the manager Seon Ah-hyun but no one paid any attention and just nodded.

but…

‘I don’t think that will make it happen.’

And sure enough.

The office window where the palm was taken was suddenly broken.

[!!!!]

Another old music box fell to the floor with a loud crashing sound.

And out of it limbs stretched out like spiders suddenly pop out and crawl like zombies…

“Aaaah!”

“evil!”

“Run!”

“no.”

But I caught the members.

“why!”

“Mundae can’t you move your feet? “Pick up!”

That’s not it.

I thought quickly while dodging Liu Chengwu’s support.

Now let’s look at what has happened so far.

No matter how much I think about it this seems like a horror movie motif.

The structure is one in which things are slowly unlocked as members are eliminated.

So it was designed so that only a few people would inevitably survive to figure out the truth and see the ending.

‘therefore… ’

If you have a choice shouldn’t you use it?

I looked around for a moment.

Bae Se-jin Sun Ah-hyeon Cha Yu-jin Ryu Cheong-woo.

Two of them are high-ranking people and two of them are good at using their power.

‘Because the setting is powerful a high-ranking person will find something of use.’

It is not for nothing that assistant managers and interns are eliminated first.

And anyway I… Okay let’s admit it. Because I’m not a very strong person against ghosts.

therefore.

“…”

I activated the keyboard by touching the blank space at the bottom of the list displayed on the sleeping room door.

“Mr. Moon?”

“Park Moon-dae what are you doing?”

I’m writing those words down.

-Park Moon-dae.

That moment.

The siren sounds again.

[We are starting to recruit employees for delivery.]

“are you okay.”

I don’t know if you heard it but anyway… I thought this was the right direction.

I patted the back of the member next to me and quietly closed my eyes.

-Agent Park Moon-dae. Today’s work is over.

-Please check the by-products.

So I… was delivered.

* * *

In silence.

“Hyung are you okay?”

I opened my eyes.

The first thing I saw was Raebin Kim with shining eyes.

Very… neat.

“…?”

what.

“Mr. Moon is here~! Welcome!”

Big Sejin who jumped out from the side and hugged her looked good too. no.

“Why are you guys okay?”

I thought he was dressed up as a ghost or something.

“Mr. Moon is fine too~ Ah he is no longer the assistant manager!”

What does this mean?

“That!”

I turned my gaze towards the direction that Big Sejin had pointed out… but before that I saw the surroundings.

‘What the fuck?’

It looked like a neat company break room and there was a huge hologram panel floating on one side like in a spy movie.

[Appointment of full-time employees]

Moon-Dae Park (A) 12:33:52

-congratulations!

“…?”

What is this?

“No it turns out that the ‘employee requisition’ means hiring an additional employee in charge of delivery work?”

“…”

“And it looks like the employees carrying out the delivery work are full-time employees!”

“Yes it’s actually a promotion~ Wow we were all contract workers originally not full-time employees.”

Not a full-time employee?

At that moment I remembered.

…That phrase in the instructions.

[11. Only full-time employees are allowed to enter the bath room.]

"…"

'So it was locked?'

I thought it was about interns but it wasn't… Did you mean that we were all barred from entering?

"But why did it suddenly disappear?"

"Isn't it because he's a secret agent? Like the National Intelligence Service."

"…"

While the back of my head was tingling the text on the hologram changed.

[Your job is maintenance of the quarantine facility.]

[Capture the monster in a music box-type control device and deliver it to the KIS Foundation.]

"…"

Foundation?

"That's why we've been doing this to become full-time employees of the pseudo-foundation…"

"Oh hey pseudo-fearful words! It should be called a secret foundation! Secret agent!"

“Yes! “You said your job is to protect dangerous items within this company to protect the world!”

“…”

Let’s move on.

Meanwhile Raebin Kim muttered in a slightly depressed tone.

“I wanted to try persuasion first but it seems that communication was not smooth because information disclosure was restricted to non-full-time employees…”

Still I suppressed my silence as I watched the guy brightly say that he had tried his best to appeal things like “I can even use the stairs that are prohibited in the guidelines.”

“…?”

“Anyway once I deliver all the music boxes to that foundation I’m off work.”

“yes!”

And in the process all members are naturally transferred to full-time positions.

‘I am indeed.’

[Facility Team / Park Moon-dae (A)]

[Start of shift]

I smiled as I looked at the sign on the electronic display board.

“…”

A dark 7th floor hallway where the remaining members gathered after completing their ‘delivery’.

“Mundae…”

I heard Sun Ah-hyun muttering my name gloomily as if she had forgotten that she should call me ‘Daeri.’

Now the only people left were Manager Sun Ah-hyeon Manager Bae Se-jin Chief Cha Yu-jin and intern Ryu Cheong-woo.

[KIS Company]

Assistant Manager Park Moon-dae / Music Box

-Keep it Safe

Are you probably seeing that phrase pop up on your tablet PC?

Just like I did just before.

Since half of the members retired like in a horror movie the gloom was slowly increasing as much as the fear.

‘hmm.’

The kids will all be exhausted soon. Now is the time to pull the trigger.

Let’s see.

‘Instead of disclosing information about full-time employees I asked them to name the rank of the next person to be delivered.’

Are you coming?

dripping.

First I quietly knocked on the door.

Toward the 7th floor hallway where members who have not yet been delivered will be quietly huddled together in the locked bathroom.

And said.

“Chief.”

[…!]

At that moment there was a strange sound as if I was suppressing a scream.

And the sound outside the door suddenly quieted down as if a rat had died.

…Are you covering your mouth?

“I know you’re there.”

Then there was the sound of the members of Udangtangtang rolling. It seems like he’s running away.

‘…’

no.

I said it as mildly and non-frighteningly as possible.

“Can we just say a few words? Just a little bit.”

Deep silence.

And a hushed voice whispered.

– Don’t answer!

“…”

The soundproofing is bad so you can hear everything. You guys.

That’s how my one-day ghost part-time experience began.

Chapter 613

A valuable experience that will never be repeated: having to use rational persuasion in a situation where you are misunderstood as a ghost.

[Park Moon-dae: Chief I am Park Moon-dae's representative…]

[Cha Yu-jin: (It's fake! It's a ghost!)]

[Bae Se-jin: (Preaching not to make eye contact)]

[Park Moon-dae:…]

[Park Moon-dae: (eye roll)]

– Hahahahahahahahahahaha

-Gommer Tibet appears in your eyes.

-The third round of negotiations broke down! (※Attempt only)

– ㅅㅂDog laugh ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

-No I can't see you so why are you telling me not to make eye contact lol?

Wouldn't the reaction be roughly the same as these subtitles?

With cold salty eyes I imagined the guys on the other side of the iron gate.

This is also a warehouse on the first basement floor.

The guys who ran away from the bathroom were chased up the emergency exit stairs. I don't know if they knew it but they both probably thought they were out of breath.

And the fact that I was doing that made me even more bitter.

'But why are you acting like a fool without opening the door and going out?'

This is because of this strange company's internal confidentiality clause.

Do you remember what Raebin Kim said earlier about restricting information on full-time employees? It was an extension of that.

-Mutual consent must be obtained when contacting other executives and employees who are not full-time employees!

No isn't this discrimination against contract workers?

It is said that it is because of confidentiality but it is probably all bullshit. It was clear that they were targeting this picture of mutual misunderstanding.

Well it might be funny but…

'Keun Se-jin was smart.'

I realized that the behavior of the guy who was quietly talking behind my back was not just trying to scare people but to make them turn around voluntarily.

And I decided to do something similar with a reverse idea.

"Chief."

I looked at the rusty fire door and spoke quietly into the darkness beyond.

So that you can hear it clearly and clearly.

“Turn around… turn around.”

[…!]

Squeak.

But I quickly opened the iron door before they really looked back.

Well I gave you clear notice. Don’t look this way look back.

‘Then you followed the rules.’

All you have to do is come out like this make sure I’m okay and have a rational conversation…

“Kwaaaak!”

“Noooooo!”

The members screamed and ran out into the dark hallway.

“…”

no.

“hey.”

I called as I chased after him but he gritted his teeth and didn’t look back.

‘Are you that scared?’

Even though I’m shaking I don’t feel too bad for some reason.

Ah one guy glanced back.

One of the two guys who doesn’t scream and is calm. This is Sun Ah-hyun.

oh.

I waved my hand.

However Sun Ah-hyun's face turned even whiter and she walked faster with a determined look on her face.

"…"

You… aren't afraid of ghosts.

For a moment I suspected that the production crew had put makeup on my face without telling me.

'…Next time I'll try waiting on the 4th floor for the elevator again.'

But this action made them even more confused.

"Over there the music box…!"

"Ugh!"

…In the end those guys who were (voluntarily) being chased by the employees who disappeared ended up falling into an even more urgent crisis by stepping into all kinds of traps.

Did you say that it is a comedy when viewed from a distance and a tragedy when viewed up close?

"…I will press delivery."

"Ahh really!"

'They're terrible together though.'

So it was even more so.

At this point each of the music box monsters that were delivered couldn't accept reality and tried to die out of shame.

"Gosh… edit this."

"Hahaha!"

I was fortunate to have volunteered for delivery.

And this continued until all the members were delivered and the manager Bae Se-jin was left alone…

"…"

The office where we started on the 7th floor.

Bae Se-jin furiously presses delivery at a dead end like the protagonist of a zombie movie who survives alone.

The last survivor who delivered himself in the end with such solemn eyes…

"Hahahaha! "Ahaha!"

"…"

[Appointment of full-time employees]

Sejin Bae (A) 14:35:26

-congratulations!

Received a grand congratulations.

Bae Se-jin who was trembling when he saw the hologram board with his name on it denied reality for a moment when he saw the guys clapping.

But soon his face turned red and blue.

“Wait a minute then you guys!!”

“We did our best to convince them.”

“…”

I guess I can’t deny it.

The guy opened his mouth and eventually muttered in a helpless voice.

“It would have been better to disappear in the beginning.”

“Of course.”

Judging from the fact that Raebin Kim was eliminated it seems like the production team was considerate and eliminated the timid ones first.

‘Of course I’m the exception because I wrote my name myself.’

As I was nodding my head Big Sejin stabbed me in the side and split the thread.

“Honestly Manager Moon seemed to enjoy it a bit.”

“no.”

“It was fun because people were surprised to see them! I was always surprised and thought ‘What’s going on?’ do!”

“no.”

It’s a frame-up.

Anyway everything went smoothly and quickly from then on.

As we all came together we all regained our courage and gained momentum.

‘Is it a full-time employee effect?’

When they saw the huge altar hanging on the wall of the bizarre-looking underground warehouse they made a fuss a few times and simply nodded.

“So all I have to do is find all these music boxes and put them all on?”

“okay.”

“There is one left. “It’s easy!”

They all ran away screaming including the one remaining monster and after ‘delivering’ it they placed the last music box on the avant-garde altar.

8.

“Octagon. Hmm… I guess you put them on each octagonal point.”

“It looks unique.”

“Couldn’t it have been taken from a historical relic?”

There was also a guy who came up with this opinion after observing it carefully.

“Looking at it this way it seems like each of the music boxes we delivered resembles our members… or rather our employees.”

“haha. Is that so?”

I see MD angle.

Anyway after eating eight music boxes the entire altar wall opened…

“and.”

“Whoa…!”

It led to a new modern space.

[Laboratory]

This is a common subject of mystery. It was a strange biology lab.

“Is this like human experimentation?”

“Ugh that’s scary.”

Inside huge experimental containers filled with unknown liquids and mannequin parts or bodies were spread out as if on display.

It was a majestic sight but it was a sight that made me decide that when WeTube was released to the public it must be restricted to users aged 15 and over.

“Let’s find a way home from work.”

We retraced the entire incident and unraveled this story which now has more elements of exciting adventure than horror.

“So in this company…”

“At our company!”

“Yes our company… Anyway I guess we manage and study this music box ghost… or something like that here.”

“We got a job at a place that seems to offer a lot of hazard pay.”

Looking at the research records in the censorship documents scattered around it seems that AI research was also conducted using that music box monster.

‘Once you set it up it’s a good idea.’

And in the meantime we discovered a key element.

“Look at this!”

[For temporary employment/summer special work guidelines]

We found the PC that contained the strange instruction manual we had originally received.

“Ohh.”

“It was made here…!”

The members looked at the PC screen exclaiming that it was eerie and made various impressions and inferences.

Then this story came out.

This is an item that has a particularly striking and different way of speaking.

“But why did I tell you not to go up the stairs? “If I had gone to the stairs I would have noticed right away.”

If you go to the stairs see the space in person and meet a ‘full-time employee’ wouldn’t it have been easy to persuade them right away?

If it were an adult’s situation they would say ‘Guys then the filming will end too quickly and it will be boring.’

‘Still I think there’s a probable reason.’

After thinking about it carefully I added:

“It wasn’t there originally but I guess someone added it in a hurry.”

“Oh?”

I pointed to the sentence with my finger.

-Don’t go on the stairs.

“This one doesn’t even have a period.”

“ah!”

“I wrote it right before printing putting the enter key in the middle as I could.”

“Ohh.”

“ah. I see. Mr. Moon~ I stayed here even when I grew up.”

“I think it was corrected right away because the numbers are automatically numbered.”

It seemed to be quite persuasive and people chuckled and said ‘It wasn’t an item originally.’

“Are you trying to prevent us from becoming full-time employees?”

“That’s not good.”

“Are they rivals?”

The guys continued to move forward lightly making various guesses.

That’s the end of the lab.

The members also solved the last puzzle.

“oh. exorcism.”

Now everyone felt the ending atmosphere of the escape room content.

It feels like you are slowly escaping and seeing the ending.

“That’s it… that’s it!”

In front of the huge safety door.

Testa who brilliantly solved the riddle of putting in employee ID cards in order of rank by saying “I think they will be sorted by seniority in the order in which full-time employees came first” happily stepped into the opened door.

Inside thick dry ice was coming out like a stage effect.

“Oh smoke.”

“Escape or successfully leave work…?”

It was then.

“yes? “What do you mean you’re off work?”

“…?”

A serious voice sounded as usual.

“Full-time employees do not leave work!”

I turned my head.

These were words I heard from someone who had not yet entered the door.

Raebin Kim.

“I would appreciate it if you could pay attention to that.”

Raebin Kim standing in the lab put his hands behind his back.

Floating behind him was the same hologram that I had seen in the employee lounge.

[Appointment of full-time employees]

Moon-Dae Park (A) 12:33:52

-congratulations!

The ‘A’ at the end of the name is…

“A stands for AI.”

“…”

what?

“This is because all full-time facility workers are AI.”

Delivery.

Employees who were hired temporarily were not promoted to full-time employees through ‘delivery.’

…AI was mass-produced modeled after the employees who were ‘requisitioned for delivery.’

Full-time employees whose confidentiality oath can be perfectly kept.

…an AI that performs so well that you don’t even realize it’s an AI.

“Then please continue to provide and manage our products well.”

Intern Raebin Kim bowed his head as he looked at the members trapped in the storage container and engulfed in smoke and walked out through the side door.

…intern.

A position that involves a probationary period before becoming a full-time employee.

“I will leave work after finishing my report.”

He was the only intern at KIS headquarters.

“It was a great twist.”

uh. Because no one was notified up to that point.

I saw Liu Chengwu reminiscing about that time with a slightly amused look.

‘Everyone was so shocked that their eyes popped out.’

Even viewers don’t seem to be any different.

The response to the early episodes released this time was decent and I was involved in the editing several times so even the final episode will be enjoyable.

I can already see the reactions of people screaming when they see the twist.

-Gigi Kim Rae-bin

-crazy

We also cried out that this was an unexpected choice so it will definitely become a hot topic.

I’m already looking forward to it.

‘But that doesn’t mean it’s Jangttaeng.’

I tapped my chin.

In fact as more and more episodes air reactions like this will emerge.

-But why did this come out now?

-I don't know the exact timing of Jacon's release… What is the connection with the music video or song?

-Isn't the answer to do more promotions during the break as it could have been used as a tour world view?

-V-Tik came out after sharpening his knife.

It's impossible not to get this reaction.

If they were going to target the domestic market they had to make a more popular choice. They should have at least owned one TV channel or collaborated with a well-known producer.

If they were going to target overseas they should have promoted like the tide by appearing more aggressively by appearing on English-speaking programs.

No in order for the performance to be reflected on Billboard in the first place they had to make a comeback around Friday like VTIC.

'I know everything.'

But it didn't happen.

'Because I have other plans.'

This is like baduk or chess. From now on you just have to take things one by one without being swayed by momentary reactions.

Until the build-up reaches its peak and explodes.

'okay.'

But before that…

"…"

"…brother?"

I silently looked at Liu Chengwu who was looking at me with puzzled eyes. Until he asks again.

"…"

"what's the matter?"

Actually I thought about it a lot.

Whether I should bring this up or not.

"Liu Qingwu."

I knew this guy's attitude was a little strange recently.

It wasn't particularly uncooperative or strange behavior.

'Still good at work.'

But when you're not working.

Ryu Cheong-woo has become more and more likely to react slowly or make strange remarks while remaining calm.

But I moved on.

'Because I have no clue.'

Most of the problems that needed to be resolved by getting here have been resolved so I decided to take my time and see.

And… finally the result.

I gained enlightenment in a different way.

About me not Liu Chengwu.

-How could I not know the clue?

Let's be honest.

I am… a bastard who is obsessed with controlling the situation.

Even though I've modified it a bit it means that I'm a person who is satisfied only by gathering all the information that can be figured out in advance about the situation I'm dealing with.

But Park Moon-dae says this group member's attitude is strange and I can't get any hints?

Whether it's family work public opinion or even schedule issues I'm definitely a person who can come up with plausible hints.

No he is someone who can do that.

'But if you can't do it.'

That means it's a more personal issue.

Something that has nothing to do with the surrounding environment.

More intimate personal circumstances.

Then… there is only one thing left.

"…Is there anything wrong with your body?"

health.

"…"

I continued speaking with the silent Ryu Cheng-wu in front of me.

A pre-release video of Testa Office's own content that we just saw.

There was something I definitely realized while looking at that screen.

A trend he's been seeing lately.

"You said you were trying to save on movement."

Ryu Cheong-woo is a guy who always steps up when there is something to do. This is because he originally came from the national sports team and is challenging in that regard.

But in this entertainment.

-Chief Cha Yu-jin. See the pole on the left? Let's write it.

-Wait a moment to the left…

Whenever something that required instant grip strength occurred Liu Chengyu thought for a moment and made a decision instead of reflexively jumping out.

And he instructed others to move.

Exactly… only when you have to use a certain body part.

"The left arm."

"…"

"You… were trying not to use your arm strength."

You won't be able to deny it.

because.

“I haven’t seen it once or twice.”

Recently… has he ever done anything like that with his strength?

Even when I go to my agency’s MT entertainment show it’s not there.

‘Even when he played hide and seek with me he targeted my psychological weaknesses.’

Even during the random play dance he maintained a strangely conservative attitude. I was quickly eliminated and switched to giving advice or being involved in song selection.

He’s not even a guy who can’t dance.

“…I was convinced of that through this monitoring.”

But still.

Ryu Cheng-wu’s arm range of motion is fine during choreography practice and in real life. First of all I have never complained of pain that was noticeable to others.

However I am avoiding using it unconsciously.

why?

“Why do you feel uncomfortable using your left arm?”

I dared to ask that question.

Expecting some degree of refutation or emotional response.

And Liu Chengwu…

“…”

Didn’t answer.

The cheerfulness and natural softness that appeared when recalling the previous photoshoot was not visible on the guy's face.

But he didn't stiffen or get angry.

He just looked somewhere else for a moment with a strange face that I couldn't tell if he was smiling or not then got up and moved.

To the hallway.

So he passed me and went into his room.

widely.

There was the sound of the door closing softly.

"…"

It was a refusal to talk.

And the next day.

"Have you finished eating?"

He calmly took care of the members checked their schedules and carried out his normal duties.

But he wouldn't talk to me privately.

It's just… it doesn't answer itself.

'What… is this?'

However there was no time to think about it in detail nor was there any time to force a conversation with him.

Because I don't have time anymore.

[VTIC – ‘Serpent’ Official M/V]

VTIC’s activity period was in full swing.

Chapter 614

For VTIC the expression ‘push’ applied exactly.

-You crazy people.

-What on earth did you think of this?

-You’re really good.

It was aggressive.

Park Moon-dae recalled the most impressive cut from their music video.

The intimidating black uniform seen in the teaser was still worn all over his body.

I also knew that by following the melody of my debut song I would take care of the completeness of the heart-thrilling narrative that represents the throne of the afterlife.

But there was one more unexpected detail.

Feels old.

dark hall. When the walking figure appears at the end of the light in the dusty wind you can see that the costume and parts no longer sparkle.

The frayed leather and rusted precious metals with countless scratches create a noble yet desolate atmosphere.

And the contrast with the background and costumes…

A fiery dance climax.

[Now I'm calling you

A maze that spreads out of control

into it]

The drone camera dynamically captures the idol stretching out his limbs while using the crowd of dancers in gray uniforms with their faces covered as objects and pedestals.

Every time the composition moves up from the bottom it zooms out into the sky and then every time there is a sharp close-up the costumes intersect and change appearance.

The filming lighting and equipment deliberately exposed in all directions deepened the sense of identity.

I am a performer.

[Reach out your hand getting closer and closer

Umm]

A powerful flight in silence.

[You'd better hold your breath]

VTIC made good use of the margin.

Against the backdrop of a fallen but still majestic and overwhelming palace the tempo was deliberately lowered during the dance break and choreography that emphasized control of strength and weakness was adopted.

Of course it was a highly difficult choreography that required several times more strength and skill than simply dancing to a fast beat.

But aiming has a multiplier effect.

[Caught and bitten]

Impact.

An image of someone waiting with bated breath and then being robbed.

It fit perfectly with their current narrative.

VTIC was actually a perfect year for students in Korea whose grades did not live up to their name.

-Honestly I wish I had known that I would perish like a dog.

-Have you ever had this kind of form in your history after being discharged from the military?

-Mom I want to become a V-Tik when I grow up! Mom I want to be a V-Tik when I grow up! Mom I want to be a V-Tik when I grow up! (sincerity)

People love underdog narratives.

And like a phoenix rising from the ashes VTIC intentionally adopted the image of challenging the current trend Testa rather than relying on past glory.

This is a structure that was orthodoxly opposed.

'This is not some kind of stolen poverty.'

Park Moon-dae snorted but knew that it was all just a battle for image anyway so he was not even more agitated.

I just guessed the other person's feelings.

'…I'm satisfied that it's as calculated.'

No you might not be satisfied and take it for granted.

Park Moon-dae did not underestimate his rival's brains and accepted the situation calmly.

-torn

In this way the MV of VTIC's new song was firmly ranked No. 1 in real-time popular videos.

No matter how interesting Testa's own content is a short 5-minute comeback title is much less burdensome to click than a 40-minute idol entertainment show.

'If you compare it in absolute numbers I think Testa won in terms of domestic views on the first day.'

However what is immediately visible is the real-time ranking above Testa.

-I'm tired of V-Tik haha.

-Ma Testa

-Is there a fandom without conscience that tries to compare the daily numbers of Sambyul's music video which has been released more than a week ago with the numbers on the first day of NUGTIK's release?

Leave it alone you seem to be in a bad mood for leaving your junior behind.

So you pressed the 'VTIC tester? When articles such as 'the majesty of the KPOP throne' pour in and Testa fans make common sense defenses such as 'It's because they came in as latecomers'.

"I'll just give you a short briefing."

Testa which banned article monitoring during the early stages of this activity was indifferent.

Because I knew what the reaction would be.

And the next development as well.

“VTIC will take first place on music shows next week.”

The members who were each stretched out on chairs or sofas and out of breath silently nodded at Park Moon-dae’s calm words.

However a question arose in the next sentence.

“In terms of album sales… the initial release will definitely be pushed back.”

“I have a question for you. Why are you so sure?”

“Because those fans haven’t bought an album in over a year.”

This means that they will have the willingness and financial resources to spend more on the album.

“Oh…”

Of course it doesn’t end here.

Park Moon-dae calmly declared.

“But we will soon take back the music charts.”

“…!”

Lee Se-jin who was lying next to him turned around with a grin and muttered softly.

“Hmm the seniors’ songs have a lot of weight. “Intense.”

That's right.

VTIC's songs were high quality addictive and incredibly epic and powerful.

So on the contrary it has a big disadvantage.

"Being heavy is not necessarily an advantage when it comes to music."

"It's a bit like that isn't it?"

A male idol song about gaining weight.

No matter how good they are in the first team and doing well overseas there are many people who so-called 'skip' them at home.

It's tiring to listen to and I don't find it attractive.

'It's too much and it hurts my ears to listen to it often on my way to work.'

No matter how clever Cheongnyeo was she could not change the tastes of people who were not interested in her in a short period of time.

So sound source maintenance is a weakness.

'That's where the balance is struck.'

I was able to carry out this composition on an equal footing but…

"The problem is the Billboard Hot 100."

"hmm."

Even if the immediate overseas performance was clearly compared to the first week there was a high probability that Testa would be objectively pushed out.

“are you okay. “We took that into consideration and avoided releasing it on Friday.”

-It has to be released on Friday to be fully reflected on Billboard. But Testa lost money by just releasing it in the Monday-Tuesday section as usual.

Oh I see ㄱㅅㄱㅅ

In this way we can continue to delay the declaration of VTIC’s victory by decision.

“Don’t get upset and just keep doing what you wanted to do.”

“Got it.”

“…of course.”

Behind Bae Se-jin’s serious voice Lee Se-jin added.

“But all sorts of things happen in the world so let’s all stay alert and let’s go～”

“That’s right.”

“I will do my best in my activities!”

“Ugh!”

In this way Testa made up her mind again to focus on her busy schedule as best as she could.

The briefing had exactly the effect that Park Moon-dae wanted but there were still things that bothered him.

“…”

So I tried again.

“Brother Cheongwoo.”

A small sleeping room attached to the waiting room.

Liu Chengwu meets him alone again.

Liu Chengwu did not ignore my words. He lightly turned his head and looked at me.

But it’s been like this since morning.

Here if I bring up work-related issues or everyday stories I will respond gently and well.

The problem is that when people talk about their own arms they keep their mouths shut.

like this.

“Arm… no.”

“…”

The funny thing is that I don’t avoid my seat anymore. Perhaps because he feels sorry for running away last night this guy just sits quietly and listens.

The lack of response is the same.

I finally held back my sigh.

“I don’t know either. “I wonder what you’re thinking and why you’re keeping your mouth shut.”

To be honest I originally thought Ryu Chengwu was the type that was easy to understand.

Doesn't it come out just when you look at it?

A person with great resilience who has no unnecessary thoughts is healthy and knows how to immediately pull himself together in a healthy way even when he hits rock bottom.

Would you say that it shows that you have no wrinkles and that you were raised well and loved?

'At least I thought there was no avoidance tendency at all.'

This guy is calm in the face of problems.

Because if it's a problem that can't be solved you don't worry about it and if it's a problem that can be solved you take action right away.

Even if you get angry and upset don't run away.

'I thought he was that type of guy.'

…No actually I still think that way. Because Liu Chengwu is that kind of guy I also received a lot of help.

-Mundae. It's okay to talk about this in a more relaxed manner.

-In the face of fear and pain people tend to get a little angry and blame others but that's okay.

So I couldn't understand this situation any more.

I understand that you don't open up about your problems. But if that's the case 'I'll take care of it. This means that he is the type of person who would even add words like 'don't worry'.

Ryu Cheong-wu who is so silent. It couldn't be this awkward and strange.

I looked at the guy.

“…”

If you think about the number of cases.

“I understand if you don’t want to talk to me. “But why don’t you get help from someone other than me?”

I thought for a moment and then added.

But wouldn’t it be a little different if it were a family?

“…I think it would be a good idea to discuss it with your parents. how is it.”

There was another long silence.

My mood sinks not knowing whether I’m nervous or like shit.

‘Fuck you.’

I stood still suppressing the urge to frown.

And Liu Chengwu…

“okay.”

I answered.

“okay…”

But that was it.

The guy who answered seemed to have something like thick blood in his voice.

A kind of weary fatigue seemed to be dripping not only from his voice but also from his attitude and whole body.

“…”

I was speechless.

Liu Chengwu stayed like that for a moment then without warning lifted up the book next to him and started reading.

widely.

The sound of books turning over rang several times.

That was the end.

After the conversation.

‘What the fuck are you asking me to do?’

Even though I lowered my head to make it easier for the stylist to work with my hair was complicated.

“Wait a minute~”

“yes.”

I feel like I’m going to turn away because I’m so frustrated.

I never thought I was very talented at comforting others but this is the first time I thought I didn’t know people this much.

‘If I just force myself to drag that thing and go to the hospital… no then my morale will suffer.’

Because the work is going well. Is it better to believe and wait?

I don’t know what the fuck is a mine and what isn’t.

“It’s done!”

“thank you.”

It was when I was so depressed that I had finished getting my hair done.

“Mundaemundae~ Wait here!”

“…”

When I turned my head Big Sejin who had finished setting up first grinned and tried to shake my shoulder.

Clothes get wrinkled.

“What is it?”

“Hey come and see.”

As I followed him I saw Bae Se-jin sitting on the sofa.

“…?”

What is this combination?

“Mundaemun University apple juice?”

“no…”

“Remove the ice? “It’s almost the stage now~”

As I was looking at him in bewilderment as he poured pressed apple juice into a tumbler as if he were some sort of bartender he urged me to take a sip quickly.

Wow.

I was dumbfounded and drank it and only then did Bae Se-jin open his mouth first.

“I’m asking just in case.”

“…”

“Did you… fight with Liu Chengwu?”

ah.

“No. “When I was talking to you earlier… I thought his reaction was a bit strange.”

That’s… worth seeing. This morning Liu Chengwu started leaking my words.

A sensitive person like Bae Se-jin or a quick-witted person like Keun Se-jin would have noticed.

‘You two have this in common.’

So I think they sensed each other’s antipathy and fought like dogs in the beginning.

“It seemed like you also froze when you saw Ryu Cheong-woo’s reaction.”

“Me?”

“Oh Mundae was a bit like that too right? “Do I have to say that it seems unfair?”

“…! “Yeah that’s what it feels like!”

“…”

But now that the two agree the bullshit doubles.

Anyway the question itself got straight to the point.

‘What happened with Liu Chengwu?’

I put down the apple juice.

“…”

“Hmm so… I wonder what’s going on.”

Should I tell you?

It seems like Liu Chengwu doesn’t use his left arm.

It looks like he may have been injured but in real life he doesn’t complain of pain and no injuries are visible…

‘In essence the right answer is to share things like this quickly.’

The problem is that Liu Chengwu actually has no symptoms.

If you talk about speculative remarks to other people in a situation where you don’t feel comfortable answering even if you ask them outright wouldn’t you end up in trouble?

Are you in a situation where everyone is talking about their problems without you even saying anything? It didn’t seem like it would be of any help to the guy who was already in such a strange condition.

‘Isn’t it better as a countermeasure to attack the company directly?’

After reaching a conclusion I opened my mouth.

“We didn’t fight but I asked about Chungwoo’s personal circumstances.”

“Personal circumstances?”

“…hmm. But I’m not sure either. “I’ll wait and see.”

“ah.”

The two of them probably realized that this was a more private story so they didn’t ask any more questions.

Still at this level those guys will probably notice it if they observe Ryu Cheong-wu for a bit.

‘Let’s lay the groundwork.’

It would be better if the members noticed everything naturally like this.

That’s what I concluded.

“Now let’s get up to get ready.”

“hmm. “That’s how it should be.”

We all got up from the sofa together.

Bad feelings’ first stage recording next week of their comeback.

It is a pre-recording that removes all sub-songs b-side songs etc. and only shows the title song.

“VTIC isn’t here right?”

“uh. “I heard there was a contract to premiere it on an American talk show.”

“okay.”

We passed the company staff having a short chat and headed to the stage.

It would have seemed no different from usual music broadcasts.

However there is one exception.

Don't be surprised.

"Tnet it's been a while~"

Here is Music Bomb a music program on T1's broadcasting station Tnet.

From the first public performance of <Azusa> to Testa's comeback show there was a very close relationship there.

Of course it was destroyed when it became independent as Orbit Entertainment.

"I thought you'd never call me again."

"Sure."

But isn't the most important thing in a capitalist world a person who makes money?

"…Our comeback has become a hot topic so I can't miss it right?"

"I guess so."

If VTIC had appeared things might have been a little different but they cut off cable music broadcasting as soon as they came out.

Tnet's greed to seize even the slightest possibility in this comeback battle ultimately led to Testa's appearance.

"It's a new feeling."

After we felt a new emotion in front of the stage. Soon he jumped up.

I can see a wave of light ahead.

-Waaaa!!

“hello~!”

“No one could sleep! Oh I’m so sorry and thank you. really.”

No matter what grades you get with VTIC or what kind of damn situation you are in.

I don’t say unnecessary bullshit to my fans. Kind words greetings jokes and cheerful questions and answers were exchanged.

‘Leave your complaints to a counselor.’

“Isn’t the checked suit nice today?”

“I think this is the first time I’ve seen such bright colors during this promotion!”

“I know. “Ravin’s fans will really like it.”

Cheers laughter and applause erupted.

“Then let’s go to the stage!”

It was fun.

-Bad feelings!

crow.

A new way to cheer.

And the stretching choreography and singing voice echoing through the microphone and speakers.

Everything is fun.

“One more time? OK!”

-Wow!

Four pre-recordings. Actually it’s a good time to end now but thanks to the mood the ending was carried out like fan service.

In front of the camera director who was squinting the members led by Cha Yu-jin said hello and gave hearts before taking their seats.

‘My physical strength is fine.’

I also cleared my throat. I looked to the side and saw Cha Yu-jin at the center as if she was on fire with excitement.

‘I can’t be pushed around.’

I smiled and looked straight ahead again.

And as is the last cut the stage explodes with all the remaining stamina and energy being used up.

-These bad feelings!

Don’t leave too

think of me every morning

Cha Yu-jin’s next refrain. He sweeps my hair and pushes me toward the center like the member next to me is throwing.

And high notes.

-These bad feelings!

You take it too

Take it out every day like me

An exhilarating sound rang from the tip of my stomach to my head. Because of the in-ears I can't hear the shouts. But I knew it was clearly in front of me.

Adrenaline rushes.

And if you jump up and move the movement to the side the next member who appears at the center is…

"…"

I can't hear it.

I immediately turned heads as I performed the choreography.

The person who had to produce a clear low voice that matched the rhythmic bass and guitar modulations…

It stood still in the middle.

"brother?"

"no."

Liu Qingyu looked like he was about to say something but he looked down at his hands again and muttered.

"no…"

"…"

For a moment silence fell on the stage.

While only MR was flowing cheerfully the members who noticed the situation stopped their choreography one by one.

“wait a minute!”

“We’ll take a break and then go back.”

But it did not resume.

The pre-recording ended with that.

Chapter 615

Sweet.

[What's going on in Testa Sanhok?]

I heard it suddenly stopped. What happened?

————————= =

-???

-What are you talking about?

-It's true real-time reviews have stopped…

-Accident?

There is a long explanatory comment at the bottom of the scroll.

-It's not a big deal. They already performed more than 3 times on stage but at the last minute they tried to do it again for fans but it seemed like they had to stop due to sound problems.

Ahh…

Ahahahahahahahaha

Those bastards are so damned even after calling them out. Ugh.

40 minutes later.

————————— = =

[I heard earlier that Testa Sanhok was not discontinued due to sound issues. Is this true?]

Is it true that one member suddenly stopped singing alone and stood still in the center so it ended up not being able to restart and the fans were notified? Is this true? If it's true the fans are so upset.

————————— = =

-Huh?

-Is this real???

-Hehe… The story is all over the place it seems like it's true.

ㄴㄹㅇ? omg;;;

-The distortion is funny. It's transparent that I just want to curse.

-You're not asking because you're curious. Just scream that you want to spread rumors. Really.

I'm the author so please stop making malicious claims. If it's true it's a fan scam so I'm asking because I'm worried about the feelings of the fans who attended the audience.

I think your fans will feel more at ease if you don't post stuff like this.

Why are you so sensitive? I guess this was real haha.

As you turn the page to the latest version the bulletin board is slowly covered with similar posts.

[Have there been rumors of a feud?]

[Is this the member who is talking about Testa now?]

[Maybe there was a fight?]

-What the hell is going on?

-Are there any eyewitness accounts from the hospital?

-I'm really worried at this point.

-Why aren't you announcing it?

[I guess it felt like I was going to give a shit to Petik haha]

Even though we are juniors we are the first to declare that we are retired. We can't do it even if we die so we avoid it haha. He is a former 1st team goalkeeper!

-Trying to make a fool out of the poor by creating a narrative that doesn't have any survival skills.

-Why are you doing that? It's because our Ruri is sick! ㅠㅠ

□I followed along like a dog haha.

-Still the leader is the one with the gun but the fact that he graduated from a national university makes me feel cool.

-It's a real shame. The guy who won the gold medal in archery haha. He did well in the first team for a few years so he was completely tainted.

"…"

-Now can we just wait for complaints of difficulty in activities due to mental pain? Hahaha

Maybe so.

A few hours ago.

Pre-recording suddenly stopped.

"brother!"

Ryu Cheong-woo who came down from the stage spoke without even drinking the water offered by the staff.

"sorry. "I'll do it again."

“Wait a minute.”

What does the guy who was frozen and couldn’t even speak mean?

I intervened right away. Liu Chengyu’s face was just expressionless.

“…”

Since I’ve come this far I can’t help but ask.

“You’re sick right?”

There was a sound of breathing coming from behind. However the person who actually heard the words did not react.

“eight…”

No I kept my mouth shut and glanced around. Eyes looking with curiosity.

Broadcasting station officials.

There were too many eyes watching.

“Stop. We finished recording. “Fans just need to show another good side of themselves.”

“That’s right.”

“I think my muscles are shocked but I’ll finish it for today. excuse me! “Director!”

Soon I heard a broadcasting station employee go up on stage and post an announcement that today’s pre-recording would end here because ‘there is something to check.’

And we quietly moved to the waiting room with Ryu Cheng-wu before we heard the fans’ noise.

widely.

As soon as the door closed I saw our staff getting anxious and calling the company to see if they needed to go to the hospital.

At the same time Big Sejin also extended his arm to Liu Chengyu's back.

"Brother go to the hospital first…"

Liu Chengwu roughly grabbed his arm and pulled it down.

"…!"

But there was no further resistance.

"sorry."

The guy quietly got up and moved with the staff without even wiping off his cold sweat.

To the hospital.

"…"

"Let's follow along."

"Ugh…"

We started moving after him with a bad feeling…

and.

"They said there was nothing wrong."

"what?"

"Brother Cheongwoo. "I'm feeling fine."

You will receive unexpected results.

'…I'm fine.'

Liu Chengwu's body was normal.

There was nothing to identify with the left arm. He is perfectly healthy but as a KPOP idol who specializes in performance suffers from chronic diseases he only received comments that it would be good to take good care of his joints.

"…Liu Chengwu's muscles aren't damaged or anything like that?"

"First of all the prosecutors say there is nothing right now."

However Liu Chengwu was not relieved by the results.

"Let's get back to schedule."

As soon as he left the treatment room he just said that as if he had never been to the hospital.

As if it was a fixed task.

"…"

"Hyung then why did you suddenly stop on stage earlier?"

"I don't know."

"Then there's no guarantee it won't happen again."

"It shouldn't be like that."

Liu Chengwu answered repeatedly.

"…It shouldn't be like that."

As if repeating it to myself.

“…”

Even Keun Se-jin kept his mouth shut.

No one could get angry in an atmosphere filled with bewilderment and bewilderment.

Because no one ever imagined that Liu Chengyu would be like this.

Just in case Ryu Cheong-woo was left at the hospital to continue receiving detailed examinations and the remaining members returned to the accommodation.

Cha Yu-jin opened her mouth in silence.

“I just scold Chungwoo telling him to stop acting like a fool and come to his senses. Tell me. “That’s right.”

“no!”

“That’s not it…!”

Bae Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyun. Cha Yu-jin also flinched when the people who had experienced a slump were shocked and opposed.

“People don’t come to their senses just because you say things like that! “In fact it could be a trauma!”

“We are working! And my brother is a team player. “If you want to win the game you have to accept criticism.”

“…that’s not the kind of people we hang out with just to work.”

As Bae Se-jin muttered with a bit of disappointment Cha Yu-jin stretched out under the sofa as if she was frustrated.

“Brothers remember Bad Cha Yujin! “I remember!”

Kim Rae-bin subdued Cha Yu-jin who argued that it was all because the brothers showed her a place to lie down.

Big Sejin sighed briefly.

“What Eugene said is actually the correct method right? “To be honest it might be better to say that this is a nuisance.”

“hey!”

“No look. If you try to coax Cheongwoo or scold him with nice words… don’t you think everyone will realize what your intention is? “In fact it could have the opposite effect.”

“…that.”

Bae Se-jin paused.

Although Keun Se-jin didn’t mention it he probably remembered their relationship at the beginning of his debut.

‘You also felt worse when I said something kind and nice.’

That means behaving appropriately.

“…”

In the silence each member seemed lost in thought.

‘If it were me.’

What do you think? How should I approach the situation most comfortably and with peace of mind?…

Of course there was no answer.

‘Now is not the time to rest.’

This is the section where decisive build-up is required in a situation where everything is at stake at the beginning of the activity period.

To Ryu Cheong-woo ‘I’ll only care about your feelings. Tell me everything about what’s going on and let’s focus on healing together!’ It’s not easy to say the same thing.

In the first place looking at Ryu Cheong-wu’s attitude now it didn’t seem like he would accept such a thing.

I ended up taking out a temporary suture kit.

I need to at least fix things. Fuck it.

“You make another excuse.”

“Hyung I’m planning to cancel next week’s music broadcast schedule first.”

I gave Ryu Cheong-woo who returned home after a detailed examination a drink that I could easily grab and said as if it was no big deal.

“We are going to prepare other content next week anyway and try to avoid appearing with VTIC…”

“They said they wanted to show us appearing on a music show together.”

The small sound of Kim Rae-bin swallowing his saliva rang right behind him.

Liu Chengwu’s tone was calm but compared to usual his reaction was clearly even a bit aggressive.

‘If you get swayed here it won’t do anything.’

I answered calmly.

“When I thought about it again I didn’t think it would be a good idea for VTIC to be in first place and the image of us clapping in the background would be broadcast on the airwaves.”

Logically.

“First of all I definitely worked well for two weeks and my grades were impressive so I think it would be better not to be compared for no reason.”

Of course I know.

Even if I say this even this bastard will notice. Oh I guess they put it on hold because they were worried that I would be frozen on stage again.

‘Still there is definitely a difference in accepting whether there is a reasonable reason or not… ’

“just.”

A voice cuts through my thoughts.

“Let’s do it as planned.”

“…”

If it comes out like that. I can’t help it.

I crossed my arms and suppressed a sigh.

“Shall we decide by majority vote?”

“…”

Of course the one who took a break from music broadcasts won.

Because all the other members agreed with my opinion.

This time Liu Chengwu did not object. I just silently looked at the members' raised hands silently accepted them then got up and went into the room.

widely.

The door closed without a loud sound. That's how I bought time but…

"I don't feel good."

"Ugh…"

Each member still sat in the living room with an anxious or confused expression.

Then Big Sejin quietly touched his side and asked.

"Mundaemun University. "You mentioned the strange atmosphere you had with Chungwoo earlier. Could this have had something to do with it?"

"…"

Even though a catastrophe occurred that left Liu Chengwu standing frozen on stage he didn't confess anything?

Now I was in a situation where I had to tell my guess.

"…It seems like there is."

"…!"

I told about what happened so far without going overboard.

Ryu Cheong-woo's attitude has recently been to not use his left arm and to be passive about using his body vigorously.

And even Ryu Cheong-wu's appearance last night when I mentioned that he kept his mouth shut.

"…"

When I think about how Ryu Cheong-woo was frozen and unable to move on stage today there is an answer that comes naturally.

"Wait a minute that looks like an injury…"

Bae Se-jin muttered.

"The physical examination was fine."

That's right. It has already been denied.

"excuse me."

The person who raised his hand at that time was an unexpected person.

Sun Ah-hyun biting her lip.

"Maybe it's yips."

"uh…?"

YIPS.

"A player who was good at sports such as golf or baseball suddenly loses control of his movements and ends up making ridiculous mistakes…"

"…"

"There are cases where people suffer from these symptoms for several years and then retire."

Raebin Kim's eyes trembled as he read the definition he found on the Internet.

"But Chungwoo said it wasn't a physical problem such as muscle reflexes. so…"

"It's completely a psychological problem."

After searching a few more times Bae Se-jin muttered without realizing it.

"…conversion disorder."

-A disease in which abnormal symptoms and defects appear mainly in motor or sensory functions due to psychological causes.

The surprised members threw up their hands.

"Making such a judgment too hastily…"

"…! Of course not!"

Bae Se-jin also quickly closed the page probably because he had been reading along subconsciously.

"Anyway it's true that I have to go to the hospital again.
"Counseling…"

"You have to force me to let you go."

The members looked uncomfortable while talking about the need for a proper diagnosis and treatment.

It is uncomfortable to have such a conversation with the remaining members leaving the person who entered the room alone.

and…

"But… if this is right."

Bae Se-jin's voice trembled slightly.

"They say treatment is difficult because it is a symptom that has not been explained by medical principles."

"…"

The heavy questions that came next eventually did not come out of their mouths but quietly settled in people's hearts.

'Then what happens to Chungwoo?'

and.

'Why on earth did this happen?'

Questions about the cause.

* * *

"I never thought something like this would happen."

Kim Rae-bin muttered a little dejectedly.

This is Kim Rae-bin and Park Moon-dae's room.

Due to this incident Cha Yu-jin who took Park Moon-dae's bed instead of Park Moon-dae who had gone out to contact the company lay down on his side and threw and caught a football.

Although it seems carefree at first glance it was actually an action to get one's mentality straight.

No matter how much he said it was an embarrassing and worrying situation.

Something unexpected.

“that’s right.”

Wasn’t Liu Chengwu a great person who would be overwhelmed by so-called ‘feelings’ such as anxiety or worry?

A strong human being with a strong body and mind without any sense of harm.

‘It would have been okay if I had played American football.’

Cha Yu-jin licked her lips and received her ball again with one hand.

widely.

A conversation between two quick-witted older brothers flashes through my mind.

-When Chungwoo quit archery it was because of aftereffects on his left arm. Maybe that might come to mind?

-It’s been quiet for a while since debut but suddenly now?

okay. Strange timing.

And here is a friend of his same age who secretly came up with another hypothesis.

“Cha Yujin. Do you think that the disappeared past we were thinking of may have had a negative impact on Chungwoo?”

oh.

“perhaps.”

okay. It was something he had thought about too.

Cha Yu-jin recited the alphabet with her mouth. STIER.

Steer.

“That can have an impact.”

Cha Yu-jin also needed some time to organize her thoughts. But he has already gone beyond that stage and has digested the memories.

In fact now only a bitter yet pleasant feeling remained.

‘I can’t believe Moon Dae is my fan.’

Thinking of the original owner of the bed she was lying on Cha Yu-jin felt the urge to whistle briefly in a teasing manner.

Of course he realized the reality and disappeared.

Cha Yu-jin answered calmly and coolly.

“The group didn’t have good results but we finished well and the misunderstanding disappeared.”

“…”

“You’re right.”

Kim Rae-bin also nodded seriously.

Testa is currently going smoothly and there is no way it will suddenly fall into controversy like it did then just because it has a fight with VTIC.

‘Well the activity that just the three of us did at the end was okay in its own way.’

It was eventful but looking back now it wasn’t that bad as a finale to the group called Steer…

finish?

"…!"

Cha Yu-jin stopped her hand.

Then he put down the ball and raised his upper body.

"Cha Yujin?"

"Ravin. "After you finished you went to the military right?"

"uh?"

Raebin Kim realized that it meant steer and nodded absentmindedly.

"okay. And I continued to study composition…"

"I went to America and did other things."

Cha Yu-jin opened her mouth again.

"What did you do at that time Chungwoo?"

Sweet.

At that moment the door opened and the owner of the room appeared.

Park Moon-dae who had just returned from a phone call looked tired after seeing the two youngest.

"You guys here…"

"Hyung Moon Dae."

Before Park Moon-dae could say anything Cha Yu-jin quickly pushed his brother back into the room and closed the door.

With the sound of the door closing a strange expression appeared on Park Moon-dae's face.

"You've worked hard! You did really well. "But I have something to ask you."

What are you saying?

Park Moon-dae was shocked but after seeing Cha Yu-jin's serious face he decided to listen to what he said next.

And immediately sighs.

"I was a fan of my older brother Bad Cha Yu-jin. "Right?"

"…no"

"I know. We all know. So let me ask."

Park Moon-dae who was suddenly questioned by Steer Fan once more was so embarrassed that he kept his mouth shut but his expression couldn't help but return when Cha Yu-jin said next.

Because it was informative.

"What did Chungwoo do after our group ended?"

"…"

Park Mun-dae answered slowly.

"I haven't heard from all three of you."

"…"

Kim Rae-bin went to the military and Cha Yu-jin went to the United States.

“Cheongwoo also had no other activities. So what I was up to at that time… I don’t know.”

“…!”

Cha Yu-jin shouted.

“That’s strange!”

“what?”

[Obviously he wanted to continue being a KPOP singer!]

That… is a fact that even Park Moon-dae has no choice but to know.

“I also saw Moon Dae. “Scary Cheongwoo!”

When I only remember steer Liu Chengwu I remember how desperate he was to carry out Testa’s activities properly.

“…”

for a moment.

If so… that is.

‘Even after the steer was over couldn’t Ryu Cheong-wu have done anything?’

Even if it’s a small solo album.

If he wanted to do it he would have renewed his contract with a small or medium-sized agency and even if he didn’t there should have been an article that hinted at something.

That is if you have the intention to continue working in the entertainment industry.

But the thing that doesn't exist is…

"…You were in a situation where you couldn't do it?"

And what is the reason?

"Didn't your arm hurt at that time?"

"…"

Damn it.

Chapter 616

Liu Chengwu had heard such words from adults since he was very young.

This means that he was truly blessed.

– Even though he is young he already has a tall and sharp figure and I am so blessed that he resembles his mom and dad. Oh my~ how good is it?

This story followed him throughout his life. Only the tone of voice changed depending on the surrounding environment.

-Hey I'll have to call you brother from now on. You are fucking good.

-Ah you should call Cheongwoo hyung.

-Ryu Cheong-woo is selected for the national team? That guy really has it all.

Sometimes it was a subtle attack.

-Honestly I was born like that. Isn't it weirder that I can't do it?

-Isn't it better to choose archery with that body? It's not even soccer or baseball it's all teamwork. That bastard?

And Liu Chengwu has never attached much significance to those opinions.

I too had worries and difficulties but I didn't feel any sense of defiance wondering why I was like that nor did I feel excited or arrogant thinking that I was a naturally talented person.

That doesn't change anything so what's the point?

A life of just doing what you have to do every day liking the good things and quickly letting go or overcoming the things you don't like.

It goes without saying that such a gentle disposition made Ryu Cheong-woo's position even stronger.

Because people who are not swayed by the sounds around them are attractive anywhere.

In this way he lived steadily without being influenced or influenced by various interferences and prejudices.

Because I had the mental strength will talent and sincerity to overcome adversity. He was able to run without hesitation toward what he wanted to achieve throughout his life.

Until that happened.

-Cheongwoo! Our Cheongwoo arm… oh please please…

"…"

Liu Chengwu closed his eyes and opened them.

He must have fallen asleep for a moment but he was lying on the bed. My back was damp with cold sweat.

I need to take a shower.

He got up from his seat in a bit of a daze.

Tuk.

I reflexively caught my smartphone as it fell next to me.

"…"

The room was quiet.

My roommate Cha Yu-jin was away. The American football that had been sitting on the bed next to me was also gone.

'You went out with that thing again.'

Every time I go somewhere I never let go of it. Cha Yu-jin.

Even when he left the room without saying a word on a day off because his schedule was not set due to a controversy…

"no."

That's not now.

Liu Chengyu stopped walking. I haven't even gotten into the shower yet but it feels like cold water has been poured on the top of my head.

It seemed like it kept getting mixed up.

A past that no longer exists.

"…"

He stood there for a moment lost in unspeakable thoughts and then took a heavy step again.

Let's do our job.

As you do your work… at some point you get distracted.

I went into the bathroom attached to my room and washed with cold water and when I came out there was someone in the living room.

"…! Liu Chengwu."

Bae Se-jin who was reading an e-book reader with a TV on that he wasn’t even watching was delighted.

It was a quick morning break this morning after finishing the pre-recording of a music show without an audience.

“Did you get some rest?”

Liu Chengwu nodded.

“What about the other kids?”

“ah

And Bae Se-jin hesitated a few times and then asked as if he had practiced.

“It’s time for lunch. What… should I order and eat? “Do you want to eat something?”

Then when the atmosphere eases does he try to carefully get to the point?

As soon as I expected that I started to feel tired as if I had already experienced it.

“…”

I wasn’t used to this.

It is impossible to guess and accept other people’s good intentions and help in advance.

If you don’t need it just accept it as you don’t need it and if you need it just accept it gladly. That hasn’t happened recently. wonderfully.

Liu Chengwu just shook his head calmly.

Denial without even having a conversation.

“Oh yeah…”

Bae Se-jin quietly agreed. A faint sense of guilt passed by at that sight but it was meaningless to express it.

Bae Se-jin soon quietly spoke to someone on the phone…

“brother.”

Soon members who were not in the living room came rushing into the house.

There was a dangling plastic bag in his hand.

“I heard you both haven’t had lunch yet so I brought it for you.”

What I bought was gamjatang. The members came in without saying anything in particular that they had bought something that my brother liked saying they just wanted something hot.

Are you doing this because you think I might find it burdensome to openly give the impression that you care for me?

Perhaps it was even more tiresome because the thought of trying to guess that point was unfamiliar to me.

Liu Chengyu sat at the table helping prepare the meal in silence.

“I will eat well~”

The thought that this was a moment that should have been rushed and done in the car did not leave my mind.

I think it’s correct to check whether the members left the dorm because they had other entertainment or other matters to attend to…

I didn’t want to ask.

But you have to do what you have to do.

“You have a stage schedule in the afternoon.”

“…”

At Liu Qingwu’s words the sound from the table stopped for a moment.

The attitude of reacting after thinking once.

“yes. But anyway there is no live broadcast and it is a studio shoot. “I like this about WeTube.”

“That’s right.”

In fact it is not important whether it is a live broadcast or not but I probably wanted to focus on the fact that it was a studio shoot.

That there is no audience.

It was a sign that it would be okay even if he couldn’t perform on stage again.

Just like I did this morning.

“…”

Still if you stop on stage one or two more times words will definitely get out.

Because that’s how controversy is.

Because… the story is already coming out.

“…”

But at times like this did you say thank you and practice hard?

Liu Chengwu repeated “I don’t know.”

I don’t know.

* * *

“What should I do? “It’s like comforting someone and asking them where it hurts.”

“…”

“I don’t know. no…”

Bae Se-jin almost lost his mind.

As expected since Ryu Cheong-wu and I were both in the dorm any attempt to talk openly with people of the same age seemed to have sunk.

‘I forgot that this guy is also the type of person who thinks too much and suffers… ’

He is a person who sticks his head in when it comes to right and wrong but since it becomes someone else’s mental problem he has no choice but to repeat simulation after simulation like walking through a minefield.

‘I guess I’m more cautious because I’m struggling with mental issues myself.’

This is especially true because Ryu Cheong-woo appears to have calmed down a bit.

I pressed my eyebrows and recalled.

‘Today’s recording was fine again.’

Even if we were to cut out next week’s music broadcast it was impossible to cut everything starting this week due to many practical issues.

You need a proper reason to cancel an already scheduled schedule a day or two in advance but we don't have a medical certificate or anything. An official announcement is impossible.

So I decided to cry and eat mustard and proceeded in the early morning excluding the audience with the excuse of 'safety issues'.

-I'm going to start filming!

And Ryu Cheong-woo succeeded in performing his part calmly during the stage.

But every time I took a break I could clearly feel that this guy was sinking.

Cold sweat. silence.

…It was breathtaking.

'But it wouldn't have been noticeable through the camera.'

That was fortunate.

Perhaps fans are now trying to bury this matter appropriately.

First of all the fact that stage filming took place seems like a sign that there are no physical problems.

-It seems like there's friction with the broadcasting station because it's T1… ㅋㅋㅠㅠ ㅅㅂ

-Our kids are doing well on stage so please stop rumors and bullshit.

-They say it's a safety issue but I don't think it's necessary to mention it because it involves sensitive personal information of people in the audience and things like that so please be mindful.

Of course since the eyewitness story had already spread it was impossible to stop the rumor that Ryu Cheong-woo seemed to have panic disorder…

‘…I just need to get it resolved quickly within this week.’

Then you can turn the topic into pre-recorded content and move on assuming that it is due to the circumstances of the broadcasting station or company.

Of course if it can be resolved.

‘Fuck you.’

I suppressed my silence as I remembered the reasoning about Ryu Cheng-wu’s current condition that I had not yet been able to tell the other members.

That… can it be resolved in a short period of time?

Bae Se-jin also fell asleep at a similar time.

“If it were me and things weren’t going well I would probably feel pressured if I said out loud that I cared about myself…”

“Ah that’s a bit different now.”

There were even people who said they would work harder even if it was because they felt sorry for paying attention to them to people who said they would be impressed and people who said they would gain strength.

But no one is sure.

“…I don’t know what the right answer is because I don’t know the reason.”

The bottom line is that I don’t know how Liu Chengwu will react.

Everyone implicitly agreed.

"…"

In the end… Should we figure out the exact reason first?

'I didn't want to do it because I felt like I would cross the line if I did.'

There is nothing I can do now.

There was no time and I knew that Liu Chengwu was in an environment where he could not speak honestly.

'Then we need to hire someone who can speak honestly.'

I eventually decided to go with Plan B.

I called the guy who was out on the veranda.

"Cheongwoo."

"…!"

"Cha Yujin is calling you."

Ryu Cheong-woo opened his door with Park Moon-dae watching.

"OK. "Brother come in."

Inside the room my roommate clapped his hands. The football was back in its place.

But Cha Yu-jin was not alone.

Kim Rae-bin was sitting on the floor with a nervous expression.

thud.

As soon as Park Moon-dae closed Cha Yu-jin immediately opened her mouth.

“I don’t have time so speak quickly.”

As Ryu Cheong-woo gave him a look Cha Yu-jin rested her chin on one hand.

Those eyes were shiny.

“I’m Bad Cha Yu-jin from now on.”

“…?”

For a moment Ryu Cheong-woo suspected that Cha Yu-jin was joking.

“Eujin.”

“Nope. I’m telling you. “Listen first.”

Cha Yu-jin frowned.

And from the next words Ryu Cheong-woo knew what ‘Bad Cha Yu-jin’ meant.

“Ryu Cheong-woo do you remember the last time you worked with me?”

“…”

The tone changed.

A slightly cynical and cutting tone. Becoming proficient in Korean.

That tone of voice I’ve heard many times before.

-If Ryu Cheong-woo really had a problem while steering I think it would be most effective to talk to someone who knew what happened at the time.

Cha Yu-jin gladly accepted the offer and took on today's role.

-OK. I do it.

He was speaking in exactly the same way as he did back then.

As if I had Cha Yu-jin in front of me at that time.

Cha Yu-jin threw the ball he was holding back.

"We didn't renew our contract as a group and each person found something to do on their own. "I will go to America and Kim Rae-bin will go to the military."

"…"

"What did you do at that time?"

silence.

However Cha Yu-jin did not bat an eye.

"There is no option not to answer. "Brother you always make us answer don't think about not doing it."

Kim Rae-bin's complexion turned blue but there was no dissuasion as it seemed like an agreement had already been reached.

Liu Chengwu opened his mouth without even laughing.

"I made you answer?"

"Sure. So you too have to answer right away. "Because I always answered well."

"you?"

“…!”

“You can’t make up stories that didn’t exist Cha Yu-jin.”

“Oh. [That’s really aggressive.]”

At that moment tension was created in the room.

“…”

While the sound of Kim Rae-bin breathing was heard Park Mun-dae quietly stood behind him as if he were not even there.

And Cha Yu-jin opens her mouth again without hesitation.

“Are you not going to answer my question?”

“…”

“great. Then answer the fan.”

Pan?

“Hyung Moon Dae!”

“…!”

When Cha Yu-jin called Park Moon-dae who was leaning behind her looked at her instead of being surprised.

Liu Chengyu met those calm eyes.

The area around my chest was pressed heavily.

“Moon Dae was disappointed that there was no news from Kim Rae-bin and me after Steer activities ended and Ryu Cheong-woo was also gone.”

“…”

“Why haven’t you been active? You wanted to continue KPOP. that…”

“I think it’s a physical problem.”

“…!”

“that’s right.”

I thought that maybe Liu Qingwu actually expected to have this conversation from the moment he entered the room.

From when Park Moon-dae pointed out his left arm.

And from the moment I see this member.

Liu Chengwu glanced at the left side of his upper body and muttered.

“They said it would be difficult to dance at the level of the existing choreography due to excessive fatigue in the shoulders.”

“…”

“I started having pain about half a year before my contract ended.”

Kim Rae-bin barely asked.

“Are you okay now?”

“huh. It’s okay now. “You saw it too.”

The results of your physical examination.

“…”

“That’s it.”

“yes…?”

Liu Chengwu continued to explain.

“My body is fine now but I keep reflexively hesitating to use my body probably because I have leftover habits from back then. “Maybe the body is subconsciously afraid of getting injured again.”

“that…”

“When I realized that it was the time when I stopped being active the symptoms continued to get worse as time passed.”

The explanation flowed like flowing water and there were no blocked or confusing parts. It all made sense.

So Park Moon-dae realized something.

‘…It wasn’t just evasion.’

Liu Chengwu was not trying to avoid this situation or pretend not to know the problem.

“I couldn’t tell the cause to get medical help. “Because it never happened.”

He had already made a complete diagnosis after much thought and agony.

It’s just… I felt like I couldn’t bear to declare it so openly.

“That’s it.”

The sentence ‘My activities are over.’

“…”

“so…”

Liu Chengwu muttered.

“What can I do?”

It seemed shameful to even say those words.

Probably because you already expected the answer.

‘…’

There is no solution.

The most important period of activity was flowing helplessly.

‘Fuck you.’

Park Moon-dae thought it was even worse because this guy knew it well.

Chapter 617

————————=

[Why is Testa suddenly recording music in private?]

Who is hurt?

————————=

-No one knows

-It must be a schedule problem.

-We received all requests for a workshop from fans but it seems unusual that they canceled it all of a sudden.

Aren't these things usually announced; what

There is little notice that Gongbang Poka will be sent by courier to fans who won the audience but the reason is not even mentioned

?? Is it real?

That moment.

Wow it's strong

The tone of the comments changed.

-They canceled it without saying anything.

-There seems to be a lot of talk among fans.

-Testar have you canceled any other schedules?

-Are the rumors of discord really the most likely? I heard that ㅌㅅㅌ tends to show off a lot whenever they fight and in the past ㅇㅅㅈ ㅂㅁㄷ had an uproar at a Japanese con.

Where on earth does this rumor come from really…

Testa soldiers are running wild with excitement.

-Testa is having a hard time. What kind of fuss is this because of VTIK?

?? Why are you suddenly grabbing V-Tick's hair?

Similar posts followed in a row.

Various guesses. Sick people.

[The rumor of discord ugh so obvious]

[Testa isn't it just because the current situation is too burdensome?]

[If you look at the number of views of V-Tik you might not want to appear either haha]

[Wow it's strong <- A person who wants to be stronger than anyone else]

The page moves down mechanically.

At first glance the hand movements that looked over the timeline of the past dawn which had already been ignored by fans seemed dry.

Then stop for a moment.

"…"

Slowly search for a name.

-Ryu Cheng-wu.

Dozens of sentences are listed again.

As I was passing through the compliments and comments and questions…

[I think I would know what it feels like if the group leader I'm talking about showed symptoms of panic]

The hand stops again.

————————=

There was an eyewitness account saying that they panicked and suddenly stopped recording… I guess I'm just holding on because I can't rest right now.

As a leader you will have a sense of responsibility but if you leave it out now it seems like you are raising a white flag and being pushed back so it seems like it is unreasonable.

So I'm worried that they're just blocking the audience as a temporary measure and making a fuss.

+I added it because I asked so many times. I'm talking about Ryu Cheong-woo.

————————=

-??

-who

-No official announcement has been made so why are you doing this?

-Actually I guess this way too.

Dozens of comments are talking about each other.

-But it doesn't suit me. It's a shame that I graduated from a national university.

□No he's been mentally weak since Azusa. It's because he has a good image.

-Maybe it's even more so since I quit once due to injury.

□Wow really stop making rude assumptions… All the comments here are crossing the line.

Are there more stories coming out because there is no conclusion?

There are more rumors than truth.

And the comment at the end.

-But I'm worried if this is real. It's right to rest. No matter what your health is best.

□I understand how Testa fans feel but it would be better to not turn a blind eye and make more inquiries to the agency.

ㄴㄹㅇ This kind of thing is not something that can be easily recovered. We have to look at it in the long term. Even after the idol ends the member has to continue living his life.

"…"

-Please give Ryu Cheong-woo a break from his activities really.

Is that so?

* * *

"okay. "Then you should go to the hospital first."

After a conversation with Liu Chengwu.

This is the answer that came out immediately from Keun Se-jin when the conversation was shared with the members without his consent.

Of course Bae Se-jin responded with a confused expression.

“You… don’t talk so easily.”

“yes? No bro. If you make this difficult it actually makes both parties uncomfortable. “What if I can’t easily tell you to go to the hospital?”

“You heard what Park Moon-dae said earlier. “The cause is unrealistic so even if Liu Chengwu goes to the hospital it will be difficult to get proper counseling…!”

“Then we should try to come up with a similar cause. “There is no other way so why do you just keep talking and waiting?”

“That’s not what you said! I can talk to Liu Chengwu a little more. “So that you can feel at ease when going to the hospital…”

“I’m telling you. Cheongwoo it’s impossible to feel at ease.”

“…!”

The one who suddenly intervened was Cha Yu-jin.

“We all want to work hard. But it can’t be good to rest like this.”

“…I guess so.”

Big Sejin pressed his eyebrows.

“Or there is a way to not rest at all…”

“for a moment.”

Bae Se-jin gritted his teeth and asked.

“You… are you really going to tell Ryu Cheong-wu that we should try both activity and treatment?”

“I’m not saying I’m going to say it… no.”

Keun Se-jin seemed to be holding back a sigh and continued speaking calmly. It seems like he’s doing his best to avoid complaining like ‘This guy is really tired.’

“If Cheongwoo wants it isn’t that right? “At least we can try to do it in parallel.”

“No. “He may be doing it because he’s anxious but we need to reassure him that it’s okay for him to focus on treatment.”

“…”

It was a parallel line.

‘Damn it.’

But isn’t this a topic that we can’t avoid talking about with the members?

At the beginning of the album promotion period the leader suddenly goes on an indefinite break.

‘It’s right to decide on the group’s stance.’

I thought that that way the person who was going to rest would be able to go with peace of mind.

Still I couldn’t really find an answer.

“No if it were me I would rather hear something like ‘It’s a pity that my brother is not here. There will be a lot of empty space until he recovers and comes back.’…”

In the end the question is which one will not crush Liu Chengwu's spirit.

I need to quit my activities but I might not be able to because of the pressure. If I let them go willingly I might feel heartbroken that my role is not that big…

At first glance it all seemed correct so it was really difficult to decide further.

It seemed like everyone had the same premise.

"…Treatment will not be easy."

"…"

It will take a long time to recover.

So you have to be careful with your opponents.

What's worse the guys I've already talked to like Cha Yu-jin and Kim Rae-bin are just laying their heads down on the sofa with gloomy faces.

This is a sudden situation that we could not have imagined when planning our activities.

Right now we are concentrating on appeasing Liu Chengyu so that he can receive treatment as gently and effectively as possible but what happens when this is over?

'I'm going to have a headache trying to come up with measures again… '

Mountain after mountain.

'…I prepared a lot.'

How much do you think you feel like shit?

It was bittersweet in many ways.

However it seemed that not all members agreed with this premise.

While the members were still talking someone next to me lightly tapped my shoulder.

“Um… it’s Mundae.”

“…”

When I turn my head at the sound of calling Sun Ah-hyeon asks carefully.

“Then Chungwoo… is Ips right?”

I nodded.

Yes he also admitted something similar with his own mouth.

Symptoms of tension and anxiety caused by psychological factors such as fear of injury.

“Ugh. I see…”

Sun Ah-hyun hastily nodded.

But he soon added in a low voice.

“Actually then I have a slightly different thought…”

“…?”

no way.

“You think treatment will be easy?”

Seon Ah-hyun hastily shakes her head. hmm. If not…

“It won’t take long right?”

This time surprisingly Sun Ah-hyun did not shake her head right away.

“Ahyeon?”

“What do you mean?”

“ah…!”

When he turned to the members he hesitated and then opened his mouth with a serious expression.

“I… I think the feeling of being at a loss is similar to a slump. “It feels like I don’t know for sure how to recover.”

“hmm.”

“It’s just that… it seems to be of a different kind.”

Sun Ah-hyun spoke calmly as if recalling a memory.

“I think that in order to get out of this problem of feeling anxious or suddenly unsure of yourself… a moment is important.”

“uh?”

“So… it’s not like you recover slowly little by little.”

Sun Ah-hyun clenched her fists.

“Like the dam breaking… suddenly oh it’s okay. “I think it’s a feeling of being able to do it.”

“…Like untying a knot?”

“Ugh!”

So it's like this.

This is not something that heals sequentially like a wound but rather something you press on like a switch.

A shocking realization that feels like being punched in the back of the head a decisive moment given by the keyword.

Perception changes drastically.

"Actually I had a similar experience…"

"…!"

"For me too… when I was young it became more difficult to move or show my body the way I wanted… so it was difficult…"

At the same time Sun Ah-hyeon takes a quick look at this side.

"But when I heard one phrase I thought 'This is it' and suddenly I was able to do it…!"

"…"

no way.

-Just think 'I'm going to accomplish this.'

＜Azusa＞ era.

Seon Ah-hyun who had suddenly activated her characteristic 'Guts' and resolved the condition 'lack of self-esteem' at my words nodded firmly.

"I think that kind of opportunity is important…!"

"…"

Hey that's…

'It was a trait.'

The 'I heard it and it's true' characteristic that I used at the time. This means that the persuasion was successful.

'Your argument makes sense but it's a bit hard to attribute it to me.'

But I can't stand this atmosphere.

Sun Ah-hyun nodded with a stern expression.

"Of course it took a long time to figure it out and it was difficult… so it may be similar in that it takes a long time."

"No I know what Ahyeon means. This isn't about slow recovery that's right! "You mean it's a question of whether or not you can do it?"

"Ugh!"

"okay."

Next to Keun Se-jin who nods Bae Se-jin speaks carefully.

"…Thank you for telling me. "I'm a little more organized too."

"Oh no…!"

The atmosphere brightened slightly perhaps thanks to hearing the realistic testimony of one of the members who had successfully recovered.

Conversation also became a bit more relaxed.

Big Sejin shrugged his shoulders and said.

"Then shall we do this brother? "I just decide how to approach it based on Chungwoo's reaction."

It was a moderate policy. Bae Se-jin also nodded carefully this time.

"Okay then…"

It was the moment when the story progressed until…

Sweet.

"…!"

The door opened and a calm-faced Liu Chengwu walked out holding a smartphone.

"It's time. "I have to go to my schedule guys."

"ah…"

"yes!"

For a moment the conversation quieted down.

When Keun Se-jin made eye contact with me he nodded slightly and quietly whispered to the person of the same name standing next to him.

"Don't show off just listen carefully. "I'll look at the timing and quietly pray."

"…"

Now Bae Se-jin did not refuse and nodded slowly.

After that we did not mention anything about Liu Qingwu's mental problems and carried out our schedule as usual behaving appropriately.

Liu Chengwu also appeared to be fine at first glance.

“Mr. Cheongwoo… I think your shoulders have gotten wider?!”

“Haha I guess that’s not true… thank you.”

The members were a little relieved to see that the guy finished the interview on the WeTube channel without any problems.

In this atmosphere it seemed like it would be easy to bring up the story.

And so that evening.

Keun Se-jin deliberately hummed and sang along to the song in the moving car and then spoke softly.

“Brother if it’s okay with you let’s sit down and rest for a while…”

“Let’s think about what to do with the announcement of Liu Chengwu’s suspension of activities.”

“…”

Even the great sejin of the world shrugged their shoulders.

And Liu Chengwu…

“I’m not angry.”

It was peaceful.

“…?”

The guy who even showed a faint smile leaned back in his chair and spoke quietly.

“If necessary it’s right to quit and take a break.”

“I guess… right?”

“okay.”

There was no need to say anything else.

The guy continued his story unfazed as if he had suddenly regained his composure.

He gave a short answer slowly without giving anyone a clue to comfort him or continue the conversation.

“Let’s announce it as soon as we get back from the hospital and receive a report.”

“…”

“If I’m missing you’ll have a hard time making major changes. sorry.”

“Of course that’s okay.”

Liu Chengwu slightly shook his head.

“And I’m sorry that you couldn’t keep this activity plan because of me.”

“Oh no…!”

“Hey don’t say that bro~! We are working hard to maintain our position so that we can perform well when you come back!”

“okay. thank you.”

Liu Chengwu’s face seemed as calm as a lie. Of course I didn’t torture people’s mentality by saying “What if they lose to V-Tik because of me? I’m so sorry that I’m going crazy.”

It was just plain as usual.

The members also seemed a little relieved that their attitude seemed to have returned to normal.

However I confirmed that Kim Rae-bin was looking at Ryu Cheong-woo with a somewhat anxious face.

"…"

And a notice was posted that day.

————————=

[Information on Testa Ryu Cheong-woo's health and activities]

hello. This is Orbit Star Entertainment.

Ryu Cheong-woo a member of the group Testa was advised by a professional medical institution to take a short break due to dizziness due to mental fatigue…

————————=

Amidst the response full of good words such as 'I'm sorry it didn't work out cheer up' etc. Ryu Cheong-woo received the vague prescription of 'stopping activities for a while.'

The tone of the announcement was not that serious and although fans might feel hurt or regretful they were not overly worried.

Just like that the weekend passes and the next week approaches.

-K-pop is so fun these days. Please keep fighting against other people.

-Ah finally Leti and Orbit's group MT entertainment live broadcast hahaha

-As expected miscellany is the best in K-pop I'm happy~~~

Thanks to his existing schedule Ryu Cheong-woo occasionally appeared on broadcasts and naturally people slowly began to get used to his absence without being too conscious of it.

-ㅠㅠI want to see Cheongwoo more. I hope he recovers well!

-I really hope you don’t notice us and get a good rest.

So Liu Chengwu was excluded from the schedule.

Looking back this was our mistake.

Chapter 618

There was always a huge TV in the living room of Testa's dorm.

At the first accommodation the company had installed an optional TV in an appropriate assortment but now the members were purchasing it themselves after careful consideration and were unanimously using it.

It was all thanks to my experience using it over the past few years.

-Let's take a look at that.

-Okay~

Testa often sat around in the living room watched TV together gathered together to rest and hung out.

There was a familiar and special feeling somewhere.

And today too the TV was running in Testa's sunny living room.

However Testa who left the schedule is not here.

Even if it appears on the screen.

[Testa: Hello this is Testa!]

[From a magic boy to a phantom thief to a hotelier secret agent. A concept idol whose artistic experimental spirit has been recognized by various global media outlets.]

[The appearance of a singer who is truly a powerful KPOP singer!]

The agency's group entertainment promoted by T Holic was released.

Funny faces sitting comfortably in the grass with bright faces and subtitles flash across the screen.

Despite the tension of the past few weeks due to the comeback the testers on screen looked happy and excited as expected from entertainment even when meeting VTIC.

Sun Ah-hyun looked cute as she took out the small caramels she had brought with an excited face and held them out in front of the camera.

[Testar Park Moon-dae: Ahyeon said this is her first time doing MT like this.]

[T-Holic Taejun Ha: Oh just Ahyeon?]

[Testar Park Moon-dae: (coolly) Actually this is my first time too.]

[Testar Bae Se-jin: !!]

Bae Se-jin who was surprised to be singled out poured out large-capacity facial cleansing tools from his black bag.

[T-Holic Martin: Hahahaha!]

[MT Beginner Gathering Center ~Testa~]

Amid T-Holic's persistent teasing Bae Se-jin eventually shouted.

[Testar Bae Se-jin: This is Park Moon-dae's first time!]

[Testa Park Moon-dae: !!]

[Testar Bae Se-jin: He asked the writer if he should pack a lunch box!]

On the screen Park Moon-dae was caught trying to run away and was interviewed about his first impressions on MT.

-Serial pointing hahahaha

– Hahahahahahahahaha

-Testa's unexpected selling point: They have no friends other than themselves.

-Ha Park Moon-dae is so cute

-No it's college OT lol.

And the last thing that appeared during the introduction was VTIC.

They also created an atmosphere by playing tense BGM right before their appearance but…

[VTIC Chaeyul: Wow what should I do with the sky? Judan look at the sky over there!]

[VTIC Sinnoh: Of course you should go to MT on a day like this!]

[MT experience of these people: 0]

When he first appeared he left a lasting impression on viewers by brightly looking forward to the MT.

-Hmmkkk

-Once again there are many outstanding idols in our country…

-When I look at something I feel goodㅠㅠIt's something.

-Everyone has been there for quite a while but they still feel passionate and fresh.

TV still doesn't stop. The program flows.

The reactions on the laptop screen intersect with the subtitles on the TV.

[Suddenly discussing]

[T-Holic Martin: Considering the environment online news is of course better than paper newspapers.]

[VTIC Judan: Hmm this is a common prejudice. It is an illusion that data is eco-friendly.]

[T-Holic Martin: ??]

The person in the video says 'Online news videos emit a lot of carbon dioxide. In contrast they poured out explanations such as "Newspaper can be used as double-sided paper so it is economical."

[T-holic Yoon: Huh? So are you saying that watching our MT broadcasts on the Internet is bad for the environment?]

-Tallulah Gakkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

[VTIC casting: Yes. That's right.]

[T-holic Yoon: Ah.]

[T-holic Yoon: (embarrassed) (pupil earthquake)]

-?!?!?

[VTIC Cheongnyeo: Judan. It's okay if you don't win something like this.]

[VTIC casting:…]

[VTIC Casting and Dan: Yes.]

[(Hyung weren't we VTIC who always won…?)]

-Judan ㅅㅂㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

-Was it this kind of character?

-No how did you hide it?

Surprisingly I never hid it.

My child was always like this it was just that the muggles misunderstood…

Laughing and chatting and pleasant stories are posted.

Even with my monitoring eyes the tension eased slightly.

Comfortable reactions.

"…"

However the moment one character appears on the screen that comfort becomes shallow.

[He came!]

[T-Holic Wonseok: No the composition of the green team is crazy!]

[Spacer Lee Hak: Wow senior!]

Liu Chengwu.

On screen he looks perfectly healthy. However viewers no longer cheered comfortably.

Because he is a member who ‘ceases activities due to health reasons’.

-Ah Cheongwoo ㅠㅠ

-Looking at it like this it looks a little sunken.

-handsome

-Oh hemeko I’m sick of it. I think I’ll be very disappointed too.

Every time there is a scene where he is active there is a similar atmosphere.

The same is true even if Ryu Cheong-woo in the screen wins the reflex mini-game and even if he brilliantly beat Park Moon-dae in hide-and-seek with an exquisite change of thinking.

For a moment exclamations and comments like ‘it’s a national team’ took over the comment section but soon interesting speculation mixed with concern returned.

-Ryu Cheong-woo Was it because you were worried about dizziness that you quickly gave up on random play dance?

□Ah…

ㄴㅜㅜ

□You really worked hard…

□I understand that it must have been really difficult to stay calm when your body didn’t feel like your own.

□Rest well Cheongwoo.

Turn down the page.

– Cheongwoo didn't say it himself that he had a hard time at that time so why are there so many speculative rumors here? Come to your senses.

Is it okay to worry?

If it hurts enough to stop activities I know it hurts the fans but let's not be too sensitive.

Yes there was a notice but rather than getting angry because it's speculation please support Ryu Cheong-woo.

The page turns.

-What is Cheongwoo doing now?

-Our leader eat a lot of delicious food don't worry and stay well ㅠㅠ

-ㄹㅊㅇ Are you planning to return for the next album?

Mental illness is not something that can be easily solved with hard work so don't take it easy. You can always return when you can do better.

That's right.

The focus changes.

-Park Moon-dae singing Ryu Cheong-woo's part vs. Lee Se-jin's taste tester

-All the testers did well so I barely felt any member gaps which is good.

-That's what Seochang Bese does. He gives preference to older people like swords.

-Guys I like Testa because it's professional.

-Once again the members performed well on stage.

and.

-Are the 6 testers active starting this week?

-There is no problem but I wish they would reschedule the music broadcast that was cancelled.

-Testa Danve formation was fixed well.

-I miss Cheongwoo but I'm holding on well.

and.

-Today's Testa 3-on-3 debate haha.

-For those who want to see the testa suit for the red carpet event

-What is the cause of Ryu Cheong-woo's dizziness?

-Testa It's an important time so it seems like a narrative is being created because everyone is gritting their teeth.

Deducing the name of Liu Chengwu's physical condition. Anxiety Interest Guess Worry Pleasure.

Testa's activity story praise anticipation admiration attitude of accepting everything as if it were natural smooth progress.

-Activities with 6 people are also okay.

-Oh Ryu Cheong-woo wasn't in the dance video. What's going on?

-Ryu Chengwu Why are you sick?

-How long will this activity last for Testa? I love it so much that I feel like I'm addicted to it⊤⊤

-Are your symptoms similar to those when you retired from Cheongwoo National University?

and.

“…”

-It’s wrong to force a sick person to work. Ryu Cheong-woo Young & Rich you can just rest haha.

that is.

“Liu Chengwu!”

Suddenly it disappeared before my eyes.

Huh.

My vision was clear.

A rush of cool air passed by my face.

[Wahahahah!]

I heard the bright sound of the TV.

Before I knew it an advertisement was appearing where the program ended.

“…”

ah.

Liu Chengwu closed his eyes and opened them.

The dull glow of the liquid crystal display that made my eyes tingle suddenly disappeared and a three-dimensional feeling returned to the empty space in my vision.

The front door in the dark back was open.

and.

“What are you doing?”

Next to him a member with a stiff expression was holding his laptop.

Moon-Dae Park.

“Why are you looking at this?”

“…”

His relative older brother.

He was a member who suddenly appeared.

Park Moon-dae’s eyes were quick and sharp as he checked the internet pages and posts on the laptop in his hand.

Still I calmed down a bit after learning that there were no strange curses or rumors.

Ryu Cheong-wu already had a good image and even though he was in pain this was normal without looking into the depths.

Still Park Moon-dae had to say this.

“…Didn’t you hear me tell you not to search your name on the Internet when you get counseling?”

“…”

“Didn’t you hear?”

"…You said not to read malicious comments."

A quiet voice answers.

"But I said it's okay to see the fans' support or concerns occasionally if I need to be reassured."

"…"

Perhaps it meant that I could gain strength by seeing with my own eyes that there were so many people supporting me.

However in Park Moon-dae's opinion this was not that kind of situation.

'This guy looked almost out of his mind.'

It's like sinking in a swamp.

How could it be that as soon as Park Moon-dae who was coming in the front door saw him he sensed it and ran over to take down his laptop.

Park Moon-dae held back a sigh. It was a good idea to stop by just in case.

"I stopped by to check on something because I had something to take care of. Let's talk first."

"…"

"I think now is not the time for you to worry about public opinion. There's no need for that. "First of all rest in peace…"

"I don't want to rest."

"…!"

The answer came out of nowhere. It was a sharp and immediate reaction.

‘ah.’

Liu Chengwu sat motionlessly on the sofa clasped his hands together lowered his head and stayed still.

It seemed like the words came out instinctively and unconsciously thanks to being attacked while alone.

‘…’

Park Moon-dae’s expression sank.

‘It’s more of an opportunity.’

He closed the laptop placed it on the floor and sat quietly on the sofa.

And asked calmly.

“Then shall we be active?”

“You can’t do it.”

“There’s nothing you can’t do. All you have to do now is say that you will try to do some activities in parallel and then return…”

“brother.”

Liu Chengwu covered his eyes with one hand.

“How can I work professionally if I can’t perform on stage?”

“…”

“If I say I will do it can I do it? Nope. “You told me to rest too.”

Moon-Dae Park arrived at the answer conditionally.

It was something he was good at. Creating public opinion.

“That’s something you just need to ask for understanding.”

“…”

“Even if you hesitate on stage you can still make people understand…”

“I don’t like that!”

“…”

“…No I’m sorry.”

Liu Chengwu immediately lowered his raised voice and regained his utmost calm.

“I didn’t mean to get angry but I feel like I’m having a hard time controlling myself.”

“no. “It’s better.”

Park Mun-dae sat down on the sofa and lowered his gaze.

“I thought I didn’t know what you were thinking but now I feel like I’m hearing it.”

“…”

“That’s why as a professional I don’t like to see you performing poorly on stage… is that it?”

Is it a matter of pride as a singer?

However Liu Chengwu was silent for a long time.

‘…I guess there’s more.’

Park Mun-dae waited silently for an answer.

And the long-awaited answer suddenly came out late.

“They say don’t do that.”

“who?”

“Everyone tells you not to do that.”

Liu Chengwu clenched and unclenched his hands.

“He told me to rest.”

“…”

He easily recognized people who disliked him but he never gave much meaning to those people.

but…

-Cheongwoo I heard you have a bad shoulder but your singing career is… Ah. Are you going to rest now my son? huh! Mom and Dad of course everything is okay! I’m glad I’m glad…

– In my opinion if you keep doing archery your arms will only get more damaged. Wouldn’t it be better to look for a new career path now? I’ll find out too…

You can’t do this anymore so let’s stop.

I’m worried that you’ll continue to suffer mentally and physically for no reason because you can’t do anything anymore.

Because I always hear that story every time I get frustrated by unexpected circumstances.

To the people he gave affection to cared for and thought were on his side.

…No change this time either.

“Worrying… You can’t worry and make it happen.”

“…”

“So you should listen…”

Liu Chengwu said that in a voice that seemed to be suppressed.

As if repeating to myself.

“sorry.”

“…”

“Sorry.”

Liu Chengwu slowly shook his head.

There seemed to be no right answer in all those conversations but Park Moon-dae thought.

‘We can’t leave it like this.’

Something needs to be done.

Chapter 619

“Teacher Ryu Cheong-woo feels like ‘Oh just like back then my left arm can suddenly hurt even now.’”

“…yes.”

“It’s okay to feel hard. “You can do that.”

Time passed slowly and heavily.

Liu Chengwu listened to the counselor’s words without meaning.

This counselor was an expert who consulted with him even when he quit archery as a child and he clearly helped him a lot at that time.

So this time he came right after I stopped working. but.

“How do you feel while having this conversation?”

“…”

I couldn’t feel any relief or comfort as if a burden had been lifted.

“well.”

Because there are many things I cannot say to Liu Chengwu.

Just as you cannot get the right medicine prescribed if you do not properly describe your symptoms the same goes for counseling.

But I can’t tell you the exact cause.

Because Liu Chengwu didn’t just suddenly become afraid of the aftereffects of a past injury.

This was because the ongoing injury experience remained as a memory.

Steer.

And the cause of the injury was…

-They said that it would be difficult to dance at the level of the existing choreography due to excessive fatigue in the shoulders.

I definitely said that to the members.

It's not a lie.

At the time he was a steer he was clearly subject to much more extreme physical exertion than he is now as a tester.

It may seem strange at first glance. How can an idol who is on the decline due to withdrawal and controversy be treated more harshly than a testa who won the grand prize?

That's because you don't have the luxury of choosing a job that won't be too difficult.

In a career full of crises Ryu Cheong-woo's other aspects did not receive new attention and in the end he just tired of using the selling point he had been emphasizing since <Azusa>.

Former national representative.

– Indeed Ryu Cheong-Woo is amazing Ryu Cheong-Woo! The record is… 12 minutes and 22 seconds! <Challenge Race> The winner of this episode's obstacle race is~ Team A!

So I was constantly receiving requests for roles in programs where I could show off my physical abilities and the company was relieved that they were calling me so I made whatever schedule I could.

And Liu Chengwu faithfully carried out his schedule and the result was…

-The patient's shoulder is completely out now. Here.

"…"

So Ryu Cheong-woo told the members the truth.

…There were some parts that I didn't necessarily reveal.

"Then teacher Cheongwoo let's imagine. "The left arm injury you're afraid of right now."

Usually a person who knows how to take care of his body well does not collapse to the point where he cannot use his body simply because of shoulder fatigue.

If it collapses it is because there is a more decisive factor.

"Is that… an aftereffect of a car accident I experienced on a family trip when I was young?"

"…"

"This time too."

-My aftereffects… I was told that the only symptom was mild tremors and that it definitely didn't affect my daily life.

-That means it becomes part of your daily life but it doesn't mean you can do things that you can push yourself to do.

-… then.

-You wrote it too much. When I watched the patient on TV I saw him running around holding a piece of metal.

-…

-I'm so scared of traffic accidents. This is especially true during the young period when bones are growing. There will be aftereffects.

"yes."

Why?

By any chance did he go on that family trip?

What is that?

Why does it pop up every time unrelated to the achievements of one's chosen efforts and makes one give up without being able to do anything?

Any human being could not help but have such anger sparking in their head like a spark.

But I can't tell the members.

"Has there been anything impressive or scary recently that made you think of that car accident?"

"…"

Actually I can't even tell my counselor.

That there is someone right next to you who shares the trauma of the car accident that occurred on that family trip.

A relative who was absent at the time.

-I'm jealous.

-I envy my parents because they are fine and doing whatever they want.

That the trauma is the exact opposite of yourself.

-The fact that I brought up the story of the aftereffects of a traffic accident… must have sounded like I was full.

It's a strange feeling that I can't tell that person that this situation happened again because of the aftereffects of that injury.

I can't tell if it's consideration discomfort or apology.

I want to blurt out a sharp retort like "Should I have just gone and thanked him for shattering my shoulder?" and then he says that when he wakes up he feels a long sense of helplessness and self-destruction.

"Then I'll see you again in three days."

In the end the consultation ended with Liu Chengwu being prescribed tranquilizers antidepressants and several supplements.

"thank you."

The counselor did not forcefully probe him further. The intention is to proceed step by step.

Still it won't be of any use.

"…"

On the way home.

A long breath came out silently from the corners of Liu Chengwu's mouth. The outdoor air was warm as it approached early summer but it was also stinging.

But I liked the stinging side.

'…I don't want to be quiet.'

Liu Qingyu suddenly thought that he did not want to go into the dorm.

Sitting still in a place with no one around is now more painful than a moth sting.

‘But I don’t like it either.’

I felt like my throat was closing up as I imagined being worried and being advised not to worry about anything and to get some rest.

However Liu Qingyu did not show it and just continued walking with a slightly tired expression.

And then arrived at the accommodation.

‘It will be empty.’

There was no time for the manager either.

I opened the door silently…

“Are you here?”

“You’re here~”

Words poured out.

The noise of daily life spreads from beyond the open door.

“…”

Liu Chengwu paused for a moment.

The members who turned their heads toward the entrance or raised their arms in greeting were comfortably dispersed concentrating on their own work again.

Raebin Kim who was crouching between them with his nose buried in his laptop belatedly raised his head and shouted brightly.

“Have you had breakfast? “I mixed dried persimmons with milk and drank it!”

“It’s Moon Dae-hyung’s recipe. “I will eat it too.”

“Woo… OK.”

A dejected Cha Yu-jin agreed.

Park Moon-dae nodded as if he noticed Ryu Cheong-woo then sat down on a kitchen chair and started scrolling through his smartphone.

Relaxed.

Liu Chengwu asked without realizing it.

“What’s the schedule?”

“The main photographer has the flu so it’s postponed.”

Park Moon-dae said without taking his eyes off his smartphone.

“So I changed the filming to the day after tomorrow but you can go if you have time. “Because it is a self-published pictorial the time period will not be specified.”

“…”

“Not if you don’t want to.”

“no”

“yes. “I understand we’ll go together.”

It was quick and concise.

Liu Qingwu a little embarrassed tried to enter his room with the medicine bag he had been carrying without realizing it but was met with a grinning face.

It was Sun Ah-hyun.

“That prescription… did you receive it?”

“okay.”

“Oh I hope you heard it well…! “And… I heard that it was important to take it consistently so I tried to stick to it.”

“…I see.”

“yes!”

After carefully explaining how to tell the counselor if it doesn’t work out Seon Ah-hyun passed by shouting good luck.

“…”

Somehow… Liu Chengwu hesitated and stopped for a moment in response to those reactions as if the strength in his shoulders had eased.

It was then.

“Ah Liu Chengwu.”

This time Bae Se-jin who was watching TV wearing blue light blocking glasses tapped his back.

“You… must be in a bad mood so let’s go out for something to change your mood instead of counseling.”

“…”

Liu Qingyu slightly narrowed his eyebrows as if he was embarrassed.

“I never said I was in a bad mood.”

“What are you talking about? “There’s no way it would feel good to take a break from activities.”

“…”

“Let’s go unpack!”

“Oh~ Sejin hyung… He went to the gym like Cheongwoo hyung but his physical strength is not the same as before.”

“Memememe! “I’m going!”

“Do you get new inspiration for your album through your mood swings? Really good choice…”

In an instant boos and shouting voices rang out from all over the dorm with concerns about joining in.

“But I don’t like hiking.”

“oh. “I kind of like that too.”

“Brother Cheongwoo! Go somewhere other than hiking! “Rather shoot!”

“The Americans are talking about shooting.”

“I bet that means shooting!”

The noise that had nothing to do with his own problems was not bad so Liu Chengyu nodded without realizing it.

“YESSSS. So are we going to shoot guns? I’ll change my clothes and come back. “Just wait 10 minutes.”

“…”

But… what on earth is this?

“What happened with Liu Chengwu!”

“…”

“Park Moon-dae you joined thirty minutes later than scheduled? “Something must have happened!”

A ghost-like guy.

After talking with Ryu Cheong-woo I belatedly joined the waiting room and was almost grabbed by Bae Se-jin.

Of course even if I wasn’t caught I still had something to say.

I thought a lot on the way there. What should I do?

‘First of all… except for everything he suffers while monitoring.’

Not only is it a bit uncomfortable to talk about Liu Chengwu’s detailed situation like that but talking about it will only make both parties more uncomfortable.

We have to go into another core.

ourselves.

“We made a mistake.”

“…?”

About the stance we have taken so far.

“What is it?”

“we…”

I pressed my eyes.

“I think you showed too much that you were considerate of Cheongwoo.”

“…”

There was silence for a moment.

“Huh?”

“Isn’t that the opposite of the bar…?”

“no.”

Think about it carefully.

“It seemed very unnatural and burdensome.”

“…!”

“Take a look. “He didn’t just say it but it was almost like he was shouting that he was being considerate of us.”

The members opened their mouths.

Yes I almost bit my tongue while thinking about it as I came. When I turned around I saw it.

“Wait… Is that why I called you to come quickly because Ryu Chengwu woke up?”

“I also brought Cheongwoo’s favorite gamjatang so I guess it was probably at the level of certification?”

“I was right. “It would have been better to tell Cheongwoo directly that I bought you something you like!”

“…Any excuse for canceling this week’s music show?”

“That was really noticeable.”

Right now Liu Chengwu seemed to be confused about what he wanted to do.

But everyone around you is acting like ‘I’m trying my best to be careful and considerate of you’?

He fell into the cycle of infinite burden feeling like he had to consider us more than his own doctor.

‘It may be a moving experience for some but for others it may be a choking burden to the point of shouting ‘Ah stop fucking doing it!’…’

The excuse that was meant to be considerate and not condescending turned out to be more of a burden on the other person.

And the members who finally realized that fact asked themselves.

“Why… did you act like this?”

“going to be…”

Big Sejin summarized it briefly.

“It’s because whenever Chungwoo has a problem he treats us like adults.”

“…”

“Originally people want to do the same thing. Honestly I’m sure there isn’t a member who hasn’t thought of being thankful to him at least once.”

That’s right.

There was no one on this team who had not experienced Ryu Cheong-woo who hinted at helping them whenever they had a problem or problem.

It is simple and not loud.

Is there anyone who hasn't thought about how nice it is when someone calmly and calmly throws a word or makes a move?

Whether it's comfort or help.

'…me too.'

-Do you need help right now?

That guy is a guy with good sense in a different way from Keun Sejin. I suppressed my sleep.

"That's why I wanted to do better."

Then when Ryu Cheong-wu's mental state exploded everyone became embarrassed.

And we tried to act similarly to the help we received.

By paying more attention.

As a result they were buried together without noticing each other.

"I knew."

"Be quiet Cha Yu-jin."

Bae Se-jin squeezed his eyes shut and fell asleep.

"…It might have been harder because we felt like they were making us uncomfortable."

“…”

“is it so.”

“You guys can’t act calm. “So that’s the problem.”

“To be honest you’re not good at it either.”

“What?”

The members who were bickering soon calmed down.

Thanks to you I also spoke calmly.

“I think it would be better to be honest and support from now on… Honestly whether or not Chungwoo can stand on stage is up to him.”

“…”

“I don’t think there’s any need to add that it’s okay to take a break.”

“I see.”

The members nodded.

Bae Se-jin sighed.

“Then… let’s stop talking among ourselves like this behind people’s backs. “It seems like they are conspiring.”

“My brother started it.”

“That’s why I’m saying let’s quit!”

After going through that process what Testa chose was this.

Let's pay some attention to making Liu Chengyu happy and comfortable but don't be too obsessed.

'As long as we don't whine because we're having a hard time it's okay to say that we chose it because we like it.'

However let's not approach it in a complicated way.

Saying out loud that something that isn't good isn't good.

That's how we came out to shoot dragging Ryu Cheong-wu with us.

'It's a new hobby I picked up after debuting.'

Since he is a guy who likes to use his body shooting was not a bad choice if he used a model with low recoil.

However Liu Chengwu hesitated slightly as he got out of the car and walked to the shooting range at the end.

"I don't think it would be good if the story leaked."

'Did you come out to play after resting because you were probably sick?' It means that you are worried that the same sound will come out.

Big Sejin waved his hand cheerfully.

"Oh that's okay! "I didn't tell the company either and this place is famous for being something we can do in private just between us…"

[Closed today]

-I am taking a break due to personal reasons.

I was bored.

"Today is a business day!"

“No it’s definitely true…… Aha you’re only announcing it on Inheart. Closed.”

“…”

It was indeed the era of SNS.

When I turned my head I saw Bae Se-jin secretly trying to notice Ryu Cheong-woo.

‘No. ‘Fuck you.’

Instead just let it go and tell him to come back next time.

It was a moment when I was in a hurry to intervene.

“I’m sorry but there is a similar facility next to here…”

“Let’s go there!”

“good night!”

“Oh yeah. All right!”

Raebin Kim attempted a quick search and found a new destination.

‘The guy who pays the price is going to raise the price again?’

And with everyone’s active consent he dragged us along for about ten minutes…

We realize why he refers to this as a ‘similar sport’.

“…”

“This is the place!”

Rabbit from Wonderland.

What Raebin Kim brought us to was the archery range.

“…no.”

The shot hit.

However he only uses a bow not a gun.

The one that Ryu Cheong-woo quit due to the aftereffects of his injury.

‘This… ’

Is it really X network?

How dare you pick the #1 pick that comes to mind because of an injury?

I felt a chill running down my spine and when I turned my head I saw Kim Rae-bin’s slightly nervous face.

However the guy didn’t seem to panic or finally realize and hit his head.

Rather he has a firm expression as if he is a bit determined.

“…”

hmm.

“Shall we go in?”

“Oh yeah.”

I followed Ryu Cheng-wu who walked calmly without saying a word.

The archery cafe located in a secluded area was very quiet on a weekday lunch.

‘Are you running it as a hobby?’

Not only were the owners not that interested in celebrities but Testa wearing a sporty hat and mask looked like a college club gathering.

In that way Testa was able to go out into the fenced outdoor field without any problems.

A target in the distance and a shooting line right in front of you.

“Because this is outdoors up to 40 meters is possible.”

“Oh even in our idol sports competition 20 meters was the end.”

Liu Chengwu quietly stood at the shooting line. Old red and blue lines that are not for players are attached as stickers on the straw.

The members holding their respective bows awkwardly touch each other.

Still it’s not the first time and it’s the handiwork of someone who knows a little because he caught it on TV.

We also ask each other questions.

“Ah so when it comes to archery being able to pull with one hand is the best?”

“Not necessarily.”

Liu Qingyu answered by touching the arrow’s nock as was his habit.

The hand that pushes the bow. The hand that acts as a support also has a very important and definite role.

Unwavering composure.

“Strength and fixation. “Being able to use both is the beginning of archery.”

The sport of balance.

If the pulling force is excessive there is a high probability that an error will occur in the direction of the arrow.

The role of the hand holding the bow was to press and control it.

In the end archery is a tug of war between the right and left hands.

“So are eyes also an important factor? “I think it’s important to get your position right in order to aim accurately.”

“Well… surprisingly that’s not necessarily the case.”

Liu Qingwu held the bow firmly and turned it to check its level.

If you shoot ‘like this’ you will get hit.

If you shoot ‘around here’ you will get hit.

Both position and timing were adjusted according to each player’s senses.

Some say that is what determines whether a person is a professional or not.

Do you have that feeling?

“Actually among my seniors there was one person whose eyesight was so bad that he couldn't even see the target."

"It's amazing really."

Bow tip fixing bar.

As Liu Chengwu continued to check he reflexively supported his opponent who almost dropped his bow.

"oh."

"are you okay?"

"Your hexagram is okay…!"

Seon Ah-hyun was trying to pull the bow but almost missed it because her strength wasn't right.

Sun Ah-hyun had good athletic ability and immediately grabbed the bow but she seemed to hesitate a bit.

So Liu Chengwu reflexively moved as if demonstrating.

"You just need to place your feet a little wider."

Move your feet.

If you place both feet in the original position the posture will come naturally.

Head towards the red circle in front of you.

"And… like this."

Liu Chengwu pulled his arm while looking at the target.

It's been a very long time.

Chapter 620

Archery is basically an outdoor sport.

The Olympic standard distance to the target is 70m.

Even if the competition was divided into more detailed events it started with at least a few tens of meters. It's too vast to do it all indoors.

That sense of space.

In order to cover the enormous distance in the cold midwinter people would perform extraordinary tricks such as shooting an arrow from indoors to outside the window.

So Liu Chengwu was also used to the wind blowing outside.

"…"

The moment you hold the bow and inhale your five senses perceive everything in three dimensions.

Open space.

The people I practice with are familiar.

All those familiar sensations bring back memories of the past that were no longer used and were pushed aside.

It comes back to life like it was yesterday.

"…"

Liu Chengwu cast a carbon arrow.

It doesn't matter if it's an old entry-level recurve bow. Because he wasn't the type to be obsessed with jinxes or equipment details.

I even did adaptation training by randomly switching finger tabs of various products and conditions on my hands just in case.

Days filled with confidence in myself.

It flashes in my head.

"…"

I put my left hand on the handle grip.

Squeeze it tightly and pull the string with the other hand.

Boouk.

The shared archery equipment screams at me with grip strength I have never experienced before but I soon get used to it.

'The arrows are different.'

It is not your arrow that is always tuned.

but…

doesn't change

He was willing to aim for the target.

body to the side.

Look forward.

Pull your right hand and keep your left hand fixed. The balance of strength and stability was pushed to the limit…

Release.

Swish.

A thin wind passes by my cheek.

Ting.

A pleasant feeling of recoil and an arrow shooting through the air.

"…"

I know it even without seeing it. Like an announcement one day.

-It's a hit!

A shiver passed by briefly like goosebumps.

Liu Chengwu immediately took the next step. Pull the string and pluck it.

phut.

And the next arrow.

"brother?"

The speed gradually increased. The smooth cold feeling of the grip in my hand and the arrow between my fingers still lingered.

Even the slightly throbbing feeling is the same.

But the target is so close.

'This much.'

It's so easy.

Comfortable and simple…

I don't think so.

'Just a little more.'

Liu Chengyu took a step back.

"…!"

"fizzle."

Even if surrounding sounds enter your ears they are not interpreted and naturally disappear behind you.

What comes first is the senses.

Again aim your protest at the smaller yellow circle.

It's still big though.

ping.

In this way the arrow taken from the quiver below the waist fiercely cuts through the air with strong momentum.

One more time.

And again.

ping.

Let go.

Liu Chengyu moved his hands as if he was almost in a trance. The bow was pulled from his grasp as if in rhythm or flow.

And he continued to reach below his waist to grab a new arrow.

Then at some point my hand splits the empty space.

“…”

He lowered his gaze.

The arrow sheath was empty.

Liu Chengwu raised his head and focused his gaze towards the front in the distance.

The yellow dot is no longer visible.

“…”

45M ahead.

The yellow target was filled with white arrows.

“Brother you’re really crazy.”

“I’m not human.”

“haha.”

Liu Qingwu smiled as if he was a little embarrassed but responded by touching the arrow as if he was used to it.

“Is it 40M?!”

He looked comfortable.

It’s a face that makes it hard to believe that this is the guy who did such a crazy thing. I turned my head and glanced at the target he had shot at.

"…"

About twenty arrows were stuck like thorns in the yellow section.

That too the circle in the center gets more and more crowded as you go to the 10-point section.

'Are you crazy?'

I was at a loss for words as it felt like I was looking at some kind of modern art.

Even though the power was so good none of the arrows bounced off. I suppressed my sleep when I saw the arrow that had pierced the previous arrow.

'If the owner sees him he will definitely suspect that he is a player.'

Still it didn't seem like he recognized Testa. I guess I'll have to jump out as soon as the rental period ends. Before you accidentally run into someone and ask who they are.

Even as I came to that realistic conclusion I looked at Ryu Cheong-wu again.

Almost 10 years have already passed since that guy quit being an archer. In the meantime except for a few entertainment shows I probably won't have time to properly practice archery.

'And yet it's like this.'

If you learn how to skate at a young age don't you act like you can skate well even 20 years later?

Above all…

"Brother this is more fun than I thought. Shall we shoot a little more?"

“Oh really?”

He also seemed to feel uplifted by this situation.

It’s not obvious but I can see his face being somewhat light and stable.

The gloom and confusion that had appeared over the past few days disappeared in an instant.

‘…This would have been better than shooting.’

I acknowledged this while watching Bae Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyun diligently receiving advice from Ryu Cheong-woo.

But instead of joining them he sneakily approached Raebin Kim.

“Ravin.”

“yes!”

And then I put my arm around his shoulder.

For your information this is something I don’t do very often.

“…?”

I quietly whispered to the slightly puzzled guy.

“I knew in advance that the shooting range was closed.”

“…”

I heard a hiccup.

It’s obvious.

“Are you keeping your mouth shut so that you can come naturally to this archery range?”

“mind…”

“mind?”

“you’re right…!”

I chuckled as I watched the guy confess as if he were confessing. And then I lightly tapped him on the back.

“…?”

“I’m not saying anything.”

What can I say when the results are so good?

It was clearly visible on this guy’s face that he didn’t just choose it he put a lot of thought into it.

“It seems like you put a lot of thought into choosing it. “What was your intention?”

“ah…!”

Kim Rae-bin looked a little relieved but soon went beyond emotion and became serious.

And after thinking carefully I answered.

“…I made this choice by reflecting on my experiences.”

It’s an experience.

“Actually I’ve had the feeling that Chungwoo has changed a bit. There have been a few instances where he made negative and meaningful remarks…”

“…?”

I almost responded ‘You noticed that?’

And then I heard and understood the following words.

“I guess I felt a similar sense of discomfort when Cheongwoo spoke because I went through a few slumps.”

“…”

‘Is that why you said you reflected on your experiences?’

Do you know when people are most perceptive? This is when someone else is in a similar situation to you.

Even though Kim Rae-bin was a bit insensitive to the subtleties of human psychology that was still the case.

Because he’s already experienced similar pain recently.

It’s a situation where you can’t do what you were good at the way you wanted to.

Even producing and stage performance. In both.

And I overcame them both.

“Of course I did not assume that everyone would recover in the same way as me and I fully took into account that I may have been hasty in my judgment but…!”

Oh I don’t doubt it.

“So after careful consideration this is your conclusion?”

“yes.”

Kim Rae-bin’s eyes lit up a little.

“Every time I was in a slump or trauma what I ultimately needed was… experience.”

Raebin Kim clenched and unclenched his hands.

“It means feeling with your own skin that ‘I can do it.’”

“…”

“When I directly experienced a counterexample that was completely different from my worries and concerns and sense of defeat I was able to get out of the slump.”

It was like that.

-I was worried but when I actually experienced it I did well!

Kim Rae-bin carefully confessed that he wanted to give those easy words to Ryu Cheong-woo as well.

“So… I thought that if it’s difficult for Chungwoo to experience the stage in person right now maybe he could try something similar…”

That was archery.

Did you want to encourage Ryu Cheong-woo to try something he had already given up on due to his left arm injury?

‘…Now that I think about it the parts overlapped.’

Anyway Raebin Kim came across a notice on InHeart that the shooting range was closed today. The decision was made after deep consideration.

“Let’s cautiously suggest going to the archery range.”

Kim Rae-bin who said that he had thoroughly agonized over the idea of lying down and eating rice cake from Ryu Cheong-woo’s point of view because the distance was naturally shorter than that for athletes finally seemed a little relieved.

“Of course if Chungwoo reacted negatively I planned to immediately apologize and come back saying it was my mistake but…!”

“There was no need for that.”

“…yes.”

Because Liu Chengwu entered the archery range right away.

To be honest I was also worried about how Liu Chengwu would react.

“It means you have the most insightful judgment among us. “Good job.”

“…”

Raebin Kim took a deep breath as if he was slightly crying.

It seems like he was worried a lot before deciding to do this. It’s also true that I didn’t get detailed permission from the other guys.

‘When the time came there probably wasn’t time for it.’

Anyway whatever.

“I’m glad to see that Chungwoo is having fun.”

Are you coming?

“I think it’s really important to feel like you can do it.”

I quietly nodded to Raebin Kim’s words.

Well whether it helps with the stiffening left arm on stage or not it will help him feel more at ease during this period.

If you are willing to do what you like and are good at it will be good for your mental health.

“Brother can you shoot a bow even if you turn back?”

In the end Ryu Cheong-woo who used the archery range to his heart’s content that day decided to come here periodically and try archery at the recommendation of the members.

“I felt comfortable because there were no people and it was quiet.”

“huh.”

Teamwork is good.

I nodded feeling good that the situation was being resolved.

Of course it wasn’t long before I got stabbed in the back.

[The archery skills of Ryu Cheong-wu]

Is this a human? LOL (Capture)

= = = = = = = = = = = = = = = = = = = =

“I got caught.”

Oh shit.

I saw an article posted on social media.

It was clear that the owners of the archery range did not recognize us. That was certain because it was certified by the great power generation including myself Cha Yu-jin and Bae Se-jin.

The problem here… was of course Liu Chengwu's hedgehog target.

It seems like the owner saw this and told the family that there were such guests as a joke…

-Is this real? Where did you get it?

I have an archery range at my house and when I looked at the CCTV it was a tester.

It wasn't long before the baby who I didn't know was my nephew or my son or daughter went to the CCTV and placed a stuffed animal in Inheart.

'It's a typical example… '

Of course it was criticized as an invasion of privacy but data that had already been posted on the Internet never disappeared.

-Ryu Cheong-woo took a break from his activities to do archery hmm…

-Is it okay to say this because it hurts?

There are a few obvious reactions but…

Big Se-jin who showed the screen shrugged his shoulders.

"Hmm I don't think there will be any problem."

"okay."

I also agree.

To be honest this is a side effect I had already expected when I recommended Liu Chengwu to go to the archery range regularly.

'Are you an idol for a day or two?'

And it was visible how some negative remarks which are difficult to even call this controversy would play out.

‘At best it’ll just end up being a bit of absurd bullshit.’

-ㅠㅠAfter taking a break from my activities I started shooting archery. Has my original intention cooled down? I guess I just want to pursue a hobby now.

-He said he was in pain but he was fine as a dog.

I thought it might be about this much but when I looked at it it seemed like it was just slightly emerging from the bottom of the water.

‘The fucking kid is really sick. What should I do?’

This can be seen as the power of everyday behavior.

-Ryu Cheong-woo is taking a break due to anxiety symptoms. He’s not even hurt but are these bastards foaming at him by shooting arrows?;;;

-No fuck then people with panic disorder fear of heights and depression should stay locked in their rooms and do nothing? Haha.

-It is a rare sight to criticize a healthy and productive hobby at a drinking and smoking club even though it is not social.

-Extreme Job K-Doll

People who were complaining as if they had caught the number of cases end up getting criticized in the opposite direction.

Honestly this is okay. It’s a common occurrence in everyday life.

or not…

“It might even be possible to change public opinion.”

“oh?”

Something like this.

-That’s a rehabilitation deal. I quit due to the aftereffects of the injury. How difficult would it have been to do it again?

The conclusion is that it is part of psychotherapy.

‘You’re not wrong.’

I was able to resolve the issue by making up enough words on my own. There was no need for it to reach Liu Chengwu’s ears.

Big Sejin also nodded coolly.

“okay. So shall we go that way?”

“that…”

I was going to say yes of course.

“…”

“…Mundaemun University?”

For a moment my mouth fell silent.

Suddenly a thought crossed my mind that this wasn’t the case.

‘what?’

Why are you like this?

It is a conclusion that cannot be this easy. Isn’t this a great answer that allows Ryu Cheong-woo to focus on treating his IPS without worrying about unnecessary things?

Still I felt uneasy somewhere.

“for a moment.”

I eventually gave up and thought about the cause of my discomfort.

Words I heard before linger in my head.

The members who were contemplating Ryu Cheong-woo’s symptoms expressed their opinions on treatment options.

-I think that in order to get out of this kind of anxiety or suddenly unsure of yourself… a chance is important.

meter.

and…

-Like the dam collapsing… suddenly oh it’s okay. That feeling of being able to do it.

The feeling that you can do it.

“…”

-Feeling with your own skin that ‘I can do it.’

“Mundaemundae then I will take care of it first…”

“no.”

“uh?”

“I don’t think so. wait for a sec.”

I got up from the living room and walked down the hallway.

“Mundae?”

I guess I was misunderstanding something all this time.

-He told me to rest.

-Worrying… You can't worry and make it happen.

-So you should listen…

I thought Liu Chengwu was concerned about the worries of those around him and was swayed by them causing him more suffering.

But still.

'That guy… was he always that kind of guy who was blindly swayed by other people's opinions?'

Well I understand that people around you are important and you want to pay attention to them.

But usually he listened carefully to what was going on around him but did not let his stubbornness or pride go down.

So where did that intense rejection come from?

I didn't like the content.

"brother."

"…!"

I opened Liu Chengwu's door with a single knock.

Even though it was late at night the guy who wasn't sleeping according to the other guys' sleeping patterns opened his eyes wide.

"Hyung Moon Dae?"

Next to me Cha Yu-jin also raised her head but I paid no attention and showed Ryu Cheong-woo the Internet articles that had just been posted.

“This is…”

“Some words like this come out.”

I sat down on the bed carelessly.

“It won’t be a problem but I thought I’d make some preparations just in case.”

“what…”

“Hyung how about we go on stage schedules together instead of live broadcasts?”

“…”

Liu Chengyu’s expression disappeared.

“What if I stop on stage?”

“It doesn’t matter because it’s not live. “It was announced anyway so there’s no need to worry about rumors.”

“…”

Now I understand.

“And so far it seems to me”

This guy… didn’t want to hear people say ‘You can’t do it.’

“There is no problem with you. “I’m sure the stage will turn out well.”

Instead I had to say this.

“Because my brother is a good person by nature.”

Chapter 621

It’s been a while since Liu Chengwu looked at the Internet.

It had been a few days since Park Moon-dae caught him just monitoring while he was resting alone.

The reasons were not very good. This is because his private life when he went to the archery range during his break was leaked and posted on the Internet.

but.

-Is it really a target? Not a hedgehog?

Kkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkkk

-This is K-Archery the national gold medal.

-No Ryu Cheong-woo is really crazy. Didn’t he take a break for almost 10 years? Are you human?

It was just as Park Moon-dae said.

Comments were pouring in with exclamations that ‘it won’t be a problem’.

It’s not words like ‘I’m from the national team so why on earth does that happen?’ but expressions that are pure exclamation and tongue-in-cheek expressions.

-You’re so crazy you’re so good lol.

It was a strange feeling.

Liu Chengwu closed his eyes for a moment as he saw pure admiration filling the place where there had been only talk like 'Just rest well don't hold back it's better to quit'.

Because it suddenly occurred to me.

'This is what it felt like.'

Originally he always lived in this kind of reaction.

I've never attached great meaning to it and been proud of it but similar environments remind me of how I felt at that time.

-Liu Chengwu is Liu Chengwu

Myself before this happened.

The daily attitude and biological rhythm of that time.

So to Park Moon-dae's suggestion 'Would you like to take your time and participate in the schedule?' he inadvertently responded as if it were obvious.

-Really?

And now.

"I'll get off!"

Ryu Cheng-wu is indeed participating in Testa's stage schedule normally.

As soon as the van which had been moving since dawn arrived at its destination the busy studio was already ready.

"Let's start filming~"

"yes!"

The first schedule today was a famous talk show on WeTube.

There is no member who particularly pays attention to Ryu Cheong-woo and asks questions or takes good care of him. Rather as usual he was given the duties and rights as the group leader.

“Hey Cheongwoo should I come here to say hello?”

“Oh it’s okay. “You don’t have to go.”

“yes!”

Liu Chengwu handled things reflexively.

Things that seemed awkward when I thought about it in my head were naturally resolved once the situation became real.

And the stage.

“I’m sorry but we don’t have many cams… I think we’ll have to film about three or four times to upload personal fancams.”

A person in charge of stage filming said with tears in his eyes.

“Is that okay? Oh I’m so sorry…”

“Hey what are you sorry for?”

“That could be the case!”

This time too there is no member who says to Ryu Cheong-woo ‘Brother if you feel burdened by having to film again and again just tell me now… ’

I just say this.

“Brother are we going to continue like this?”

Then you just have to answer.

“okay.”

And the stage begins.

Same as always.

Then all you have to do is move.

‘ah.’

[Bad feeling!

You take it too]

Ryu Cheng-wu performed on stage without any problems that day.

“Cool!”

“Ah are we doing well today? “Brother look at this!”

Liu Chengwu took a breath and looked at himself in the captured camera data.

On the screen Liu Chengwu was dancing and singing passionately wearing a neat checkered suit.

[Umm-um Dduru-du

Even when the sun sets and the moonlight falls

Unforgettable feelings]

I didn’t feel particularly awkward or lacking in skills.

‘…I’m good at it.’

Was this what it felt like?

“…”

“Brother that thing just came out great!”

In the end Liu Chengyu nodded quietly.

But to be honest it wasn’t always successful.

Just trying doesn’t magically solve everything.

“…”

“Director let’s do it one more time!”

From then on when Ryu Cheong-woo performed on stage about five or six times he always missed the choreography with his left arm or was forced to react late.

It wasn’t the same intensity as when I first froze on stage and couldn’t do anything but the shock was at least half as strong.

However the members’ reaction is different from before.

“There are days like that right?”

Don’t force yourself to pretend to be okay or run away scared.

However I am not trying to look overly casual.

“I have time would you like to take a break for 10 minutes?”

We are also considerate at a realistic level.

“Brother if we run out of stamina you have to humanely buy us beef really.”

He complained that it was difficult.

That was actually a pleasure.

“That’s not difficult.”

“Oooh!”

And on the first day filming was delayed the members really worked together to get beef with him.

-The beef that Chungwoo bought… Everyone restrained themselves out of conscience and only ordered 20 servings (video)

Mukstar form is crazy

Guys hahahaha

Since when does conscience allow 3 servings per person?

In a mild non-lethal way.

Liu Chengwu’s experience is painted in a brighter light.

Of course before going to bed the experience of failure that I experienced today has eroded my thoughts and senses.

-No matter what I do if I don’t recover any further from here.

That assumption alone makes you conscious of your arms.

Liu Chengwu still did not want to talk about such things to the members.

However Ryu Cheong-woo who could not join the live broadcast when there was a schedule went to counseling instead and talked about what had happened so far.

“If it continues like this and stops every five or six times…”

“Um… I see.”

And I heard something surprising.

“But Professor Cheong-woo why don’t you try reducing the type of medicine?”

“yes?”

The idea is to make prescription drugs weaker.

Ryu Cheong-wu felt that the symptoms were still there.

“I… thought you would recommend increasing it.”

“Of course just as you take cold medicine when you catch a cold it is natural to take the medicine you like when you are feeling sick.”

The counselor spoke softly.

“But from what I can see Mr. Cheongwoo you are recovering very quickly.”

“…!!”

Liu Chengwu is not in a state of depression where his daily life is numb nor is he so irrationally anxious that he falls into a state of panic.

The counselor who kindly explained it to him reminded him.

“Mr. Cheongwoo is currently thinking about work from a very realistic emotional perspective.”

“…”

That he is recovering well.

“Then maybe other feelings are more important at this point.”

“which…”

“I can do it.”

The counselor spoke firmly.

“It’s self-efficacy. “Teacher Cheongwoo is a person whose self-confidence is much stronger than that of the average person.”

“…Me?”

“sure.”

At that moment a sentence passed through my mind.

-Because my brother is naturally a good person.

What I heard from Park Moon-dae.

“He believed that I could do anything if I worked hard. And look again. A tendency not to be afraid of risk a challenging tendency to pursue distant goals…”

“…”

“In fact I have confidence that I will not lose under any circumstances.”

Liu Qingyu listened to those words in a slightly dazed state.

Did I do that?

“That’s why I’m asking you to reduce the medication. “I don’t want Mr. Cheong-woo to misunderstand that everything is thanks to the medicine.”

“…”

“Just to conclude that I did it on my own.”

In the end Ryu Cheong-woo nodded and came out when asked to reduce the dosage and type of medication.

But I still felt a little dazed.

‘hmm.’

Am I that kind of person?

This is because in the first place he never attempted to deeply introspect ‘who am I’ and find out the ‘ultimate me’.

Because I never felt the need or interest in doing so.

If Bae Se-jin had heard this he might have been shocked and thought ‘There are people who aren’t interested at all…?’ However people’s inclinations vary.

Moreover Liu Chengwu was not completely free from fragmentary doubts about himself or symptoms of resignation and anxiety.

Because no one has even invited him to perform live on stage yet.

“Brother again!”

“okay.”

After finishing the private pre-recording I inadvertently looked at the fans’ reactions.

Are you still wishing I could rest?

-I miss the kids…

-Does it make sense that Sanhok is private because of Jogi?

-I can't see the real thing so what kind of activity period is this?

"Return your smartphone."

"…"

Ryu Cheong-woo calmly placed the smartphone on Park Moon-dae's palm.

But I couldn't help but add something.

"Then don't even look at your brother."

"I won't see it."

lie.

There was no way someone like my brother wouldn't see things turn out so unexpectedly.

'I'm sure I'll be watching it alone thinking 'This will be good enough."

Ryu Cheong-woo wanted to scold Park Mun-dae but somehow he couldn't think of an appropriate attitude.

'…what did I do before?'

It certainly seems like he said it quite convincingly and firmly.

"…"

It definitely seemed like it was better than the lowest point. However it is unclear and unsatisfactory as to where one stands.

It's as if it has degenerated past its prime and will never recover…

"…"

He stood up with a slightly bitter taste in his mouth.

Let's go to rehabilitation.

When Liu Chengwu is having a less-than-perfect week.

The news that Testa had been waiting for began to be widely reported.

"It came out."

It was VTIC's flagship first parking performance.

* * *

-oh my god

-You're crazy really.

-I guess the fans were gathering their energy properly haha.

I sold a lot of it.

I was silent after looking at VTIC's record sales index.

[VTIC | Non-Cryptid (regular) | 2931713]

Almost 3 million copies.

No matter how severe the inflation in the music market became it was a flagship sales volume.

It is a well-established theory that the number of copies increased by about 100000 thanks to the fans' last-minute push to sell 3 million copies but…

‘But look at the X number of feet.’

I clicked my tongue when I saw group purchase receipts posted on overseas sites.

Of course Testa also achieved a record career high.

[TeSTAR | Badtime (regular) | 2083.375]

Even we have 2 million poles.

Unlike VTIC our fans succeeded in an additional volume offensive to exceed 2 million copies.

‘If the Ryu Cheong-woo issue hadn’t happened I would have been going crazy a few days ago thanking the members and the company because they are all good.’

However thanks to this the internet guys were going even crazier.

-The testa also exceeded 2 million units. Isn’t it similar weight class?

-No there are 2 million units that are the same but the difference in hundreds of thousands is the name of someone’s dog? Haha.

-Come to your senses 2/3 X stars!

-There are a lot of groups whose only wish is to sell hundreds of thousands of copies in their lifetime but do you have the conscience to treat them as equals and just pretend they didn’t exist?

-Ugh now I don’t get the testa global trend ㅇㅈㄹ boost.

I don’t know why but there are people all over the internet who sympathize with VTIC and beat them up on their behalf.

There were some insightful comments that chilled the conversation.

-All the rookies were eliminated in a certain way so the petit fans couldn't catch the new talent haha.

"…"

No I didn't do it to please those bastards.

Of course those words were met with criticism saying 'How dare you say that VTIC was lucky?'

'A lot of kids who got accepted based on their grades got accepted.'

However it does not mean that we are being defeated unilaterally.

On the other hand it's like this.

-Testa Beat Feeling Lemon Music Chart sound source recaptured hahaha

huh. We regained first place on the music charts.

As expected VTIC's song did not receive popular picks.

I have to give this honor to composer Kim Rae-bin.

-You're crazy.

-As expected it only works overseas where news is slow due to its past reputation but it is a disaster in Korea's home field.

-This is the original sound source but news is slow in foreign countries so it's still popular haha.

So again it was a battle over who won…

"Well it's a bit scary."

"okay."

If we just leave it without thinking about it we will fall behind as time goes by.

‘VTIC has a lot of rice left over.’

For example in the midst of all this VTIC who were active for the first time in a year and a half seemed to be receiving large love calls.

“Coachella.”

“uh?”

There was news of an appearance at an American festival.

“Isn’t that April?”

“I wonder if it might be postponed. “A natural disaster an epidemic something like that.”

“iced coffee.”

The members clicked their tongues when they saw it.

“Wow it’s September but is there already news about casting?”

A KPOP singer who appears as a headliner at a large festival popular in the English-speaking world!

Another negative factor was that public opinion was easily influenced by these things.

-okay? They are really famous and popular!

Fame leads to fame and popularity leads to popularity.

‘I don’t know what will explode.’

Rivals are still strong and as always in this industry nothing is certain.

Of course does that mean we were just letting go and leaving it to chance? Not even that.

“come.”

“huh?”

I grinned.

“We should go out too.”

The recruitment that was being coordinated has ended.

“We’re going to Glastonbury Festival!”

“Ohhhhhh!”

Amid Cha Yu-jin’s cheers Bae Se-jin asked with her pupils trembling.

“W-what is that?”

Sun Ah-hyun blushed and raised her hand.

“Ah it’s a music festival hosted by England! Not only are they famous but many historically significant people also appear…”

Sun Ah-hyeon eagerly explained that she also went to the program when she was studying abroad because circus and ballet appeared.

“Oooh.”

“Now that I hear it again it’s a really meaningful and wonderful festival!”

Of course Big Sejin is looking at the lineup from the year of the event to the latest year.

“Wow it’s great to see the lineup again.”

“They all know it.”

Bae Se-jin asked quietly next to the guy who was sticking his tongue out at the sight of the prominent headliners.

“Then there is almost no KPOP?”

“Even if they existed they were not from an idol group.”

It is said that mainly indie bands and several artists famous for their musicality appeared.

‘Well even though this isn’t the main stage it seems like it’s a famous festival with a lot to see… ’

I grinned.

“Still we’re probably the first to be invited to the main stage.”

[It sucks.]

“Ha… It’s really cool.”

I was planning to counter the topicality of the 2nd and 3rd weeks with this.

“Oh…”

However if there are unexpected variables…

On this enormous large live stage. Will Liu Chengwu be absent or participate?

The point is that no decision has been made on that yet.

“…”

I deliberately did not look back at Liu Chengwu who was sitting quietly.

It’s up to you to decide what you want so showing too much concern is actually poisonous.

Haven’t you already seen it?

‘If you decide to do it you just have to push it.’

Liu Chengwu joins.

That was the most urgent concern and variable.

…until another article appeared in the evening.

“VTIC… Glastonbury is coming out.”

“uh…?”

“He’s even the headliner.”

“…”

These guys have a knack for making people angry. really.

Chapter 622

What do you think about the situation where you set up the main stage of a famous global music festival and your rival has to appear here?

And that too as a headliner.

“haha…”

“after.”

Of course it’s like X.

When sending out to the media if one group is the headliner that group naturally gets the attention first.

It seems like they are trying to show the level difference overseas.

-In Korea it’s Testa but globally it’s V-Tik.

I was getting sick of hearing that sound.

Obviously we get a better response here but I’ve seen them give us a higher rating once or twice because of our overseas results.

As for albums… if you look at the domestic volume alone this one sold more. But if you just look at the total amount doesn’t it seem like it’s falling behind?

“…”

This one is really tiring.

I silently pondered the news from the company. There was a light silence in the living room.

Then a question suddenly occurred to me.

‘VTIC headlines Glastonbury.’

We are on the main stage…

Okay well let’s say VTIC has better global appeal than us.

Anyway anyway.

‘Are these guys worthy of appearing as headliners?’

This does not mean that we are ignoring what VTIC has built so far. Even in that area the military is young and it’s common to release albums every 1 or 2 years so their hiatus would have been treated as just an album period.

It might have been more topical because the reason was unique.

but.

‘Still I’m not a singer that anyone who listens to will be impressed by.’

That’s always been K-pop’s weakness.

Public awareness.

-VTIC? Are you really a K-pop idol?

-Oh my god the K-pop plague has reached the UK.

-Who will go see a performance on a day when a ‘K-pop boy band’ appears instead of a living legend of our time?

-I like it I’ve been curious about them sometimes so I’ll have to see it that day □

Sure enough as soon as the rumor spread people in the English-speaking world were also talking about it.

Of course there are dog fights with VTIC fans but compared to other lineups in terms of popularity they are pushed out.

It's just that… there is outright noise and there is no 'wow' exclamation.

-I won't go on Saturday.

Even if you remove all prejudices this means that it is the weakest in the lineup.

Well that doesn't mean it's so strange that I suspect corruption. K-pop is weak in popularity but is always strong in ticket selling.

'Because the festival runs for three days we sometimes feature an experimental headliner for one day.'

But honestly if we went steadily I think it would be right to capture the main stage like we did.

Other famous pop singers often get their start by being listed on the main stage lineup…

'I was anxious.'

Plus they don't have a main vocalist.

Of course I know that Judan and Shinno have very good vocals but no matter how much I think about it I think that in a performance like this there needs to be at least one power vocalist to get a good response from the audience.

However I don't know if it's really a wise idea on a global level to make a headliner by going beyond your own weight class.

'hmm.'

I calmed down and realized that I had regained my composure.

The other guys seemed to have calmed down and started talking about reasonable plans.

First understand the situation.

[6/21/FRI-TeSTAR]

“We are on Friday. VTIC on Saturday.”

The two groups appeared on different days.

“The dates are different~ Hmm I guess that’s better.”

I crossed my arms.

“It might actually be a bad thing.”

“why?”

“People who are friendly to K-pop or who like K-pop anyway will focus on dates where VTIC is the headliner.”

“…ah.”

If only we had been invited people who are interested in KPOP might have come to see us with more interest.

But as long as there is a KPOP headliner on another date…

“Are we likely to perform in front of an audience that doesn’t view us very favorably?”

That’s right.

This was an unavoidable problem in terms of proportion.

‘Besides they get all the aggro for appearing for the first time.’

That’s actually a good thing in terms of topicality.

…It’s even more infuriating because they’re stuck with us in so many ways so we’ve come to the conclusion that going a bit too far is a smart choice.

It was time to cool down the anger that was boiling over again.

“I don’t think there’s any need to worry though…!”

Sun Ah-hyun opened her mouth with a slightly red face.

“I think a good stage… well can communicate across languages or borders… as long as I can show it to you.”

“Sure.”

Cha Yu-jin shrugged took out the paper in front of us and threw it backwards.

“Cha Yujin!”

“Stop worrying about who comes out and when. “If we do better than the Headliner that’s the right answer.”

“…”

“I always say the right answer. “You know right?”

At those words a small laugh erupted in the living room.

“Huh? I like smiling. “But what is the reason?”

“No I’m used to it.”

Sejin Lee also smiled.

“okay. Even if we’re not the headliners we just have to do well~”

Of course this guy wasn’t trying to tell an ideal story like Sun Ah-hyun.

“Well the fancam will eventually be released anyway right?”

Correct answer.

‘The aggro of simultaneous releases with VTIC will continue.’

-Comparison of the performances of two K-pop male idols who appeared simultaneously at Glastonbury

There are all kinds of comparison videos floating around on WeTube and there are plenty of opportunities to turn things around if you try to create them.

And isn’t that what we do best?

Live stage.

“Let’s collide.”

“Good~”

The conversation ended with morale aflame.

However one person has a slightly mysterious face.

Who could it be? This is Liu Chengwu.

“…”

I quietly tapped him.

“What are you worried about?”

“ah.”

The guy answered with a faint bitter smile.

“I want to practice together. But… then it would be confusing when I was left out of formation on the last day.”

The argument was that for the sake of the stage’s completeness it would be better to leave the show from now on.

I am indeed.

I slapped the guy on the back.

“…!”

“hey. “Do your best.”

Liu Chengyu’s eyes widened.

“Why would it be confusing if we didn’t do anything for two years?”

I leaned back on the sofa.

“Even if you can’t do it right before the stage there’s no problem with getting into formation. Stop talking nonsense and just practice. “If you want to do it.”

“…huh.”

I turned a blind eye to Keun Se-jin shouting ‘Ol～’ with his mouth.

In this way Liu Chengwu continued to participate in practice.

The guy worked really hard.

“I’ll do it one more time.”

“yes.”

It seemed like he was practicing for this stage even when he could not appear on the live broadcast schedule deducting some of his break time as a matter of course.

“Hyung you look happy right?”

“uh. “Let’s leave it alone.”

I gritted my teeth and raised the level of perfection higher than usual but…

Just before leaving the country he finally made his final decision.

“It would be better not to go up.”

“…”

-Ryu Cheong-woo will not be on stage this time.

“If I go up and stop this is going to be really hard to handle.”

What effect would it have on the group’s name if one person performed parts and choreography in front of an unfamiliar unfriendly audience?

“This time… I think it would be better for the group if I refrained.”

It seemed like the decision was made after considering the possible repercussions of the situation several times.

‘If I convince you that you can do something unconditionally and then fail this guy will have to deal with all the repercussions mentally.’

That was something we couldn’t do so in the end we nodded heavily at Liu Chengwu’s words.

“…Still will you let me go with you?”

“then.”

And so Testa left the country.

And we meet while waiting and preparing for rehearsal.

The KPOP headliner performing a day after us.

“Our energy is high! Take it and fight on stage~ Seniors!”

“Thank you so much!”

VTIC was wearing denim outfits that were lighter and more free-spirited than suits for the festival.

In the past I would have said I wore something similar to jeans but I guess I’ve grown up.

There is nothing wrong with saying this line.

“Congratulations on KPOP’s first Glastonbury headliner.”

“Well if you’re looking at the date the first person to appear is my junior. “We have a Saturday test on Friday.”

It must be hard to just choose words that make people’s stomachs turn you idiot.

But instead of raising my eyebrows I just nodded slightly.

There are a lot of eyes watching me but I need to have a social life.

However Cheongryeo managed to speak again after everyone left.

“It must be very upsetting to see this happening again.”

“…”

What… are you expecting?

I looked at him with puzzled eyes.

“Well each person makes the best choice.”

“is it so. The best choice…”

Cheongryeo became speechless at that moment.

‘I wonder if it will float soon.’

It was a moment when I was thinking briefly.

“Well junior does he know that? “What the future would be like if I didn’t make this choice.”

The guy suddenly opened his mouth.

“What if this is your choice?”

“It’s a comprehensive sense of the current situation. But in detail… yeah. “Let’s just say I’m talking about the timing of the comeback.”

Time for VTIC’s comeback.

I realized that meant releasing the album simultaneously with Testa.

“I told you. “Thanks to this even people who weren’t originally interested are showing interest.”

But… what if I hadn’t.

“No I think I sold more albums than my junior.”

“…”

“I guess that’s all.”

-Ah V-Tik is making a comeback.

-Discharged? Haha that’s fast.

-Oh did you hear the billboard? ㅊㅋㅊㅋ But the ranking is a bit lower than before.

A passing interest.

No matter how much they tried to save on their image it was also a limitation for an idol group that had already done everything they could.

Especially if you focus on overseas activities.

“Of course the music may not have made it into the rankings.”

Cheongnyeo calmly told the reality.

“You know where the male idols who are not popular in Korea will end up.”

Fans are also aware of this and there is a limit to going out of their way to buy albums and maintain the level.

Glory in name only. A status that only exists in the past.

VTIC would have sunk that slowly.

They say that even if a big merchant goes bankrupt it will last for three years.

What do the public think? In the meantime I will quietly disappear into a singer of the past.

“That’s why I took the final challenge.”

I realized.

VTIC's appearance as the headliner at this festival was also a choice made with the country in mind.

This time they sold a lot of albums and the music rankings were decent although not as good as in their prime.

However as he said this is the result of the fans having ample purchasing power and the popularity of releasing it at the same time as ours.

Then if you want to make it as real as possible…

'I absolutely have to put my stamp on this album properly.'

So I went out of my way to get a headliner.

I wanted to give a sign to the country that 'VTIC will remain an eternal legend.'

"So I decided to go here."

"…"

"It might have been a bit harsh on you junior."

I stopped breathing for a moment.

"what. "The guy who lost the music."

"…!"

"and…"

When I bend my neck I hear a loud noise.

"Nothing is over yet."

“…”

Cheongryeo’s eyes seemed to answer in that way.

The initial release period is over and your domestic music broadcast activities are probably over right?

What on earth is not over?

‘Look carefully.’

Instead of speaking at length I came out.

“Fighting on stage. “Senior.”

The activity period is not over yet.

[Surprising Glastonbury Festival… Shall we show off the skills of KPOP idols?]

VTIC only vaguely received news that the festival rehearsal that day had ended successfully.

‘doesn’t care.’

We just have to do our job properly.

I silently prepared the stage. Of course it was the same for not only me but also other guys.

“…”

However stitches popped out from the first button again.

“We’re missing the headliner.”

Oh shit really.

The morning of the performance.

“what?”

“Look at this.”

People with the same name who were getting their hair done put their heads down and looked at their smartphones.

“Performance canceled due to injury to Red Sumer vocalist…”

Bae Se-jin raised his head with a blank face.

Raebin Kim was shocked.

“So… is this a concert without a headliner?”

“That can’t be possible.”

What kind of damages and controversy would there be if the headliner were blown away at a large festival of this scale?

“I will fill it somehow.”

I’ll either serve up or get a pinch hitter.

Of course there are still limits.

“…the audience will be bored.”

“…”

People who came to see the headliner.

I’m sure there are a lot of people like that but it’s only natural to wonder how frustrated they would be if they couldn’t see the performance and singer they were looking forward to.

There may be people who have already sold their tickets or just leave after a short while but even if that is not the case you will have to attract audience members who have already lost interest.

In a language they don't know.

"…"

'They say that no matter how bad or good things are they usually come all at once.'

Why are you getting so much bad news stuck in your throat one after another?

I wiggled my eyebrows and suppressed a sigh.

Well… In fact it wasn't an unheard of situation but if things continue like this the topic will be lost despite the headliner's absence.

It's already weak in popularity but the audience is not in a good and comfortable state.

'This is the perfect situation to hit a low point.'

"…"

okay.

At this rate it is likely to be a low point.

If so… that is.

"Brother Cheongwoo."

I jumped up from my seat.

“…!”

Ryu Cheong-woo who was sitting on the sofa and checking the members’ condition looks back with a puzzled face.

“hmm?”

“brother. Anyway I don’t think we know how much appeal it will have if this stage continues like this.”

I sat straight in front of him.

“Then let’s aim for the high point.”

“…”

“Hyung let’s go on stage too.”

I spoke without hesitation.

“It won’t have the effect we expect anyway but if you participate we can still show our best side.”

Liu Chengyu looked at me as if speechless for a moment.

But he soon regained his composure and opened his mouth.

“Mundae. I know what you mean. Still it might be better to be safe.”

However his voice cracked slightly low.

“First of all no one can be sure whether my presence will make that much of a difference…”

“Of course there are!”

“of course!”

“…!”

A strong response came from all over.

I was listening carefully and it seemed like it was something that came out and I almost burst out laughing when I saw the guys of the same age.

-Because my brother is naturally a good person.

okay.

If what you said didn’t really hit home that much then it’s not difficult to be more specific again.

“Ravin.”

“yes!”

Kim Rae-bin who happened to be wearing all piercings raised her hand.

“What is Chungwoo’s role in our song?”

“…First of all all of Testa’s songs were created by all members based on their individuality and strengths.”

“…”

“So of course in all of our songs Chungwoo’s personality is unique and his strengths are clear.”

Raebin Kim’s words were outspoken.

A clear mid-bass sound that leads the song. A solid vocalist that is stable like a bass but can also hit sharply and go up like a piano.

The sound is good so you can place it anywhere and the stage acting doesn’t depend on any genre so it’s good for the verse and pre-chorus.

“It is an advantage that shines especially when switching between soft and strong things.”

Raebin Kim declared so firmly.

“Your brother on stage can never be completely replaced by another member!”

Liu Chengyu’s shoulders trembled.

“…”

The members in the waiting room watched quietly.

and.

“okay.”

“…!”

Liu Chengyu raised his eyes.

Inside the solid thing I couldn’t tell if it was fire or water burning.

“Let’s do it.”

“yes!!”

The last moment of the end.

Liu Chengwu joined the live performance.

And a slightly damp cloudy and foggy Friday.

-Waaaaaaaa!

A huge music festival has opened.

Chapter 623

Festival venue.

Glastonbury England in June is colder than you think. You shouldn't think of the clear hot weather of Los Angeles or San Diego.

The weather is gloomy and looks like it might rain at any time. In reality the rain keeps coming and going. The sun is just an event that can be seen occasionally.

A wet and gloomy outdoor scene.

but.

"You're crazy!"

There is a fever that overcomes it.

Hot joy.

Wooooooooooo-

The cheers of anticipation and murmurs of laughter heard from all over the place became one mass and rang in my ears.

Colorful tents colorful festival decorations and statues and various colorful clothes shine brightly on the green grass even under the gloomy sky.

festivities! festivities!

And… music!

An American traveler froze for a moment with his mouth open at the majestic sight…

“Hannah!”

“oh.”

I came to my senses after hearing a friend’s call.

Another American traveler who woke his dazed friend shrugged his shoulders.

I understood to some extent.

person.

There were more real people than she had ever seen in her life filling the plains to the horizon with countless tents and blankets.

It was better than the beach in LA.

‘I would have done that too.’

The American traveler nodded and moved on with his friend Hannah.

They sat in front of their tent and opened a pamphlet.

This is to check the lineup of performances that will be held for three days starting two days before the eve.

“Is there a singer you definitely want to see?”

“Yes!”

My friend excitedly talked about several singers and then slightly hesitantly pointed out one more name.

“And… this band too.”

[TESTAR]

She blinked at the unfamiliar name. What kind of singer is this?

And I was a little surprised by my friend's answer.

"KPOP?"

"Oh well. yes."

Looking at her slightly embarrassed friend she let out an exclamation.

"Hannah are you really a KPOP listener?"

"Well to a certain extent."

"It could be! "I know some songs too…"

She recalled a few Korean words she heard on Tic Tac Tok shrugged her shoulders and then suddenly remembered a fact.

[Saturday Headliner – VTIC]

"Now that I think about it isn't the headliner the next day Saturday a KPOP singer?"

In fact due to the open and progressive nature of this festival free from commercialism the selection of headliners from such minor genres was not uncommon so it was understandable.

Anyway ticket sales are held without the lineup being revealed!

Occasionally there were people who sarcastically asked for a quota system out of political correctness but they were often ignored.

And in fact even she vaguely knew that a KPOP band called VTIC was famous all over the world…

“I’m not interested in those people.”

Hannah was adamant. Why?

‘Don’t KPOPs share characteristics anyway?’

She didn’t think she particularly looked down on KPOP. But wasn’t a unique genre originally one in which the similarities between themselves stood out?

First of all when I think of KPOP there is one characteristic that I immediately remember.

Gorgeous colors group dance clear skin teenagers crazy liveliness or irregular song that seems to mix various genres together…

And even the lyrics are a mixture of English and Korean.

Sure enough my friend hesitated and revealed the truth.

“I just umm… an old friend of mine is in that Friday band. “TeSTAR.”

“really?!”

Out of embarrassment and excitement she took out her smartphone where she had put up her tent and started searching for the name of the band.

Stopping that Hannah added hastily.

“No we just went to the same middle school and did homework together a few times…”

“Oh… it’s a boy.”

She felt that Hannah’s face had flushed bright red.

The two talked quietly while looking at a photo of a blonde member named ‘Cha Yu-jin’ who looked a little surprisingly fit and hot.

“Then he must be Korean.”

“maybe. Actually I thought he was half-Spanish but I’m not sure…”

The topic at that time passed so naturally.

Even American travelers didn’t feel much excitement up to this point other than a little curiosity.

My friend was adamant that it wasn’t a good idea for now but I thought that if I showed interest on Saturday I could watch the KPOP headliner performance together.

‘Still it’s human nature to want to see the more famous person.’

Even if you are not interested at all.

And the festival time passes.

“Look at that!”

From yoga to the circus field.

As you enjoy the eve of the festival with all kinds of experiences and sights in numerous concept zones it finally arrives.

Main event.

The day of the performance.

“Further forward! “Further forward!”

“Waaah!”

friday.

Behind the excited audience she and her friend who were so excited after experiencing all kinds of art and concept zones for two days willingly threw themselves into the crowd.

Huge main stage.

Shouts and colors burst out from broad daylight on the famous Pyramid Stage.

Papa pang!

How many people are there? 50000 people? 80000 people?

…120000 people?

‘oh my god… ’

Amid the waves of people she stood on the mud holding her friend’s arm and looking up at the pyramid stage.

The stage is the biggest centerpiece of this grand festival.

What would it be like to stand in front of hundreds of thousands of people on that enormous device?

Facing a crowd that is staring at you with anticipation!

[Say Good-]

Ooooh!!!

The first stage ended in enthusiasm.

People who sang along to the long-time veteran singer’s live acoustic guitar performance gave enthusiastic applause and cheers.

The singer enters with an overwhelmed face.

‘This is a performance!’

She also blinked in that warm and overwhelming atmosphere.

Because it felt like a real music festival was starting.

It was then.

“no!”

Suddenly a shrill scream and a shout came from the side.

The smartphone in my hand shook violently.

“Red Sumer’s vocalist was injured!”

“what?!”

It was news of today’s headliner’s absence.

“Oh my god so there’s no headliner on Friday?!”

“What XX!”

Some people who heard the news late let out harsh curses and sighs and the atmosphere quickly deteriorated into a negative situation.

[Please pay attention!]

It was said that the stage would proceed as scheduled after an urgent announcement but people were already starting to show up behind the scenes such as the Other Stage.

The selection of the singer who came as a pinch hitter was very obvious.

As they waited for today’s headliner the people who were here went to find other things to enjoy.

“Timmy came to Other Stage.”

“Let’s go there.”

Meanwhile the American traveler somehow her excited mind began to return to reality.

“oh…”

My feet felt sticky and painful inside my boots stuck in the mud. This is because so many people were trampling the soggy grass with their feet.

The problems of stamina and discomfort that I had forgotten about suddenly started to come back when the adrenaline was over.

Fatigue from camping appeared due to disappointment and discomfort.

“…Shall we take a break?”

“hmm…”

However when she saw that her friend Hannah was reluctant she decided to stay with her.

Because there were many other good singers in the lineup.

‘We just have to have fun and have fun no matter how others feel.’

However the people at the back got away quite a bit and thanks to that whether by luck or luck they were able to flow in quite close to the stage rather than before.

“I think I can see the face up there!”

“You’re crazy!”

They tried to rekindle the excitement but the atmosphere was still a bit turbulent.

‘If there’s a good performance it’ll be okay.’

When you hear a famous song performed live passionately.

and…

Jiiiiiiing-!

With the loud sound of the band tuning the next singer is introduced in black and white on the center electronic display.

[TeSTAR]

“oh!”

She hit her friend on the shoulder.

This was the KPOP group my friend was waiting for!

However there was not a very enthusiastic response from all sides. A few people holding the flag intentionally waved it hard to get excited.

There were definitely people cheering in front but there were so many people in the back that it was hard to see.

Either I don’t know who they are or I’m not very interested.

‘oh.’

She had a hunch.

Not this time.

‘A stage that will change the atmosphere’.

And I felt a little sad.

Wouldn’t it be difficult for a singer to be satisfied and not tremble no matter what he does in this fierce atmosphere?

The traveler thought that he might have run away.

and.

Tootuk.

“uh?”

Water droplets finally began to pour from the gloomy sky.

“ah…!”

It was rain.

[Wait 5 minutes.]

I think it was 5 minutes just now but it’s still 5 minutes.

Liu Chengwu thought quietly while listening to the English guidance.

Such comprehensive live performances were often delayed due to encores etc.

But this time was a little different.

Because it was right after the headliner’s absence was announced.

“How’s the mood?”

“Oh it’s okay.”

After hearing the manager’s response Cha Yu-jin nodded but her face clearly knew that it was a lie.

But no one in Testa was perturbed.

‘Does this mean it’s not even a day or two?’

Liu Chengwu who was watching this almost forgot his thoughts and laughed lightly.

Somehow it felt very reassuring.

Of course after that section passed thoughts began to fill my head again.

It was good that I decided to come up.

However regarding the ramifications of this incident it is difficult to calculate what kind of situation you will be in and what damage will be done to the group…

“excuse me.”

My thoughts were broken.

The person who spoke was… Bae Se-jin.

“I want to apologize for something.”

“hmm?”

Liu Chengwu was almost embarrassed.

“Sejin what do you mean?”

“I… feel like I was unnecessarily being too careful with you.”

“…”

Bae Se-jin seemed to have thought about these words several times and continued speaking cautiously but without hesitation.

“I didn’t think I should carelessly tell you not to worry. “In the past I didn’t like people telling me that everything would be fine when they said they wouldn’t take responsibility for anything.”

“…”

It seemed like he was talking about his days as a child actor.

“But I think I was wrong.”

Bae Se-jin raised his head.

“You are not me.”

“…!”

“You weren’t that worried. “Because he’s a person like me who doesn’t worry about useless things until they come to an end and just… does what needs to be done.”

Was it like that?

Liu Chengwu somehow feels very unfamiliar. I heard Bae Se-jin describe herself.

It was already the third time. Hearing someone describe themselves.

A person who is naturally good at something.

A person who cannot be replaced.

and…

“Someone who does his job?”

“okay. “Don’t think too deeply.”

Bae Se-jin nodded and muttered again.

“So I think this makes more sense than giving you time to think about it.”

Liu Qingyu listened quietly.

“You can do anything. So ever since ＜Azusa＞… I thought it was great.”

“…”

“Good job. “I’m jealous.”

Liu Qingyu forgot what he was saying and looked at Bae Sejin. Bae Sejin faced him without averting his gaze.

“…”

Eventually it was time.

“Let’s go up.”

Liu Chengwu went up to the stage.

None of the members said to themselves ‘It’s okay if I make a mistake. Don’t say things like ‘it will work out somehow’.

Just hand over a hand microphone.

“Here.”

I grabbed the microphone.

My heart was racing but my mind was quiet. What used to be dizzy with thoughts is as calm as a lie.

Because there’s no need to.

‘I see.’

It was something like that.

A singer appears in the rain.

[TESTAR]

Waaaaa!!

Decent cheers.

However rather than being directed at the singer it is directed at the stage itself and the atmosphere that is starting anew.

Moreover the rain that had started to fall penetrated people's hair and stung their eyes.

Liu Chengwu could feel the gravity of the water drops falling even on his head.

See you on stage.

A wave of countless audiences.

Because the day is still bright you can see far into the distance.

And… there's even a small crowd of people turning around behind them.

"…"

During practice last week Park Moon-dae's voice came to mind.

-People will definitely fall for it.

The performance lasts all day. And that too for three days in a row.

Naturally there were many cases where the audience would leave a lineup if they did not like it or were not interested in it but then came back to enjoy other stages or activities.

Especially at the back.

-So once you get into the mood you will be hooked without any regrets.

The audience was extremely swayed by the crowd atmosphere.

but.

'To put it the other way… '

This means that the way to see is the same.

Liu Chengwu held the microphone.

-Start with a song you know.

rainy sky.

Even though it is daytime numerous lights on the stage flash as if cutting through the dark atmosphere.

And a sparkling voice.

Black hole!

Limestone The main OST song from the major comic book company's sci-fi hero movie resonates unaccompanied throughout the venue.

Let me swallow iiiiii-t!

And then the band's ensemble explodes.

"…!"

A familiar song.

And the familiar European band style accompaniment and development method.

Above all…

[Exploding far– away!]

vocal!

Park Mun-dae lets out high-pitched notes as he harmonizes high above Ryu Cheong-woo's solid voice.

Cheers groans and unexpected admiration flowed through the venue and my steps reflexively stopped.

A song you've heard lyrics you can understand and a singing ability that will resonate in your head.

[Hit it like a comet]

Above the slightly lonely band accompaniment Kim Rae-bin's low and harsh vocals disappear in harmony with Sun Ah-hyun's soft mid-low voice.

And the climax.

[Shatter like a shooting star!!]

Testa's vocals holding a standing microphone race through the running drum beats.

Fireworks exploded everywhere.

Wow!

Hannah and her friend also screamed like crazy in response to the reflexive response.

'and!'

It was so nice to hear the song actually flowing through the singer's vocal chords.

Because the movie was a box office success people who had heard it anywhere were excitedly humming and singing along to the lyrics while watching them on the electronic display board.

The band members did not just stand at the standing mic but instead held the mic and came out here and there to sing and add ad-libs as they pleased.

[Black-hole!]

Wow!!

When the song ended cheers erupted.

The polite response that had been given as a courtesy to the performance that was shown when they appeared was suddenly replaced by happy shouts.

"Huhhh!!"

Hannah's friend also watched the stage while screaming from the inside of her stomach.

The electronic display board captured their faces.

'Why aren't they all young kids!'

His body and frame showed the composure and strength of a senior or college student rather than an immature teenager.

However as is typical of KPOP the tops worn over denim pants of various tones were filled with somewhat flashy precious metal decorations and leather chokers.

And then the first comment came out…

[We don’t know right?]

“Phew!”

After swallowing hard he opened up with a story that made me cringe.

The eldest member smiled excitedly stretched out his hand and pointed to the electronic display board with the lyrics to ‘Black hole’.

[We are the people who appeared as a crazy alien band in that movie.]

The person next to me laughed.

[I actually make that kind of music.]

ha ha ha!

It’s natural.

He had the confidence typical of someone who makes his own music.

Once the audience is on their toes they listen to the next song with a slightly open mind.

Eliminating barriers to entry.

[So next… This is a song that will introduce what kind of music we make and it is the new album we just released.]

Light cheers.

The member with the best physique and cool manly appearance took the microphone again.

English came out of his mouth clearly and softly.

[We haven’t even toured with this album yet but this is Glastonbury.]

He smiled gently.

[Isn't love peace tolerance and dreams the spirit of Glastonbury? You can try anything.]

[So we prepared it too.]

It was that moment.

The stage lights turn off for a moment.

At that moment the audience's reaction also became quiet.

Because I knew that a new stage would begin in the atmosphere.

And… the people on stage also became quiet.

The person who was holding the microphone just a moment ago.

Liu Chengwu.

"…"

he recalled.

-If my brother goes on stage.

-For this song you must stand in the middle of the chorus.

Liu Chengwu took a deep breath.

Below the stage the audience whispered in voices that could not be heard from up there.

"Hannah! "Do you know this song?"

“know! This must be a song called Bad Feeling…”

The American traveler tried to show his sincerity by listening to his friend’s explanation of the song and rehearsing it a bit.

“So a bit of Broadway-style pop music…”

When Hannah moves her mouth to explain the formal office and rhythmic choreography and the trumpet and delightful electronic instruments.

“Let’s begin!”

“ah!!”

The lights came back again.

And the thing that rings like it’s chasing you from behind…

Heavy old school accompaniment.

thud.

“…!?”

Fire falls on the singers who walk onto the stage in front of the stage.

However there are no tops with precious metal accessories that will reflect the light. Instead black and red hoodies or monotone jumpers are taking their place.

Soon the three-hundred-eyed face wearing a black beggar hat appeared on the electronic display board.

Everyone bows their heads except him.

Crackling crackling-

A low harsh rap bursts out against the background of a rough band ensemble.

[Get this feeling

Then I'll fall and fall]

thud.

Bad feeling.

Their title song completely remixed with old school hip hop began to explode like firecrackers with explosive band sounds.

Chapter 624

Glastonbury where performances are in full swing.

Hae-jin who had been watching Testa with interest ever since she ran into him at a hotteok shop where Cha Yu-jin was a middle school friend looked up at the stage with her mouth open.

thud.

A dark old school hip hop sound was ringing.

Good!

The stage display board in front of you.

A low rap with full bass bursts through the distorted band sound like the howl of a wild engine beast.

The intro to their title has changed.

[Get this feeling

Then I'll fall and fall]

Choreography that feels like taking steps on the floor and drums that get louder.

In keeping with this the performer has a decadent look with cheeks and three white eyes that nod his head while wearing a hat.

Raebin Kim.

[Umm-]

He lowers his posture.

With distorted electric bass.

Open your mouth by bouncing with pops from your shoulders to your toes.

[I sleepwalk

Walk slowly on the asphalt

Chill out calmly still step step

(Reload)]

Behind the throwing-like hand gestures the members' choreography seems to protrude in all directions and then aligns with their arms folded.

A threatening movement as if prowling and approaching spread along a heavy rhythm.

A rough wrap over it.

[Still reloading

Without fear without heat without you]

The next runner pops out behind the hand gesture nodding his head.

Yujin Cha.

[(yeah Reload-)]

'ah!'

Beneath that grinning face bounces and steps appear as if in play.

What comes in lieu of proper accompaniment is ultra-high notes.

[Woo-]

Park Mun-dae's chords playing on the high octave come rushing in like a stamp.

[I sleepwalking every day again today

You appear even in my dreams

No resolutions or this evil is useless]

The rap pours out again with a long high-pitched voice.

Stand on all sides of the stage as if you are bouncing together by using your limbs rhythmically and controlling the strength and weakness of the rhythm… synchronized.

Lower your body as if you were lying down on the floor.

[Get out]

It's extreme.

Hannah gasped as if her eyes would pop out.

This… is so different from the previous song!

However it is not just smooth bright and exciting like the original song.

[I received a lot]

thud.

The choreography changes to match the steps.

[Can’t throw away even one]

Ugh!

Intense piercing high notes or pounding rap.

The English interpretation appears on the electronic display board behind the stage but unfortunately few people pay attention to it.

Because the performance and vocal rap are aggressive together!

[I’ll give you a gift too]

Heavy and fast old school hip hop that the performer spits out while holding the hand microphone tightly.

If this continues it may have at least conveyed a sense of respect for historical tradition.

But the moment the chorus comes in.

[Bad feelings.]

An enormous twisted electronic sound hits the speaker.

“…!!”

If the authenticity of old hip-hop is appropriate it is the right time for easy-to-single and crude repetitive phrases to appear.

But instead an insanely heavy and frantic midi sound pushes the air closer to a complexstro.

And electronic melody.

[Bad feelings

fill me up

roll it underground]

A slow but powerful movement that moves the entire body and fills the stage.

Cha Yu-jin completes the gesture and choreography by nodding her head and twisting the corner of her mouth.

It's not natural let alone hippie… It's a way of unfolding that says fuck everyone!

A level of choreography synchronization and performance that almost borders on madness thoroughly designed for impact.

Rather it is closer to the essence of the modern entertainment art industry.

[Bad feelings

pick you up

roll it underground]

I have attitude and I will do whatever I want.

As if to claim that he runs across the stage as if to shout out "Look!"

'What is this…?!'

In fact she thought of it the moment she saw Testa's first song live.

-Looks like they organized the performance to fit Glastonbury!

The atmosphere was more like a live band than usual with an emphasis on vocals and emotions.

Lyrical and overwhelming emotions!

It felt more ‘natural’.

It fit the spirit pursued by the Glastonbury Festival which focuses on hippie culture and seemed like a desirable attitude for a performer attending this glorious event for the first time.

Moreover wasn’t it successful in changing the mood with the English lyrics of the movie OST?

I thought they were trying to refrain from KPOP-ness as much as possible and go for a traditional European-friendly approach.

but.

[Fill in the blank]

A wild choreography explodes with LED fireworks right in front of your eyes.

The member with the largest physique who was shaking his hands used his body’s movements as much as possible without laughing and performed the choreography in an overwhelming and intimidating manner.

Just seeing that group dance on the electronic display makes my body flinch.

[Ururururu-]

Each person has such a strong individuality that if they make a mistake it would be a mess as if they had cut each part of a wild animal and glued it together into a patchwork!

It’s closer to a stunt.

The individual’s difficult choreography and vocal rap ad-libs pop out non-stop as if they are showing off their individual skills.

I can’t even breathe.

[Fill in the blank]

And the barely fluctuating electronic sounds become calm.

[Fill in the blank with…]

ridge. ridge.

One person walks out among the members lined up to the leisurely beat of the low notes of the bass.

A member wearing a black jumper.

He looks around and walks out as if there is no rush to catch the entire formation.

[These bad feelings]

Liu Chengwu.

Finally he stood in the middle where the original song's chorus melody returned.

* * *

Liu Chengwu remembered.

The conversation we had after seeing the composition of this stage.

-I guess Eugene or Ravine will be the focus.

It was a natural story.

If a song centered on rap and a strong image and personality were important those two were the right people for this team.

Park Moon-dae also nodded.

-The two of you seem to accept this concept well.

however.

-Because they have a very strong personality. There is more that is needed to do things as they please but still come together well as a group performance.

-What do you need?

Liu Chengwu came out to the middle.

-The center.

What should strong personalities be most wary of?

It's a distraction.

As the number of items increases the possibility that they are unnatural and not visible as a single picture rather than synergy increases exponentially.

However when they match each other the taste of the intense personal parts becomes a bit disappointing.

In the end it is necessary for each individual to act as they please while still being seen as a team.

-Balance and strength.

The central refrain of the song.

On stage Liu Chengwu nodded his head.

The members around them form a formation with sword-like movements.

And the falling vocals.

[Don’t leave either.

Think of me every morning]

Every break in the choreography that matches the melody is done with precise force and eye contact.

The song and group dance come together.

And a nice chorus melody.

[These Bad feelings]

Like taking a walk.

The clear vocals over the hook-heavy accompaniment lead the song in an evocative and easy-to-listen direction.

The choreography no longer changes colors like crazy and competes against each other.

It is simply concentrated skillfully around the center.

[These Bad feelings]

The focal point of concentration.

Inside Liu Chengwu finally thought.

There was no need to think about it.

[You take it too

Take it out every day like me]

‘This is what it felt like.’

There is no need for complex and deep thoughts.

He knew what he had to do now and that was enough.

Now I understand.

[These Bad feelings]

It’s okay to give up.

I don’t want to hear it.

They tell you to sit down and rest.

I don’t like it.

because…

-Because I am a person who does not need to do that.

The reason he didn’t want to receive sympathy or concern was because he didn’t need it.

He was used to being able to do anything.

Self-efficacy.

His generosity in caring for others actually comes from there. Because they are full of trust and faith in themselves they can be relaxed and gentle in situations.

Liu Chengwu is not a person who is prone to failure.

Thanks to the words that will serve as clues to remind us of the proposition Liu Chengwu can now organize it without hesitation.

Just like your original self.

[I chase after you

It will pop out tomorrow morning as well]

no. It is right for worries and doubts to disappear.

[You take it too

Check it every day like me]

No all those worries and conflicts were not like me.

It is not for you to worry about failure that has not yet arrived.

It is not for you to worry about failures that have already passed.

I am not that kind of person.

[Get out]

The band stopped.

Ryu Cheong-woo who caught the melody that hit him aimed for the right moment to enter on the stage where there was a brief moment of silence.

[-]

Let’s let go now.

Like an arrow leaving a protest. Cut through the air pass the inflection point and shoot straight toward a point.

Excited.

Right direction. To the right location.

[But no more bad feelings!]

Jiiiiiiing-!

Bits are dropped.

“after.”

Your eyes are shining your breath is breathing and everything on stage is in the right place.

Liu Chengwu knew.

Because I knew it from the beginning.

[Full draw (S)]

-You will be in the correct position when you pull the protest.

: Performance equanimity +150%

I can do it.

[Release (EX)]

-The arrow was finally fired.

: Performance effect +180%

Fireworks explode on the stage.

[No more bad feelings]

The vocals are clear and a reference point.

The choreography which moves tightly with strength and weight separates the rap sampling from the riff melody.

Focusing is done on the center as if they are converging on one point.

With concentration without anxiety.

[Fill in the blank]

Soon the second half comes.

[Bad feelings

fill me up

roll it underground]

Sun Ah-hyun's embarrassingly sudden backflip brings out screams and exclamations like a spinal reflex.

However the center of the song is not distorted.

'It's here.'

Hold it tight and the song's concentration will come alive.

Ryu Cheong-woo whose drums beat like a heart beneath his low-pitched voice and drives the melody of the chorus does not change.

[Bad feelings

pick you up

roll it underground]

Behind Cha Yu-jin and Lee Se-jin who jumped out during the dance break Park Mun-dae screamed a high note and then Ga-eun jumped out again and ran.

[But no more bad feelings]

However the melody refrain makes the song progress in the right direction.

Ryu Cheong-woo who took the microphone came back to the center.

[I can run up there

not really

With words of concern

To the end of thoughts]

A song full of unfamiliar language and irregular developments.

However what catches us back at the end is Ryu Cheong-wu's refrain.

It increases the intuition of the song to a level where the audience can sing along.

[Bad feelings]

The hands point towards the sky and the members' formation breaks in all directions.

The LED lights exploded.

"…"

silence.

The song is over.

People who were confused as to what this was. People who opened their mouths. People frowned and then looked at them as if they were watching. And in the meantime…

Impressed audience.

Wow!!

Meanwhile Liu Qingyu was out of breath.

And I completely recognized it.

It was good even if there were different likes and dislikes.

[thank you!]

The stage was perfect as one.

The Testa certainly made an impression.

* * *

[Testa went to someone else's festival and did whatever he wanted]

From there something started to change.

Chapter 625

A few hours ago.

‘Ah… what should I do?’

Ryu Geon-woo Keun-dal who was on leave fell asleep while browsing through English-language websites. It dawned on me that my English study so far had been in vain.

Of course there was only one thing I was looking for.

Glastonbury Festival featuring Testa.

I remembered the time when I received the news from my brother before it was even reported.

-That’s it.

-Ugh!

It was good to see myself screaming asking why the ticketing ended early last year.

‘Now that it’s like this I’ve been trying to find at least a real-time broadcast in writing… ’

But today Friday the day of the performance.

An emergency occurred when the headliner died due to injury right before the performance.

Even the hastily recruited headliner was somewhat miscast depressing people in the English-speaking community.

-I risked everything to get tickets… Glastonbury is cursed this year.

-People say there are many other good performances so you can watch them but I was expecting too much from Red Sumer.

It was obvious if things continued like this.

Naturally the non-attendance situation attracted more attention and it was thought that Friday's performance itself would just pass by as a series of eve celebrations.

In particular people who couldn't get tickets seemed to think that way feeling like a bit of a bitter loser…

-What the fuck just happened?

Suddenly a band started doing crazy things on the main stage during the day.

Who is it?

'brother!'

This is the group that made Keudal search the English site. Testa!

-I sincerely want to share this shock.

-lolololololololololololololololol

Testa did a band live performance of a movie OST song that would be most popular in the English-speaking world as their first song and then did a crazy experimental heavy hip-hop song as their next song.

They even went so far as to modify the latest title song in a style that they have never officially released on an album before!

'Aaaah!'

It wasn't shown in Korea and there wasn't even a tour VOD so there was no need to scream about what was going on.

This is because even though there were only a few Testa fans there to begin with they were all screaming.

In some WeTube fancams that are uploaded right away ‘What?’ It was such an unexpected choice that it was obvious that the camera was shaking with exclamations of confusion and surprise.

But what’s even more surprising is.

[This is the next song.]

Even worse in the next song he was attacked again.

‘omg.’

Testa selected one of their previous title songs which is represented by a bright beautiful melody and soft dance-like lines.

It is ＜Promise＞.

[The keyword is mermaid.]

It was a selection of songs that seemed to be intentionally teasing.

According to the stereotypes spread on the global Internet it was a completely typical KPOP stage.

Bright colors wholesome and bright lyrics and even characteristic choreography using water that is smooth and not rough.

[You could say this is a song for rainy days like now.]

[Yeap we diligently checked the UK weather in June. So this is a natural song selection.]

Moreover the wording was just as convincing!

But at this point people started to react more enthusiastically to that point one after another.

-It makes me feel the spirit of resistance.

-It's literally the pure spirit of Glastonbury. You all are free to do whatever you want LOL

Rather it is consistent.

That attitude of doing whatever you want without being fixed in one way.

Yet the quality does not deteriorate at all.

They knew what they were doing and they did it well!

-It was really fun because nothing was predictable!

-Honestly I think that was the moment I enjoyed the most as a 'performance experience' during Friday's performance.

It all seemed very experimental and the 'experimentality' itself was enough to make it seem like the band's color.

Even pointless arguments didn't work.

-well. They just learned to do everything their company makes like skilled workers right?

That's it. I'm sick of it now. They're singer-songwriters? How many times do I have to explain this?

What year on earth is this old-timer thinking about K-pop?

Read this article (link to Testa's tour review)

This was thanks to the fact that Testa had already created an impression on the English-speaking Internet with its unique tour.

It’s a defense!

‘and.’

Big Moon scrolled down excitedly.

If it had been a concert with a healthy headliner as usual it might have ended appropriately with an incident like ‘There are guys like this too.’

But there was no headliner.

Rather thanks to that Testa absorbed all the aggro of the special period.

-Did you know that these crazy guys held a concert using a VR game?

-I’m in the Glastonbury tent right now and I want the band’s next tour schedule.

The story of a KPOP band that suddenly appeared and performed on the main stage as they pleased became a very interesting topic on the Internet.

Then when the fancams came up in the evening they were ranked high on search engines due to the amount of mentions.

‘amazing!’

Keudal who had now learned how to use advanced search engines to some extent looked back at the phenomenon with a flushed face.

It’s a pity that I couldn’t go there in person.

I even thought that I would like to see the situation at least by sharing my view with my brother but it was not only a request that crossed the line but it was now difficult…

‘I can’t even see the status window.’

He just watched the fancam and picked out the subtle changes in the center character Ryu Cheong-woo in the most impressive song.

The presence that can be seen even in the midst of shaky focus and noise.

[No more bad feelings]

The solid clear and quiet momentum captured on the electronic display board caught my eye.

‘Somehow… I think you’ve surpassed your limits.’

He who was once a status window watched it keenly once again.

Geudal knew about the news of Liu Chengwu’s suspension but he wasn’t that worried anymore.

[Bad feelings]

Somehow it felt good.

-These guys are doing EDM this time!

-Suddenly mysterious oriental instruments began to appear.

In this way Testa filled the set list with over five songs each with a different feel and did everything he wanted even changing one outfit such as covering or removing the hood.

Thanks to this VTIC’s headliner performance the next day received a bit of strange attention.

-okay! This is what I expected

-This is the K-pop I know: group dance performances well-structured songs and flashy costumes!

VTIC has become a more stable comparison group.

Originally just because it was a KPOP headliner there were quite a few opinions and it was expected to be perceived as a somewhat unconventional or unique stage.

But that wasn't the case this time.

There was a KPOP group on the previous date as well and it was because they selected so many unexpected songs that it was crazy.

-As expected those guys were strange!!

On the contrary it had the strange effect of making VTIC feel less unexpected.

It was something that could not be helped.

VTIC has already taken the risk of appearing as a headliner into consideration and has wisely eliminated more risky attempts as an option.

They created a stage that appropriately blended a composition that would be familiar in the English-speaking world with their own unique conceptual style.

If it had been done as it was it would have been a fairly successful performance and would have received rave reviews in one way or another.

In reality there were continued to be positive reviews such as that it was truly a headliner and that it was cool with weight but the problem was that it was a hot topic.

-So that band on Friday was Crazy Guys?

If it weren't for Testa.

In the end all buzz is a double-edged sword and the winner is determined.

-Day 2 of the Glastonbury performance. I still can't get over that crazy K-pop band…

His older brother Testa Park Moon-dae was actually the one who made this diagnosis right away but Geudal didn't know until this point.

However Keundal also had trust.

His brother would definitely take advantage of this situation.

'Because my brother was always like that… '

Even when he shows absurd characteristics or status abnormalities as a status window. I was always looking for an exit and a unique way to use it.

Thinking back to that time Keundal felt an unexpected emotion.

Not longing anxiety or debt…

'I think it was worthwhile.'

A sense of accomplishment without being heavy.

I really thought that if it weren't for the status window things would have been really good. So if it was some kind of helper!

Of course that thought passed quickly and what caught my eye were the new English comments.

-USB album? It's very eco-friendly.

-So… it was a remix just for the performance that wasn't even officially released?

-Kill me.

There is a flood of posts calling for Testa to release a remix of the Glastonbury version.

Like a meme Testa's performance went viral.

And it began to be re-imported into the country.

-Test hahahahahahahaha

-Wow it's fun.

-Testa gives you a taste of foreign bands. If you get into it now you get 1 + 3… no 4!

-I'm buying Glastonbury data… Please sell it.

"good night."

Geoldal smiled and looked at the compliments.

It felt good to have someone who liked what I liked together.

Then all of a sudden I happened to see a page I had visited before and accidentally clicked on it and opened it.

"ah."

It was a social media account that showed album sales.

It was a page that made me feel a bit discouraged while looking at it when it was in the midst of competition with VTIC.

Of course it didn't mean much now that the one-week initial period was over once upon a time…

"uh?"

Big Moon blinked.

The fluctuation in numbers was strange.

-Sales: 9126

This is the sales volume from a few days ago.

and.

-Sales: 20274

Today's sales.

The figure was more than double that of the day before the Glastonbury performance.

"…?"

It's been a few weeks since the album was released but sales have actually increased.

For a moment Big Moon wondered if he had seen something wrong but soon realized.

'Ah the publicity effect is there!'

I think this is also an effect of the Glastonbury Festival.

However in fact the original title song and the song remixed in the performance had a completely different feel so it did not seem to show a dramatic change in the graph.

'Hmm.'

So he returned to the English page.

-This is some kind of scam. You can barely find any videos of them doing old school hip hop!

-I found out a lot about the frontman of this band's chorus. He was surprisingly an Olympic gold medalist and the hottest Korean I've ever seen.

But I couldn't find any more scenes of him doing hip-hop. This is literally hell.

"oh my."

Big Moon's head tilted at the exciting writings but…

Grumble!

"…!"

Soon I was startled by the sound of vibration and returned to its original position.

It was a notification on my smartphone. He came to his senses.

'This was not the time!'

[＜Notice＞ Break time is over!]

Geoldal saw that time had passed and quickly turned off his smartphone.

As promised to his brother he no longer entrusted his joys and sorrows to Testa.

But at the same time I didn't become dull by completely excluding it from my life.

He was trying today to maintain a reasonable balance and maintain the attitude of doing testa monitoring as a pleasure in his life…

Actually I had a lot to do today too!

-You are Ryu Geon-woo the member who registered online right? It's here and I called after receiving a call…

“Oh wait a minute!”

Big Moon got up from his seat.

During his leave period he now had to prepare.

And at the same time.

Testa was also busy preparing.

Of course I had a brief pleasure before that.

“Oh how about this? ‘The challenger’s words echoed through Testa Glastonbury’!”

“Coooooool.”

“I’m honored!”

The Testas who were lying in a van with the backs reclined so that it was almost like a sleeper applauded each other.

“Brother you were amazing!”

“thank you.”

Of course the MVP among them was Ryu Cheong-woo.

And he had something he wanted to say.

Chapter 626

After returning home from the festival in England.

I heard the slightly tired but happy voice of Keun Se-jin coming from beyond the backrest.

“They said we did really well.”

“…good night.”

Today too the busy activity testers’ schedule for the day was to ‘boost themselves by watching compliments and monitoring.’

And today’s topic is…

“Glastonbury is fun. “I want to go again.”

“Yes definitely do it.”

The Glastonbury Festival ended successfully.

The moving van had already completed one round of monitoring and was entering a pleasant lull.

…Well actually I haven’t seen anything in person.

-Mundae did the monitoring alone during the comeback… so we’ll do it this time…!

-… Okay.

Still it didn’t matter because I could see the general flow. I’m not so anxious about this anymore. furthermore…

‘It exploded properly.’

You can clearly understand it just by hearing it.

The response is good.

“This is my first time seeing so much of our writing in English.”

“Cha Yujin! “Has anyone mentioned a new arrangement?!”

“Yep. Everyone likes it. “Good job Raebin Kim.”

“Oh let’s see. There’s even an analysis comparing the original song on an English site.”

“oh my god…!”

Testa’s English name is said to have increased its popularity index on search engines by more than 15 times in one night.

Considering that it is already in its active phase the search volume will not be low so it is a ridiculous amount of profit compared to the investment of time and effort. It was a crazy achievement.

The company screamed because they were happy.

‘I never thought I could eat this much.’

…Honestly I had a vague intuition while standing on that stage.

I leaned back against the backrest.

The cheers get louder and louder and reactions change from embarrassment to elastic joy.

That feeling when you have a firm grip on your stage goal.

-There are probably very few people there who know us well anyway.

So rather than aiming for sympathy or emotion…

-You absolutely have to go to Impact.

The feeling of pleasure when all your tactics work.

What Cha Yu-jin just said was exactly right.

'…It was fun.'

As expected if you were doing it with good and cooperative kids it was something even a gambler aiming for the highest score could do.

'No now I see it wasn't even gambling.'

I looked back at the face of the MVP sitting next to me who I thought was a gambler but had really hit the high mark here.

Liu Chengwu.

"How are you feeling?"

"good."

The guy's answer was simple.

"Oh!!"

However there was cheers like a baseball stadium.

Just like when I came down from the Glastonbury stage.

-brother!

Ryu Cheong-woo backstage must have heard the call filled with joy even though he was dripping with sweat.

But instead of answering he muttered:

Looking at your own arms.

-It felt like this.

-yes?

-no.

The guy clenched his fists and laughed.

-Now I understand.

It was a cool smile.

And those words are still coming true in the present.

“Oh that’s right~ Now you’re doing well on stage hyung!”

“Yeah tell me what you think!”

Liu Chengwu smiled slightly and spoke calmly.

“Well I guess it was important not to lose my senses.”

Something like that simple exercise tip.

That was all the guy who recovered from the yips and tore up the stage said.

But no one booed.

“…”

“Good.”

Liu Chengyu did not say a single word or make a long speech to himself claiming that he had finally achieved enlightenment after much agony.

Probably because there was no need.

We have already experienced together how Ryu Cheong-woo recovered his 'feeling' on stage.

From the conversations that took place off stage several times to the performance on stage.

So there was no reason to start talking again.

'Because self-confidence was the keyword.'

So within this group of 'his people' Liu Chengwu simply returned to his natural confident and gentle demeanor.

To your own place.

"…okay. "You are a person who lives in reality."

"Ohhhhh."

"Oh~ famous line!"

Thanks to this I got to see other guys' reactions… no the target of admiration changed.

Bae Se-jin's face turned red and Ryu Cheong-woo also burst out laughing when he saw it.

"Haha thank you!"

The laughter was refreshing.

And the transition to the next topic was refreshing.

"The next schedule is… um Summer Festival. "It's a broadcasting station event."

“yes.”

“Let’s get the clothes first. “I’ll tell the manager.”

I just chuckled as I watched the guy begin his detailed briefing.

I think that was enough for us.

However this does not mean that there were no exceptions.

It seems like he also had someone he wanted to express his feelings to in a long sentence.

-Do you think Cheongwoo is okay now? No no let’s not judge hastily. It seems like a burden.

-Ah I’m worried that I’m overdoing it for no reason but it’s really good.

-I love you Cheongwoo.

Fans who are still torn between worry and joy after seeing Liu Chengwu’s performance this time are sailing.

That night a long article was uploaded.

“…”

In the middle of the night the schedule is over.

Ryu Cheong-woo sat in front of the laptop that Park Mun-dae returned to him after careful consideration.

Well it felt like getting back a game console that had been confiscated by my parents.

‘Actually it’s mine.’

It wasn’t a bad feeling but it was a little embarrassing.

However he soon regained his composure and began to write calmly and slowly.

That calm face is reflected on the monitor.

[This is Ryu Cheong-woo.]

hello. This is the first time I have sent a message like this since the announcement of the suspension of activities.

First of all I would like to apologize for causing you worry.

I think I couldn’t write a long post because I was worried and anxious about what to say.

Ryu Cheng-wu who paused for a moment in the paragraph that started like that soon added a sentence as if his hesitation was a lie.

It was not a very happy time.

Crude writing comes out from your fingertips.

The embarrassment I felt when I encountered sudden physical difficulties on stage.

And the feeling of frustration when you can’t control your own body.

Stories that Ryu Cheong-woo would not normally write down are calmly told with a focus on emotions without excessive or unnecessary details.

Because there is a conclusion I want to reach.

I am sorry and grateful that my emotions and condition have caused you worry but I am also heartbroken.

So rather than worrying

in fact.

Liu Chengyu took a breath and exhaled.

I thought it would be nice if you could urge me on.

The batter came straight out.

I am not weak.

You can say there is no reason why I can't recover so please urge me to come back quickly.

When will Liu Chengwu return? How much did you practice during your break and how much did your skills improve?

I hope you can expect that I will definitely be able to do that.

Just like always.

So that I can realize what kind of person I am.

When I write it down like this it seems like a childish thing to say but I won't cancel it.

Please trust me.

After uploading the article Liu Chengwu had a good night's sleep.

He woke up on time at dawn did some light exercise took a shower and woke up the members.

After a brief briefing we got in the car and checked the schedule for the day.

"There is an audience today right?"

"Oh yeah!"

Follow the schedule faithfully.

However whenever I had a short break I matched my movements and vocals found strengths and weaknesses in my performance and improved them little by little.

The joy of everyday growth.

"Ah Mr. Cheongwoo. You say you're not mentally well but isn't that actually a physical problem? Who was there? The person who panicked was like that too. if…"

“Oh it’s okay.”

It’s okay to feel stressed sometimes. He was able to control his condition skillfully relieving his frustration with grippers stress balls and short conversations with members.

However don’t let your guard down and make an appointment for a consultation. Because we need to keep managing things just in case.

However you will no longer have to worry about ‘what will I do if symptoms really appear again?’ Isn’t this an unnecessary worry?

And even if he was once again frustrated by circumstances he was able to get up again.

‘yes.’

Even when his career in archery ended he got back up and challenged himself as an idol and regained his sense of reality even though he was haunted by memories of the past that were already gone.

He has overcome all difficulties and is here.

As always.

Always take one step at a time without delaying or worrying about the path you should take now.

It doesn’t stop.

“Hyung standby!”

“okay!”

That was enough for Liu Chengwu.

And there are members who naturally fit that look.

“Did you see what Liu Chengwu posted?”

“I saw it.”

Park Moon-dae recalled the letter from Ryu Cheong-woo that had just appeared on his smartphone screen.

That final finish.

I will do well.

I would like to see you on stage again as soon as possible so that you can believe these words without any more anxiety.

On the day we meet in person I want to perform on stage with even better skills than I have done so far.

Please look forward to it. Lover.

“…”

That was enough writing.

Park Moon-dae witnessed Bae Se-jin and Sun Ah-hyeon wanting to comment on the post but eventually tried to dissuade each other but decided to keep it a secret.

“Okay let’s restrain ourselves!”

“yes…! Because Chungwoo wrote down his entire heart…!”

And while he was looking at it with a similar expression to his own he also saw a large figure passing by whistling.

“…”

The group had an extremely good atmosphere.

‘It’s running well.’

I’m not being sarcastic I’m being sincere.

Park Moon-dae chuckled.

Liu Chengwu recovered.

The group’s activities went well and they finally beat their rival who was the festival headliner in terms of topicality by competing head-on.

However looking at it objectively it seemed unlikely that all of this would directly lead to album performance.

This is because the original song was not performed and the feel of the performance remix which became a hot topic was very different from the original song.

Even among the titles they have released so far there was no song similar to the old school hip hop of this performance.

There is no connection point.

Then the topic floats in the air.

‘The topic was only focused on the group image.’

If things continue like this it seems like Testa will absorb this buzz well and achieve results next time and promise the next album while making the same noise.

however.

‘If you only look at it now… that’s right.’

Park Mun-dae was neither shaken nor regretful.

He never expected his Glastonbury appearance to go so well in the first place.

If so he was not an optimist enough to make a plan based on these uncertain factors.

‘But I could still use it more.’

Using this topic as a stepping stone he began to think carefully about ways to make it more effective.

“Hyung Moon Dae! Cha Yu-jin is strongly insisting that she wants to eat Rabokki for breakfast tomorrow.”

“Tell him no.”

“yes!”

And that night. Park Moon-dae who was in bed smiled and picked up his smartphone.

Is it almost time?

A few days later.

“Huh?”

Unusual behavior was detected on Testa’s album USB.

Although the group has released several USB-type albums due to environmental protection and concept issues this album did not have the volume to shout ‘Can something this crazy?’ such as games.

-I just downloaded the program and an app appeared where I could view album B cuts and other things.

Ah ㅇㅋㅇㅋ

But suddenly a unique pop-up appeared on people who ran the USB app after midnight today.

[Do you want to download the Hidden Code?]

It was an update.

If you click in a hurry the title sound will be downloaded once more.

This is the old school hip hop arrangement version that I have become familiar with over the past few days!

[Bad feelings (ver.G)]

-Crazy Glastonbury version!!!

-Ughhh

-Oh it's crazyㅠㅠ Guys I think the music will be released. What should I do? I'm so excited and I feel like I'm going crazy.

-I will inform the Yangdeoks of this good news.

Excited fans eagerly shared this surprising news and enjoyed the fan service.

There were some people who enjoyed a somewhat calculated pleasure wondering if this might increase album sales a little.

But some people stayed on the download page longer…

-Oh wait a minute.

-???

-why?

I discovered a new pop-up.

[D-7 until the next Hidden Code]

-what's this?

"…!"

Another notice has arrived.

Chapter 627

New music released!

The title track of the version performed by Testa at the Glastonbury Festival has been released. And that too in the form of an update to the existing album.

-It's not a repackage album? It's not a single song? Isn't it just an additional release of one new version?

-Free updates without paying…?

-This is unimaginable in our mobile game industry.

That alone was already a bit of a hot topic and Testa's fans enjoyed this delightful piece of cake.

Testa's unrivaled performance at a large festival sparked a buzz. The fandom was greatly relieved when Ryu Cheong-woo's letter was posted there.

This music content like a pleasant bonus was able to enter people's hearts as is.

-Thank you guys.

-I thought this promotion period would end with a stomachache but surprisingly I was a bit happy haha.

However there is one thing that is disappointing. For some reason Testa did not release this music through a separate music site other than adding to the album.

-Ah I think a lot of muggles will also download this but it's a shame.

-Other than slightly increasing album sales overseas it's too much fan service… When the water comes in I shake it strangely.

-Guys isn't this right?

-Although it is number 1 in the music industry there is a possibility that the firepower may be dispersed. It is a wise decision.

-If the music is released and the performance isn't even a little bit bad Petik will kick it out and say hello. It's right for the performance to continue like this due to the popularity of the performance.

There were many different stories but most of them thought it was because there was a logic that was understandable based on the information that was currently released.

Great joy and a little regret.

I thought it would end in such a short and fun way but…

[D-7 until the next Hidden Code]

-What is this again?

Suddenly a notice of new content appeared on the album app.

-suddenly?

-No this time he pretended nothing happened and said something haha.

It was so unexpected that no one expected it.

'Wasn't this unplanned music released in a hurry because the festival performance was a huge hit?'

But what else is there?

There has been no notice or hint so far but album updates have been announced one after another as if they had been planned!

-I'm so excited guys.

-Could it be a game again?

-I think it looks like a tour preview.

-Isn't the choreography video that was performed at Glastonbury like this?

It's such a big deal that a remix of a performance that has become such a hot topic can be used as a pre-release.

The fandom swelled with all kinds of speculation and expectations.

But at the same time voices of concern also emerged.

-But we are good but the general public just passes by without knowing.

-This is too accessible.

I am worried that it will become a typhoon in a teacup.

There were many people at home and abroad who were waiting with interest for the sound source of Testa's performance this time.

However there is no way that these people would have paid over 20000 won to buy the new album and listen to the music.

Naturally there were an overwhelming number of cases where people tried to listen to unofficial music uploaded to WeTube for free and the number of fans who lamented about money and records being leaked like that was bound to increase.

I was already a little disappointed with the poor accessibility but the idea of maintaining it as is and adding additional content.

-If you wanted to provide fan service wouldn't it be better to release it as a free music source?

-Just do some additional activities with this version whether it's a music room or an event.

There were voices expressing regret that this water leakage phenomenon would be further encouraged.

The sentiment of fans demanding more aggressive and public activities slowly emerged.

After going through back and forth with VTIC I was anxious about missing out on this situation where the momentum was gained through the performance which also played a part.

'I think it would be more effective if I appealed here domestically or internationally!'

People began to say one after another that if they could set a schedule for Testa instead of the company it would be in this direction.

-If the sub-song gets a better response than the title song there are many cases where the promotional song is subtly changed to a sub-song. Please have that kind of sense.

-Honestly the original Bad Feeling song did well on the music charts but now we need to consider its popularity. Let's push the hip-hop arranged version to the forefront and even do some promotion on WeTube.

-I think I would have definitely gotten requests for appearing on some American or British talk shows with this.

Each person who got the message was immersed and presented their own answer.

Even people who are not Testa fans are secretly trying to appeal to their insight as 'KPOP regular listeners'.

[If it were me for this Testa arrangement I would have released the choreography video first]

[I think the Testa company shows all the pros and cons of a startup]

In the end even fans who didn't care about 'how much they benefited' began to become aware of this situation.

This person and that person are all talking about 'which method is efficient'.

So a very strange effect appeared…

-So what on earth are they going to reveal? I'm really going crazy.

The content release notice created a much heavier sense of tension than usual.

Worried about missing the opportunity and becoming a typhoon in a teacup fans actually became anxious and took a deeper interest.

At the same time major entertainment shows related to this activity were coming to an end.

-Ghost Office Is this the end? It was scary and creepy but I guess it's a bit hard to get the rice cake back…

-In real life they are holding their hair and fighting during the music album performance but on MT entertainment everyone is laughing haha.

-Wow all of my entertainment activities this time are over. My month of fun has come to an end. It's a shame.

From VTIC and Testa's MT entertainment to Testa's strange ghost story office.

All of them were near the final episode or had just ended. If there is no next hit I wonder if the official promotion period will end like this.

What appears to be spare firewood has run out but it is unclear whether this is real firewood for burning or just fan service for small embers.

-But since it's an update isn't something great being revealed?

-I don't think there will be any kind of advance notice but it still seems too impromptu.

-Why don't you keep your mouth shut on official SNS? Seriously what is this?

It's not over yet!

Fans publicly spread the news on social media and communities in order to somehow spread the word and make more sales.

But at the same time I also doubted myself because I was afraid I was making a fuss over something that was not a big deal.

-Please hurry up and go a week. I can't breathe.

This is a time when fans' expectations and tension are tightly focused.

If the announced content had been nothing special the idols and companies involved would have been biting their fingers that the matter had become so big.

It wouldn't have been strange if they had held an emergency meeting saying something had to be done…

"What's your reaction?"

"Ah you like it."

Testa was calm.

Lee Se-jin skillfully flipped through the screen of her smartphone and grinned at Park Moon-dae who was sitting next to her.

“Mundaemun University.”

“why.”

“Including the countdown function was a really great choice.”

Anything that reduces the number seems to create tension.

“You have high expectations.”

They rather wanted to encourage this attention and tension.

Thus the count decreases.

[D-6]

-I think a repackage preview will be released.

-If it’s a performance video it’s better to release it on WeTube…

-Isn’t this a behind-the-scenes look at Glastonbury? Season’s Greetings will be released in advance with this

[D-5]

-Oh it was like this but what if it’s not a big deal?

-I just teach stills of the kids’ performances.

-Please let go of your expectations. Why am I so excited? Really?

[D-4]

-Why are you creating an atmosphere like this? It must be a burden for the kids.

-But there’s still no story. Isn’t this just to raise expectations?

-Are there any spoilers from related parties?

[D-3]

-There are a lot of popular posts coming up in the community.

– Muggle interest is better than I thought.

-I hope it’s something great. Oh please.

[D-2]

-Does anyone know any other news?

-Why is there nothing said in the engineering world?

-Now I’m just looking forward to it. No I’m anxious. That’s a lie.

[D-1]

-I’m so nervous.

And finally…

[D-0]

Midnight on the same day.

“…”

A new pop-up appeared in the app.

[New Hidden Code has arrived.]

[Would you like to download?]

The people waiting for that question unanimously answered ‘yes’.

[Download Hidden Code!]

How can this even manifest itself as physical symptoms?

Gulp.

The sound of swallowing and hands and feet shaking with tension and nervousness.

The anticipation and tension accumulated over a week rush into this one moment and tighten a person's heart for a few seconds.

And the moment the download is completed.

[Have you ever seen this before?]

Two images appeared.

"…?"

Fans blinked and looked at the screen.

A selection of images in a similar format appeared as if the correct image had been selected from the internet and paid homage to the person by certifying 'I am not a robot'.

One was a group photo of Testa dressed up in a suit.

The image of him smiling in the office as if taking a photo to introduce the company is a representative concept of this familiar album.

And the other one is… an employee ID card.

Seven employee ID cards are scattered haphazardly on a desk in a dark laboratory.

Two conflicting images.

And below the given English sentence there is a text in Gulim font that seems to have been translated.

[Have you seen this before?]

Some of the fans who were momentarily conflicted clicked.

Sweet.

A photo of Electronic Testa's group suit.

Of course doesn't the image with the idols themselves on a bright background look much more attractive to click on?

Then the page turns lightly and new letters appear.

[Thanks for your response!]

And then everything disappeared.

"…?"

In the end those people clicked on the app again to bring up the options but other fans chose the opposite answer from the beginning.

"If it's a tester this is definitely it."

For example someone like Park Moon-dae's first home horse.

She swallowed while looking at the PC monitor.

From phantom thief games to tour promotions and VR concerts. Testa has recently been enjoying giving fans a choice experience by applying various options.

then.

'What is this that hotel? It's like a circus or something like that.'

It certainly seemed like they were aiming for an impact with a twist. furthermore…

Homma fixed his gaze on the second image.

Testa's employee ID cards without an owner.

'I've really seen this before.'

Of course the first image was a familiar tester of this activity period. However it is an unreleased B-cut that has never been seen.

However the second is an image that has really been exposed to fans.

It came to mind as soon as I saw it.

'It's the Zarkon ending!'

This is the ending scene of the final episode of the entertainment show <Testa's Bizarre Office> that just aired.

Ultimately the answer to the question 'Have you seen this before?'

"It's the second image."

Homma took a deep breath and clicked on the second image.

Sweet.

The image quickly disappeared and was replaced by a white image with a text on it.

[Are you sure?]

Are you sure?

'okay!'

The first homma again clicked on the image where the text appeared.

[really?]

Really?

This time I click again without looking at it for long.

Then the image section finally disappeared and a loading sign appeared.

“…!”

Soon new text appeared on the screen.

[? [I’m not an AI]

‘I am not an AI.’

The page truly turned with the indication that authentication was complete.

Then a new video option appeared in the app and it started playing automatically.

A place like a dark tunnel.

But the person who seemed to be walking ahead looked back. as soon as…

[…]

Sun Ah-hyun!

However the person standing on the screen was not Sun Ah-hyun who appeared in the original content wearing a suit.

He was the dancer for the intro solo song.

Sun Ah-hyun gestures into the camera's field of view just like the dancer who danced while embracing the black torso.

[This way.]

The screen moves forward.

And where I stood was a mountain-like steel gate with a broken black torso.

The first homma eventually recognized it with keen eyes.

This is… the company's basement door that we saw in our own content!

[I said I've seen this before.]

Sun Ah-hyun carefully took out a small plastic object from her arms.

Employee ID card.

[Are you sure?]

The camera approaches and nods.

[really?]

Get closer.

Sun Ah-hyun with a delicate expression smiled.

[thank you.]

Sun Ah-hyeon pushed the iron door.

Drurrrr

the invisible darkness.

Gulp.

I can hear Seon Ah-hyun's words from behind the quiet middle school.

The sound resonates with a sense of space thanks to wearing earphones.

[For coming to save me.]

That moment. Lights come on around you.

Broken concrete and half-exposed ceiling materials and broken windows in an old company building.

When I turned my head I saw Sun Ah-hyun standing there.

Gooooo-!

With a sound as if something is about to jump out at any moment lights flicker in the windows and palm prints flash and disappear.

Sun Ah-hyun nodded with a beautiful face.

And with the effect of the screen flashing…

The video turned off.

"…??"

for a moment.

'Did I choose the wrong option?'

The first homma raised his head in confusion. No I didn't know it would end so ambiguously…

[D-7 until the next Hidden Code]

“also?!”

At this point I was at a loss.

‘It’s too short and doesn’t give any information!’

There has to be something for it to be normal.

At that moment she saw a newly created phrase at the bottom of the app.

[Receipt code:

39T2-SH85-2QFH-60EA]

“What is this again?”

Where else should I enter it?

‘If I go back to the selection I made earlier and click Testa can I enter it?’

This was definitely fun to guess and it was tantalizing. But at the same time it was a bit uncomfortable. It was a time when she was excited and at the same time worried about the entry barrier.

-hurry; Look at this -(link)

A message came from the smartphone on the desk.

It was a KakaoTalk message from a friend who has liked Testa since he was a graduate student.

“…??”

But… this friend knew the Testa information faster than me…?

‘She probably doesn’t even know about anonymous sites.’

I like my friends but I couldn’t believe this. Still she clicked the link with a confused feeling.

Then the official account of a theme park amusement park appeared.

[Welcome to the dreamland]

“what.”

Dreamland.

It is an amusement park franchise from Limestone a historic IP conglomerate that has created all kinds of famous movies and animations.

It’s a famous global chain so she definitely wanted to go there at least once… but what can she do with this?

‘Ah wasn’t it about Testa?’

I didn’t know if I was mistaken because the timing just overlapped. She relaxed a little glanced at the SNS screen and decided to turn it off.

And I saw the most recently uploaded post that was even pinned on the SNS main page…

[New attraction opening]

[Follow past workers and explore the building in a bizarre urban legend!]

The still image of the advertisement floating there was… a Testa running down the hallway.

“…?!”

Rides at this famous theme park.

At the attraction… there was a testa!

Chapter 628

Theme park attractions.

Classically it is easy to think of amusement rides that simply enjoy the experience of riding the ride from the carousel to the Blue Dragon Train.

But as I dug deeper I began to see things that combined the experience with a story.

Fairy tale magic school villains and heroes etc…

Famous movie animation games are brought to life.

The number of attractions that allow users to enter the scenario of famous content and enjoy the pleasure of an immersive experience has been increasing.

It was thanks to investment in technology and capital and it was also thanks to the theme parks of large content companies becoming a huge success and selling goods but…

“I never imagined this…!”

“Let’s calm down Yeonjoo!”

Park Moon-dae’s first home horse screamed.

On her head the alien dog headband she had purchased so generously swayed. It was a sci-fi hero movie-themed product for which Testa created the OST and made a cameo appearance.

That’s right.

The perfect place for her to buy and wear this headband now.

Wow!! Wow!

I was standing in front of the entrance to Dreamland a theme park in the land of dreams and fantasy where I could hear the screams of the roller coaster.

Because of Testa!

“But it looks really fun!”

With a friend next to you with sparkling eyes.

My friend Minso who graduated from graduate school and got a job finally used all the precious monthly leave he had accumulated over the past two months to take a four-day vacation.

Normally in this case even if 3 nights and 4 days is too much it is normal to take a vacation that fits the schedule of 4 nights and 5 days…

“It’s a good thing you came to America!”

“…huh.”

Finally we made it all the way to Florida USA.

A crazy decision to throw away a precious day of vacation on a plane just for one attraction.

It was truly crazy fan spirit.

‘…maybe even more than me.’

Minso doesn’t know much about the dark underbelly of the Internet so I didn’t know that he might actually be greater than me…

In fact she was very happy that her friend had become a fan of Mundae since <Azusa> but she thought she would still like it a little as a Wright fan.

I was a graduate student and I wasn't really interested in this kind of thing.

But the fact that my friend has been supporting the same idol for 7 years… somehow made me feel heartbroken.

I can't believe you even came on a trip just for the sake of teaching like this!

Park Moon-dae's first homemaker looked back at his friend once again.

"…?"

"Oh no."

I feel sad for some reason but I think it's a bit weird to say that when you're at a theme park.

"It's over there. Hollywood Street!"

"aha!"

They just walked away excitedly.

Of course the destination was Testa's attraction!

"Wow the atmosphere…"

"It's a real dreamland."

I purposely spent my Sunday touring the city and had a good night's sleep so the theme park I came to on Monday wasn't flooded with people.

'thank god.'

However there were a lot more people than expected in front of the new attraction that had just begun service.

“oh my god.”

“It’s like a stadium on a concert day…”

Fortunately I was able to take my time and visit again later without having to wait but…

“I heard I can make a fast track reservation?”

“…no.”

“…??”

The former graduate student clenched his hands.

“Let’s enjoy the waiting!”

“That’s right.”

So they entered straight into the huge attraction zone in front of them.

Signs blinking as if they were running out of power and crackling holograms of broken streetlights.

The surrounding environment was decorated as if it were a ruined office area. And there was a black tunnel for a secret road like something out of a spy movie right in the middle.

“amazing.”

“and…”

The two walked slowly with their mouths open involuntarily at the scale and quality.

But in fact this was not a new attraction at all.

An aging classic attraction was renovated and given a theme.

So why testing?

-It was an investment issue.

-yes. It would be a waste to attach the IP of their popular movie or cartoon right now but they want to promote it when they renovate.

-So are you going to test us?

-yes.

-Uhm~… Then other than the specifications?

Even Homma didn't know that the testers had such a conversation with each other smiled and asked for suggestions but speculations were made on the Internet anyway.

Of course I was shocked.

-why? Why is Testa at the amusement park…?

-Are you sure about the Limestone collaboration?

-Was it an advertisement for Testa Jacon? But there was no PPL sign.

And soon I figured out the situation.

This wasn't Testa promoting Limestone.

Limestone created the KPOP idol Testa world view… and used that IP as content to make it part of the theme park!

-You've already collaborated with Limestone Movie once so it seems like you've established yourself well;

-Crazy then if you go over there you can experience the Testa Zarkon story for yourself?

-Are you sure you are signing with the American label Limestone??

Anyway there was only one conclusion.

-If it's Limestone… the money will rot and overflow.

And Limestone didn't hit Testa in the back.

This is because the promotion was done well.

[Infiltrate the abandoned company building]

[Become an employee of KIS]

[And explore the secrets]

From WeTube promotions to TV advertisements.

In the case of the former they even produced various multilingual versions in addition to English and launched global promotions.

The action even seemed exciting at first glance.

'Maybe they'll do better because the Glastonbury video broke out.'

How nice it must be to see water gushing in. I was busy promoting it somehow.

Thanks to this sparks flew even in the English-speaking world.

-Such idiots.

-It came out as a Dreamland attraction? What kind of game are these people really living in?

-So… the alien band is real?

-It's an extension of the VR concert. As a fan of theirs I wasn't surprised at all.

You're crazy too

Of course there were some anxious reactions in Korea.

-ㅅㅂThen you have to go all the way to America to enjoy this. Are you crazy for neglecting domestic fans?

But I came!

'Hahaha!'

Homma suppressed the urge to burst into laughter and calmly recited the words with a head full of adrenaline.

"I couldn't not come."

"that's right. "They only do it in the summer season!"

That's right.

No matter what Limestone couldn't just hand over one permanent attraction to a K-pop idol based on personal connections alone.

There must have been a purpose in the first place to create a buzz among KPOP fans so they probably wanted to make it short and bold.

'Still it's great.'

Homma's heart pounded again at this incredible planning ability.

Moreover looking at the crowds and buzz the seasonal concept seemed to work well and the slightly creepy urban legend-like atmosphere was perfect for summer.

“wow…”

The sweltering heat of summer cools down in the shade.

The two entered the tunnel of the concept of a huge dark old concrete building and swallowed their saliva as they saw the holograms and blood stains flashing around them.

It was then.

“Look at that!”

“uh?”

When I turned my head I saw a street vendor selling goods that looked like it had been taken straight out of a spy’s secret file cabinet.

Employee ID card!

“Hehehe…”

My steps took off automatically. The crowd was so crowded that a line formed just in front of the street vendor.

‘It’s worth it.’

If they come in time for the opening like this half of them will be people who came to see the tester.

Of course the reality was capitalism.

“expensive!”

Testa’s conscientious price measurement could only be demonstrated when it was not a collaboration with another company.

However they couldn’t help but buy it and in the end the two people each got their employee ID cards with different colored strings yellow and black.

Of course the photo on the shiny employee ID card was of Park Mundae.

“Hmm… since I’ve come this far I want to live with Ahyeon too!”

“Good good.”

Homma translated the English user manual onto her smartphone as she watched her friend eagerly open her wallet to shake off the anger of a former graduate student.

“Oh I heard that if I connect this to this theme park app I can interact here? “I guess I can use it in the attraction.”

“and!! “It’s crazy.”

The two clicked their tongues and scanned the QR on the back and applied it to the Dreamland app.

Let’s see. You can replace the photo of your university with your own photo… Yeah it’s absolutely not necessary.

However there was a strange section called ‘Album Code’ at the bottom.

‘cord…?’

Homma recalled.

The list of alphabet letters that appeared after Sun Ah-hyun’s album update video which ended up being boringly short.

[Receipt code:

39T2-SH85-2QFH-60EA]

‘no way?’

“Are you playing?”

“wait for a sec!”

Let’s enter the code she saw in the album into the theme park app…

Tiriring!

“omg!”

“Huh!”

The employee ID card flashed and English letters appeared indicating that a new function had been activated.

“The picture has changed!”

And in the photo Park Moon-dae’s neat office worker-like appearance disappeared.

Instead it opens showing a figure with slightly long hair slicked back with pomade and wearing glasses with a hologram tattoo on his neck.

AI version.

“ah…”

And a pop-up appeared.

[New interactions have been opened.]

-Available in attractions

“This… what changes in the attraction?”

“Wow look at that…”

As they looked up in a daze they saw people around them also hurriedly entering information into the app.

It seems that the true hidden code hidden in the album was the additional content.

Homma took a breath.

'…It's fun.'

My heart was racing because I was so excited to see what was going to happen!

After looking around excitedly she decided to run towards the attraction.

It was then.

In the dark three tall men walking through a tunnel passed by in a flash.

'uh?'

Anyone can see that he looks like a college student on a trip…

'korean?'

The styling somehow looked like that!

It wasn't very often that I saw three men of the same nationality here so I was immediately interested but at that moment the men's voices were only vaguely heard muffled by the noise.

Even if I only heard it roughly it was English.

"ah…"

Was it just because I was a KPOP fan?

She didn't bother to look back and decided to move forward with her employee ID card around her neck.

But for some reason… I was secretly worried.

‘what?’

no. Now was not the time for this. You should enjoy this attraction as much as possible to save time and money.

“let’s go!”

“Uh oh!”

She eagerly walked back to the line with her friend.

Leaving behind Park Moon-dae and Testa.

[Even if you’re excited you keep quiet. You know right?]

Who is talking to whom?

With trembling eyes I looked at the guy wearing a dumb suit and a black fashion mask covering his face.

‘Aren’t those all Kim Raebin’s?’

Did you get permission?

The guy shrugged his shoulders turned his head and started walking excitedly again.

What you see in front of you is a sign that looks like the office motto from a modern ghost story written in fancy cursive.

“Wow!”

[Dark Creature Office]

That's right.

This is Dreamland a theme park in Florida. Among them this is an attraction zone that uses Testa's worldview.

We are carrying a GoPro.

It was both content and… realism and a kind of exploration.

And for this part we specifically selected only those who were good at English and could be buried without any discomfort.

Thanks to this my filming companion this time is this guy.

[The position is this way. Follow me!]

[okay.]

I stood in line with Cha Yu-jin. American local. This guy is around the 7th episode of Dreamland.

[thank you so much. I hope you have a peaceful day.]

And before you know it Sun Ah-hyun is over there buying caramel popcorn and quickly follows suit standing next to you and holding out a container.

It is shaped like a music box. It's really faithful to the concept.

[Popcorn… You guys like popcorn.]

[You don't like it.]

[No I don't mind!]

Sun Ah-hyun who was wearing a hat that completely covered her face seemed to be smiling brightly under the shade.

‘This one was exciting too.’

It’s been a while since I’ve been to a theme park like this so I didn’t feel bad.

Think of it as an opportunity.

[Let’s ride well.]

[Ugh!]

[Thank you brother. Is this popcorn delicious? The price would have been Dreamland-like.]

The line shortened and the worldview began to unfold before us as we entered the building through the queue line.

This is the story we created.

Inside the attraction building.

[Please stand this way. KIS staff.]

wow.

Park Moon-dae’s Homma blinked when he saw that even the theme park employees were dressed up as AI and bought into the story.

The surrounding area was a dark basement with smoke and light leaking out from all over with the concept of a closed laboratory.

[I am not AI.]

The phrase was creepy.

However both Homma and the former graduate student were busy turning their heads in excitement.

This is because I wanted to compare it because it was similar to the scenery I saw in our own content. Especially things like messages left by members!

‘Is it rice cake? ‘It’s like rice cake!’

They kept moving forward not paying any attention to the slowly falling line.

“It’s actually nice to be able to see it for a long time.”

“huh.”

and…

[Selection process begins.]

Soon the passengers were rearranged according to the number of passengers and thanks to this she was able to walk to the next door along with the strangers.

3 men.

‘Are these the people I saw earlier?’

The three men who appeared to be Korean were standing behind them.

They were tall bowed their heads slightly in greeting and then looked away again and only their silhouettes could be seen in the light in the dark hallway.

She nodded roughly and tried to turn her gaze back to her friend.

Hmm so 5 people are riding together like this?

‘There’s nothing we can do because we’re a team of 4 to 5 people.’

Still it's easier to be a woman but it's a shame…

"…??"

Wait a minute.

The moment the light flashed brightly Homma almost started drooling.

'Ugh.'

You could tell just by looking at the skeleton.

A big wild left and a straight straight right.

And… the middle man looked thin but had good shoulder and thigh bones.

'It's a radish bite.'

It was Park Moon-dae.

It's impossible not to know!

Whether she was wearing a mask or sunglasses from the movie pretending to enjoy the amusement park she could recognize her idol just by the shape of her jaw line and ears…!

Why are you here…? Is there a big event like this that I can only see on the Internet? What is this dream? I'm still dreaming before I go to Dreamland…

"omg."

"Are you okay?!"

"Uh huh."

She realized she had stopped and quickly started walking again.

While excitedly taking pictures of the surroundings he also focused his attention on his friend who was looking back at him.

But my head is screaming.

This is reality!

'happy! 'I'm glad!'

Do I get an award for liking and supporting for a long time? I can't believe it. It's crazy thrilling but…

But…

'Mundae… Don't you recognize me?'

A chill runs down my spine.

Come to think of it… I was the person who went to film shoots even before my debut at the College of Arts and Sciences and after my debut I sat in the front row with a camera at fan signing events and all kinds of stages.

'Wouldn't that make you feel familiar even if you meet each other on a regular basis…?'

If so there was a clear possibility that Moon Dae or other members would recognize him!

But think about it.

The members came to an amusement park to play and there they encountered… a homma?

"…"

I'm not a sasaeng guys…!

I don’t want to be on the list. No I don’t want to be misunderstood!

Homma became meditative and eventually…

Deep.

“Yeonju what are you doing…?”

“Because it’s cold.”

‘Let’s not get caught.’

She boldly put a whole shark doll on her head.

A crazy painful and happy time was just beginning.

Chapter 629

One and a half hours to board the attraction.

Park Moon-dae's first home horse simply persevered.

"Yeonju you look like you have hair. If you take off that shark mask for a moment…"

"are you okay! "It's comfortable!"

"Uh… yeah! Wow look at this. "There's something like graffiti drawn by our kids on the wall here…"

"Oh that's really cool. I'll take a picture right away."

'Please save me.'

Homma whose face was stuck in the shark doll screamed between screaming and falling asleep.

Testa didn't seem to have noticed this strange phenomenon(?) yet but fortunately or unfortunately his former graduate student sitting next to him didn't seem to notice why he was acting like this either.

That carefree attitude that makes it seem like he can't even guess that the three men who are going on the ride together are testers…

At that moment Homma suddenly came to her senses.

'Should I tell you?'

Right now there is a bar Park Moon-dae next to it.

'We've been fans together for this long… '

I thought my friend would feel a great sense of betrayal and regret if he found out later but if I told him now it would be difficult to ride the attraction…

After imagining his friend stopping and screaming only to regret it later Homma made a decision.

'…Let's pay attention and let you know!'

I decided to wait for the right moment to be quiet.

Meanwhile I could hear Testa's voice speaking in English from the seat next to me.

[It's darker in here than I thought.]

[Hmm… SF horror spy. Do all your keywords scream 'I'm dark'? Brother of course.]

Even though it was English I couldn't understand the voices caught my ear.

A simple accent. An accent that jumps out as if you are throwing something out.

'It's mom.'

Homma swallowed.

I tried my best not to be conscious of the peripheral vision obscured by the shark doll but it wasn't very effective.

[…but don't forget. This is an investigation.]

[Don't worry. If I don't know who will know?]

[Ugh. I will pay close attention to every detail… down to the smallest elements.]

I want to become good at listening in English…!

'No if I can understand what's being said here is it really wiretapping?'

No matter what… the moment she thought about it she lost her footing.

"ah."

It was the natural course of a person who was distracted.

The moment I quickly recovered my steps I heard a worried English voice next to me.

[Do you have any injuries on your ankles?]

It was Sun Ah-hyun.

Homma almost jumped up like a cat but managed it with a gesture.

"Fine okay!"

Sun Ah-hyun who had a navy blue baseball cap nodded slightly ('That crazy face is as big as a fist' Homma thought) and then quietly turned her head.

after.

'I'm so happy I'm dying.'

After an hour of waiting not knowing if it was hell or heaven.

[It's work time.]

Attraction employees wearing suits and holographic masks guided them to the door.

"and…"

A steel door with a lot of warning signs and company logos leading to the basement.

Wow!

Inside the door that opened with a heavy sound there was a huge holographic screen floating on one side giving the impression of a spy's waiting room.

It's as if it's telling you the mission.

And then the video plays.

"oh."

[This company is very suspicious.]

Testa's own content dubbed in English was briefly edited and played like a cinematic trailer.

Employees who went missing while being chased by monsters in a suspicious company building were reborn as AI and were frozen.

And the notices and broadcasts that come up after that.

[You are their successor.]

You're their replacement.

Chii Iik.

Dry ice comes out and the emergency lights inside turn on.

While my heart is pounding.

[Would you like to leave a record of attendance?]

The code next to the hologram flashed.

“Our employee ID card!”

“ah.”

This is the attraction interaction.

When I put the employee ID card I purchased on the device a flashing light came on and the code machine changed into a music box with the message ‘Welcome to KIS employee.’

“amazing!”

“wow.”

Plus there was an additional effect.

Suddenly red energy appeared in the crack of the music box and it boomed as if it were going to open.

[Check AI hidden code / Danger!]

It seemed to be an effect of reading the code attached to the album app.

“Oh!”

The alarm sounded briefly and then turned off.

It was a little creepy but by the time I was excited by the incredible sense of reality as if I had performed magic or turned on a secret function…

[Oh that’s cool!]

Something really exciting happened.

Cha Yu-jin suddenly stuck out her upper body.

‘hey!’

[Do you mind if I film it?]

“Yes… yes.”

Roughly speaking since Can I and Blah came out with a GoPro I’m going to say I’m going to take a picture of that.

Homma nodded and Cha Yu-jin bent down to her.

“…!”

Homma held her breath and unconsciously focused on the feel of the air created by Cha Yu-jin’s upper body as it passed right next to her.

The smell of wind and skin lotion…

‘stop!’

What kind of pestilence is this!

She barely resisted the urge to rip the shark’s head off.

Meanwhile Cha Yu-jin finished filming the warning lights with a GoPro and stood up shaking the end of her bungee.

[That’s cool. thank you.]

“…”

‘Is this what it felt like?’

He was one of the members who was famous for showing off his talent every time he went to a fan signing event but it was even more excessive when we didn’t have a desk in front of him.

It was something you were born with.

‘Even if you’re an ordinary person you’re guilty you crazy person.’

Muttering something she could never say out loud she continued to move following the staff’s guidance.

[I will guide you to the office.]

True to the AI concept the attraction staff seemed to check the waiting line by changing the expression on the hologram mask to a smiling face.

‘The employees here are all in good physique… ’

She nodded saying that it was indeed a major theme park and walked into the smoke… and finally stood in front of the platform on the ride’s rails.

And the balloon she will board.

“omg.”

A very conceptual and realistic roller coaster that looks like a modern and contemporary design office chair and desk set… Anyway I had to ride it!

It was a design that was unique and suited the concept.

“amazing…”

“Is it cool?”

And the three seats in the back where the Testa sat looked like a sofa in a company reception room and had a table attached to it.

While Homma was trying not to be too obvious about the fun they were having the friend next to him even tried to translate.

“Isn’t it like a story about being so excited that you can’t breathe? “I think people’s thoughts are similar in any country.”

“I see.”

We’re from the same country.

It seems that my friend still hasn’t noticed this situation. Earlier when he almost fell he even briefly made eye contact with Sun Ah-hyun.

But there was no time to think longer.

The safety bar comes down and an employee displays a huge holographic sign.

[10 seconds until elevator opens]

The chair trembles due to engine vibration.

When the countdown ended the balloon launched like a gun!

Go up through the elevator structure space in the ceiling!

“Wow!”

“oh my god!”

With a sense of speed the rail is sucked into the old and broken 7th floor office hallway.

Homma shouted happily forgetting about Testa in the back seat for a moment as the wind hit her.

‘It’s fun!’

It was a hasty decision.

“Aaaah!”

“Aaaah!”

This attraction boasted almost a roller coaster level of thrill.

The structure combines a haunted house and a dark ride. The process of riding the balloon and then getting off and exploring the space is repeated two or three times.

‘This is why multiple teams entered at once!’

Since the space was large the turnover rate seemed surprisingly good. But I couldn’t think about that for long.

Because a monster was chasing me.

“Ugh!”

“Crazy crazy!”

Very cleverly monsters like the music box monster only chased people very closely when they were on board the device and let out loud screams.

The music box monster in front of me opened its mouth wide.

“Turn it off.”

‘I can feel your breath…!’

It gave me goosebumps as to why they even implemented something like this.

In its own content Testa was brave not a fearful person! If I had to run to avoid this I would have fainted. really!

“I have no strength in my legs.”

“…”

When I finally got off the roller coaster for the second time my legs were almost shaking.

It's not for nothing that there is a sign telling you to call an employee if you want to leave midway.

'For some reason the quality of the monster was too good to be used in Zarkon… '

I must have brought this here.

She sobbed and refused her friend's offer to help her and then walked down an eerie underground hallway with flashing lights…

"Are you okay?"

"ah! yes…"

Someone spoke.

No not someone… Park Mun-dae.

A tall man with a hoodie pulled down over his head.

'…??'

I thought my heart was slowly falling.

what? Is it reality? No why are you talking to me in Korean?

'Hey what if I get caught…!'

Of course usually in a foreign country you can do the stunt of recognizing a celebrity just by hearing the voice with a deliberately changed tone but still!

'Am I Korean here? What are you going to do if we continue the conversation like this?… '

…But in the end she couldn't miss the opportunity to 'talk with her favorite' and ended up asking reflexively.

“Are you Korean?”

shit!

However Park Moon-dae remained calm.

Under the dark hallway lights a low calm voice was heard from behind the sunglasses and white KF mask.

“I am Korean.”

It was a word with a strange nuance as if they were not the same people.

He’s also a smart guy. Who is your idol?…

“…”

“Oh look over there.”

When Homma almost fell into a trance Choae next to her pointed something with her hand.

The end of the hallway was visible.

“cellar?!”

[Employee Storage]

In the end the attraction ends beautifully with a scenario where the terrifying altar inside is destroyed all the employees are saved and the AI is liberated from the computer.

[AI release complete!]

“The scale is amazing.”

“Wow this is fun.”

It would have been even more fun for those who had seen Testa's own content especially fans.

'Even though I have the people next to me… '

At this time she also enjoyed the taste of an attraction that stimulated all five senses with a friend.

However I felt a bit unique at the end.

"I guess they're going there!"

The computer monitor turns off and the back door opens.

Attraction visitors pass through the hallway at the end where the light reflects off the glass windows like a mirror because it is dark…

"uh?"

"Huh?!"

The silhouette reflected in the window was not me wearing a shark doll.

What was reflected in it… was a black torso!

"and!"

The black torso that followed his own movements as if it were himself was strange and creepy.

Probably an LED screen.

'oh my god!'

I was amazed by the amazing technology and thought about its meaning for a moment and it gave me a strange feeling.

‘If this is some kind of mirror… then I’m a torso?’

The visitor was a torso.

It was clear that the visitors to this attraction had come to rescue or check on Testa.

But that’s exactly what it is.

‘It’s a doll… ’

It was a creepy twist that both you and I were AI dolls but if you are a fan of Testa you might think a little differently.

‘…Hmm.’

In the intro Sun Ah-hyun danced while hugging his torso covered him with a parasol and held a grand funeral for him.

When I saw the intro I thought it was a bit creepy and had artistic beauty…

When I thought about it again it felt sad.

The current situation as well.

‘In the end did the audience replace Testa’s place?’

Or is it that they hold a funeral with courtesy and affection for the visitors who failed to attend?

While pondering that imagination with some lingering feelings she slowly exited the torso mirror hallway.

I saw light.

“Oh there!”

“This will be your last ride right?”

The final roller coaster was waiting beyond the door.

And there was a reader there that recognized employee ID cards.

[Would you like to leave a record of leaving work?]

Just like when I entered a fun magical effect popped out.

Additionally a hidden code effect has been added.

[Check AI hidden code / Danger!]

“ah…”

His name flashed and appeared on the hologram.

[AI Yeonju / Staff]

“…!!”

It was the nickname set in the Dreamland app.

When she opens her mouth and stares at the amazing interaction that makes it even more immersive.

“…”

I felt eyes on me and turned my head to see Park Mun-dae next to me.

When our eyes met he smiled as if it was really fun.

I could tell.

Even though the lower part of his face was covered his eyes were visible through the dark sunglasses.

“…”

‘Crazy guy.’

It’s more of a problem because it seems like there’s no intention. A human heart! uh?!

“Ugh!”

“Ahh!”

…So Homma finished the attraction in a cool way shouting as much as she could using the last roller coaster course as an excuse.

‘It was fun.’

Homma completely exhausted from exhaustion of mental strength and joy trudged out on the way out…

And it was just before I walked out into the bright sunny area of the amusement park.

Tuk.

I heard footsteps stopping behind me.

“thank you. “Thanks to you I saw something amazing.”

Park Moon-dae spoke again.

Pointing to Homma’s employee ID card.

“Thank you for your sharing.”

His speech was more intimate and softer than the way he spoke on TV or during his regular activities. It’s as if foreigners or Koreans have learned the Seoul accent. It seemed like he was making that kind of voice on purpose to avoid being caught.

I already know everything!

‘Fuck… ’

When I think about it again how can someone be so smart and cute?

How many days have there been in your life when you cursed so much (as a high compliment)? Now that I think about it it’s all related to Park Moon-dae. anyway

“Oh no.”

“that’s right.”

Park Mun-dae who firmly denied it nodded at himself.

The moment you think it’s like saying goodbye.

“Thank you. Then see you at our concert sister.”

“…?!”

Park Moon-dae ran with the other members and disappeared behind the attraction.

“…?…!!”

I just…

“Yeo Yeonjae!”

Geek.

Homma moved his head and looked to the side as if making a noise. A former graduate student friend who came running out late shouted with a red face.

“Mundae! Mundae! Testa!”

“Uh uh…”

It seems that he also noticed this at some point but couldn’t find a way to let him know. For some reason it started to get quiet at some point.

But the main point my friend was talking about was more than that.

My friend held out his arms.

In those arms… I saw things that weren’t there before.

“This this this this this the kids gave it to me…”

It was a business card goods with the names of Park Moon-dae Sun Ah-hyeon and Cha Yu-jin.

It is an item for sale. The only difference is… they signed it themselves.

[Park Moon-dae]

“…”

“Thank you thank you!” “I said thank you!”

Those crazy people… already knew.

That they are pretending not to know.

“…”

“Are you playing?”

Homma slumped down in her seat.

‘I got on board… ’

These were golden shackles that would last a lifetime.

[customer! Did you enjoy watching?]

“Oh yeah.”

I went to the back of the attraction which was only accessible to staff and saw two people walking from the front.

Fans who have been watching for a long time.

‘I didn’t expect to see it like this.’

Well this was just fine. I smile and raise my head…

[Then it’s time to work.]

I looked back at the attraction employee who was persistently talking to me.

The employee grins and removes the hologram mask. And the bare face revealed.

“You were fans right? Was it fun?”

“It was fun.”

It was a large figure with a few strands of sweat-soaked bangs sticking to it.

“So we’ve finished preparing in advance right?”

“huh.”

The attraction monitoring work was completed with these guys who were good at English and didn’t feel uncomfortable…

“I think you’re ready too.”

Those who are not familiar with English are able to adapt and work first.

“of course.”

The guys who finished their shift at the back walk over.

Ryu Cheong-woo Kim Rae-bin Bae Se-jin.

And the last thing that follows is the camera.

We grinned.

At an opportunity like this you should definitely pick up the content.

“Then Testa’s experience as an amusement park employee… Let’s get started!”

Chapter 630

Testa's daily experience of a theme park employee.

Actually I had been thinking about trying a similar project for a few years but it was pushed back due to various events.

If done domestically there was a high risk of it spreading into commotion or controversy and if done overseas the investment costs from recruiting theme parks to adjusting schedules were high.

Due to the situation it was evaluated as being a bit difficult so it wasn't listed as a priority.

'But now it's just happened.'

Now the timing is right.

The Testa worldview came out as an attraction at an amusement park but the people in charge work there themselves?

I mean where can you find such a hilarious situation?

"Hmm I really liked Limestone too."

"I can't not like it."

So this entertainment was also scheduled to be broadcast on Limestone's official WeTube channel not our channel.

Although it was a special edition it was scheduled to be aired on Limestone's TV channel as an official entertainment show.

'It's smooth.'

Two of the team members were native-level English speakers and three or four people including me were able to communicate on a daily basis.

This means that it was not a composition that was awkward in many ways or that suffered due to the language barrier.

And it was actually fun preparing for the official filming.

“How can I meet fans there?”

…I know.

I was lucky.

“Seeing Moon Dae-moon University smile makes me burst out in laughter.”

“What are you saying?”

Even if we exclude that fuss the scene where we actually met a fan while riding an attraction will not appear on WeTube.

This is because there are issues with portrait rights and we were not able to secure enough screen time to allocate that much airing time to the preparation process.

‘If the main story isn’t interesting there may be talk of including it but… ’

That won’t happen.

We also have time.

* * *

On my way back home after a crazy big event where I met my favorite girl at the theme park.

Park Moon-dae's Homma was really worried like crazy.

'Are you… certifying this?'

But isn't it because he was misunderstood and Mundae gets scolded for having sex with Homma?!

But I also wanted to publicize this incident. I wanted to let people know that my child is such a crazy person who is very devoted to his fans!

And they say the answer is surprisingly close.

"I'll upload it!"

"Aaaah!! okay!"

A friend took the initiative.

That quick judgment really comes from a former graduate student!

And with Homma's support my friend chose an anonymous community with a reasonably good atmosphere and uploaded the article.

————————==

[I met Testa at Dreamland ㅠㅠ]

He was covering his face so I pretended not to notice because I was afraid he might disturb me. But it turns out that Testa first saw that I was a fan after seeing the goods I bought.

————————==

I ran into a famous celebrity in a foreign country and went on an amusement ride with him.

Even the friendly and thoughtful attitude of a celebrity.

It was a unique experience that was fun to listen to and enviable so it immediately became a popular article.

-Wowㅠㅠㅠ I'm jealous of dogs

-The attraction looks fun. Did Testa put a lot of effort into it?

-I want to see Testa too.

-Ahyun's baseball cap?? Please tell me more about the outfit so I can imagine.

With all kinds of people expressing envy and interest.

"Fuck you."

Kim Rae-bin's personal fan who read that article gritted his teeth.

I'm jealous like a dog!

'Even if I go to a fan signing event I can't be that close for a long time.'

This is all luck.

Her five organs and six parts were so tense that she managed to take a deep breath.

'I'm really telling you Testa people to plan to attack the US.'

Even though they know that targeting overseas is important they are outraged that such recent nonsense and fan service is only appearing overseas.

And in this situation entertainment shows came out.

Even on overseas channels.

[KPOP star's work history at Dreamland <Limestone Official>]

"hey!!"

Kim Rae-bin's fans eventually ignited as they watched Testa secretly working at the attraction.

Looks fun! That makes me even more upset!

Park Moon-dae's homemaker was screaming saying 'Is this even the employee I saw back then?' but this one was screaming with a different meaning.

How many gut-wrenching envious situations are you going to create?

Moreover to my annoyance… the development of the story was really interesting.

[Dreamland Staff: Thank you for your hard work~ Excellent!]

After half a day of quick training and attraction introduction towards Testa.

Finally night opening time.

As soon as it was time for Testa to officially start working…

[Lee Se-jin: Ah just give it to me.]

[Dreamland Employee:…?]

Lee Se-jin accepted the work sheet and handed it over to Ryu Cheong-woo.

And Ryu Cheong-woo shouted to the rest of the members in Korean without any confusion about the language.

{Ryu Cheong-woo: Well did you hear the senior staff member's briefing? Me and Moon are in section A Lee Se-jin and Ravin are in section B Eugene and Ahyeon are at the ticket booth and finally Bae Se-jin is at the out gate.}

{Testa: Yes!}

{Ryu Cheong-woo: Go to each location work as instructed and report any problems or questions immediately.}

In response to the elegant instructions Testa returned to his seat in an orderly manner within 30 seconds and began to execute the instructions like a knife.

Perfect division of labor!

The determination not to waste any time!

[Dreamland Employee:…!]

To top it all off the employee I was working with even applauded me during break time.

{Ryu Cheng-wu: I guess we'll do okay.}

{Park Moon-dae: That's right.}

Before two hours had passed Testa said to the theme park's regular employees 'You can keep working I have no complaints.' I ended up hearing the same joke.

{Lee Se-jin: Hey~ Our members will not starve to death no matter where they go. yes?}

{Seon Ah-hyeon: Ugh really…!}

And Kim Rae-bin's fans also knew why this phenomenon occurred.

…As they do all sorts of things with their own content members secretly have a part-time job to do.

An unexpected workforce!

-You're so tough.

– Hahahahahahahaha

-No usually when a celebrity does something like this isn't healing the focus? Testa always says wham hahaha.

-You haven't lost your original intention when selling hotteok.

-At this level we need to take care of it urgently.

And despite all this the testers who are sweating from the unexpected situations that come their way at every moment or the testers who break through brilliantly will be the highlight.

'I thought… '

There was a problem.

{Bae Se-jin: This… is harder than I thought.}

{Park Moon-dae:… Yes.}

It's not a physical problem.

'They all just go to concerts for hours on end.'

The members had been working hard for hours running singing and even dancing so they stood for several hours and guided people without even blinking an eye.

The difficult thing is… the concept.

[Dreamland Employee A: Yes please pay attention here!]

Moon-Dae Park raised his eyes and saw the staff passionately giving them intermediate training.

[Employee A: Oh! What kind of robot are you?]

[Employee B: This is AI for training new employees. Please follow my guidance and move.]

[Employee A: I don’t want to wait in line? I just want to ride the attraction!]

[Employee B: Unfortunately due to KIS regulations you may be terminated.]

After finishing the trial conversation the employee looked at the tester and smiled brightly.

[Dreamland Employee A: Now please always answer customers from the perspective of AI the company employee in the ghost story!]

[Testa:…]

It’s written in the eyes.

‘Are you serious?’

– Hahahahaha Park Moon-dae’s facial expression

-Cha Yujin swears with your eyes? No I have convinced myself now.

I think I got over it with memories of Dreamland from my childhood hahaha.

-Sssssssssssssssssssssssssssssssss why are you being so serious hahaha

As the world’s largest theme park franchise Dreamland had a very clear theme.

A land of dreams and fantasy.

The idea is to let people come here and enjoy it as if they were transported to the world of content they create such as real movies and cartoons.

…And he also asked the part-time worker to do that.

{Bae Se-jin: It felt like the kid was asking me if the employee robot could fly but I don't know how to answer in English…!}

{Lee Se-jin: Ah~ Then 'It's a function error.' Well you decided to pretend there was an error.}

{Bae Se-jin: Something… I thought it would only work on adults! Since he's a kid I should have given him a more childlike answer… }

Bae Se-jin confused and muttering to himself over there is the living proof.

Perhaps because he was an actor he was suffering almost as much as setting the role.

{Bae Se-jin:… Yes! Let's say that flight is impossible due to lack of fuel!}

{Raebin Kim: Indeed!}

[Park Moon-dae: (What exactly)]

Overindulgence is rampant.

-Are you officially employed?

-Make sure to check if you have the 4 major insurance policies.

– That's not possible. Bae Se-jin as an actor needs to receive payment for his appearance haha.

-Park Moon-dae's face says something like 'Why are you worrying so much?'

Of course here too there are members who are particularly quick-witted.

[Attendant: Oh~ Brother how many hours a day do you spend at the gym?]

[Ryu Cheong-woo: That's something I don't know. Could you please tell me what 'gym' means?]

Whenever someone asks a difficult or mischievous question Ryu Cheong-woo gently responds with an AI-like question.

And even a big fish like a fish out of water.

[Children in attendance: Take this!]

[Lee Se-jin: This is… cotton candy! Sorry but full-time KIS employees cannot digest organic substances such as candy.]

Viewers were shocked to see the child who was given cotton candy say 'I can't eat cotton candy because I'm an AI'.

It was even a pattern I had prepared.

{Lee Se-jin: Hey Eugene~ What if you talk like this?}

{Cha Yujin: Show me.}

On the screen Lee Se-jin was briefly seen holding Cha Yu-jin in the staff warehouse and checking her grammar.

It was clear that he had played several English response simulations in his head.

'It's terrible.'

I was holding my tongue because I thought I would really work hard at something like this but I was so good at it and it was so fun that I had nothing to say.

And the last two are close to English natives.

[Cha Yu-jin: I never thought the day would come when I would work directly at Dreamland but yes. It's today!]

Sun Ah-hyun and Cha Yu-jin worked as a pair at the ticket booth. Of course this requires more conversation than guidance AI.

Then filled with a strange sense of mission the two even came up with an additional concept.

[Seon Ah-hyun: How about we… try highlighting the characteristics of each person's accent? Where you're from.]

[Cha Yu-jin: You know what? That's the craziest suggestion I've heard today.]

-????

-It's an illusion Eugene.

It was made in France and made in LA.

The two people who even made a diss joke about the location of their production plant were quite funny…

'Sun Ah-hyun can make people laugh voluntarily.'

Kim Rae-bin's fans sometimes exploded with laughter but also looked at themselves with a strange sense of discomfort.

And the person she had been waiting for was her undisputed favorite.

[Kim Rae-bin]

In fact Kim Rae-bin who is the one watching this group's entertainment and watching it…

[Child Tourist: Look over there! Mr. Robot!]

Strangely it was gaining cult popularity among children.

“…?!”

Among the testers Kim Rae-bin was the strongest in Korean rather than English so the production team gave him a simultaneous interpretation in-ear device.

And they came up with a kind of extreme AI concept that allows communication to be carried out only through movements and facial expressions instead of speaking.

[Early AI]

This means that this holographic sign was floating above.

That worked strangely.

[Child Tourist: Mr. Robot! Lift your head!]

[Child tourist: I have a hole in my ear! Doesn’t it hurt?! Is it because it’s a robot that it doesn’t bleed?]

[Kim Rae-bin: (moving)]

Raebin Kim changed the hologram into a smiling face and gently removed the piercing on her left ear. The kids are very naughty.

[Child Tourist: Gaaaaa!]

It was truly magic.

‘Even kids recognize good-looking people.’

Kim Rae-bin’s fan calmly assessed the situation.

And the member who received the last portion was… Park Moon-dae.

[Park Moon-dae: Welcome.]

In fact Park Moon-dae spoke English very well and did the work neatly according to the manual so there was not much time.

But it turns out he also has a specialty…

[Mischievous visitor: Look at that! AI says woo!]

It's about getting the truth straight.

[Mischievous visitor: Hey what are you going to do when you get off work in this awful place?]

The teenager who was smirking and pointing at himself and asking questions as if he was going to start a fight was full of defiance.

It was clear that he intended to make fun of people who answered in accordance with the concept like other employees.

'what?'

And Park Moon-dae quietly looked at the visitors remained silent for a while and then answered:

[Park Moon-dae: After cooling it is loaded into the staff storage area.]

There was silence for a moment.

And a smile mark appeared as if drawn on Park Moon-dae's expressionless holographic mask.

[Park Moon-dae: I'm sorry. This is an error. It was an incorrect response.]

Smile Mark looks into youth.

[Park Moon-dae: I'm still cold.]

[Guests entering:…!]

The teenage visitor seemed a little scared and flinched but eventually went to ride the attraction while waiting for his turn.

What follows is a cut of an interview with Park Moon-dae smiling.

[Park Moon-dae: It's easy with kids.]

"Wow."

What part-time job country did you stay in for about 3 years?

Kim Rae-bin's fans also held out their tongues while doubting whether it was scripted or not.

Testa's latest theme park work entertainment seemed to be going well.

It was fun the performers were attractive and the attractions looked fun.

Additionally there was a special scene at the end.

[Attendant: Damn it!!]

Work as a music box monster!

Originally animatronic robots were used but just once right before the amusement park closed at night Testa sneaked in instead and surprised people.

It seems like they had an ulterior motive that they couldn't be the only ones to suffer but it seems like some members really enjoyed the experience purely.

{Raebin Kim: It was a unique and enjoyable experience!}

When their decadent-looking idol dressed up as a ghost and did that Kim Rae-bin's fans couldn't help but laugh repeatedly even though they couldn't bear to look at it with a straight face.

When I looked at the comments on WeTube there were even testimonies from the people who were actually harmed.

-That's me oh my god!

Of course they are locals.

'Americans will like it.'

The spark of a meme created after the Glastonbury performance which captured the image of Testa as a hard-boiled fun gambler was still vividly alive.

-There are people doing crazy things like that on Limestone Channel programs.

-You chose screams and fear rather than dreams and fantasies. It's awesome

-So this band is in America now? Let's have someone show us the sweetness of capitalism and make us realize that we can do anything in this country.

lol Yes America is a country with an experimental spirit!

'Why are you guys kicking Gukbong!'

Kim Rae-bin's fan pressed his forehead.

She enjoyed watching the entertainment and was excited to see the reactions.

Yes the overseas response was good… everything was good.

But that was the problem.

“This is so… I think only people who know Dreamland can really enjoy it.”

This means that it was perfect to cause a feeling of alienation in people who no matter how hard they tried to attend could not go due to time and cost issues.

Especially for people who are culturally distant.

-Haha are you kidding?

-I was excited from the moment the Dreamland collaboration story came out.

-It looks like they were worried at first. They’re completely obsessed with English-speaking countries. Also it’s a meta that only treats dogs and pigs who spend money.

-How much we wanted to appeal to Limestone that we could make money like this…

-Domestic fans who continued to support are just left behind like an official haha. Oh it’s really annoying.

The reaction beneath the surface in the country seemed cold everywhere as if someone had died.

This may have been a backlash because Testa had focused on domestic activities so far.

-I was expecting it to be a hidden code in the album but since it was exclusive to Dreamland it gave me a chill… haha

It feels like expectations have been betrayed.

And honestly Kim Rae-bin’s fan himself was somewhat offended by the sarcasm and sympathized a little with this opinion.

That made me even more upset.

‘There’s a high chance you won’t be able to catch something like this!’

It’s only a small number now but it’s easy to spread.

And from the moment this tendency spreads throughout the fandom it becomes a bloody mess.

But I was even more upset because it seemed difficult to turn it over.

‘Why are you rushing to collaborate with something that is as accessible as an overseas theme park?’

Was the Limestone name worth that much? No it’s actually good but…

“Ha really.”

After enjoying watching a variety show she felt depressed and lay down on the bed.

Well anyway from a macro perspective I understand that it’s good for the value of the group’s name and it’s also good for Kim Rae-bin’s career…

‘Oh I’m in a bad mood. What should I do?’

Sighing she accessed the album app on her laptop out of habit.

[D-7 until the next Hidden Code]

The notification that had been floating around like this came back with new concept photos and a few worldview videos but it didn’t really leave much of an impression.

Anyone can see that the main attraction is the Dreamland attraction. This is because I felt like they were just taking care of the assortment.

In the end Kim Rae-bin’s fan tapped the screen.

“Give me something.”

It was then.

Tiring!

A Testa WeTube notification appeared.

“…??”

what?

But after seeing the notification more question marks lingered in my mind.

[TeSTAR – Bad Feelings Official M/V]

It’s the music video for this title song.

What do you mean?

‘Duplicate upload by mistake?’

However after looking at the title again in the pop-up window she found a new element attached to the end of the title.

[TeSTAR – Bad Feelings Official M/V (?)]

A question mark like your own feelings.

“…?”

What on earth is this?

She clicked on the notification pop-up as if fascinated.

Chapter 631

What is the concept of Testa's latest song?

Suit Office Easy Listening.

Modern suit concept for adult men.

If I were to define it in one word it would be 'I think anyone will really like it.'

It is a comfortable and sophisticated concept that will not be divided among fans and the public will accept it without burden.

-Do you like this kind of thing? <- I decided to feel this way haha.

-The sound source has been around for a really long time. If it has this much staying power I think the annual ranking will also break the record right?

The goal of having people who were interested continue to consume the product and say 'It's great' without leaking even a single bit of it worked.

Of course like when you press one side of a balloon the other side pops out the advantages come with disadvantages.

-Something shocking? I don't have that feeling.

-Testa I always brought something unusual or provocative but this time it felt like I just used Jackon.

It's a bit dull.

They say a true superstar drives everyone crazy.

The fact that there is no like or dislike means that there is no group that feels extreme mania attraction.

Avoiding risk was consistent with lowering the high point.

In addition the self-released content Ghost Story Office had a strong character as a drama rather than a concept for the song itself. In the end the independent and unique aspect of the song became more dull.

Doesn't it just sound like an OST?

-Somehow the music score is the best of all time and the topicality is good but the song itself feels a bit less impactful? Haha.

That's right it's heard a lot in cafes and on the streets but it doesn't seem a little explosive. I thought social media would be turned upside down during the Roll the Da Water Bomb haha.

I still remember the endless popular fancam videos…

In conclusion this means that as soon as I pressed play on the video called Raebin Kim's fan this content immediately came to mind.

'They were conscious of that.'

Testa did testa.

This time it looks like they used their brains again and came up with a supplementary solution.

Well then… If you add 'intense and unique' as a modifier to the question mark attached to the same title as the new song as if it's something a bit different isn't there something that comes to mind?

'Is it the hip-hop version?'

That very self-indulgent old school hip-hop style remix that was performed at the Glastonbury Festival.

The goal may be to quell the controversy by filming and releasing a separate dance video or performance video.

Isn't Testa always confident? stage!

Kim Rae-bin's fan pressed his eyebrows.

"Ah… I can see clearly what they're aiming for."

Still it would be right to be deceived.

Attempts to show something can make me feel a little relieved.

Anyway it is said that they created such a legendary performance at Glastonbury but since it was a one-off performance in a foreign country accessibility was limited so many domestic fans were not able to see it properly.

Testa's attempt to take care of it by somehow supplementing it was very good.

I had this thought while the WeTube app was loading.

[-]

The thumbnail that came out was a bloody spider web.

"…??"

What is it?

'Fear again?'

When Kim Rae-bin's panicked fan looked again it wasn't blood but a red laser.

And the spider web is not just a spider web…

‘…wire?’

It was correct.

In the played video transparent wires with only their outlines visible reflected in white and red in the black air intersected countless times.

Everyone was exquisitely avoiding the lasers.

Meanwhile water vapor-filled droplets slid down the wire strands in the red light of the laser.

Tuk.

[Get this feeling]

At the same time the camera dropped from the top of the screen and showed a body hanging upside down below.

“…!”

But it’s not saggy.

The body which gracefully made a half-turn with its entire body straight came down and stopped in the air swallowing the recoil with elasticity.

Balance like a cat.

The wire is connected to only one side of the toe.

And a suit that fits the whole body tightly.

But it is definitely not for office workers.

The camera came down from the feet first in a beastly professional black jumpsuit that hugged the body.

A clean tall body free from dust.

The blonde hair swept back with pomade and the black tattoo and barcode on the nape of the neck are slightly reflected like holographic light.

Sun Ah-hyun hanging from a wire like a spider in a web in an elegant upside-down pose smiles at the camera.

[Then I'll fall and fall]

"crazy."

The sound of glass shattering the sound of a laser the sound of a siren.

The attention-grabbing notification sound is modulated to create a strangely pleasant dissonance and a heart-pounding melody.

However the rhythm and voice are relaxed with a presence.

As if walking slowly and leisurely.

[Bad feelings

follow you till the end]

Sun Ah-hyun's appearance coming down from the air changes into the appearance of other members every second.

Ryu Cheong-woo Cha Yu-jin Park Moon-dae Bae Se-jin Kim Rae-bin…

The last one is Lee Se-jin.

He lands upside down on the black floor supports himself with only one hand gently draws a parabola turns his whole body forward once and lands in the center.

Then while looking straight at the camera he walks forward giving high fives or exchanging gestures with the members waiting around him.

A ray of spotlight pouring down.

And the moment the members form together red and blue lasers flash from all directions.

[Uuuuuuu-]

Metal earphones combined with colorful piercings flash in each ear of the members who slowly move their heads in time with the long siren-like high-pitched ad-lib.

The keyword is completed.

Wire action earphone numbering tattoo suit.

‘ah.’

Then I realized.

This was a secret agent spy concept.

As Lee Se-jin clapping his hands at the center the members silently pose in the dark.

Sejin Lee taps her earphones with her finger. A low voice that starts with a silent accompaniment with only rhythm.

[Bad-feelings

don’t get away

Think of me]

A noisy tense accompaniment followed and began to play.

The gestures made by long fingers wearing finger suits were captured in slow motion on camera.

[Oh-ohohoh]

With the siren-like sound of a police car in the background the loud accompaniment played on a slow leisurely bass.

The original song and melody are the same. But the composition is the opposite.

‘From the refrain?’

A familiar melody is distorted and hits your ears pretending to be familiar but then rushes away at will.

Like cheating.

[Bad-feelings]

In the original song it appears to show the iconic choreography using a neat and classic umbrella… but then throws it away.

[Take it with you

Take it out every day-]

Instead use it by loosening the shoulder harness.

‘You crazy people.’

Between spotlights and laser lights leather straps go back and forth between bondage and wire action showing off gorgeous and refined dance moves.

Long legs indifferently cut through the air.

Center Raebin Kim put his harness around his neck and tilted his body to the side with his eyes down.

A laser passed by the ball.

[Bad-feelings]

The music boxes and decorations on display in the background were instead hit by the laser exploding paint.

The members did not avoid the red and blue paint that rained down in a spiderweb-like parabola and was hit by it.

[Uuuuuuu-]

Extremely low-pitched ad-lib.

Cha Yu-jin smiled showing her fangs as she wiped the paint off her cheek with her thumb.

Her hair which had been covered with pomade was disheveled.

"…"

Kim Rae-bin's fan swallowed his saliva.

Roughly speaking the story is… okay. Also seeing as the KIS logo was just shown it must be connected to the ghost story company behind the original song and its own content.

No I think that's right.

'Yes I heard that the world view of the ride is to release AI Testa but after that it is loosely implied that Testa became his own secret agent investigating that ghost story company… '

But none of that mattered!

No it's the next part of the attraction but I don't feel the slightest bit of sarcasm. Why!

[Even when the sun sets and the moonlight falls

Unforgettable feelings]

Testa's outfit changes once. The leather suit which looks worn and pickled by wire action is exposed more like a stage costume.

[those feelings-]

Raebin Kim's bare back and sides were full of holographic tattoos. It was full of his Chinese signature and various music codes.

Kim Rae-bin's fan was struck in the head.

"Are you crazy?"

okay. The suit in the original song is also a clean sexy concept in its own way. But… this one was completely blatant.

Naturally a competitor came to mind.

A simultaneous release counterpart that was widely evaluated as having a more serious concept than Testa.

'VTIC even caught Gao.'

VTIC which had a dark fantasy concept of usurping the throne of the afterlife had a strange taste of rise like a flame emerging from decline.

In short it means taking care of dignity.

But Testa…

"It's classy it's cute and it's appealing…"

It's blatant.

Kim Rae-bin's fans were depressed.

Isn't it said that if you achieve something you will have a desire for fame? Don't you want to take care of the literary narrative of the artist's artistry and symbolism? Don't these guys have any shame?

Let's be honest about this naturally shameless trick.

"I like dogs."

It was as good as a dog.

Kim Rae-bin's fan whose taste was met hit the keyboard.

All the times I've been screaming at people to stop using these otaku-like concepts has collapsed in the face of taste.

Meanwhile Testa in the video changed the background and brought the choreography and song to the climax.

The story line was the same.

Now the goal they infiltrated through the wire has been revealed.

[Umumm uuuum um-]

Liu Chengwu's distinct profile was captured briefly as he looked at something stored in a display case.

And in the next scene the blue light on the screen passes over Park Moon-dae's long fingers as he types on the keyboard in front of a huge computer.

Searching for…

-Black Torso

That's right… the actions of the black torso.

'ah.'

I also recognized Kim Rae-bin's fans.

It was said that in the scenario of an attraction where a passenger rescues Testa the passenger is explicitly set to be a fan of Testa.

'That was expressed as a torso.'

And it was already a well-known theory in the fandom that this was the torso that Sun Ah-hyun danced with.

In other words the torso is… a fan.

'no way… '

And the search results are displayed as images on the screen.

The AI which was a black torso was stored here in a new form.

-Teddy bear

A small worn-out teddy bear hugging a heart cushion.

And the next scene.

[Uuuuuuu-]

Liu Chengwu who was looking at the display case climbed the wire again and disappeared onto the ceiling.

Holding an old teddy bear in his large hands.

"…"

The subtitles came to mind.

The purpose has been accomplished.

[pipipipipipipi—]

And the music video ended with the laboratory in the background exploding after a short countdown.

thud.

Just like your own heart.

Mind… like!

"…"

Kim Rae-bin's fans had a hunch.

'Kim Rae-bin… '

My current life is boring.

And that day the remix sound source was updated again on the album app.

-I'm crazy

It was common for songs to be remixed for special performances at the end of the year but it was rare for a song to go this far and even release a remix music video.

Even more so when it is a concept that is so unconventional with all kinds of elements sex appeal and even fan service added.

-Are you a teddy bear lover? Are you a teddy bear lover? Are you a teddy bear lover? Are you a teddy bear lover? Are you a teddy bear lover? Are you a teddy bear lover?

Calm down

If you enlarge this carefully you can see 'Loviewer' embroidered on the heart line with wire.

You really have a variety of things (this is the ultimate compliment)

-Did you see Park Moon-dae tearing off his piercing earphones? i saw

-Is Eugene Ignacio a cat? No it's a jaguar. Anyway it's a jaguar. Please give me an ad.

Excited fans began shouting to themselves on various social media platforms and communities. It wasn't a sales pitch it was already a group monologue.

Of course it's not like there weren't rare times when a common-sense response came back.

It's directly related to sexuality.

-ㅇ;Girl title! Title!!

It seems like there was no choice but to include the story of the attraction in Jakon because I was so excited?

It's good because there's a build-up. Really.

No but ㅠㅠah ㅅㅂ Ah I want to stream it but it's a remix so there's a limit. Something like this should be ranked first on the music charts ㅅㅂ

Moreover since the existing sound source was closer to easy listening this was a smart choice for the sake of performance.

To put it bluntly sexual predators reacted rationally.

-No I'll pretend not to know so make a comeback.

-Now that you have finished your grades get back to work!!!

No I tried to do that but I failed.

It was clear that there would be mixed opinions about this strong concept but the promotions were already over anyway. There were overwhelmingly more people going wild than people who expressed their displeasure.

Because it won't work anyway.

-Please be active!!

And the response came like a lie.

[<Testa> Audition Application Notice]

-????

-yes?

-What kind of audience?

Suddenly a notice to apply to listen to a public music broadcast appeared.

No matter how you think about it there is only one purpose.

It meant that Testa was active in remixing.

-???? What is it

In this way Testa began its activities again on its own.

-Huh?

The fans who were shouting for activities lost their senses and were taken aback by this sudden action.

-No what are you doing? Isn't image consumption only increasing?

-The sex room is a bit too much and I think it will make things sexually dull.

-What are you going to do if the sound source power is dispersed?

The extremely excellent sound source retention was a factor that ensured Testa's clear superiority. There was no need to disperse and destroy it just to provide fan service.

If it's not enough to update the sound source on the album isn't it enough to just show it on the concert stage during the tour?

'why…?'

I didn't think Testa wouldn't know!

Meanwhile I heard news again.

-Notice of Testa's appearance on US talk show

…??

Yes?

Testa is appearing on an American variety show. It's popping up in three or four places right now.

-The Testa Null D&D Show has also been announced.

Yes?

Huh??

It wasn't the end.

-Hey guys we are promoting our kids' music video at Limestone.

????

What on earth is happening?

It was the beginning of a true strategy.

Chapter 632

I looked at my smartphone.

Testa is active again.

-It's mom.

After the news broke various voices are appearing on the Internet.

Of course there are quite a few cases where idols come out with repackaged albums after their promotional period ends adding one new song in a row.

In the past there were often cases where a group selected a song from the same album and performed follow-up activities.

'But there wouldn't have been a sudden remix of the same song.'

It seems like the activity period is coming to an end and then suddenly they start pouring out activity plans again.

-It's nice but I don't understand English.

At first everyone was confused.

I expected it but what came up was a sexual issue.

The question is why do you engage in fan service activities that make your belly button bigger than your stomach when you have maintained the music rankings so well?

Thankfully the arrows were returned to the company and not to us.

-It seems like the Testa company made a mistake in judgment.

This is why new companies are not allowed they are too emotional their judgment is amateurish etc. Criticisms also emerged.

But as time passed the tone changed.

-I listened to the Testa Remix music video a popular American video…

Huh??

How long has it been since it came out?

This is because overseas response poured in quickly and in large quantities.

And the foundation for that is… accessibility.

-No Limestone is screaming loudly about being active in testa.

??

Why…?

Limestone ran a promotion.

The global content conglomerate that operates Dreamland has stepped forward.

It wasn't some unpleasant viral marketing it was just an orthodox promotion.

We provided standard news exposure on schedule from Times Square electronic billboards to radio so that everyone who was interested could learn about our rehabilitation activities.

in result.

-Is this the testa?

-Hey where's your hip hop?

-I'm really confused. What on earth are these guys doing?

K-pop band who live as if hearing that question is their goal in life

Oh my god lol

-Now declaring: I like this sexy agent version better

You're full of hormones.

The comment section for the remix music video began to be flooded with English comments from the Glastonbury performance.

And the country fell into further chaos.

-Have you signed any kind of artist label contract with Testa Limestone?

This is the kind of treatment you would only give to a singer under your own label.

It took just half a day for the rumor that 'Testa's American label is Limestone' to come out.

And the truth soon came to light.

-Ah it's designated as the attraction's official theme song! So you released a remix huh

In other words Limestone simply promoted its attractions in a standard manner.

-Ah haha you can't miss a big company.

-The testa rode well.

As if they had finally realized the context people nodded and said ‘Testa did not miss the opportunity to raise its global recognition to the heavenly level.’

If you understood it that way that would be fine.

-I was believing it.

Are you coming?

‘thank you.’

After going to a domestic music room for a week there is no unnecessary noise or discomfort as if we are becoming distant. It will be treated like an official activity.

And above all…

‘The response to the remix itself is good in Korea as well.’

To be honest I might have thought it was a bit boring or random to hear the same song but my expectations were higher because the Glastonbury performance was such a hit.

The anticipation of ‘What am I going to do?’

-It would be a waste to bring down the Shatta haha.

-Hey let’s go.

-Don’t miss out on the sexy concept. Join the tester now. If you do it now it’ll be fun. We’ll include Jacon and Legend’s stage video.

It was an unexpectedly good condition to be understood as feeling like I was rowing when the water came in.

‘Actually I was originally going to take the risk of domestic public opinion here.’

I caught this trend by chance.

Of course whether it is coincidence or luck an opportunity is ultimately an opportunity if you know how to seize it.

I don't know that people who have chosen the right profession have caught it because they are team members in this group.

I laughed quietly.

"hmm? "Why Mundae?"

"no."

I turned my head to Liu Chengwu who was stretching next to me. Liu Chengwu looks puzzled but then smiles.

This guy seems to have completely regained his composure after that crazy performance.

No on the contrary I think I have become bolder than before.

"Let's proceed with this music broadcast as pre-recorded. "There's no need for it to be private."

"yes."

When it comes to group work we moved away from asking for intent once more and inserting a safe consensus process and began to be more selective and free.

'He said he was the leader and tried to carry the gun like an elder.'

My shoulders have lost some strength.

In the past whenever I saw avoidant members I would say 'I want to help you.' Even if I don't understand very well I'll try.' He used to show the same embarrassed and cautious look but that disappeared too.

Should I say that the distance between thoughts has decreased?

'Do you think you've experienced a time when you were lost in your thoughts and couldn't do anything?'

I concluded that it wasn't like me but I think I definitely gained something. The guy became more frank and outspoken in giving instructions and talking about work than before.

A few days after the performance I still remembered what Ryu Cheng-wu said casually.

-Hyung I like that I can be considerate of other people.

-But I hope you think it's okay if I don't show consideration.

okay. It's much better than hugging everyone and worrying alone.

I chuckled.

Keun Se-jin who was fixing the in-ears behind him also grinned.

"Has it been a while since we've had a talk show here? "Even though it's not the first time I've been to the U.S. it feels strangely new."

"It might be because I didn't appear during this comeback."

"Ah that's right."

This is backstage.

We are preparing to film an American talk show that will appear soon.

In the first place we postponed our full-fledged overseas expansion to this remix activity so we concentrated on all overseas appearances during this period of activity.

Thanks to this I was able to get on a plane and travel around here and there for a day so time got tighter.

Among us the one with a personal schedule had a bit of a hard time again.

“That Sejin hyung… he needs to prepare for his next project as well.”

“that’s right. That romantic comedy!”

However Bae Se-jin who was involved in the personal schedule was calm.

“are you okay. “Acting doesn’t necessarily have to be done in the practice room.”

“Hey.”

“Oh~”

“Hyung you’re cool!”

Despite the exaggerated response Bae Se-jin did not scream this time.

Instead he smiled albeit a little awkwardly.

“…! oh?”

“brother. “Aren’t you angry?”

“guide. “It’s a compliment.”

Even Kim Rae-bin looked at Bae Se-jin with slightly surprised eyes but soon everyone burst into laughter.

“It looks like we’re a bit clumsy.”

“I see.”

When it comes to infiltration suits like this everyone is acting a bit more adult-like saying that a suit is a suit.

“I have to admit something too.”

Cha Yu-jin who was briefly muttering something like a prayer in Spanish to herself also suddenly joined in.

“What is it?”

“I can do fun things here.”

“here?”

“This program.”

Cha Yu-jin said with a sullen face.

“.”

“oh my god.”

A few years ago when he first appeared on this talk show after appealing to the game enthusiasts through <127 Section> the guy who was shocked and said ‘I can’t believe I’m appearing on such a nerd show’ is now nodding his head seriously.

“If the fans like something I try it too. “I also do what the members want to do.”

“Oh~”

The members clapped their hands as if they were proud.

“…You’ve changed a bit too.”

Bae Se-jin muttered and hurriedly added. I realize the problem of nuance.

“I meant it in a good way! “The teamwork has improved.”

“Haha yeah. Eugene would have understood too.”

“Yeap compliments I know!”

I looked at Bae Se-jin.

“You’ve changed a lot too. “In a good direction.”

“…! Isn’t it… long?”

Bae Se-jin’s face brightens a little but soon subsides and soon becomes calm as if lost in thought.

It seemed like he was looking back on his experiences starting from his debut survival.

Well a lot of things happened.

I looked back at the familiar members who were gathered together among the unfamiliar staff.

I could see the faces of the guys standing here who had gone through all sorts of twists and turns since their debut or even since their debut.

A few years ago this guy would have avoided my eyes the guy who would have actively chatted only when the camera was rolling the individualistic guy who wouldn’t have bothered to come forward…

These guys who each had their own circumstances are now all together and having honest and calm conversations.

Into the heat.

Of course there are some guys who are consistent in a good way.

I patted Raebin Kim’s shoulder.

“…? brother?”

“Let’s do well today.”

“Of course!”

okay.

Sun Ah-hyun who happened to turn around listened intently to what the staff said and nodded with a bright face.

“They say filming will start soon…!”

“Without delay? “Good.”

There’s an audience out there a show host a band…

There are countless people watching us beyond the camera.

But now it’s just us here.

“Sleep and stand.”

Guys slightly drenched in sweat stood around. Heat came from our heads together.

Still it was okay.

“Tester shows something today.”

“I have to show you.”

“Let’s go.”

We went out onto the stage.

[Let’s welcome today’s guest. He is a KPOP star who recently showed off an incredible performance in the UK. The 7 hottest male bands in the world right now…]

The curtain was rising.

korea.

[Andy: It's been a really long time everyone! By the way… did you change your occupation?]

[Cha Yu-jin: Oh how did you know? I got a job at our CIA.]

[Hahahaha!]

"Ugh…"

One fan is melting while watching Testa's American talk show which has already aired a pre-release of real-time filming.

All fans were said to be more precious than wild ginseng when they first debuted.

This is Testa's lover.

Now a significant number of All fans have happily logged on to the Internet after watching the video.

There is a testa in it too.

-Our Mundaeng is all grown up. I guess he only grew his hair out on one side like this so he could show off the hologram tattoo on his neck. Ha (pictured)

"thank you…"

Fans scrolled with excitement as they saved the daily retouched shots posted by Park Moon-dae's first homemaker on Sadamyong's SNS account.

The world of Testa unfolds following your hands.

Pair choreography fancam GIF uploaded by two members' twin Homma Concept photo of entertainment appearance The scenes of each member's departure from past stages become a story and catch the eye.

And the reactions.

WeTube comment capture article ranking music source rating and performance reviews embroidered the timeline with numbers and descriptions.

Eventually I update my timeline by passing through the posts of personal fans engaged in keyboard battles and glancing at the uplifting posts of a civil servant and a former graduate student who are my social media friends.

The Sea of Testa.

At that time a new article suddenly appeared to a fan who was immersed in it.

-Kids please come quickly and check out the Billboard hot bag predictions and talk to me (link)

uh?

Out of urgency I clicked on the link and was taken to an article in a community.

[＜Billboard Hot 100 Prediction＞]

At the top of the table translated into Korean… a line colored in red was clearly visible.

[Bad feelings / testa ? 26th]

"…uh?"

-???

– Testa?

-Why is Testa here?

All kinds of people were expressing confusion joy and absurdity at the title song of Testa which suddenly made a predicted re-entry after the activity period was over.

It's even in the top 20!

Not on the album charts but on the music charts.

What is this?

"Uh huh?"

Before the joy started to build up a comment from the beginning of the episode caught the fan's eye.

A fighting spirit that no one can see.

-Remix hahaha it's a regular Billboard shortcut.

"…"

What does this mean?

The fan quickly searched the word on the Internet and soon found out what it meant.

'ah…!'

Remix trick.

-When a remix is released Billboard counts it as one song along with the original song. In other words taking advantage of the fact that if you release a lot of remixes you will get better results…

On Billboard remixed versions of a song were not counted as different songs one by one.

‘Since they are all bundled into one original song there is also an expedient method of deliberately releasing dozens of remixes… ’

In fact because the competition for grades is so fierce it seems more like a way for those with large fandoms to show their purchasing power rather than an expedient but labels are bound to be attached.

Those who wanted to put things down tended to use derogatory words.

Moreover there seem to have been quite a few cases where remixing was claimed to be correct even though it was not an expedient method under the circumstances in order to somehow ruin other singers.

‘…Could it be Testa now?’

Testa had now remixed the Glastonbury performance version and the secret agent version. These scores probably added up to a big deal…

-Once you say you’ve released a remix there are a lot of people who attack you.

It was a story that would instantly chill your heart.

The fan bit his lip and returned to the previous post page barely lowering his gaze to the comments to see the reaction.

however…

-What are you talking about? There are only two types.

-The remix shortcut warriors are here again

-Hey one is a performance sound and the other is a collaboration sound but if anyone sees it they will think that Mujiseong remixed it and put it on the back burner and sold it.

-That's bullshit with the remix that's still active.

"uh?"

Public opinion was very good.

Pan blinked and then realized why.

In the case of Testa's remix there was a clear justification.

The response to the performance was so good that they spontaneously released the song a theme park attraction collaboration song and even resumed their activities with this…

There was no logic that could defend against the statement 'The number of meaningless items was forcibly increased for the sake of grades.'

Rather it was correct to say 'The remix was released late but due to the characteristics of the US charts it was built up without suffering any loss.'

If so then…

-Tester has started activities now right? I think this will rise further

-The music show and American stage haven't been released yet… Maybe?

-The prediction account that has popped up right now is too fast. The tester may go up further depending on the performance in the next 2 or 3 days.

Isn't it possible to fall?

Well looking at the momentum I think the probability of it rising is much higher.

"…"

The fan left the post and returned to his social media timeline.

-Has anyone seen Billboard's hot bag prediction?

In the newly posted posts new excitement and anxious expectations were flowing like waves.

My heart was pounding.

What on earth happens from now on?

Chapter 633

Testa carried out activities filled with remix songs.

-KPOP male idols who are ranked among the most popular videos in America on every talk show that airs now

– Former quarterback Cha Yoo-jin's expression when explaining Testa's past concepts on an otaku concept American talk show haha (Nul D&D Show)

-A famous American celebrity who blushes when Park Moon-dae sings a line of a death metal song.

"no…"

All fans of Testa swallowed their saliva as they looked at the posts that covered their social media.

Even though this is not an account for fantasizing but an inheart for networking purposes every time I scrolled through the reels a related video unexpectedly popped up.

Most of the time the story was distorted and edited in a strange way for the sake of soup or comedy but it still didn't mean that something that didn't exist was created.

Moreover the number of views and comments…!

-It's usually hard for remixes to get this much response but it's amazing haha. Even though there are only two songs they're all good.

-Testa is a god

-Is this an angle?

-ㅠㅠWith a concept like that it would be hard not to get popular. I'm jealous of Americans. We only have 3 music companies going around for a week!

"Joe is good."

It was overwhelmingly good!

Even those who would originally have been repulsed by such an overtly sexy concept found it strangely agreeable thanks to two factors: 'going abroad well' and 'secret agent action scenes'.

– Haha the billboard is acceptable.

-It's old your boyfriends @sami_ha14

In addition Testa did not let go of the topic by occasionally performing a remix of the old school hip hop version he performed at Glastonbury.

Some smart Korean music shows combined the two remixes and even cross-edited them to create a WeTube video and broadcast it.

This was then exported to the United States and the short-edited In Heart Reels gained a lot of views.

– So… only Koreans were enjoying this fun thing?

-Usual me: K-pop? I'm not interested haha

Me now: BAd FeElInGs FoLlOw yOU TiL tHe ENd

The attached video which captures the reaction in English again is returned to Korea and Tiki Taka takes place at an incredibly fast pace.

In just three days social media users had a gut feeling.

This wasn't normal.

-What's going on with the momentum?

-Both Testa Remixes entered the top 10 on Spotify in the US everyone! (capture)

-Humans everywhere have a weakness for sexy spies…

-Of course the song is important but it's a bit noisy for me to listen to so maybe that's Americans' taste haha.

The tastes were right and the timing was right.

The barrier to entry in the United States has become lower than ever due to the combination of the familiarity of the image of Dreamland and the curiosity of the image of it being hot on the Internet.

Testa has reached the stage where interest attracts interest.

Moreover in the meantime the hip-hop version's 1.5x speed-up sound source became a trend on Tic Tac Tok as a challenge driving the topic again.

'…?? They're even fighting among themselves!'

That's right. Some Americans were even angry saying it was ruining the song.

-How dare you ruin this famous song by speeding it up? As expected Tic Tac Tok never betrays expectations lol

-Seriously this feels like a death sentence.

-Hey this is already a remix. Why are you remixing again as you please?

As they were fighting among themselves the number of Anglo-American people snooping around wondering what was going on increased.

All of this is hot topic. Testa does not suffer any loss in this controversy.

The success of the hip-hop version remix also added up to the overall performance. In the end the music rankings gained further momentum.

-Testa Spathiphy ranking is soaring… ⊏ ⊏ ⊏

'and.'

This wasn't something Testa had planned.

The attention and favor I got purely from performing well.

The abilities and options that Testa has accumulated so far have become plus alpha beyond plan increasing the success rate of this challenge. It became one wing and made the momentum go faster.

-How far are you going? Really haha.

After such a hectic few days.

"Whoa."

She can now check Testa's actual Billboard performance.

'Oh my heart is pounding.'

As I took a deep breath my fingers holding the mouse trembled slightly.

Testa's ranking.

The first prediction was 26th.

"Actually…"

Allfans typed the text with trembling hands.

Sweet.

[Bad feelings / testa ? 18th]

"…!!"

– Wow crazy 8 steps up

It was a tremendous result.

-This is my first time seeing a prediction go so wrong.

-Is it crazy to be in 18th place even though it's a re-entry lol?

-It's awesome really.

-Ohhhhhh

-Sales and streaming ratio is good

The fan left the comment without even being able to breathe.

-It's a new record. I'm looking forward to the next activity.

-We surpassed the black hole record wow!

Even people who weren't fans were excited and left comments.

Reverse driving is fun.

Moreover the uniqueness of the situation made people more interested making people curious about the ending like a sports or drama narrative.

Immediately reactions were coming from people around him!

-Hey congratulations haha @mangmang_15_q

When she saw that a friend from school who knew she was a fan had tagged her account she smiled with joy and sent a DM.

– Hahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha I love it

Enjoy yourselves haha Have a great week. How about a commemorative photo shoot? If you want to do the same thing I'll go with you haha.

That's next week haha I have to study.

ㄴㅠㅠOki-Oki But it's a pity. Normally it's better to go for something like this as a souvenir when the timing is right.

"…"

When I read my friend's reply I felt something strange.

When the timing is right?

"ah."

She read the reply again and realized.

"You seem to think your ranking will drop next week…"

There was an innocuous premise behind telling people not to miss this week when they will shine the brightest and have the best results.

However just because there is no malice doesn't mean you won't be offended.

The ranking could go up even higher!

'What is Testa? It is receiving a great response from the public… '

She began searching furiously again.

Billboard score reflects Billboard total maintenance ranking…

And I found out.

-K-pop is usually promoted by the fandom haha. Even if you get popular picks there is a barrier to entry for non-English songs that won't last long.

-If you're really lucky you can break through and last a long time but this is a matter of luck rather than skill so don't expect much.

"…"

-Then is there any way to maintain the ranking? ㅠㅠ

Well if fans keep buying a lot it will be maintained. What makes it easier is releasing remixes.

Remix.

So what I'm saying is that Testa may release more remixes and somehow move up the rankings…

'Then I think I'll get criticized.'

Isn't Testa currently thriving with 'awesome remix activities'?

'Even if it's a remix it's possible because there's a fandom' and any room for good comments has already been blocked by that image!

I had an ominous intuition that the moment I released a remix just for the sake of getting good grades my momentum could suddenly collapse.

She planned to support Testa no matter what choice he made but she was starting to feel like this might be a bit difficult.

“after…”

Pan sighed for a moment then suddenly shook his head.

“No this is a good thing!”

There is no need to worry about maintaining your ranking or anything!

‘Let’s see Testana!’

For a while don’t look into communities or other places like that too much and just live on fan accounts.

She decided to just enjoy the fun rice cakes Testa gave her.

This was her mental management method as she was an all-fan of Testa since her eventful days.

‘Okay… Well I have to watch the swimming show with Cheongwoo and Ahyeon again!’

But next week.

[Bad feelings / testa ? 9th]

“…?!”

The ranking actually went up.

And that’s quite… no very high!!

-Crazy single digits

-What is this?

-Can this be maintained through streaming?

“Wow how is this!?”

crazy!

She was about to say anything and scream with joy but soon came to her senses and scanned the comments. I really wanted to know why!

And soon we discover something like a clue.

-Radio air supports it… huh.

Radio Air?

I immediately searched and found related information. It was a WeTube video of a music critic.

[Billboard’s Airplay score.]

[This is a score given based on how much the song was played on American radio. In Korea if we were to consider something as similar as possible it would be the broadcast scores of music broadcasts.]

ah!

[American radios tend to play music with quite conservative tastes. As a result it is difficult to score points on radio with unfamiliar genre languages. […]

‘…! I see.’

There is also a reason why it is difficult to maintain a ranking on the charts for a long time. She nodded.

but.

-The Testa Air score is pretty good?

This time her idol was an exception.

The air score has been secured to some extent. How was that possible?

‘Why the exception… ’

After thinking for a moment she suddenly realized something.

“Limestone!!”

A major American company used Testa’s songs as OSTs for their rides!

‘Isn’t their Dreamland a very familiar amusement park there!?’

Moreover the theme park was a place of dreams and fantasy. Then non-English lyrics will be accepted as a concept and preconceptions and burdens will disappear.

It was an image effect.

As it is chosen by the public its popularity is reflected in its radio play.

“and.”

The fan felt a little excited.

Although I couldn’t completely deduce everything I was able to figure it out just from clues.

Testa chose its partner Limestone as a point of connection with the English-speaking public and created a sense of familiarity that could easily be played on the radio.

A similar trend was probably seen in the OST of the Limestone movie but now the song itself is several times more powerful than that and is starting to be visible.

-This is it hahaha

-The streaming score continues to rise. Since this is played on the radio the influx will likely continue.

-Music sales aren't slowing down either. I'm crazy. This is my first time seeing such a balance.

-Wow the Testa remix activity was really extreme but the results were absolutely standard… It's strange in a good way.

In this way Testa succeeded in turning around once more in the second week of remix activities.

Very impressive.

"and…"

Allfan swallowed his saliva and put down the mouse.

It was the introduction of a great summer season that will come to mind even when she looks back on her history.

* * *

"Hola!"

Cha Yu-jin walked cheerfully.

After briefly exchanging greetings with the hotelier I met in the hallway I arrived at the last room in the hallway with steady steps and entered my card key.

And when you open the door.

"Heeeey! "I'm here!"

Inside the suite viewing was already in full swing.

It was an English interview medium where Testa had appeared just before.

[Cha Yujin: Thank you for your love and support! We will continue to do what we want to do so please look forward to it.]

Cha Yu-jin grinned as she watched herself appear on the connected smart TV.

The team tradition of staying in the same room once a week when doing overseas schedules was still maintained well.

The members welcome us warmly.

“Eugene is late! Come quickly~”

“Sit down and watch TV… Um but what is that in your hand?”

“I brought this!”

Cha Yu-jin raised her hand. What he was holding heavily in one hand was a rather decent-looking bottle of champagne.

It was to celebrate the team’s activities which are showing an insane upward trend.

I can’t believe this method really works!

-It’s either Mo or Do but I think Mo is more likely to come out. Walk.

-I have a question. What is mo?

-…

Cha Yu-jin who eagerly went into the complicated rules of Yutnori and happily shouted OK to the remix activity grinned.

[I know something with bubbles is perfect for days like this.]

“Oh~”

He thought it was secretly funny that the team understood all his metaphorical words and clapped as they passed the champagne.

It was clear that my ears had been opened because I had done so many interviews in English this time.

-TeSTAR!

Explosive flashes and overflowing questions.

Even the number of questions became more diverse and the quality improved.

As a result even his dear artist friends now understand English quite well!

‘I’ll try to persuade you to use Spanish.’

He entered the living room with a whistle envisioning a beautiful future with his teammates.

Gossip news was being aired following their just-concluded interview video.

[Testa: The Billboard comeback story of an undefinable KPOP artist!]

hmm. That’s impressive.

Cha Yu-jin took the champagne and cheese cookies and shrugged.

[I never thought there would come a day in my life when I would be ranked on the Billboard Hot 100 on one hand.]

“Wasn’t your goal only to be a K-pop singer?”

“that’s right. Billboard is not my goal. But this feels good!”

“Of course～”

Champagne clashes. Cha Yu-jin chuckled and sat down on the floor with her back on the sofa.

okay. It felt good.

The leader's words did not dispel it but he regained some of his composure.

"VTIC seniors once topped the Billboard Hot 100 right?"

"yes."

It was mainly due to the overwhelming fandom that it achieved first place but in some ways it was an even more incredible record.

'It's a declaration that there are so many people who spend money.'

Park Moon-dae nodded thinking so and Cha Yu-jin who saw that also shrugged her shoulders.

'Well he must be thinking something as cool as it is cruel.'

It was correct.

"But we already won the one-week streaming record."

"omg."

"Really…?"

"yes."

Testa who was huddled together and putting his head down seemed excited for a moment when he saw the record but soon regained his professional composure.

"But don't expect too much. Let's not get dragged around. "You just do what you do."

"Of course."

Of course Plan B has also been completed in preparation for enlistment this year.

However… Cha Yu-jin thought.

‘I have a good feeling for some reason.’

And his instincts were always right.

“We’ll see how far we can go.”

Over the Pacific Ocean.

“hmm.”

Cheongryeo sat on the private plane and looked out the window.

The world above the clouds was blue and clear.

Of course it wasn’t worth looking at for long.

“Kong.”

[king!]

Across from him was a tablet PC that was connected to calls with his family.

Maybe he’s gotten used to video calls now but the dog on the screen recognizes him just by sight and hearing.

‘The sense of smell is probably the most important for canine cognition.’

Is it the nature of animals to develop different functions depending on the situation they are in?

Just like his rival.

“I’ll be back soon.”

[Wooow…]

The video call was soon cut off.

Cheongryeo rested her chin and stared.

‘How far will we go?’

The mercilessly hot summer was reaching its peak.

Chapter 634

On the rise. High-altitude march.

This is when a celebrity suddenly becomes popular. If I'm riding on that momentum there's no way I wouldn't know.

First of all contact starts pouring in.

[Spacer Kwon Hee-seung: Brother! My heart is racing after watching the news these days so I'm contacting you haha]

[T-holic Ha Jin-tae: Oh congratulations to our Testa friends hahaha this is how a Billboard singer appears]

[Golden Age Ha Il-jun: Congratulations on Testa I envy you you're so cool Moon Dae-ya]

[Miri Nae Park Min-ha: Thank you senior for being considerate of our schedules including entertainment during this comeback. I will cheer you on until the end of your activities. Thank you!]

Even if it is not specifically for the purpose of managing personal connections if an acquaintance in the industry is doing exceptionally well don't you get in touch at least out of curiosity?

It was exactly that kind of situation.

Testa's career which was already going well is showing a remarkable upward trend.

As if the overseas career that had been built up all at once exploded it covered the Internet and music sites for a few days.

"I think this is the first time since <Azusa> that I have contacted my relatives so frequently…"

“Me too.”

“Everyone… do you know who Sejin received a call from?”

“Who is it?”

“Don’t be surprised. “You mean the disbanded senior Jairop?”

“oh my god.”

“…That’s great in a different way.”

Anyway this is a situation where if you meet someone across the street you will get a call to congratulate or ask how you are doing.

The grades at this time where people at the company are talking about who received the most calls…

[Bad feelings / testa ? 4th place]

Just before the third week of remix activities Testa ranked in the top five.

“Gosh…”

“Let’s pray.”

Of course the number of places calling has also increased. And the more popular places you appear the more exposure your stage and songs will have and the more demand you can attract.

It’s quite fun to choose which remix to go with depending on the nature of the broadcast program.

“Well I guess I didn’t have to participate in that swimming show.”

“It’s summer for sexy concept activities. “Isn’t that why you tried wearing a rash guard?”

When Bae Se-jin remarks that it is not for him to wear the two actors look at each other and laugh.

And the voices of the staff.

“You have to go right now!”

“Achacha yes!”

We finally finished waiting and ran out to the backstage. Before that I didn’t forget to upload photos to SNS and take behind-the-scenes photos.

“Isn’t there a difference of opinion in foreign countries that we have so many piercings?”

“They say it’s cool because it’s like death metal.”

“…”

It seems like this is the season where you can really do anything.

I inspected today’s outfit by touching the replica piercings around my mouth and earlobes that were not actually pierced. It’s a bit sticky.

“Hyung you’re cool! “Don’t worry.”

“Are you coming?”

When waiting under the stage like this there is always a strange sense of tension excitement and anticipation floating around among the members.

Even if the way we feel nervous or how we deal with it has changed to become lighter this is still the same.

It may be because I still feel the same way.

Liu Chengwu looked back at me.

“It feels new but.”

A small smile spreads.

“The stage is fun.”

“…”

I tapped the guy on the shoulder.

“It seems so.”

“haha.”

Since we have committed something there is always a burden to live up to expectations.

However people who feel more fun than the burden will be able to continue working.

That’s how we’ve been spending 7 years.

“Wow look at Chungwoo’s shoulder. Eugene come here~ Let’s stick together.”

“My shoulders are bigger!”

At the end of the fighting voices a sign came out and we ran out of the open stage.

Cheers rang out.

This is the 3rd week of activity.

The first predictions for that week’s Billboard rankings were made.

* * *

The only sounds inside the hotel suite were the sounds of breathing and moving hands.

Wheeze.

Static white noise.

In it Ryu Cheong-woo moved his smartphone.

Even though the schedule was over the members who were sitting on the sofa without even removing their makeup froze in silence for a moment and waited for their mouths to open.

Next moment.

“No. 1.”

“…!”

“This is… second place.”

1st place. 2nd place. 1st place 1st place. 2nd place 2nd place…

In silence ranking predictions continue to emerge.

“…”

The gaze returned to me.

I grabbed the smartphone held out by Liu Chengwu and reviewed the score prediction method.

After another stinging silence… I opened my mouth.

“I’m not sure but yes. “There is ample possibility.”

“…then?”

I grinned.

“We can be first.”

“…!!”

“Yeaaaaah!”

“crazy!”

In an instant the room heated up with excitement and exclamations.

It was an incredible feat achieved after releasing a remix and turning things around. I also handed the smartphone back to Ryu Chengwu and smiled.

At that time Big Sejin suddenly sat down on the sofa.

“are you okay??”

“huh? huh.”

Big Sejin put his face on his hands.

“It’s just… I don’t believe it for some reason.”

“…”

“why.”

In response to my question the sound of someone muttering in a somewhat absent-minded manner resonates throughout the room.

“I… well I guess I didn’t expect it to turn out this well. No I should say I couldn’t do it…”

The room suddenly became quiet again.

Bae Se-jin answered as if throwing a question.

“…You said that every time you take a test everything will be fine. “You said you should ride the billboard too.”

“Ah that’s it… It’s the impression I felt at the time and it’s a fighting spirit~ It’s exactly what I needed to do! “Something like that.”

Keun Se-jin laughed as if he had lost his breath then cleared his throat and adjusted his tone.

“It’s just… I didn’t want anything like this in my life. “It’s like winning the grand prize in Korea and taking first place abroad…”

“…”

“Also we just got caught up in something strange and ended up living a different life right? So if you look at it objectively…”

“If you look at it objectively?”

After a moment of silence.

“Well what about Sejin’s stardom as an idol? haha.”

He glossed it over and passed it off as a joke but I knew what he was talking about.

‘…He didn’t think his level was this good.’

That guy who always wanted to become an idol had a cruelly cold standard when it came to reality despite his dreams.

So there is a high probability that you made your own judgment.

‘Oh I guess I’m the kind of person who can achieve this level’… something like that.

Still it's hard to believe that you can push yourself to the limit without giving up.

And the guy who had seen incredible results was now speaking quietly and with a slightly trembling voice.

"Thank you so much our members. "Thank you for testing it for a long time."

-We'll be fine like this right?

7th year.

Those things he said from the beginning of his debut.

When I think back on the words of the guy who encouraged team activities they felt particularly different from my usual jokes.

And it seems I wasn't the only one who noticed that.

"Oh no! Sejin did a good job…!"

"…!"

"you're right!"

I also added one thing.

"Don't make me repeat the obvious again."

"…"

Big Sejin's mouth smiled thinly. His face was still covered with both hands.

He was a strange and foolish guy.

The moment you think like that.

“But… I think I understand your gratitude. “Me too… because it’s similar.”

Another idiot came out again.

I turned my head.

Sun Ah-hyun who made eye contact spoke softly while blushing.

“I just wanted to keep dancing rather than wanting to become a singer.”

Sun Ah-hyun who chose a place to escape instead of the dance industry for various reasons slowly spoke.

“I thought it was a position I deserved because I was inferior to the members… Of course I still think the group is so good that it is too much for me…!”

“That would be worse for me. “I wanted to act not on stage.”

Bae Se-jin who answered without hesitation cleared his throat and glanced down.

“Besides… I was ridiculously less skilled than you all.”

“Hey it wasn’t that bad.”

“Not at all now.”

“No it’s still like that.”

The guy added in a firm tone.

“But I’m not ashamed of myself anymore.”

This time he didn’t respond with a teasing exclamation. Instead a faint smile spread among the members.

Liu Chengwu also smiled and opened his mouth.

“This is my second challenge so it’s not a dream I’ve had since I was young. Um… yeah. “If you think about it that way I never thought I would come this far.”

Cha Yu-jin spoke with clear eyes.

“I knew.”

“hey.”

How clumsy?

As the members chuckled at Eugene Ignacio Cha’s remark that he had no dream of being on the billboard until just last week the guy naturally grumbled.

“It means I knew our team would do well! It’s not necessarily about the billboard. [I just believed that we would do well in any field.]”

Okay I got it.

[I don’t trust frames made by someone else.]

frame.

Testa is strong only in Korea.

Throughout our activities since our debut we have always heard that overseas are weaker than domestic.

The idea that the gap will never be bridged has already become the default among the public and fans.

And the thing that turns it around is… Okay there’s more to it than just grades.

“Success in the English-speaking world is not more valuable than performance elsewhere but it is a great joy to have achieved success in the huge music market.”

Raebin Kim added in a slightly tearful voice.

“Despite the many ups and downs… I would like to take this opportunity to thank you once again for believing in and trusting my producing…”

“Ravin’s acceptance speech was perfect?”

“huh. “It feels like my survival debut.”

Even though they spoke in a teasing way the members held hands with Raebin Kim or looked at him and smiled.

I also raised one arm.

“It was a lot of hard work.”

Turn and turn. standing here

And the gaze returns to the one person who did not express his feelings.

“…”

Me.

I slowly looked around at them and remembered. my past.

“I originally filmed kids like you performing on stage.”

“…”

“It’s better to be in between… thank you.”

“…!”

The day will come when I will not grit my teeth to succeed by somehow changing the shitty surroundings but rather be grateful for my surroundings.

Well… if you had told me this back in college I would have told you to stop fucking around.

'You really don't know life.'

"Then if you could go back in time and choose just one person among us who would it be?"

"I must have filmed everything."

Because the unit price would have been okay.

I was a datapal not a homma.

But before I could say anything I was met with strong criticism telling me not to avoid the question.

"Choose just one!"

These guys.

But it soon turns into laughter.

"It's all a joke. "Um just… we're really grateful bro."

"…"

"Let's become idols together."

I nodded quietly.

"We all thank each other!"

"That's good."

The guys lined up like penguins and started patting each other on the back.

Since this was happening in the middle of a hotel room not on a broadcast or backstage there were some guys who were sniffling strangely even though it couldn't be that funny.

"Ah are we already too emotional? "What if I don't win first place like this?"

"doesn't care. "No matter what the numbers are it doesn't change the fact that we did well."

"…That's right."

They still gather together like penguins and talk about the current situation.

"What will the trend be like in the future?"

"It continues to rise."

Nowadays it is difficult to find stories like 'remixes are so bad' anywhere.

Not only did both remixes receive meaningful responses but the song itself became so famous that factions were divided and fought over which one they preferred.

"Even our original songs have rebounded a lot."

"Really? "It's amazing!"

As a song rises in ranking and becomes more famous more people listen to it and more confusion arises.

As a result thanks to people trying to choose a third option with the tree frog symbol the number of people listening to the original song has increased.

“Well this might be a difficult method to use again later.”

“Of course.”

As Liu Chengwu said it is a special situation that is very difficult to schematize.

“First of all the song must be good and all three versions must be well-known. “At the same time you shouldn’t get bored or lose interest because you’re exposed too much to the same song.”

“In the end it wouldn’t be possible without Ravin.”

“…?”

“yes.”

“…??”

Raebin Kim glances back at his teammates who are patting his head. Funny guy.

“And the College of Arts did a good job timing its activities.”

“That was decided after discussion.”

I just tried to extract the maximum value that could be achieved under two conditions: the remix summation method and the collaboration with Limestone.

However after Kim Rae-bin I only received countless showers of hands on my shoulders and head.

“I heard you did well.”

“Anyway be uncharacteristically humble Mundaemundae.”

…I’ll bear with you this time.

“Let’s work without regrets. Don’t be too obsessed with the numbers themselves. But I’m proud.”

“We also do a lot of activities that our fans will enjoy.”

“of course!”

That day we laid out our blankets together in the hotel’s living room and slept as if we were sleeping together.

“It reminds me of Azusa.”

“huh.”

Is it because the story of that time came out while making fun of Kim Rae-bin?

The night before the finals.

A few years ago when we fell asleep together in the dormitory without being sure who would debut flashed through my mind.

I heard a quiet voice from the seat next to me.

“Mundaemun University. “I said that regardless of the outcome…”

“…”

“Still I hope the results are good.”

I only answered with my mouth.

okay.

That summer.

Testa ranked first on the Billboard Hot 100.

Chapter 635

Summer was hot.

-No. 1 in testa

-and

-Look at the rankings now.

-No. 1 crazy hot bag

-200 degrees It must have turned while traveling in reverse.

The news of #1 spread like wildfire.

As the additional remix activities entered their 4th week Testa naturally reduced the number of broadcasts but the name value of the places where they appeared improved endlessly.

Moreover Testa and their remix songs were mentioned here and there even though they did not appear on the show.

-Don't secret agents need cool cars? Car companies that suddenly started doing business through SNS haha (this is a story about Testa)

– These days in a blindfolded way a Testa costume comes out for every viral story.

-A piercing company came up with the same in-ear concept and then posted an apology lol.

Testa itself became a viral tool.

The Internet was more excited than they were about this situation which did not just gain attention but made them a topic themselves.

To put it bluntly it was sexual harassment.

I can't believe it came in first place with scores that were second to none in all categories that evaluate music sales streaming radio air and more!

-A song has suddenly become a meme before but isn't this the first time something like this has happened?

-Standard performance like that of a local singer;;

-All English articles are very favorable.

Amidst all the reactions soaring rankings and recognition…

"There are no weaknesses."

Ryu Seo-jin the twin home of Park Moon-dae and Lee Se-jin definitely admitted it.

Testa eventually broke through his prime.

The performance is good both overseas and domestically and as if meeting these heavenly conditions wasn't enough it also achieved a balance between fandom and popularity.

"The activity itself went well…"

The song the stage and even the singer.

All three elements matched. It was as if I had climbed through the final ceiling of a grade that seemed like there was no room to climb further.

A performance that deviates from the norm like this is bound to stand out and attract attention even if you are not interested in it.

Even more so for those who have been watching from the beginning.

-It will be difficult to film entertainment shows together now.

I remembered what my older sister said.

That has been the common sentiment of those who previously worked with Testa.

Even though he says he regrets it he subtly shows off his connections.

He also seemed a bit proud of his pioneering plan that turned out to be a huge hit in investment.

and…

-Well they were kids who could do anything.

A strange feeling of support.

Twin Homma twisted the corner of his mouth.

‘Before debut there were members who tried to kill me with evil stories.’

But funny enough she also understood that psychology to some extent.

Twin Homma saw a video of Testa playing before her eyes.

Testa still regularly uploads behind-the-scenes and personal videos to his channel and social media.

[ha ha ha!]

[I can’t draw!]

A picture drawn with a chocolate pen was seen on the shaky screen as if it had been taken by an individual member with a smartphone.

Animals symbolizing Testa are drawn with great care on the border of the whipped cream cake.

[Wow we did a good job decorating this commemorative cake.]

[that's right. The cake made by Moon Dae-hyung is delicious but the picture is strange.]

[Eujin is brave. That's what I said to the snack ticket holder…]

[(!!!!!)]

[Noooo!! cancellation! Cancel! Moon Dae is good at drawing!]

[This is my first time seeing Cha Yu-jin this desperate.]

[ha ha ha!]

While everyday jokes and laughter are exchanged large hands are busy writing letters with small chocolate pens.

The letters are completed on top of the whipped cream.

The phrase is… 'I love you again this year'.

[Ta-da!]

[Ah ah don't throw it in my face! Please protect our Testa Animals!]

[Be careful!]

The video was filmed on June 18th.

This was a video of them giggling and celebrating their debut date in a small way this year.

Ryu Cheong-woo who was on hiatus at the time was also occasionally caught on screen sitting quietly in the corner with a smile. It was clear that he had timed it well by going to Ryu Cheng-wu.

[Shall we all make a wish together?]

[Good!]

It's consistent.

However the comments on this video were filled with comments in foreign languages more than any other time during the activity.

This was a characteristic of recently uploaded Testa content.

"…"

Twin Homma thought.

To be honest if you want to see it often in Korea it's not a situation you'd particularly welcome.

'I don't get to see you often.'

Not only has the value of the name increased overseas but its status has also changed.

It was obvious that if it became popular to this extent it would stop appearing on most programs in order to reduce image consumption and increase its price.

Even if they want to the company will somehow persuade them to do so.

'The annual plan has definitely changed.'

It may be good for them but in the long run isn't it a disappointing direction for domestic fans?

Anyway even before Testa was a first-team team that no one could refute in Korea and they were guys who would try to do something among themselves even after serving in the military.

‘I wouldn’t have gotten into trouble just because of my grades… ’

In that case it would have been better for existing fans if this album had not been released at the same time as VTIC for no reason but had continued as is while maintaining the reputation of being ‘like the first team’…

[Um… wish.]

On the screen Liu Chengwu quietly looks at the cake and speaks.

[It’s a big performance soon. I hope everyone stays safe and can put on as good a performance as they want.]

“…”

[Let’s do whatever we want without regrets.]

Don’t you already know the result of that wish?

I knew that I had finally reached the conclusion that I had achieved with the consistent sincerity effort and abilities I had accumulated so far.

Testa’s daily life in that state was just… there was something that made people feel overwhelmed.

[Happy Birthday Testa!]

Laughter and cake were passed around along with pollen firecrackers.

[Wow!]

[Everything jumped out!]

[Oh if this (cream) gets on your face you have to wipe it thoroughly.]

[Sigh… I bite you tightly.]

[sigh]

[Hahahaha!]

Still looking at the same testa as always.

If you look at the video of Lee Se-jin reacting among himself in real time after finally hearing the news of #1 on the Billboard.

-thank you. Thank you so much…

That scene just makes me feel good.

Even yourself.

'It's really funny.'

Twin Homma snorted and pressed his forehead.

Whether or not other people's lives are going well beyond the screen it has such an impact on a person's mood. This is why idol fandom seemed so irrational and funny.

And yet he has no intention of quitting.

"Let's make corrections."

[2X0723 Stage #Lee Se-jin #Park Moon-dae]

Twin Homma divided the pre-purchased fancam data into neat and attractive cuts and uploaded the two people he was rooting for.

It was a time when my heart which had been feeling unnecessarily pounding as I worked repeatedly gradually calmed down.

One quote caught my eye.

Tiring.

-The person who always takes good pictures of the door… (crying emoticon)

That was the private account of Named Homma's Sadam Yong who had been taking pictures of Park Moon-dae who had been coming across the timeline frequently since his debut.

Originally even though we were in the same home the tone was so different that I couldn't understand it so I didn't like him at all.

"…"

She silently clicked 'Like' on the post using her chat account.

It felt like it would be okay for now.

'It's just timing.'

Of course as many new foreigners have joined the fandom new incidents and accidents will surely occur causing stomachache and irritation.

But until then she decided to enjoy this atmosphere of harmony and success.

It is the time of fruit.

She leisurely scrolled through social media looking at the atmosphere of the domestic fandom that had surprisingly grown closer to each other and the old fans kindly providing information to new overseas fans.

Then an unexpected thought occurred to me so I tried contacting my junior.

To Data Pal who was famous for taking good pictures.

-Ryu Geon-woo are you taking a tester these days too? If there are any leftovers from what I took before please let me know.

-I will give you the best price.

He was a guy who had always had an extraordinary eye for idols so it wasn't strange that he had put it down after seeing the popularity of idols.

And even though the KakaoTalk message I sent was clearly read the reply came only after some time had passed.

-sorry. I've been busy lately so I haven't been able to take many pictures.

"lie."

On my way home from work I clearly saw him wearing a suit and carrying a bag to the awards ceremony.

But before I could find out who typed more and how much more the next message arrived.

-Testa is still rooting for you.

"…"

I never thought I would see this bloodless tearless Danga ghost saying that he supports an idol.

'I wonder if time has passed or if this is the time for Testa to really do something.'

…Or maybe you've misunderstood this junior since college.

Anyway she responded too.

-okay. how are you.

It was a very strange season.

Feeling relieved she moved the mouse and looked at SNS again.

-I love Testa. Please give me lots of photos. (Heart emoticon)

Clumsy Korean letters.

‘Inflow of foreigners… ’

I would like to directly quantify this and check it…

‘for a moment.’

She stopped using social media when a thought suddenly occurred to her.

And instead I went to a site that counted album sales.

The additional album sales during this period were the clearest indicator of a significant influx of light fans just before becoming core.

‘In the age of streaming buying an album shows the possibility of spending money.’

So if you look at Testa’s sales figures now…

[Sales: 79627]

“…!”

Amazing numbers were recorded.

Almost 80000 copies. It is close to the daily figure for the initial release date of most groups.

Since the initial screening was already over it seemed like not many people were paying attention but…

‘no way.’

Twin Homma’s hands quickly turned the screen using the shortcut keys on the keyboard.

Then the data of the two groups whose release times differed by a few days were downloaded into Excel a date correction value was applied and the data were sorted.

The first place I saw was Chodong.

This is the first week since release.

[VTIC | Non-Cryptid (regular) | 2931713]

[TeSTAR | Badtime (regular) | 2083375]

It was a damn difference.

‘Fuck you.’

Even when I watched it again I cursed.

I didn’t know it at the time but it was revealed that during Testa’s initial launch two or three overseas group purchases were delayed due to delivery and computer problems resulting in losses.

It was too late to raise suspicions because they were focused on selling more than 2 million copies.

‘Then I wondered what to do.’

The initial release has already ended and including that the difference was close to 700000 copies.

Twin Homma wiggled his eyebrows and turned the pages.

Swish.

After the difference of a few hundred thousand copies in the initial release the sales volume of the two each day seemed similar but in fact VTIC was slightly superior.

But at some point Testa's sales began to rise.

[VTIC | 12721]

[TeSTAR | 20274]

It was when Testa's Glastonbury performance broke out.

'From here meaningful inflow began to emerge… '

Still it wasn't a huge difference. It's just an indirect reflection of topicality.

'There was some reaction when the attraction came out.'

However in July Testa's momentum which had been going up and down like that suddenly started to soar.

It's just as we enter summer.

[TeSTAR | 45261]

[TeSTAR | 81563]

[TeSTAR | 50171]

[TeSTAR | 62872]

After starting remix activities Testa's album sales began to rise again.

'The graph went right through.'

Because remix songs and concept photos were continuously updated on the existing album USB people who were attracted to the remix concept ended up buying the existing album…

‘They even sold it as a set with coordinating goods so you could decorate the USB with the remix concept.’

Even existing fans who had money in their bank accounts bought one or two more tickets purely out of impulse.

But no one cared about album sales. Because the initial period is over anyway. Because it’s meaningless.

But now.

If you visually check the accumulated album sales…

[TeSTAR | Badtime (regular) | 3428611]

[VTIC | Non-Cryptid (regular) | 3387942]

“…”

The results were reversed.

Twin Homma quietly put down the mouse with trembling hands.

A long season of simultaneous releases.

-The album was taken by VTIC and the sound source was taken by Testa.

Contrary to the thoughts of those who came to that conclusion in just 15 days Testa who changed the field by racing fiercely throughout the long summer refuted that statement.

Testa won in the end.

Chapter 636

Now everyone knows.

July this year could easily be called Testa Month.

Amazing global music performance.

In addition when Testa's crazy total album sales became known as the album sales continued to skyrocket there was a stir as people asked 'How much global inflow is there?'

Of course it's not like there were things that domestic fans would be disappointed with but…

-The kids speak English so well…

□Kkkk

Even though I thought of myself as having no conscience I couldn't help it.

For the past few years since their debut Testa has almost always been active mainly in Korea so they have already gotten used to it.

The remix music show activity that was only given for one week has already disappeared like cotton candy washed in water by a raccoon…

-You made us like this Testa take responsibility.

Even though he was complaining happily everyone actually knew. It would be difficult to film new content right away during such a busy time.

No coming to Korea itself will be difficult.

'If I miss the schedule a little more and take a break I'll be able to film Jacon anywhere.'

However there was a belief that there would be a plan and that things would not go haywire so domestic fans were patient and enjoying this period in their own way.

But mid-August.

[Testa Arrival Airport Live]

-Eh

Suddenly a live preview appeared in the media.

This live preview which initially started with one media outlet spread rapidly and eventually began to be featured on every entertainment news channel.

-Testa will be arriving tomorrow morning?

-crazy

-Why are you entering the country?

-I guess this is a public schedule as if it was announced to reporters.

-Do you think they didn't announce it early because they were afraid there would be too many people?

Still some fans had already headed to the airport.

And since the number of fans was already unusual the crowds were expected even if only a few of them showed up.

-Wow this place is already busy.

At the early morning weekday airport which was quiet due to the commotion people began to line up beyond the fence forming an unseasonably long line.

Thanks to this when the live show was turned on the crowd was visible before the tester.

-It seems like even Muggles went there but stopped when they heard a celebrity was coming.

-Wow but a lot of people went in a short period of time in the early morning.

-I'm worried because I think a lot of people went to Cheoksuni or Sasaeng Homma…

People watching the live waited for Testa to appear even though they were whispering with some concerns.

Due to the change in status over the past few weeks a strange sense of curiosity anticipation and longing had dominated the atmosphere.

-You guys are finally coming to Korea.

-I missed you.

Finally after about 20 minutes.

First shouts and exclamations began to be heard on the screen.

-omg

-Oh it’s here.

-I guess he’s coming in.

_ ㄷㄱㄷㄱㄷㄱ

At the open gate a tall man wearing a mask came out through the door carrying a suitcase like a trinket.

It was Ryu Cheng-wu wearing light jeans.

-Ouch

-Ah is your form crazy?

-How do you take care of your body?

Starting with him the members passed through the gate one by one and began entering the airport.

-It’s Ahyeon.

-In this mid-summer knitwear is definitely Sun Ah-hyun haha.

-Oh I really like the dyed hair.

-Mundae ㅠㅠㅠㅠI love you Mundae really.

-Lee Se-jin’s black training suit looks really good so I’m a little embarrassed.

Most of them were cotton or jeans with a good fit and a basic t-shirt but the fun was that each member had a different look depending on their characteristics.

And the most surprising thing is that viewers recognize each personality.

-Jonjal

-Wow everyone look at your height.

– Only Bae Se-jin is dum-dum haha. He goes back and forth filming a movie so he's used to returning home.

-Kim Rae-bin who never loses Gao and fashion anytime anywhere. Remember him. He is a real idol.

Anyway the sight of Testa standing side by side in front of the fence for a moment gave me a strange feeling.

It's been a while since I saw 'Testa wearing comfortable civilian clothes in Korea.'

-Nice to meet you guys.

A smiling face was faintly reflected above and below the outline of the mask.

The members greeted reporters a few times and even spent some time waving to fans.

But after just a few seconds it started to move busily again.

-run

Hmmkkk

-ㅠㅠIt's a shame.

Even though people were clamoring that they wanted to watch it a little longer they were convinced that there was nothing they could do because of safety issues.

Still I thought it was a little cute.

Even though they entered the country cautiously the sight of them waving to fans was still friendly and pleasant.

-I guess the kids were excited and told the media that they were coming for the first time in a while right? Haha.

* * *

"no…"

"We're in big trouble."

I tried to sneak in but there were more reporters than ever at the airport.

-here! here!

– Mr. Cheongwoo! Mr. Ryu Cheong-woo!!

-Park Moon-dae!

"Let's go carefully."

"huh."

The airport was filled to the brim with shutter sounds and flash eye-contact photos with members calling out their names at the top of their lungs.

'When we arrived at the accommodation we were going to turn on the live broadcast by ourselves.'

My words are all leaked.

If the company had not taken an emergency response after receiving reports of the airport situation on the plane it would have been a big problem.

If we weren't careful the article would have been published as "Is the airport photo safety issue okay?" rather than "Testa's return to Korea."

"wow."

After we got out and got into the car nodding our heads like crazy several of the members even wiped off their cold sweat.

"No I didn't even announce it…"

"I'm curious how you found out the information."

Who would it be? A company employee who spoke out must have solved it.

'It's a situation that makes sense.'

Thanks to us the work had doubled or tripled and there was no way the crackdown could have been done properly while working overtime.

Thanks to this the company seems to be busy recruiting new employees.

'It looks like he's making enough money for that… '

It has been a long time since I recovered the investment I made in the company.

'I'm going to have to put that back in the car.'

Shouldn't it be time to leave room for capital to move around?

I thought in a stream of consciousness then wiped my forehead and looked outside. The data seller who was trying to get the photos from the window was being stopped by the security guard.

‘I don’t know how to give up.’

Thanks to that the car just started.

“oh my.”

“Oh there are fans over there too.”

Keun Se-jin who was disappointed that he could not open the window and greet his fans gathered the members together to take a few selfies and even uploaded them to social media.

After that everyone sat down on the car seats.

“Hey~ It’s been a while since I was in Korea.”

“really.”

It was a proper golden return.

“We have to eat kimchi pizza sweet and sour pork.”

“That’s amazing Eugene.”

“You too are Korean.”

The faces of the guys who were bickering about where they came up with such a menu selection showed joy that went beyond fatigue.

At this moment Testa’s name is currently ranked #1 on the Billboard Hot 100 chart. It was a feat achieved for two weeks in a row.

It is already predicted that he will definitely be in the top 5 next week.

“Still I like the house.”

“huh.”

The members seemed to actually feel it as they returned to their dorm after a long time.

The realization that we are now doing something ridiculous.

“…What should I say when I was working at a hotel… It felt like I was dreaming or traveling.”

“Does it feel a bit unusual?”

“…! “That’s right!”

However even when I returned to my daily life my achievements this time did not disappear.

It seemed like he really realized that.

“and.”

After unpacking their belongings in their own rooms the guys gathered around looked at each other in silence and then grinned.

“Actually… I thought it would be a bit burdensome and scary once it felt real.”

“I thought?”

“…It’s actually more daunting~?”

“Ohhhh!”

The members laughed and gave high fives.

I’d be lying if I said I didn’t feel pressured by the thought ‘Is this going well?' but I think we all have the same mindset of trying to enjoy the situation.

It was a good attitude.

"The broadcast… ah it's on now!"

"Luvuer! We're in Korea! Here's the accommodation!"

"Hi!"

And the guys who had turned on the live broadcast waved their hands wildly and proceeded with their own broadcast and I joined them.

"I guess I'll have to cut my hair soon right?… yes? "You want me to have long hair?"

"Uh huh huh!"

"I will accept your vote."

It was a time of relaxation for the first time in a long time.

It's not that I was particularly nervous because I was overseas but it felt a bit heavy to have to keep appealing to people who don't know us well.

Of course I didn't come to Korea just to hang out and make up my mind.

'It's time to get ready.'

After the live ended after endless goodbyes Big Sejin grinned.

"Ah I need to focus on my original intention right?"

"Of course."

“You have to practice where you used to be to become more efficient.”

New tour.

This was a return trip to prepare for the start of this year’s concert.

“And we need to properly promote our concert in Korea.”

I also caught a domestic entertainment show for the golden return.

“What is this Testa!”

“In this shabby place the ongoing legend Globot Hotstar Space Star!?”

Usually it is considered a national rule that only one or two members appear in entertainment shows with a format but if the show goes outside the standard anything is possible.

“I’m so glad to see you!”

“I know. We are really happy to meet you too.”

The entertainers all wearing glasses and white gowns sat on a set decorated in the shape of a secret base or laboratory and welcomed us enthusiastically.

“We researchers have all been waiting for the moment!”

“Thank you.”

The title of this entertainment show is <Analysis Results Revealed>.

What kind of entertainment show is this weird mad scientist Comte?

“Today’s experimental data… Ta-da! Testa’s biography!”

The huge scroll pole that was hanging on the huge experimental record board behind the filming set was spread out like a genealogy tree.

Then image data organized like a map appeared.

Stage costume music video event…

It's us.

"We're going to see how Testa has been living so far!"

That's right.

It is a place that pretends to scientifically analyze the past activities of the people who appeared on the show and tells you what kind of person they are like the results of a psychological test.

"The DNA we extracted from you in advance… is an abbreviation for 'I'll tell you everything' right? "Anyway it's the DNA map!"

The author here is really good at adding nonsense.

Anyway the target of this analysis is Testa and its members.

"Let's get started!"

"Oh!"

It's a bit of a strange method but in fact the purpose of what it's trying to say may not be much different from other entertainment shows.

Promote the cast's latest career and create something to talk about.

"The best singer on Billboard right now! "Wow my hands are shaking so much even when I say that."

"Can you tell us a little about your activities? Please… I'm so curious."

“Ah then shall we talk about this first?”

“I love you Testa!”

However the characteristic of this entertainment show was that at first they made a fuss about the current situation and said ‘They are so popular’ and then gradually went back to the past like salmon.

Like now after talking a lot about the billboard.

“Now then let’s go back on the map. “What is the test before this billboard?”

“Wow there are so many?”

It was from then on.

Testa’s stories pour out one by one as if they were falling backwards.

A VR concert that I missed for a day.

Kim Rae-bin’s unique rabbit concept intro song from the contest program that beat the fan song Eter which suddenly became popular as a New Year’s song…

Water Bomb Stage performed by Steer Cha Yu-jin

“Ah water bomb!”

“Was this an early model for this sexy concept?”

“Haha maybe so.”

As you rewind countless stories emerge.

Limestone SF movie’s OST <Black Hole> <Promise> which had an underwater stage with a mermaid concept and <Travel> a two-part series with a traditional concept that combines two conflicting titles…

Traffic accident and death.

“The collaboration with that mobile game also became a hot topic!”

“Ah ＜Section 127＞! I liked that game. “The sniper hit Cheong-woo right?”

“Haha right. thank you.”

The stories pouring in are endless. It was hard to believe how much we had accomplished in these few years.

The mouth that answers does not rest and the hands do not rest either.

“Now then the starting point of this map is…”

So last.

“here!”

The very end of the Testa map.

A classroom with a mysterious sunset-colored image located at the bottom.

＜Magical Boy＞

Testa’s debut song.

“Do you remember?”

“Of course I remember.”

I quietly looked up at the image.

Until it was a double title.

I also remembered that we did everything we could to arrange those two songs properly and get them through.

‘I even made a PPT.’

In fact these guys even stayed up all night to help me with a task that I could have done on my own.

“I thought I was going to die.”

“ha ha ha!”

When I saw entertainers laughing I just laughed too.

I see.

‘Our map starts from here.’

Now the story of <Idol Inc.> is no longer mandatory.

Even the ridiculously popular audition program could be omitted in favor of the selection and focus story flow.

But that’s okay… Testa seems to have had an impressive career.

When I came up there talking about it all sorts of thoughts came to mind.

I saw the activity history of Testa which was connected like a constellation.

There were countless.

“Everyone really worked hard.”

“…huh.”

That was certain.

“And it worked out as well as I worked hard!”

That too was certain.

* * *

After filming ended like that.

I read the text on my smartphone with more thoughts than expected.

A text message arrived about an hour ago.

[congratulation.]

“…”

[I’m Korean too so let’s at least see your face.]

I replied.

[okay]

The time for settlement has come.

Chapter 637

From some point on every time I see Cheongnyeo 1 + 1 comes with this.

“king!”

I saw a dog running towards me tail wagging almost flying off its butt.

I somehow became more friendly with him because I looked into him a few times while he was in the military.

“Is it time for a walk?”

“Of course.”

This is not the cafe I usually meet every time I see this guy.

A walking path in an apartment complex that is often foggy at dawn due to geographical conditions.

This was Testa’s lodgings before he moved to another company. It is still the location where VTIC’s current accommodations are located.

‘Did you say that we only camp together during the activity period?’

It is a space used only by residents but it is early morning so there are no people and it is difficult to see due to the fog.

This means that the reason I met Cheongryeo here wasn’t just because we were both extremely busy and it was only early morning.

Cheongryeo dressed in black and sitting on a bench said.

“I think it would be better to completely eliminate the possibility of eyewitness accounts like ‘we met on purpose’ coming out at this time.”

That is correct.

That’s correct.

The group released albums at the same time and it was just before they gritted their teeth and became sexually abusive.

‘We are doing well as friends haha. There is absolutely no need to make fans feel like ‘you are the only ones fighting.’

‘Well just thinking about it makes me pull my hair out.’

And it was convenient that we knew that and didn’t have to explain it to each other.

“Wow…”

The lump of fur that was loitering in front of my lap looked at me and its guardian alternately as if asking if it could walk anymore then sat down on the floor as if it had given up.

There was a short silence followed by the sound of the dog panting.

“…”

Now that I think about it I don’t think there’s really anything to say about seeing the face.

Well it’s not awkward to think that there is something to settle things after the work is over since they released an album in such a way that they openly shoved their fists in each other’s faces…

‘I didn’t really make a bet.’

Given the circumstances I won so there was no need to laugh in my face and ask if I would accept it… There was no need to do that.

‘I am a child.’

I could have said something like ‘Why the fuck did you throw a glove on my face?’ but I just patted the dog and sat back on the bench.

That’s okay for the guy who won.

Testa clearly won.

“Junior. “It wouldn’t be strange to be very happy.”

“well.”

However if you ask whether the other person is completely annoyed that is a very ambiguous question.

“Anyway it was with the remix that our song began to achieve success in the U.S. so the timing of our activities was a bit different from yours.”

Testa’s remix activities began around the time VTIC’s comeback activities ended.

It means that the timing was slowly misaligned.

Flames burn only when firewood is added consistently and the same goes for firepower.

‘After about a month of worrying and the MT variety show was over Aggro was no longer appealing as a simultaneous release.’

The final straw was for both of them to appear at Glastonbury.

Doesn’t modern society get tired of comparing people for months on end and talking about who won and who lost?

Besides we should have done well.

I heard that even though it is occasionally talked about on the Internet

it is just summarized along the lines of 'This year it's Testa Remix' without causing any controversy.

It would be correct to say that it is a victory in the true sense of the word. but…

"You got everything you got."

After being discharged from the military the refreshing fandom gathered together became a hot topic in Korea.

There has been quite a bit of new influx for VTIC so if they make a good next album the momentum will be maintained.

They must have known that they would lose out to us in terms of music anyway so the unexpected loss from a head-to-head match was… I guess it was just the popularity of Glastonbury.

'I actually got the honor of being the headliner.'

So overall speaking.

I thought this real-time match would be a zero-sum game where the winner gets everything but when I actually played it it turned out to be close to a win-win for both teams.

…Suddenly I remembered what Cheongryeo said a few months ago while filming an MT entertainment show.

-This is a moment that will never come again so we need to cultivate it and use it well maintaining balance with care.

"Have you seen this far?"

"well."

Cheongnyeo just turned her eyes and looked at him. The corners of the mouth under the black hat slightly turned up.

“I didn’t think there was a chance I would lose… let’s just say it.”

“…”

I chuckled.

Well should I say thank you for not looking down on me?

I turned my attention to the dog. The dog rubbed its face on someone’s ankle. It tickles.

“I ate well thanks to the plate you prepared.”

“…”

“How do you feel?”

The guy clenched his chin.

“Are you serious?”

“sure.”

I shook my head and he laughed.

‘There’s nothing we can do.’

He’s basically like that.

The atmosphere calmed down. As if sensing the change in attitude the dog got up and started playing with its front paws alone. There’s going to be a hole in my pants.

“He appeared in the MT variety cookie video.”

“They said they really wanted to use Kongi. “There was also a dog that appeared in a variety show in your group.”

“Munggeada.”

“hmm?”

“Her name is Munge.”

“is it so? “I thought you didn’t memorize your dog’s name because you always called him dog.”

“…”

I declared that I would call Cheongryeo’s dog by name… no Kongi.

“haha!”

This guy is laughing so hard I’ll just look at him for today.

“I heard you’re preparing for a concert.”

“uh.”

We chatted while sipping electrolyte drinks at a corner of the trail until the fog cleared.

Nothing was settled but it was organized.

It was more comfortable than I thought.

* * *

‘okay. It was okay.’

Cheongryeo finished reminiscing about the day she spoke with Park

Mun-dae.

-VTIC has not suffered any losses.

That was the conclusion from the early morning conversation.

but.

‘Because feeling it is a different matter.’

waiting room. Cheongryeo did not move even as the brush passed around her eyes and only moved her eyes to check her surroundings.

It was not a matter of public opinion.

It is a morale issue felt within the group.

Walking while others are running means falling behind.

The pressure of knowing that a song released by a male idol in the same position at the same time was better than theirs.

The company’s employees often praised and admired VTIC’s results as if they were feeling repulsive but the noise was contrived and harmed the atmosphere.

‘I should have warned you not to act like this.’

It appears that its functionality has declined as it has not been used properly until now.

‘This time’ VTIC has never had any difficulties due to sexual issues.

We have never been pushed out by another group nor have senior or junior groups in check caused any significant damage or loss of fans.

There was a huge incident where a member withdrew from the group but it was an accident and a disaster. It means that if the activity was canceled it would be okay but I have never seen failure with my own eyes.

In short VTIC was internally dealing with a sense of defeat for the first time.

“…”

Cheongryeo suddenly came to an unfamiliar realization.

‘This’ VTIC.

That expression is not appropriate. There will be no need to take turns anymore.

The life of endlessly reloading bullets and replacing them like consumables is now over.

All that remains is one bullet that has already been fired.

The trajectory and results will remain here.

Never disappear forever.

Also with defeat.

“…”

“I.”

As the stylist left the member sitting next to him opened his mouth. It was a casting.

“I heard that your brother met Mr. Moon Dae.”

Chaeyul sitting across from me smiled out loud.

“Oh Udan do you want to meet Mundae too? “I also want to see your face these days.”

“no. It is also an old saying that it is better to meet face to face. Communication technology has developed so much. “It’s more economical to save money.”

“Our youngest is very smart…”

Chae-yul who suddenly woke up nodded.

Shinno on the other side spoke up.

“Mr. Moon I hope you are in a good mood. “The tester went really well this time.”

“that’s right!”

Meanwhile the stylist returned and heated the metal body chain with a hair dryer one last time.

Weeeing-

When the noise of the dryer fills the air and the conversation is briefly interrupted.

after.

That slightly sad sigh quickly disappeared.

And when the chains were finished and only the members were sitting on the chairs again.

“actually…”

Chaeyul muttered in a low voice without raising her head.

“I told the testers that we would work well together but I thought we would win.”

“…”

“I just… Ah! “I was just unlucky!”

“A little.”

“My youngest is really scared…”

“But I also think it’s natural.”

Judan said tying the body chain around his neck.

“Originally humans are animals that think based on what they experience.”

When Testa debuted they felt sorry for the newcomer who released at the same time and naturally predicted victory.

Because they could always win if they tried their hardest.

That sense of inertia was something that had developed over several years and had become a natural part of the team.

So shock when emotions were broken was inevitable… At least that’s what Judan thought.

Chae-yul answered in a slightly overwhelmed voice.

“Thank you so much Udan. We have all these conversations! “If you feel that way too…”

“Oh I’m not.”

“…”

“I have a habit of always assuming the worst. “I’m always mentally prepared.”

The members were shocked.

“Is it still okay?”

“No isn’t that too extreme? Udan let’s practice loosening up a bit… Let’s all worry together…”

This is it.

“well. “Think about it at a more appropriate time.”

The waiting room became quiet.

Cheongryeo grinned.

“Now might not be the moment.”

“yes.”

The members closed their mouths and quickly stood up without saying a word. That quick-witted appearance was no different from when they debuted.

Yes same as always.

“Ah our relief!”

Even if the feeling of defeat is vivid the slogan does not change.

“V-Tik is winning again today Victorious!”

Cheongryeo turned his head.

The light from the stage was leaking out.

“I have to go out.”

September.

This is the opening day of the postponed Coachella.

Wow!!

In the midst of a huge crowd already heated up by previous performances.

On a stage where dry ice is blooming.

I go in without even saying hello.

[Coming up next… VTIC]

The electronic display board turns red.

A group dance like a wind band using dozens of dancers and a performance that used an old flag as a screen to tear it apart were performed like a beast.

Waaaaaaaaa!!

And the group dance involves walking on a huge flagpole with torn fabric and falling onto the stage.

The pleasure of exploding fireworks and a live firecracker band pierces the audience's peripheral nerves and elicits enthusiasm.

Coachella filled with fans who successfully purchased tickets boiled like lava and radiated heat like steam.

Chaeyul runs out and sings the chorus while Judan doubles from behind and Shinno makes use of the gestures.

The faces are overflowing with excitement and enthusiasm as they forget all the conversation in the waiting room and are completely immersed in it.

'yes.'

Everything was in its place.

[Look at the Serpent]

Cheongryeo stared at the audience.

How many times have you turned everything into nothing before even realizing defeat?

At some point he forgot the feeling of defeat and lived.

And the ‘feeling’ that I cannot avoid now and am facing…

Wow!!!

It was nothing.

Nothing has changed.

The cheers the audience and the members.

The stage continued.

[Venomous teeth

Poison penetrates into the heart]

Cheongryeo took a deep and slow breath.

And then I raised my head.

The taste of defeat was better than I expected.

[VTIC Coachella headliner’s historic stage]

“oh.”

On the screen there is a center cut of Cheongryeo putting her hand on the in-ear.

It was like a photo shoot or something.

“Good response.”

“Ugh.”

I can see the competitive spirit in the members’ faces as they look at my smartphone but there is no longer any sense of anger or frustration.

“We’re doing Coachella next year!”

“Okay~ But before that let’s prepare hard for ours first.”

Big Sejin grinned.

“5 minute break is over!”

“Ugh.”

“under…”

Bae Se-jin who was lying dead on the floor wriggled up.

There is no time to rest in the waiting room preparing for the concert.

‘after… ’

It was time for me to stand up and hold back my sleep.

Suddenly my smartphone started beeping loudly.

“…!”

“what’s the matter?”

“for a moment.”

I checked the name that popped up and immediately raised one hand to stop practice from resuming and took the smartphone.

It was force majeure.

[Ryu Geon-woo]

It’s a big moon… Park Moon-dae is making a phone call?

‘He’s not that kind of guy.’

I answered the phone without delay.

-brother!!

‘hey.’

A voice burst out. My ears will explode.

Fortunately the voice was happy and bright. No almost filled with joy… What?

-I passed!

“Congratulations.”

Congratulations are expected when you pass. I asked after giving a reasonable reaction.

“But what?”

-oh.

Perhaps because he realized that no explanation was given a shy exclamation was heard over the phone.

Okay now let me explain…

-I passed Orbit Enter!

“…?!”

-Brother’s company! Testa company!

“…??”

“What’s going on… Moon Dae?”

“Mundae-hyung’s eyes are twice the size.”

A person who wasn’t even introduced came into the company on his own.

Chapter 638

Big month… Moon-Dae Park was accepted to Orbit Stars Entertainment.

So to our company.

-Actually I prepared in advance! Since this is my first time putting it in I thought it might fall off…

He explains things in detail and I understand what he means. He said he wanted to do it on his own without my help so he was going to talk about it after he was alone.

-But it stuck! I'm stuck!

And I'm excited that I succeeded.

Thanks to this guy with a good voice the guys around him realized what was going on and started to intervene.

"Wait a minute Gunwoo you're joining our company?"

"Ohhh! Congratulations BM!"

-omg?? Oh hello. thank you!

The choreography practice room became noisy. If things continue like this I will be assigned to a special position through my internal connections… No this is not important.

I remembered something important.

What he said after being rescued from the mountain a few months ago.

-I don’t really know what to do and I don’t really know what I want to do.

We said we would find out together what you wanted to do.

After that I constantly heard about this guy’s experiences trying various things to live his life.

Then when we had a day off during our activities we would sometimes meet up and hang out.

-Um… bro what kind of work do administrative positions do in private companies? No I’m curious about what happens at your company.

Sometimes we had partial consultations like that but it seems like he was really talking about getting a job at our company.

‘Did you try to achieve the goal you set without relying too much on it?’

He asked me for advice on this matter but did not ask for my consent. Doing this yourself was a very positive sign.

When you think about it that way it’s a bit amazing.

I smiled faintly and talked into my smartphone.

“Then I’ll see you at work soon.”

-yes!

“Which team are you joining?”

Let’s see if this guy is the part of the team currently in charge of Testa…

‘Planning would be good and management support would be good.’

Since you will be able to use English quite well global marketing will also be good. Either way there is time to do paperwork and public affairs in the first place.

Management often hires younger people but if we speak well there are also transfers there…

-Rookie development!

"…??"

Not in charge of testers…?

"new man?!"

"Hey don't you work with us?"

The guy on the other end of the phone is startled by the members' voices.

-Ahh. Yes I actually thought about that too…

The voice became quiet as if avoiding eye contact.

-I felt like I was being too selfish.

"…"

no.

-If the reference check reveals that I am a Testa fan! It could be cut…

"What are you talking about even having a daily manager?"

-ah.

The voice on the other end of the smartphone stopped as if he was remembering what he had done when his body changed but soon picked up speed.

-That's what my brother did…!

"Even if I did it the record would remain Ryu Geon-woo. And have you forgotten that you are Cheongwoo's relative?"

-her…?

I heard a stupid sound.

'Oh my.'

I pressed my eyebrows and then burst into laughter.

Done.

'It would have been nice if it had stuck.'

No actually it was put in well.

The management side is very old so it is difficult for people in their 30s or older to join a new company unless they are recommended by an acquaintance.

If I had put it there this guy said he would join the company fairly without any help from his older brother but then his documents were cut and he said 'I guess this isn't the path for me.' I could have said the same thing.

There is a possibility for the planning team as they come from a business background but I don't know if their career as a civil servant would be very helpful as a portfolio.

AR is a team of professionals so I pass.

In the end it was a good idea to put him in a somewhat unique position in this company which has no rookies yet… developing new talent.

There is a high probability that people from various occupations were selected here.

Usually this is subdivided into management casting and planning teams like the artist team but it looks like they haven't even gone there yet.

'Because it's a relatively new company there may have been thoughts of wanting to make it fresh and unique.'

In particular it is a new agency with a fixed artist personality and has a lot of money so it can select people based on factors other than industry experience and personal connections.

But a 7th grade civil servant? I would like to send it in for an interview as a test if only out of curiosity.

therefore.

"Still you put it in well as you were competitive."

-Really?

"okay. So it stuck. Congratulations."

-yes!!

I rubbed my chin while listening to his bright voice.

furthermore…

'It's better not to mix too much with Testa.'

Isn't it best to find what you want and try it?

However if you work with us it will be difficult to tell you if something difficult happens at work later.

It didn't seem like a very desirable thing for Testa content which I used to relieve stress and enjoy as a hobby to become work.

Especially for someone who is just starting to build his own life.

“Yes it’s great that you caught on!”

“Congratulations!”

– Thank you.

Amid the congratulations Liu Chengwu also added a word in a gentle tone.

“Then you are raising our competitive group.”

…?

-… yes?

“Wow that’s right~ Wow then later on he appeared with the rookies and said ‘Our kids are supposed to debut this quarter. Is this a Testa comeback? ‘Put it off!’ “Could you say the same thing?”

-no! No!

“Haha! “I’m kidding!”

A burst of laughter and voices echoed through the practice room. I saw him relieved that his break time had increased but I pretended not to see him.

Anyway greetings are exchanged with new employees in a warm atmosphere.

“Whenever I see you at work in the future… I hope we can say hello and have a conversation…!”

“That’s right~ We have affection again!”

– Thank you…

As expected of a guy who even signed up for a fan signing event Geundall seemed thrilled with Testa's response. Funny guy.

As I looked at the scene with a chuckle one thing suddenly occurred to me.

This guy is a current office worker.

"Are you a civil servant?"

-I have to resign!

"…"

I got this position after studying so hard for several years because I had a condition that would kill me if I didn't pass.

A tremendous benefit called self-development leave. Fixed job in Seoul at an iron rice bowl where there is no chance of getting fired.

Quit being a 7th grade local government official in Seoul and join a small and medium-sized entertainment agency…

'It's okay as long as you're happy.'

You can take care of your own life and live happily. He has money so it will be okay. If I have to I can at least take care of the house.

I nodded without making a noise.

"okay. Organize it well."

-yes!

The guy who answered with an excited voice must have felt that he was taking up too much of our time so he hurriedly began to say a closing greeting.

-Then if you run into each other at work in the future make sure… Oh

that's right!

hmm?

The guy suddenly hesitated and lowered his voice.

-Hyung I mean… I got hired by the company. Because it's a good thing.

"Oh is there anything you'd like to receive as a souvenir?"

-…

'oh.'

I thought you were going to scream that it wasn't there but it turns out it was there.

I spoke calmly to the guy who couldn't bear to speak and was silent.

Considering this guy's personality there's a high probability that we'll have a meal together or something like that.

"Speak comfortably. "What is it?"

-Well then…

The voice became extremely quiet.

-I need tickets for this Testa concert.

"…"

-That ticket… failed. I couldn't even get a cancellation ticket because I was busy preparing documents and interviews… ugh.

The voice was desperate.

“…I’ll send it to you.”

-Aww thank you!

I decided to give him the invitation that was assigned to me.

The members looked at me with warm faces with Big Moon’s voice shouting gratitude and cheers as if it were some sort of spell in the background.

“…?”

“no. “Because it’s nice to see.”

Sun Ah-hyun smiled and opened her mouth.

“I think it’s my first time seeing a liberal arts college give me an invitation.”

ah.

‘I usually give it to my family.’

That would be correct. The members mainly gave it to their families so parents siblings and sometimes even grandparents often came to the waiting room after the concert.

I just… I didn’t have anyone to give it to so I either returned it to the company or handed it over to an employee.

I look at my smartphone again.

I don’t know if I’m writing this after several years since my debut.

“Can you send me 4 copies?”

-omg?? no?! If it’s just one piece…

“okay.”

I could send you two copies.

-thank you. Thank you bro!

“what.”

I will have to send it in the future when I get the chance. I hung up.

“Mundae’s expression is nice.”

“…”

Ryu Chengwu patted my back and returned to the center of the practice room.

Funny guys.

“Well thanks to Mundaemun University you took a long break right? A big comeback!”

“yes…”

We also took our stance accordingly.

As the opening music of the concert rings the scene naturally comes to mind.

Is it because we just talked about concert tickets?

“Left foot in front of the gate!”

I quickly adjusted the formation.

“yes!”

And as I followed the breathlessly choreographed dance break a thought suddenly occurred to me.

Even if I send 2 tickets to Geoldal I still have 2 tickets left.

“…”

Originally I would have returned it to the company but…

Back at break time I thought for a while and sent a text.

Attached is a photo of the concert ticket.

[If you are going to come come.]

After a hot summer it’s autumn and harvest time.

Testa has finally entered the harvest concert of this activity.

* * *

A few days before the concert.

“Awesome.”

It’s a real ticket!

All fans were trembling as they held on to Testa’s concert tickets that had arrived by courier.

Surprisingly the ticket was given to me by a social media friend.

That SNS friend who briefly made his account private that day posted this.

-Is there anyone who still hasn’t gotten tickets to Testa’s concert? ㅠㅠ

The moment I saw it I thought it meant to lament together. This person seems to have been busy with his life and hasn’t been on social media for a while!

‘You said that ticketing failed… ’

You even decided to keep it private because you were lamenting it. Thinking like that she also cried and commented.

-Me… me… ㅠㅠ

Let’s lament together cheer up shake it off and then watch the live broadcast online!

I thought that kind of conversation would continue.

Suddenly a DM arrived.

[That Malang Star. I have another ticket this time… so if the time for the first con on Friday is okay I’ll send it to you!]

It’s crazy.

All fans of Testa were holding their breath and typing frantically on their smartphone keyboards. Even though my fingers were shaking I was alert and didn’t make any typos.

[Thank you so much. What should I say? Is this real? Where can I make the deposit?]

[Haha it’s okay if you don’t send me money.]

“Ugh??”

[It’s an invitation!]

And the invitation really came.

‘I checked my ID a few times in case it was a scam targeting my address… ’

As much as she felt sorry for all of that her social media friend gave her this gift.

I could have uploaded it publicly received sharing and pleas from countless people and handed it over as a transfer.

‘I really want to give you something really… ’

Maybe you’re sitting next to me? I wanted to muster up the courage to speak up and have a late-night snack together after the concert. Or I’d like to give you a snack!

‘I have to take it with me!’

But on the day of the concert.

She found her seat at the concert venue in a daze and stood there.

“Here’s your seat…”

Seat close to the central console on the first floor.

I thought about it from the moment I checked the area with my ticket but the location was really good.

but.

‘You didn’t use a light stick or a slogan…?’

The people sitting around her seemed to be enjoying the concert and cheering them on but they had a strangely Muggle feel.

Besides that.

‘Seat next to me… ’

Next to him was a tall man wearing a hat.

Even at a glance Shadow Jin Ha-gwan looked handsome and seemed like a celebrity…

All fans sat in their seats and stared intently at the front of the stage where no advertising VCR had yet appeared feeling like they wanted to close their eyes.

I couldn't bear to turn my head.

'It's an official seat. here!'

I was happy but it was so burdensome that I felt like my heart was going to burst.

'Where are you Big Moon!'

Where on earth did you get this ticket?

For reference the man sitting next to me. Ryu Geon-woo's situation was not much different.

'You were a high school student!'

Yes

The SNS friend who received an extra invitation to Testa All Fan Keoldal who said he fell in love with <Magical Boy>… was a high school student.

If you calculate it it is when I was in elementary school.

'<Azusa> was only for 15 year olds?!'

…With such internal screams they began to wait for the opening of the concert.

An incredible festival that will blow away all your thoughts.

Chapter 639

“Did a lot of people come?”

“There are a lot.”

Big Sejin smiled and stepped aside slightly and the audience was visible through the window behind him.

An astronomical number of people up to 50000 people filled the huge space at Jamsil Main Stadium.

Wow-

With the cool wind blowing at sunset beyond the open window all kinds of excited sounds resonated and reached here.

“…”

It’s spectacular any time you see it.

“I remember. During our first concert Ravin and Yujin secretly went outside and pretended to go to the bathroom. “I came here because I was excited because there were so many people.”

“Ooooh I remember!”

“It was fun…”

Raebin Kim muttered blankly.

At the first concert it seemed like the thrilling feeling of being excited about a solo concert that I had never experienced before had come back.

Now that you have already experienced what that feels like the adrenaline rush will increase.

‘Do I want to eat the taste I know more?’

I’m no different. I looked out the window and took a deep breath.

It felt like hormones were surging all the way to my head.

“Then let’s get ready…”

“Wait a minute!”

Keun Se-jin suddenly intervened.

“We have to provide relief~”

“ah.”

“okay. “It’s important.”

The members stood together laughing.

Originally they put their hands together in a typical fighting stance but starting from this activity they are all close together with their arms draped over their shoulders.

Slogans pass among the guys who bow their heads and put their heads together.

His voice was stronger and more serious than usual as if he was just before the finals.

“Tester shows something today.”

“…”

“yes.”

I felt a strange sense of tension and excitement among the guys gathered together arm in arm.

Breath temperature.

And stand up at the same time.

“let’s go.”

It was the beginning of the concert.

* * *

Testa Allfan who was sitting in the officials’ seat and waiting breathlessly wiggled his hands.

‘I should just be excited.’

Although the high school student was excited he was swallowing his saliva due to the pressure of his surroundings.

Officials.

Even the handsome (presumed) celebrity sitting next to me.

‘no. When it’s over it’ll be a really fun memory…!’

He tried to ask on social media where Big Moon who gave him the ticket was but there were so many people that the internet didn’t work well.

‘phew… ’

I’m just glad I pre-connected the new light stick.

She turned the light stick on and off without meaning to. There was a small newly purchased employee ID keyring hanging around.

The person next to me was also touching something but I thought this person was pulling out a light stick…

It was a camera.

“Hmm.”

The high school student who made a noise without realizing it almost screamed when the person sitting next to him turned to look at him…

“Oh it won’t interfere with the viewing.”

His tone of voice was surprisingly kind.

The high school student swallowed.

“Oh no.”

During the performance there were some hommas and data dealers who acted unmanneredly in the name of filming such as standing behind the backs of general audience members and arbitrarily placing a bag on someone’s shoulder.

However the camera held by the person sitting next to me was small so it did not seem to interfere with the viewing and there was a strangely less tense atmosphere.

‘It looks like the official is taking official photos for some use.’

I was only half right.

‘Because I was allowed to!’

Big Moon thought proudly. I even got permission from my brothers!

-It’s okay as long as it doesn’t disturb the audience.

He could not have guessed that Park Moon-dae would use his photo publicly to shield him but in any case Geudal clearly remembered the proposition that ‘as long as it does not interfere it is okay’.

‘It’s small… I have to secure it and place it on my lap carefully so that people around me don’t mind.’

Of course Geudal knew that he had no talent for photography.

‘Sigh… ’

Moreover once the concert actually started there was a strong possibility that I would forget everything and not be able to take a single photo just like before.

But I still wanted to continue.

‘Because my brother did it… ’

The memory of his younger self dropping out of high school which he struggled with while watching videos taken by his older brother was still vivid within him. Even if I didn’t have that talent I wanted to find out.

About how my brother felt while filming this.

“after.”

Geundal Park Moon-dae took a deep breath and finished checking the camera with Ryu Geon-woo’s body.

We also took care of the light sticks that were well connected to the central control and now there was not much time left until the concert started.

But there was something that bothered me a little.

‘There’s still no one.’

The seat next to his left was empty. No one with a ticket came.

Could it be that he didn't come after receiving the ticket? I knew that this kind of thing happens frequently from the people involved. Still I felt it was such a waste and even a little resentful.

There were so many people on social media crying because they were desperate for that seat!

'It would have been better for fans to see the concert rather than for people who don't know that earnestness.'

But before he could even glance at the empty seat next to him.

The surrounding lights turned off.

"…!"

At the same time that the lights that brightened the audience's view disappeared the advertising video also disappeared from the electronic display board. Where the light disappeared the band's accompaniment began to play.

And the sentence that appears on the central electronic display board.

[See you in the epilogue]

[by TeSTAR]

Fireworks and cheers erupted.

"ah."

It comes out.

Big Moon held his breath and opened his eyes wide and looked straight ahead.

Testa's theme for this concert is Epilogue.

It seemed to mean that it was the final version of a story that continued through games and VR and even attraction remix activities.

He felt someone finally come in and sit down next to him but he had no time to worry about that anymore and focused all his attention on the VCR.

The majestic orchestral band music died down and a comfortable-looking attic and the soft sound of a piano filled the background.

7 scattered cushion blankets.

And the warm small lights of light bulbs.

[…]

It seemed to be the background of the world view video where Testa was playing a board game together during the album.

But now the seven members who were gathered together are no longer there. Seon Ah-hyun was the only one sitting there.

In the middle of the day where dust reflects sunlight Sun Ah-hyun quietly organizes a board game.

The slightly brushed screen illuminated the high school yearbook that had fallen in the corner of the attic. Even the post-it notes stuck on it.

-Let’s play again!

-Stay in touch even after you graduate.

The members got older and graduated so it seemed like they couldn’t come back often to play games.

Sun Ah-hyun stopped organizing the board game.

The camera took a close-up of the side face.

[If we could meet again.]

The camera comes down and shows the board game.

[Here we go again.]

The screen is sucked into it.

“…!”

The image that was sucked into the board game like a roller coaster passed through the blue and red graphics as if passing through a warp and bounced back into the attic.

Sun Ah-hyun who was watching the board game looked up.

The attic was no longer empty.

[So… board game? Let’s play a TRPG?]

[oh my god.]

[Why does it look fun?]

From the grumpy Cha Yu-jin to the embarrassed Lee Se-jin and Ryu Cheong-woo trying to lighten the mood.

The small room filled with seven testers was crowded.

It was the first day that Sun Ah-hyun called them.

[So… are you going to play the game?]

[huh.]

[Have you played many games like this?]

Sun Ah-hyun raises her head and looks at the audience beyond the electronic display board.

[huh.]

Big.

Geoldal heard his SNS friend cover his mouth next to him.

Meanwhile the VCR screen moved and the camera showed the members' faces one by one.

[Okay okay.]

The members grin.

[Let's have fun.]

The last words sound from the turned-off electronic signboard and the stage lights turn on.

Pick.

The huge golden 'Epilogue' lights up and the gear-shaped stage equipment moves magically together.

A situation where the only background is the noise of the machine operating.

A voice rings out without accompaniment.

[Bad Feelings-!]

Aaaaaaaaaah!!!

Argh!

The electronic display board opened and 7 testers came out along with numerous dancers.

Wearing a fancy white suit appropriate for the concert.

“and!!”

As in the original version the opening stage opened like firecrackers exploding through majestic and splendid orchestral accompaniment.

[Even when the sun sets and the moonlight falls

Unforgettable feelings]

My heart beat every time the electronic display board was filled with faces.

A face full of immersion enthusiasm joy anticipation and determination shone. Just like the characters in the fancams previously filmed by Ryu Geon-woo.

No even more than that!

[Touch your hand

My tape is cold again!]

A selection of songs that will keep you going!

[Let’s Start the melee]

Cha Yu-jin comes out and a new dance break is added spectacularly from the center.

Ugh.

I could hear something from the right whether it was a scream a groan or a cheer. Even while I was in a trance I thought it was a really good idea to send in the remaining tickets.

‘brother! I think I wrote it really well!!’

[Just roll the dice!]

He was shaking his lightstick enthusiastically while watching his older brother synchronize the dance on stage and felt his knees move along with him causing even the object he placed on them to shake slightly.

‘Ah camera!!’

Fortunately it was working. The song ended while he carefully placed the camera in place.

Meanwhile I couldn’t take my eyes off the stage.

-Wow!!!

A loud and refreshing cheer rang out in the hot outdoor stadium.

It was so loud that I couldn’t hear it it felt like it was going to explode but when the members held their breath and grabbed the microphone again it subsided again like a lie.

[Hello Loveviewer.]

hi!

Argh!

Ahhhhhhh…

As indescribable personal comments and cries were mixed in the audience became quiet for a moment and then burst into laughter.

Testa also shook his shoulders and shouted cheerfully.

[Welcome to Testa’s concert!]

[thank you! Let’s have fun!]

A shout that threatens to explode again.

Testa quenched his thirst with water hastily handed to him from below and continued speaking.

[We have tried many interesting and unique attempts. I want to give you a variety of pleasures.]

Testa certainly had a unique theme for each concert and often used strange items or new technologies.

Geoldal recalled that opinions on social media were divided about whether a VR option would be released this time.

[But this time it's a little different.]

"…?"

[I wanted to impress you the most with the most fundamental thing.]

Among the testers who exchanged meaningful glances Raebin Kim lifted the microphone with sparkling eyes.

[Yes. This concert… was filled entirely with our songs and stage nothing else! Add as many sets to the set list as possible!]

The origins of concerts.

The joy of listening to songs I know!

Raebin Kim's words felt somewhat overwhelming so cheers and shouts erupted from the audience again.

Big Sejin smiled loudly and waved his hand.

[Now it will run with almost no torque. All the songs you know will be played really!]

'and!!'

Crazy shouting again. Hearing that sound Geudal felt an enormous internal conflict.

Should I see it with the naked eye or should I at least take a picture while looking at the camera properly…!

So it was time to fiddle with the camera with a pounding heart.

“Would you like me to listen to you?”

“…?”

When I looked next to me someone was sitting next to me.

The person wearing the black hat and black mask was… Cheongryeo.

“…?!”

I… what did I just see?

Another face also wearing a mask suddenly popped out next to Cheongryeo.

“Uh hello! It’s him. How have you been?”

“yes yes…?”

It was Chaeyul.

Big Moon’s pupils trembled.

Why is VTIC here…?

Geoldal took a deep breath having never imagined that his brother would have voted for VTIC but in fact it wasn’t such an unusual situation.

Since the two companies were tied together with capital and became a kind of ‘same line’ the public would be convinced that the concert was visited as a kind of business.

But at this moment Big Moon's embarrassment surpassed all that.

'And why why my camera?!'

Cheongryeo whose face was hidden in the shadows next to her was still pointing at her camera with her eyes wide open.

Even without looking he seemed to be smiling softly.

"…"

It was a little scary. vestige.

"It's okay."

"yes."

Cheongryeo gave up but Keundagul swallowed and quietly turned his gaze to the stage.

On one hand I have a SNS friend who is a high school student.

The other is my older brother's rival idol.

It was a fantastic spot to distract attention…

'Ugh.'

However when you realize that this is a concert hall such things become really good thoughts.

If you look at the idol holding the microphone on that stage.

[Let's go to the next song.]

Big Moon looked straight ahead again in a daze.

Tester Park Moon-dae standing on stage smiled and wiped the sweat from his temples without a care in the world.

The concert had only just begun.

Chapter 640

As usual for the first concerts on weekdays the sky at the concert venue which started in the evening was already dark with a red sunset.

But under that sky the concert hall was getting brighter and hotter.

Wow!!

The same was true for audiences who were not directly sitting in the audience right now.

-ㅠㅠAh I'm so excited.

-Wow what is the atmosphere?

Online viewers.

At one time Testa was part of a company that did not provide real-time streaming so there was a time when we only watched poor quality videos or recordings secretly filmed by audience members but that is a thing of the past.

Since moving to the platform Testa has provided real-time broadcasting of every concert even VR broadcasting.

It was the same today.

The first day of this concert was even a streaming day.

Various netizens who were interested in and liked Testa were gathered together in their respective communities and SNS to watch it in real time.

-This is my first time seeing a concert.

-I also bought a light stick haha. It's amazing to see the light stick on the VR screen.

As if living up to those expectations Testa poured out a flurry of latest promotional songs and world-class performance songs as the opening.

People went crazy every time the high notes and performance exploded.

-You're a crazy bitch.

-Wow this is it haha.

-I want to go to the scene.

And in this state of admiration and response the moment Testa's talk about 'the set list is complete' came out the atmosphere was once again aflame with anticipation.

-Whahahahahahahaha

-Look at the facial expression. Hahaha elated.

-It seems to be filled with only real songs.

-I don't think it was a waste of money for those who went.

-Are you just fans enjoying it? Let Muggles enjoy it too. Even Muggles know the Testa songs. Instead of pre-registering concert seats please leave some for the general public as well.

Dog laugh ㅋㅋㅋㅋㅋ

But the people who were laughing and talking stopped the next moment.

After finishing the talk Testa burst into the back of the stage waving his hand and the backlight came on.

Silhouettes reflected in white fabric.

-Oh that one.

The shadow of Testa standing or sitting somewhere loomed.

And the props… chairs and desks.

-classroom?

A warm light came on on the gear wheels on the stage ceiling and they moved together.

I heard the sound of the film rolling.

Click click.

[When I was a child.]

Narration by Yujin Cha.

This is a voice recorded by Cha Yu-jin under emotional direction which could only be heard at the beginning of her debut.

It doesn't have a free bouncy accent like usual but it feels somewhat static.

The childish yet calm voice speaks a nostalgic English narration.

[When I was a child I always returned home before the sun set.]

[There was no night with the moon in that daily life.]

[And now]

[Looking out the window from inside the classroom.]

Every silhouette looks towards the sky.

Above the darkened outdoor concert hall.

[The sunset was setting.]

A sound as clear and refreshing as a music box rang through the speakers in the concert hall.

The sound of water rolling in the air like a drop of water.

A familiar melody that everyone knows.

♬♪♩♪- ♬♪♬♪- ♪♩-

-He’s a magic boy.

Lights came up in all directions like a pink red and yellow sunset against the backdrop of the purple sky where the sunset still remained.

People looked up as if fascinated by the perspective of the streaming cam that captured the stage in the exact center.

The white cloth on the stage goes down revealing a silhouette that looked like a shadow.

Boys sitting at desks in the classroom.

[I met you tomorrow

I think about it all today

[I dream as blue as the day]

After all this time they are still in their summer clothes.

The sight of them smiling singing walking out on stage in formation and doing choreography was already the same hair color and style as when they first debuted.

Those faces when they were just meeting the public.

-Cha Yujin's pink hair… That's right she had pink hair when she debuted.

It felt strange.

When idols sing songs that are several years old they usually use remixes or new arrangements.

As time goes by singing techniques and dancing methods also change during the growth process.

It can't be the same as it was back then and it's just a stage to reminisce about the memories we share together and feel appreciation.

But Testa on stage now… was the same.

[All that time

Maybe I needed it

The magic to the future

So I]

They were accurately reproducing the singing techniques and movements of the time.

Clearly as it is.

Those feelings and gestures with little technique and honest strength instead of leisure appeared on the stage again.

Testa's growing skills were used to bring the 'ideal' <Magical Boy> stage that remained in people's minds by selecting only the best version into reality.

-ah…

-I somehow miss it.

A strange feeling comes to mind.

As if I had gone back in time. People thought of themselves at that time on that stage.

-I secretly watched this every day at school haha.

-When Sun Ah-hyun's soap bubble appeared I stayed up all night editing it and it was fun.

Even after the <Magical Boy> stage ended those feelings did not end. Because the next stage continued.

Cha Yu-jin who was sitting at the desk smiled and got up from her seat.

[High five~]

-High five!

-I wanted to see a high-five in a magical boy uniform and I finally got to see it…

-Wow that's right I imagined this feeling.

-Finally ㅠㅠㅠ

A bright and cheerful song that moves you emotionally.

Even the slightly childish and strange lyrics that can no longer be seen remain the same.

The natural continuation is <Airplane> which has the same high school concept. A stage of bright and transparent firework-like colors decorated the dark sky.

And for a moment a red cloth came up behind the stage where the members had disappeared as if they were chasing a paper airplane.

After that dancers came out and a silhouette performance was performed using shadows.

As if fighting a war the shadows overlap fall and at the end of the fall a red cloth falls revealing a half-destroyed classroom.

-Baramy!

-This is a game collaboration.

-127 sections!

In the darkened atmosphere Testa burst out as if breaking a window and spread out onto the stage as if advancing on the fierce and smooth band music.

[Ashes to ashes dust to dust

But NOT for me

I live like that

[Legends never die]

It's so passionate.

There are almost no cover songs or solo unit performances which are usually a few songs at a concert.

The 7 people were filling up the stage and showing the trajectory they had traveled so far on the stage.

[The day finally came

Come!]

After a while.

Against the backdrop of a red full moon with the silhouette of a wolf howling a silhouette shooting a long bow cuts through the shadow of the full moon and is placed on the side stage along with the sound of exploding firecrackers.

-Oh I like dogs.

-I think it's still my favorite concept…

-At this time the light is fanned.

Even online viewers were immersed in the performance unable to get up from their seats as if it were a live performance as the VCR was kept to a minimum.

The speed is such that I can't hold back my overwhelming heart and just write a few words of appreciation!

That feeling of enjoying a song you know on a stage with a lot of people. Even after the stage was over and the next stage came right away people were excited by the joy of hearing a good song come on.

-Are you crazy?

But there were also people who thought of it in a slightly different way.

"Wow that's crazy."

"Huh?"

Orbit Stars Entertainment headquarters.

Heeseung Kwon who was dozing off while sitting in the artist lounge suddenly came to his senses. In front of him he saw members of his group Spacer concentrating as if they were being sucked into the smart TV.

A concert is being aired on TV…

“Billion Testa Concert!”

“Is Heeseung awake?”

Kwon Hee-seung felt his sleep slip away.

“Hey I’ll call you when it starts! “How much did you miss?”

The members who were staring at the screen as if fascinated waved their hands. As if there was no time to answer that.

In the end Kwon Hee-seung beat his teammates on the backs and found the concert set list himself and soon his eyes were twitching.

What is this?

“Hey the lineup is crazy?”

In addition to the title and promotional songs Testa was pouring their heart and soul into showing them all the songs they had heard on the annual chart.

As a junior in the same industry I could almost understand why he seemed overwhelmed by his career and ambition.

Kwon Hee-seung already watched the past performances with great appetite.

You missed it.

‘It must have been really fun.’

He couldn’t go today because of his schedule but he nodded and said that he should go and enjoy the concert tomorrow as a company opportunity.

I also became greedy.

‘…We also want to do a performance like this someday.’

However while thinking about his concert and looking back and forth between the set list and the screen Heeseung Kwon suddenly noticed something strange.

“…?”

wait for a sec.

“…There’s no break time right?”

“therefore!”

Only then did the members turn their heads nod their heads vigorously and scream.

“Right now the VCR only comes on once and you’re just performing on stage?”

“Isn’t this really crazy? How are they doing this?”

The reaction was so intense that I even forgot to call my senior.

And Kwon Hee-seung was also confused!

‘Uh…!?’

The VCRs and unit stages installed throughout the concert stage were not just for composition and production.

Don’t singers also need time to change their outfits and catch their breath? This is for minimum stamina management and tempo distribution.

Especially if it’s a performance like Testa where the choreography is intense and you have to perform like crazy live?

First of all you must be able to rest for 10 minutes every 30 minutes to operate normally…

Right now Testa was only making time to change clothes.

And that’s only once every four or five songs.

“…?…!!”

While Kwon Hee-seung was looking at the screen and the set list one of the group’s composition members clicked his tongue and muttered quietly.

“If it were me I would really collapse.”

* * *

“Huh.”

I leaned my arms against the wall and pressed my head against the wall.

I felt like my lungs were going to burst.

Someone barely patted me on the back. He seemed to be asking me if I was okay but it seemed like he couldn’t even open his mouth.

I just nodded and lifted my upper body.

“Respiratory system!”

The ventilator honestly doesn’t help much. Still it’s better than nothing.

I felt someone take off my sweaty coat and then change my clothes after a hand wiped my face.

‘It’s not even a newborn.’

But it was all agreed upon in advance. It’s not that I didn’t know this would happen.

Someone might ask how on earth you plan to tour with this set list. What if something goes wrong like this?

‘It doesn’t fly.’

I replayed it several times.

Even if my condition is bad I persevere. There is no one who can’t stand it.

“…”

To save stamina even the most talkative guys in the group didn’t say a word.

Shoulders and arms heated to the point of steaming from excessive exercise collide with each other but no one cracks a joke.

That actually made me believe it.

‘let’s go.’

We stood on the stage lift again.

There is still time to reach the climax.

* * *

‘It’s crazy. It’s crazy… ’

All of Testa’s fans held the light stick so tightly that it broke.

A light appeared on the stage in front of my eyes.

Because I was constantly shouting and shouting cheering slogans my voice became hoarse in a short period of time.

Every song the members performed was very familiar to me and I actually wanted to see it on stage so I was constantly in a state of dopamine overload.

‘I feel dizzy… ’

As Allfan took a deep breath something suddenly popped out from the seat next to him.

“…?”

It was a small unopened bottle of water.

Some company must have given it out as part of an event before entering and there was a sign saying something like ‘Watch the Testa concert and drink deep ocean water.’

“Thank you.”

The person next to me wearing a hat nodded nodded slightly and looked forward.

Olpan reflexively opened the water and drank it and realized that he was very thirsty and his vision became clearer.

Thank you…

‘Ah my snacks!’

Taking advantage of that opportunity All Fan tried to hand over the snacks he had brought to the seat next to him but the VCR had already finished playing on the stage display.

“Huh!”

All fans almost waved water bottles instead of light sticks but managed to change them and held their trembling hands as they stared at Testa appearing on stage.

The smiling Testa was wearing the lightest clothes she had ever worn and looked very happy.

[hello.]

Wow!!

All the fans also cheered generously for the cleanliness friendliness and pleasant feeling of running around like that and performing like crazy on stage.

It was a tester who took the microphone after an hour. I thought it was a leisurely time to fill up the time by talking.

[You all know this song right?]

yes!!

[great.]

I like it too…

All fans waved their cheering sticks while looking at Ryu Cheong-woo stroking his hair.

A similar scene was taking place throughout the audience so Testa who was enjoying the cute sight waved his hand.

Then Park Moon-dae looked around at the members smiled and grabbed the microphone.

[But. Actually I only included one song that you may not know…]

Uh huh?

[This is the song I'm going to tell you right now.]

[It's a new song.]

What?

Before the fans even showed a standardized reaction.

The members on stage lowered their microphones and dispersed to stand in their respective positions.

'what…?'

I was puzzled for a moment.

A transparent wrapping paper-like device protruded from the stage floor as if to surround the members.

And it formed a hemisphere like a protective shield.

"…!"

[I'll go now.]

A soft melody began to flow.

In it the transparent hemisphere carrying each member of Testa rose into the sky from the stage floor like a drone or hot air balloon and began to move.

Go over the standing seats and go this way.

"…!"

It was coming toward the audience!

Chapter 641

The audience held their breath and turned their heads.

The huge Jamsil Main Stadium.

Idols holding hand microphones all over the concert stage are floating above in transparent stage equipment…

“Minha!”

“ah.”

Mirinae Park Min-ha quickly took off the VR device. Member Seong Ha-rin who shouted into her ear a few times said with a relieved face.

“We should go to practice.”

“Ugh.”

Park Min-ha looked a little disappointed but quickly erased the expression and turned off the device.

Seong Harin asked.

“Uh… were you watching Testa seniors’ concert?”

“huh? Umm… right.”

It was a question that was nothing new.

All Mirinae members were interested in Testa’s concert itself. Especially since it is a concert of an idol who has become ridiculously popular recently.

Since it's the same company they may use similar formats so isn't it worth monitoring?

However there was no need to show that I was watching intently in real time.

'For idols friendship with the opposite sex is risky… '

There is no need to give room.

Since I was interested in a hot anime I could have gotten caught up in a useless misunderstanding so the members I wanted to monitor made a tacit agreement to watch the VOD later on their own.

So Park Min-ha just stopped real-time monitoring without saying anything but the screen she saw just before started to flicker.

Transparent devices floating into the air on stage carrying each member of Testa.

'That was earlier… '

The members who were preparing at the entrance just happened to say something.

"Now that I think about it I think I heard that those seniors were using some kind of cutting-edge technology at their concert."

"that's right. "I heard you took orders for over two months to build that machine."

"really?"

"Yes yes."

"Wow that must be really amazing! "Two months?"

Jeong Yul-gi's reaction was so good that even members who were not interested in this topic asked as if their ears were interested.

“What exactly is it? “Is this a stage setup?”

It was right. Special stage equipment.

Park Min-ha recalled Park Moon-dae’s voice being heard through the open door of the conference room while passing by the company not long ago.

-I think there will be a demand for this.

It must have been during a meeting about the concert.

By that time it was already rumored in some parts of the company that Testa had filled this concert entirely with songs.

‘That’s it… people will like it!’

Park Min-ha herself also remembered being convinced.

At concerts isn’t such a packed performance usually considered ‘worth the price of the ticket’?

However audiences are people and people have different value judgments.

-I wanted to see more of these kids talking and talking in real life.

-I feel like I just keep watching the stage without any connection.

The stage can also be accessed through the Internet.

In other words the audience wants to feel a special sense of intimacy and presence when they meet the singer ‘in person’.

That’s why Testa considered supplementary measures up to that point.

A device that can provide a special ‘connected’ experience to the audience while filling it with only songs.

Intermittent screams erupted here and there at the concert hall at intervals.

‘Uh huh?’

Testa’s all-fans blinked.

I love how the stage setup carrying the members rises into the air and gets closer to the audience. I saw a video where the members on the wire sometimes come close to the audience.

But… it doesn’t stop.

[Umm umum Um-]

Testa got closer as a soft humming sound echoed through the venue.

The hemisphere’s stage setup which looked like a small hot air balloon balloon or soap bubble was now so clear that Inyoung’s entire body on it appeared larger than her finger.

It doesn’t stop there it grows as big as your hand and eventually takes up as much space in your field of vision as the light stick in front of you and comes this way.

louder.

Close.

Until you can see the detailed outline of the face.

“…”

The hand holding the light stick trembled.

Eventually Allfans came face to face with a member who was slowly passing almost in front of them.

Sun Ah-hyun smiled softly and waved her hand.

“Sigh.”

Pan held his breath because he felt like he was going to hiccup.

In fact directing that approaches the audience was already common at concerts.

The protruding stage is a representative example and various methods have been tried such as passing in front of the audience in a so-called trolley car or secretly hiding in the audience in a hot air balloon and then getting up.

However most are satisfied with reaching a reasonable audience. This is because as the theater grows the physical limitations and safety issues also increase.

But the problem is overcoming it.

The floating stage device which was fixed to a wire and maximized stability came right in front of the audience and allowed them to actually see the member raising the microphone.

“…”

Near the end of the soft melody intro.

A member stopped in front of him.

Allfans couldn’t even breathe when they saw Park Moon-dae making eye contact with them.

A white face with slightly long hair covering the nape of the neck.

A voice rings out.

[Stay here-]

Clear vocalizations passed through my whole body in abundance. I got goosebumps like a lie.

The lyrics rang in my ears.

[A deep story

flows between us

I'm so immersed in it that I want to draw a spray of water]

Park Moon-dae passed by and Lee Se-jin passed by smiling brightly and extending his hand.

Inadvertently the hand that came out to greet me passed right in front of me as if they were touching each other for a high five.

[Even if you clap your hands

no sound

Put it deeply in my heart]

Liu Chengwu smiled making eye contact with each of them. Bae Se-jin looks seriously into the eyes and sings with all her heart.

The pre-chorus changes key and goes up alone.

[The wave is gradually

Loud and clear]

Cha Yu-jin sits down on the stage and playfully makes eye level with Kim Rae-bin who carefully examines the audience one by one with a serious face.

Face those faces face to face.

[To cover the whole world-]

The bass and drums fall gently and the sound rushes through the body like a wave.

[Stay

I'll be here

Just like this just like this

A promise that will not change]

The members visit various parts of the audience without missing a beat. The carefully planned route was not missed.

Even on fast-moving stage sets the voice does not waver.

What is captured on the electronic display are serious faces.

[Stay

On difficult and tiring days

Come and lean on my shoulder

[To rest]

The light stick was centrally controlled and colored in three colors the symbol of Testa.

The members looked back at the electronic display board for a moment and laughed at the sight which looked like a flower garden in full bloom or a light festival.

He looked really happy.

It was a very special experience for everyone there to feel that overwhelming feeling together.

‘Guys… ’

However there are some people who cannot share their feelings while watching this scene.

People who aren’t there right away.

-i envy you…

-Oh I wanted to go in person.

Online viewers were watching this performance with a slightly bitter feeling.

They felt a deep sense of alienation and were drenched in sadness muttering things like ‘This is why I have to see the concert in person’…

-uh??

[Always]

In front of the VR filming device.

Park Moon-dae quietly set up a stage set in front of him and looked at the camera as if looking into his opponent.

[I cherish it

I’ll hug you tightly

The moments we spent together]

As if he could see the audience beyond.

The eyes look here.

-ㅅㅂㅠㅠㅠ

-I feel like my heart will drop

-Wow what is it really… ah it's a strange feeling.

-ah

The number of comments that had grown explosively has suddenly subsided.

It was as if our eyes met and we were truly at a loss for words.

[All as memories]

Soon the stage setup of him looking into the camera also comes to mind again.

The accompaniment picked up again.

[Stay

I'll be here

Just like this just like this

A promise that will not change]

Like a beautiful natural phenomenon at the moment when flower petals or starlight form a certain pattern Testa now sang while floating on the stage in a semicircle.

As the protective gear-like upper part came down raw voices burst out into the surrounding audience.

And the members also looked down.

To the standing seats right in front.

[Stay

On difficult and tiring days

Come and lean on my shoulder

[To rest]

The light stick was shaking.

[Stay]

Because the distance was difficult to gauge lights twinkled all the way to the empty auditorium which looked like the Milky Way.

It's hard to believe that there are actually people there even though I've only seen their faces up until now.

[Beyond the time in your heart-]

Park Mun-dae thought.

I created this situation by making plausible and reasonable statements regarding the balance of the concert and meeting demand.

[Stay]

In fact it may have been you not the audience who wanted to know the other person.

-We know that there are definitely people up there but what we see is the movement of the light stick.

-Yeap I'm curious.

-… I just want to see it with my own eyes.

The words that came out of the members' mouths may not have been much different from their own thoughts.

-Then let's go see it.

A high chord explodes like a firecracker.

[Stay-!]

A spectacular fireworks display explodes with musical accompaniment.

Pak.

A feast of light decorating a completely dark sky.

A drone passes through them and depicts the lyrics of the song like a lyric video.

Fireworks exploding in the sky.

And the lights of the light sticks twinkling on the ground as if reflecting the image.

[Stay here-]

The song closes with a beautiful chord.

The members of Testa returned to the stage with a long lingering a cappella performance to the melody of the piano without accompaniment.

Every electronic signboard was filled with the faces I had just seen.

Park Moon-dae is also smiling cheerfully.

"…"

For some reason Allfan's eyes almost got watery and he managed to sniffle.

"Sigh."

You make sounds out of your mouth unconsciously. The sound was a bit low but it was because my throat was hoarse from screaming so much…

"Sniff."

"…?!"

It was a sound made by the person sitting next to me.

When I turned my head to my surprise I saw the man sitting next to me burying his face in his hands and slightly shaking his shoulders.

Anyone can see that he is in the same state… even the camera is shaking on his knees.

'The car camera is going to fall!'

She noticed that Testa was not on stage for a moment and quickly searched her bag.

I also received bottled water so that's about it!

"Over there."

Then he carefully took out the tissue and held it out to the side.

"…!"

The person next to me was startled and slowly took some tissues.

Although the sound is hard to hear the presumed actor(?) nodded his head and said 'thank you so much' (probably) and seemed to be covering his eyes and mouth with a tissue.

‘uh… ’

She felt a sense of familiarity so she guessed that the person sitting next to her was also a huge fan of Testa so she asked someone in charge for an invitation.

‘When the timing comes I’ll give you a snack.’

My heart warmed and the tension of being in the official seat eased a bit. She boldly turned her attention to the stage again!

…By the way a similar scene was happening right next to them.

“Hyung this is touching…”

“…”

Cheongryeo did not bother to criticize his member who was easily impressed even at his rival’s concert.

Instead we crossed our arms and briefly reviewed the previous performance.

‘You’re smart.’

They performed a spectacular performance-oriented performance but the mood changed all at once.

It was smart because even a new song that is unfamiliar to the ear would be emotionally imprinted with this kind of production.

It was an experimental attempt but the budget was well spent.

but…

‘I might not have calculated that far.’

So it seems like it was a better number.

“Let’s invite testers to our concert too…!”

“hmm.”

Cheongryeo briefly laughed at Chaeyul’s words and then turned her focus back to the stage.

The concert was coming to an end.

Chapter 642

A thrilling new song performance where the singer approaches right in front of the audience.

From that point on Testa's concert stage which entered the latter half of the concert was gradually moving to the latest song as if the current was getting stronger.

[Spin the wheel

[To go to your dreams]

The members all sing together an arranged version of Beautiful which Park Moon-dae performed alone at the last concert continuing the exciting atmosphere but then the tempo suddenly increases as it changes to.

And although the melody is bright and refreshing the performance is extremely spectacular using water.

Representative songs poured out without stopping.

After being driven by the powerful Haitai concept the beautiful accompaniment and voice make you feel absorbed.

[Black hole

[Let me swallow it]

Raebin Kim's slightly husky vocals in the last chorus were met with cheers and cheers.

Testa paid more attention to song placement towards the end.

It was exquisite to alternate between emotional famous songs and performance songs that would make people cheer like crazy so that no one would faint or lose concentration due to physical exhaustion.

‘i love it… ’

No maybe… All fans thought that the flow of Testa’s past activities may have been like that.

Because the songs arranged according to the passage of time show such exquisite tempo.

[In the pose!

Don’t cherish today too much

Right now is important [Right now]

The activities they have been doing unfold like highlights on stage.

Beyond the popular American teen concept <Pose> this is a very conceptual.

Once I catch this easy listening vibe again…

[Bad feelings

follows you until the end]

What finally appears is a remix version of the song used on the opening stage.

A performance song with a secret agent concept that hit this year. Wearing well-fitting professional suits they gave a unique performance.

This is their current appearance.

Testa finally arrived back in the present.

It will be the last…

"…"

Even though it wasn't an overwhelming time All Fan was so moved that he swallowed his saliva.

Although I felt happy proud and grateful… I was also very disappointed.

[It was the last song. thank you.]

Because I knew that story would come out.

Uh huh?

Argh!

Exclamations like sighs of disappointment and surprise were heard one after another from all over the audience. But even so everyone probably had a rough guess.

Haven't Testa already poured out all the songs they've worked on on stage with all their might to reach the song they're currently working on?

The stage darkens and the testers who nod their heads disappear.

Of course like all concerts there will be an encore prepared. But… somehow it felt like time passed too quickly.

'I don't even have a ticket for tomorrow… '

She shouted 'encore' with the hope that this time would last just a little longer but sat in her seat with a slightly empty heart.

[yes!]

Bright fireworks and stage effects exploded brightening the stage dramatically.

And of course the silhouettes of the seven people appeared on stage again.

I expected that far.

However Testa standing in a triangle formation… was wearing an old-fashioned uniform.

"…?!"

The choreography centered on Park Moon-dae who winked.

[Me standing on stage

You don't know yet

STAR LIGHT shaking inside me]

＜Idol Inc.＞.

As they were still adjusting their angles there was no tension or stiffness like the first stage but there was a lot of composure and fan service.

And the emotion that reminds me of that time!

[What shines on stage today is…

It's me!]

"Uh oh!"

There was a lot of random cheering and exclamation chants without any cheering method.

Recalling the survival program that hit Korea a few years ago the audience enjoyed the surprise with a strange and nostalgic joy.

“It’s me!”

Of course the moment the music ended Testa each hit his head in embarrassment.

[I really didn’t know I would do this again.]

[Still since this is our roots we agreed that we should show it to them… Okay.]

Hahaha!

Laughter and laughter erupted from all over the audience. Testa shook off his hair and clothes and smiled sheepishly.

It was the start of an unexpected and humorous encore.

All the fans forgetting their gloom for a moment smiled excitedly and waved their light sticks. Testa also smiled and ran around the protruding stage.

[Is there anything else you want to hear? I’ll do everything for you!]

[Let’s see if we missed anything!]

Those words brought laughter and comments from all over. Even though all the famous songs have passed I still have my own songs that everyone remembers impressively.

[Solo songs? No now as an encore… 7 songs?]

[Indeed… I’ll give it a try!]

[Ravin no!]

[That’s not it.]

[The car is cut off! Lovers cannot enter the house!]

As the members were horrified by Kim Rae-bin's tragic appearance and tried to stop her laughter erupted from the audience again. And they tease me by yelling for me to really do it…

[however.]

however?

[What if we knew it would be like this… and prepared a medley?]

…!!

[I'm going. Chakho Gapsa Medley.]

Amid tearing cheers and shouts solo songs accompanied by various traditional instruments continued like teasers.

Using the other members as dancers the lead singer of the solo song filled the stage with crazy fan service and live feel.

The coat he had hurriedly put on fluttered from his shoulder.

The fun playful stage was truly an encore!

[Would you like to see some cover songs?]

"Ugh! yes!"

"yes!!"

Allfans were no longer surprised that the person sitting next to them was yelling like them.

Testa had a great time with the fans. Throughout the encore.

[Wow amazing!

everything about you

I'm excited every day!

I can't sleep again today]

Various cover songs that showcased the unit were brought out with laughter from all over the place regardless of the members.

Testa was flying around on stage without any sign of trouble while running for a long time and focusing on performance.

I was happy to see him happy.

'thank you.'

Allfans took a deep breath. My heart was warm.

[Thank you!]

Just like that Testa ended the enjoyable encore and this time the lights on the stage went out.

"…"

All fans watched quietly.

As always videos of staff participating in the concert and behind-the-scenes practice videos appeared announcing the ending in a lasting way.

And after that too.

"…"

The light turned on again in front of Allfans' eyes as they pondered whether to get up or not.

‘uh?’

A warm light flickered on from the huge beacon light installed on the stage of the darkened concert hall and the surrounding gears slowly moved.

And the attic seen in the opening reappeared on the screen.

Seon Ah-hyun.

He was alone in the attic organizing board games with a gentle and delicate hand.

A narration is heard.

-Do you know what epilogue means?

-Talk later. It means.

In the warm colors of the screen Sun Ah-hyun put the board games back and read the graduation album.

The hand touching the attached post-it note seemed soft and longing.

-Even after the story is over… there are still questions. Will the people in the story live well after this?

-The follow-up story is meant to answer such questions.

-Let us know that even after a story ends we continue to live beyond it.

-therefore…

Fighting.

‘uh.’

Allpan raised his head when he felt a tap on his head.

It was raining.

-We'll be able to meet again at any time in the epilogue.

The narration rang.

After finishing organizing the graduation album on the screen Sun Ah-hyun took off a post-it note and stood up.

Then I walked over to the old phone installed in the corner of the attic and made a call to the contact number written on the post-it note.

To the friends I had fun playing games with before.

[Shall we meet?]

The electronic display board gently turned off.

Sarrr.

At the outdoor concert hall in the middle of the night the only sound was the sound of soft rain falling.

In that silence.

A voice echoes across the empty stage.

[everyone.]

[To be able to say that you saw a Testa concert you had to see the encore.]

"…!!"

[braided!]

A bright light came on as if the stage was about to explode.

Images poured out from the electronic display board along with the exciting sound of the drums again.

All the choreography videos stage performances and practice room photos that Testa has released so far during his career appear as if he was going back in time.

Images from the last album's activities.

'ah.'

Allfans suddenly seemed to realize the meaning of the concert theme that Testa was trying to convey.

If an album is an idol's story a concert is an epilogue.

At Testa's performance any album could be taken out and viewed together. Even if it's about an album that's been around for several years.

And now he was participating in the epilogue.

"…"

Perhaps someone outside might have thought that the group's trajectory of activity was chosen because it was a good topic to discuss at the time of its most success.

but…

'no.'

Just… Allfan thought that Testa wanted to tell this story.

That means we can meet at any time.

Everyone there had that thought.

The electronic signboard ended with one phrase.

[Okay let's meet!]

Amid the cheers the drums died down and a new melody began to sound.

A great accompaniment to listen to anytime as if it was made by selecting only cheerful and enjoyable instruments.

And the voice.

[I feel good today as if

[I think something good will happen]

Testa's first fan song.

That pleasant melody echoed throughout the concert hall.

[If it's you everything will be okay

It's unfamiliar but somehow it'll be good]

The backstage area opens again.

Just like in the previous dance video tall guys wearing animal pajamas appeared from the dry ice.

In the middle Bae Se-jin wearing hamster pajamas grinned coolly.

I wasn't ashamed anymore.

[Reality shines like a dream

In my dreams I dream of a wonderful tomorrow

When I see you tomorrow

[I'll only tell you about the sparkling dreams]

Cha Yu-jin dressed in white tiger pajamas held her tail in her hand and smiled to the singing voice and the guys who quietly walked onto the stage started running and dancing!

As if it doesn't matter if you slip in a sudden rain shower.

A familiar melody that feels overwhelming and nostalgic resonates throughout the venue.

[My dreams that are not locked away

[Make reality speed up]

Lee Se-jin was seen waving both hands in her pajamas on the electronic display board.

Behind him wearing black baby bear pajamas Ryu Cheong-woo wearing eagle pajamas like he did when he debuted burst into laughter.

[Reality is breathing Yeh

YES breathing (breathing!)

Ho-ha! Hoo-ha!]

Sun Ah-hyun was no longer embarrassed and sang her rap part with a smile. A white ball suddenly popped out from behind the deer pajamas.

[I'll run out of breath

Will you smile when you see me?]

Park Moon-dae's smiling face appeared on the electronic display.

The expression on his face wearing puppy animal pajamas was no different from the one he had at the beginning of his debut that had just passed by on the electronic display board.

It stayed there.

[Even if there is nothing that doesn't change

The magic of this moment is]

Idols wearing animal pajamas spread out their arms.

It feels like I'm going to hug you.

[Maybe it's you]

The concert hall rings as if in response.

[I feel good today as if

[I think something good will happen]

Everyone sang the chorus again at the top of their lungs.

The raindrops falling in the light of the lights and cheering sticks sparkled like electric lights. All over the stage devices spread colorful balloons as if filling the sky.

Colorful images running around the concert hall.

[Life is strange

I lightly kick my feet up and climb up

Try walking on the sky

Even if it rains I don't know

My life-]

bright!

The words everyone shouts together resonate in the concert hall.

Raebin Kim grinned.

[Light pouring down

All right you are right

Today I shine]

The song rushed towards the end.

The grinning members came to the front of the raised stage and sat down.

They held the microphone with smiling faces as they were hit by a shower of light and palms on their backs.

[Meeting with you yesterday

Become today's shining dream

[It has become the magic of tomorrow]

The last verse sung with sincerity.

[Yes the magic is you]

There was light everywhere.

A flower storm exploded. Amid cheers and laughter Testa sat on the protruding stage and waved for a very long time.

It was full of joy and fulfillment.

"and!"

Testa’s fans laughed out loud.

I was happy!

Chapter 643

Testa's first concert in Seoul was a huge success.

It ended successfully.

"…"

Wow!

The device closed on me as I rode the lift down to the stage floor.

Even though it was blocked and separated the joy of countless people vibrated through the vast space above and made my body vibrate.

I clenched and unclenched my fists.

The afterimage does not go away.

Cheers laughter balloon pollen lights immersive heat. All the images and feelings remain strong and fragmentary as if imprinted in my head.

So much so that my hands are still shaking.

'…'

If so this question will naturally arise.

What should a singer do when a performance ends so thrillingly?

as soon as…

"Now let's go in quickly wash up and sleep for tomorrow."

Preparing for tomorrow’s performance.

That’s right. It’s already a long way from feeling like the performance is over. Isn’t it still the first day?

‘Have a fancy after-party in your dreams.’

You must save your stamina.

However there was one more event that had to be completed before going to sleep.

“Thank you for your hard work!”

“Ah it was so good!”

This is because the aftermath of the concert comes immediately.

-The first testa cone was really fun ㅠㅠ I cried so much my head hurts

-It is all accomplished…

-I was really happy. Thank you guys.

-My star (photo)

This is the reaction to today’s performance.

“…”

I swiped the screen of the smartphone I retrieved from the waiting room and then quietly turned the pages.

This… was enough.

Of course you can’t just appreciate the concert by looking for it like this. I also receive calls from acquaintances.

-I enjoyed the performance!

T-holic Golden Age Mirinae Youngrin Mudi… All kinds of idols I've met while working so far.

In this bloody red ocean competitors would celebrate each other's performances without any other intention.

It is said that Big Sejin even received a text message from Eter.

Some of the idols who were busy with their schedules at this time even called us just in time for our concert to end.

For example spacer Kwon Hee-seung.

This guy started yelling into the receiver as soon as I picked it up.

-Brothers. What kind of exercise did you do?!

hmm?

-Honestly while watching the performance I thought 'Wow if this is the set list I'll just visit to celebrate after the performance and tell everyone to turn it off.'…

hey.

-You guys are very energetic. I can hear you guys laughing now!

I looked around.

"haha!"

"Ah… good."

It was as he said.

After finishing the four-hour crazy forced march performance in which ‘it wouldn’t be surprising if anyone fell down’ the members’ faces were full of energy as they returned to the waiting room sprawled out on the sofa and drank water.

‘Crawling would have been an acceptable amount of energy consumption.’

It was as if the excitement of the concert had been replaced by energy.

“…”

If it were me in the past I would have tried to open the status window to see if this was some kind of abnormality.

But now I know.

I smiled and spoke into the receiver.

“…Because it’s a concert.”

-Oh.

Guys like that are the reason they keep running for years without experiencing group burnout.

Kwon Hee-seung seemed to agree. As expected we have the same job so we understand quickly…

-Ah is there any recommended medicine from Chungwoo’s national university experience?

“…”

-Are you especially excited because it’s a concert? Please share brother!

Is there any?

Anyway as I was getting ready to go home I answered a few calls and texts in my spare time.

Meanwhile many people actually visited the testa waiting room to express their congratulations and impressions.

Company employees staff performance officials and… the audience who came by invitation.

Members' families.

"Our Ahyeon…! When will I grow up and be this brave and cool?"

As soon as I entered the waiting room I saw the boy's parents patting Sun Ah-hyun and the boy's father handing a bouquet of flowers to Ryu Cheong-woo.

"Black…"

"It's okay… Hey."

Even Bae Se-jin consoles her upset mother.

A concert held after achieving record-breaking results. Even the family's emotions seemed to have been special as the composition was filled with the feeling of reliving the activities of the past few years.

"son! Come here."

"Oh Mrs…"

Cha Yu-jin and Cha Yu-jin who are talking leisurely in Spanish next to Keun Se-jin's parents who are hugging each other with great emotion…

"grandma!"

"Look at how skinny Ravin's dog's arm is. How can I have so much strength in this body…"

“I gained weight before that…”

Kim Rae-bin’s grandmother also visited from Gangwon-do.

It seemed like you had recovered a lot of your health.

“…”

It was all very nice to see. I smiled faintly and put away my smartphone.

“Mr. Moon Dae wow~ You look tall and handsome today as well. How can you sing so well on stage today!”

“thank you.”

I also joined in exchanging a few words of greetings and thanks with the member’s family.

It was a bit awkward to be in a place like this during my first concert but now a few years later I don’t have to worry about it. Because we knew each other.

No one was tactful enough to ask me if anyone was coming to visit me.

“Our famous singer also went home and slept well today huh?”

“…yes.”

That was when the conversation continued.

thud.

It was opened once more in the waiting room.

When I turned my head I saw a black figure holding a gift through the hastily opened door.

“…brother.”

Big moon.

It was Park Mun-dae who became Ryu Geon-woo.

The guy looked carefully and tried to come inside but he stuttered.

“Brother no that’s…”

I guess it suddenly dawned on me that the title ‘hyung’ didn’t fit his apparent age and relationship.

But I just laughed.

“Welcome.”

“…!”

When his eyes shake

“Hey are you a relative of Mr. Moon Dae?”

“ah? Ah yes… that.”

I said it first.

“He’s like family to me.”

“Oh really?”

“Oh my why are you standing there? Come on in. Family!”

He was welcomed by other members’ families and eventually entered the waiting room with a bewildered expression.

And then he handed me the gift he was barely holding. What was visible through the translucent packaging looked like a trophy-shaped mug celebrating the concert.

The guy cautiously opened his mouth.

“I was a little late because I had to wait until all the audience had left…”

“It’s not late.”

At those words Geoldal let out a small breath as if his heart had relaxed a little.

And then as the tension disappeared a different expression appeared on his face.

It’s overwhelming.

“…Concert. It was really good.”

The guy began to express his impressions of the concert in an excited voice.

A mixture of conscious informality and unconscious politeness came out but he seemed so impressed that he didn’t even notice it.

“I was really really impressed…”

…are you coming?

I looked back at the members. Everyone was secretly smiling.

It was a very nice moment.

From then on Big Moon’s words took a rather strange turn.

“Oh and the other ticket you gave me! I gave it to my SNS friend…”

Perhaps he thought I would misunderstand that he had given it to a strange person so he hastily added.

“Ah it’s Loveviewer! Testa All Fans!”

Well done.

“But I was a high school student.”

“…?”

“I received a tissue…”

I don’t know what it was but it seemed like he was having a very embarrassing time.

“Anyway I was just trying to say that I think I gave it to a good person!”

“okay.”

Actually it was okay no matter who I gave it to.

‘…but it’s even better if it goes well with the fans.’

Identity wasn’t that important. It was important for me to know what emotions that person might have been sitting through.

I grinned.

“thanks.”

“Huh no!”

The guy waved his hand and said he was grateful but couldn’t hide his smile.

A few members tapped my side.

“I’m glad you enjoyed it.”

“I know.”

After the concert review small talk continued in a gentle atmosphere.

“Where should we go on vacation in the summer?”

“Ah… then! ocean! My Jeju Island?”

“Good.”

So the members’ families stayed in the waiting room and then left.

However the waiting room visit did not end there.

When I was really finishing everything up there was a knock on the door.

dripping.

“Do you have a tester?”

“…!”

It was the two VTIC people who took my ticket.

“hello.”

Although they wore masks and hats anyone could see that they were not ordinary people so they seemed to have waited a little longer and were more careful.

“Wow I really really enjoyed watching it!”

“…thank you.”

I accepted what I didn’t know was Chaeyul’s handshake or high five.

I thought I would just watch the performance and leave quietly but I didn't expect that they would come at such a time to say hello.

I really didn't know what to say next.

"Ah I hope Testa comes to see the VTIC performance next time!"

"…Is this what you agreed to with senior Cheongryeo?"

"oh."

okay. I thought it wouldn't work…

"yes."

"…"

I turned my head to the voice I heard.

Cheongnyeo who was quietly watching the conversation spoke calmly.

"Come see it."

"…"

I chuckled.

"When the time comes."

Cheongryeo smiled brightly and answered that she understood.

"Wow everyone is gone right?"

"Ugh."

As the crowd of people passed by the waiting room became quiet again.

The guys who were humming on the sofa also slowly stood up.

“Shall we go home now?”

“Just take a picture of us for a moment!”

“OK… Oh the rain has stopped outside.”

Eventually it was revealed that the manager was away for a while on the phone and that there was some time left until he returned home.

‘About 30 minutes.’

It was the longest delay in leaving work for a concert so far.

But I didn’t feel bad.

At that time I suddenly remembered what Keundal had said.

-I had to wait until everyone left before coming…

hmm…

They said the rain had stopped.

* * *

The concert stage was clean after cleaning up.

“Phew.”

I quietly went from backstage onto the stage. The cool air of the floor came up from under my thin sneakers.

The weather at night near dawn in early fall was cool.

“…”

As I took a deep breath a cool breeze blew.

I stood quietly in the dark space above the stage looking around the huge concert hall full of people.

There was no particular intention. I wanted to see this scene at least once so I came up because I had a chance to see it.

I sat quietly on the stage and looked across the audience which was so quiet and cool that it was hard to believe that it had been so hot just a moment ago.

If that's the case…

"Mundae what are you doing?"

"…!"

I heard a sound.

When I turned my head I saw Inyoung walking up onto the stage with light steps.

"…Cheongwoo hyung?"

"hmm."

Liu Chengwu smiled and sat next to me.

This guy wasn't finished.

"Mundae-hyung are you here?"

"…I think this is my first time coming up like this after a performance."

"The air is very nice…!"

One by one the members appeared on stage giggling or clearing their throats.

“Did you follow me?”

“of course! You quietly disappear alone.”

The Testa guys came up the backstage stairs and each walked around the stage and came this way.

No… some of them are putting me in a headlock or hitting other people’s backs. Do you have any stamina left?

“But I tried to see this spectacle alone… Isn’t it too much for Mundaemun University?”

“That’s right we are a team. My brother can’t act alone!”

I can’t believe Cha Yu-jin knows the word ‘independent action’. No I didn’t expect to hear such words from a guy who seemed to be the embodiment of independent action.

Anyway the guys who were making a fuss soon stopped playing and just lay down or sat down next to me.

And look at the sky.

“Oh the scenery is nice.”

okay.

I also raised my head again.

Eyes adapted to the darkness showed detailed outlines.

“…”

I saw starlight.

In the clear night sky after the rain dots of light were twinkling.

Of course the vast auditorium below was still empty without a single ray of light or heat.

but.

“Look at the stars.”

“Maybe because it rained and stopped the sky is very clear.”

“Ugh.”

Now I am with the members.

Remembering the lights that filled the audience seats.

Looking forward to seeing those lights again tomorrow.

“Mundae…!”

Sun Ah-hyeon smiled and spoke.

“It feels good… right?”

I raised my head to the sky and smiled.

I was happy.

Chapter 644: Epilogue

One sunny fall morning.

Beep beep! Beep beep!

widely.

“…”

The man turned off the alarm on his smartphone and slowly got up from the bed.

His well-skeleton upper body lowered his head as if he was still asleep… then lifted it up vigorously.

And shouted.

“Going to work!”

It was Ryu Geon-woo.

He quickly got out of bed. Originally Alarm was a song by Testa but I quickly stopped singing it because I heard that the song that was designated as a wake-up call could easily have a distorted feel.

‘Because I can hear it a lot on a daily basis!’

Geoldal quickly washed up gulped down some cereal and got dressed like he always did when he was a level 7 civil servant.

However originally ‘work uniform’ was a black suit…

“Not now.”

He smiled and touched his sleeve.

Wearing cotton pants and a neat shirt he looked more like a college student about to present an assignment.

This is because I only wanted this level of formality in my new job.

‘It seems like a nice place.’

Orbit Stars Entertainment.

He walked energetically to the place that was also Testa’s company.

* * *

The city bus was full of people going to work.

Geoldal was accustomed to sitting in the back seat and holding his smartphone.

-Animal pajamas at Testa Seoul’s first cone (Fancam)

– We are investigating the demand for Yowon Cheongwoo’s cotton dolls.

-Another Billboard interview with our kids has appeared! (link)

Testa’s remix activities are over. However the achievements and stories of their takeoff flowed endlessly.

There were also unusual rumors on the Internet that he would receive the Order of Cultural Merit this time but his SNS was full of people who were happy with Testa without mentioning such things.

Geoldal went down the timeline with a happy face and also checked a DM that had been sent to him.

-Thank you so much for the concert ticket Big Moon… ㅠㅠ Even thinking about it again I really do…

A friend on social media who received an invitation to the concert still occasionally sends thank you messages. Sometimes they even sent me gifticons so there were a few times when I declined them for good.

I couldn't bear to receive it. because.

'…he was a high school student.'

Moreover he couldn't even tell that he was the man who sat next to him at the concert…

Keundal's pupils trembled for a moment as he recalled the memory of receiving a snack but he soon responded cheerfully.

'no! I'm glad you enjoyed it haha'

The timeline was overflowing with people like the Milky Way talking about their daily lives related to Testa.

A person who is going to use annual leave to go to a cafe on his birthday a person who is happy about small things in everyday life that remind him of Testa a person who cheered up by watching a video on a gloomy day…

Although Keudal himself didn't know there were also chat accounts of several Hommas connected across the street.

-Lee Se-jin please call me when I appear on a variety show.

-ㅠㅠㅠYou cut your Mundae's hair. Remembering our Mundae's byeongji cut and long hair… (photo)

-I'm going to go to a concert in the US on this tour too! Haha I'm starting to save up for vacation…

"Oh I'm jealous."

And I soon realized that there was no need to be envious. All I have to do is say something and my brother will immediately send me a ticket…

‘no! Let’s not depend on it.’

However I have already received tickets for some K-POP concert in Seoul this time…

-This is chapter 2 again is it okay? Send it first.

-No bro… Ugh… thank you.

Geodal held back a sigh blaming himself for not being able to overcome his desires.

Still he couldn’t help but feel good so he couldn’t stop the corners of his mouth from rising and happily updated the timeline.

‘What kind of cheering message is this time… ’

-Kim Rae-bin lip-singing with AR on at a concert? Haha that’s a rumor too. It’s pitiful. I wonder how many people would have thought this would work if they sucked at Dodol who can’t live. All Godgi Rabbits are live bitch…

‘Ugh.’

He quickly pressed back and left. I was sweating from the brutality that came from beyond the timeline.

Are you a fan of Mr. Ravine?

‘You look energetic this morning.’

Geoldal swiped down his smartphone and suddenly got up from his seat. It was just the right time to get off.

The Orbit Stars headquarters was visible through the window of the bus he was getting off.

“Geonwoo is here~”

“hello!”

Geoldal eagerly greeted the people in the office.

Thanks to his previous job it seemed like he was being treated as a kind of experienced worker but in reality it was still close to a probationary period.

It hasn’t even been a month since I started work!

Moreover the department had just been created.

“Now we have to take care of it.”

As it is a new agency there are only a very small number of trainees that are still being raised and they are all said to have been hired recently.

“I’m trying to recruit some trainees in earnest but there aren’t many suitable ones these days.”

“Letty I don’t know how they can take kids like that when they don’t even let them debut there.”

A colleague grumbled that his skills were at the level of a fraudster.

This may be due to the fact that LeTi is a large old agency and the name value of its incumbent company VTIC has been extremely high over the past few years.

“Of course the situation is different now!”

It wasn’t just the department in charge that was smiling at Testa’s recent results.

“I have a testa.”

“sure. I will definitely come!”

Geodal who was just listening to their conversation slightly straightened his shoulders in a proud mood.

Yes my brother is that great…

“…That’s why Mr. Gunwoo.”

“yes?”

When he paused for a moment and asked again his boss kindly said it again.

“First of all let’s just look at street casting today shall we?”

Huh?

Uh huh?

* * *

‘oh my god.’

That’s how ‘Employee Ryu Geon-woo’ ended up wandering around the nearby streets this morning…

Of course I didn’t send it with the expectation that Geundall would cast someone well. Isn’t it a difficult time to see middle and high school students on weekday mornings?

-Just take a look at the persimmons. Persimmon!

I was told that since he had been working almost without a day off for the past week they gave him a few hours in the morning so he could fool around.

‘It’s okay!’

Moreover in fact they even called it a joke. This is because the big moon couldn't come out alone.

They even added a trainee as a casting reference and went out with them…

"…"

'And so far I haven't seen anyone I'd particularly want to cast… '

I felt heavy because I felt like I had made the trainee walk a lot for no reason.

As Big Moon was trudging along his shoulder suddenly collided.

"ah. sorry."

"…no."

When I turned my head I saw the face of the trainee who went out with me.

Although he is handsome it was a strange day that ordinary people would question his school attendance… or rather his attendance date.

And Keoldal somehow became a little anxious.

No matter how much you are a trainee right now… isn't it time for students to normally be at school? I heard you go to school.

"Do you… not go to school?"

"Today is the school opening anniversary."

Phew I see.

Feeling a little relieved at the student who surprisingly responded obediently Geoldal turned his gaze again.

As if the timing was right a familiar melody played from the electronic display board.

‘It’s coming out!’

On my way back to work I briefly asked the trainee’s permission and stopped inside a nearby subway station to watch this.

Big Moon took a breath.

[TeSTAR WORLD TOUR Official Trailer]

I started hearing music.

And starting with Cha Yu-jin who smiles and opens her eyes on stage the screen widens as if it is being sucked out.

Wow!

What is captured amidst the cheers is the vast main stadium.

It was the promotional video for Testa’s world tour of this concert.

The group dance of the 7 members a splendid stage set-up a hot and passionate live performance and overflowing talent…

Even in the low-definition quality of subway electronic displays it shines like fire.

‘It’s a good thing I came to see you.’

I was a little embarrassed that I texted my brother that I was going to see this but I didn’t regret it.

“excuse me.”

The trainee next to me asked in a trembling voice.

“This is Testa senior. Have you actually seen it? No I mean…”

“yes.”

Big Moon nodded slowly looking at the screen as if he were being sucked in.

“I saw it.”

I remember the concert.

The suction power and light that makes your heart beat.

Of course the big moon is no longer a status window and can no longer display a hologram window that shows the idol’s ability level.

But he could still see.

The power of a singer named Testa.

It’s as clear as the cast introduction subtitles that appear in the promotional video.

[Cha Yujin]

On the screen a red-blond person smiles baring his fangs.

Black Hole Energy and talent that attracts attention.

An idol whose explosive stage performances are imprinted in our minds like a signature.

Beyond his playfulness his sixth sense that seems to penetrate to the core makes his attitude more attractive.

Behind that passionate face the next person appeared as if a baton had been touched.

A performer with a decadent look with something to see in his eyes.

[Kim Rae-bin]

The screen was filled with scenes of him running through his solo intro song while holding a microphone.

Amazing artistic talent that makes even the most recklessly experimental musical attempts shine into songs that are more beautiful than you can imagine.

Another off-stage charm was the fact that his warm and polite attitude which contrasted with his cool exterior created a mysterious character.

And the next member also had that charm.

[Bae Se-jin]

The amazing acting skills displayed with a neat appearance fill the screen with something close to appeal.

His acting skills are not limited to his acting activities. The amazing expressiveness improved the quality of the stage story.

If you compare his appearance before his debut when he had no foundation in dancing and singing and now that he has grown to excellence you will get goosebumps.

A similar emotion will come to you every time you realize how dedicated Bae Se-jin is to this team's performance.

And then a person appears who supports this team to which he is devoted.

[Ryu Cheong-woo]

The unwavering power of the standard comes from a well-built body and vocal cords. Centripetal point.

That balanced the performance and set the focus of the entire stage.

A sense of stability is felt every time Ryu Cheong-woo stands at the center. And confidence. Based on that everything was attractive including the willingness to be slightly mischievous and bold.

The core that sustains the team.

And there was another person on the team with that kind of mentality.

[Seon Ah-hyeon]

On the screen elongated arms and legs draw elegant lines. The solo dance posed with a fancy turn as if standing on one's legs alone and a beautiful face was captured.

Her incredible appearance makes it worth calling her a natural dancer and a natural beauty.

But in fact the solidity and strength to overcome adversity may be the biggest charm of idol Sun Ah-hyun.

And then comes the person who seems to have been born to be that idol.

[Lee Se-jin]

Joy flashed across his face as he performed a performance that tore through the stage.

The intimidating feeling given by the large physique combined with the idol-like dance moves gave a thrilling and appropriate feeling.

Skills honed through long years of intense thought and practice shine like jewels. A sense of pleasure fills the screen as much as the satisfaction he feels as an idol.

And… a voice as cool as that sounds from behind.

The very last member.

[Park Moon-dae]

On the screen you can see the idol holding up the microphone and grinning.

Drops of sweat flutter as if reflecting light.

Overflowing singing ability sensitive tone and vocalization that fills the hall. An idol who has all the virtues of a main vocalist.

However there is more charm than just vocals. The more I watched the more witty ideas and surprising actions emerged from his unique personality.

For example it is contrary to the cool and rational aspect…

Love for the stage and the audience.

[TeSTAR]

The promotional video ended splendidly with Park Moon-dae's smiling face.

The concert stage never faded from its star-like sparkle which caught the eye even on camera.

Like a fancam from one day.

"…"

For some reason my heart ached.

Suddenly I turned my gaze and saw that the boy next to me was also looking at the electronic display board as if he were mesmerized.

'Idol aspiring… '

…Seeing that I felt like I could understand a bit what casting was like.

What standards should be set?

Big Moon hesitated for a moment and then opened his mouth.

“Do you like Testa?”

“…”

The boy standing next to him nodded slightly.

Geoldal spoke without hesitation this time.

“I have tickets to a concert featuring Testa. Do you want to go see it?”

“…!!”

He sent the trainee who kept lowering his head by giving him an extra ticket to the K-POP comprehensive concert.

‘huh. I think this is right.’

Even though I was trying to reflect on my choice I forgot about it the moment the promotional video came back on.

“I’ll be back in a little while.”

Even after that he stood for a while looking at the billboard. I wanted to watch the Testa Tour video one last time when it will return.

“Phew.”

Eventually the turn came again and it was the moment before the video came out on the electronic display board.

Tuk-tuk.

Someone touched his shoulder. Has the trainee come back?

“Oh I left something behind…”

“Park Moon-dae.”

I turned my head away unable to breathe.

A person wearing a hood pulled down was smiling at himself.

A man with neatly cut black hair covering his white face.

Testa Park Moon-dae.

“You were here without even seeing the reply.”

His older brother looked at his smartphone saying that it took a while to find him at the station then immediately looked up and smiled.

“Why here…?”

“You said today is a work day so let’s have lunch together.”

“Ugh!”

“The kids are waiting.”

“Now wait a minute!”

Soon Ryu Geon-woo and Park Moon-dae emerged from the underground history.

The sunlight sparkled.

-Epilogue completed
